Coaches Needed If Flag Football Is to Operate

Volunteer coaches and referees are needed if the flag football program is to be held this fall Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

The September 2, meeting resulted in a very poor turnout, Boss said, adding that more interest must be shown if the program is to go.

Boys in the nine through 14 year age group are to sign up at their respective schools Wednesday and Thursday and try-outs for boys in the 11-14 age groups at 11 a.m. Saturday. However, if coaches and officials are not found, the program will have to be cancelled, Boss added.

Calendars on Sale By Arts Council

The Crooked Tree Arts Council is now selling its 1977 Engagement Calendar.

The calendar was compiled by Marilyn Marco and Liz Tsaloff and is handsomely produced on soft gray paper, spirally bound with a cardboard cover designed by William Staffel.

Each page provides space to record appointments for a week and preceding the beginning of each month there is a photograph of a local historic site taken either by Terry McCunnell or Vernon Salzbrunn.

Proceeds from the sale of the calendar will go toward the Council's continuing efforts to bring the arts to this part of Northern Michigan by sponsoring photography shows, art and music classes, scholarships, theater, and ballet.

The calendar is available at $2.50 at the Chamber of Commerce office and the Arts Council office at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

Gerald Chase Takes Year Off For School

Gerald M. Chase, administrator of District Health Department No. 3, has been granted a leave of absence for the school year to attend the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Chase has been awarded a fellowship funded by Public Health Services.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase and their two sons, Gerald, 10, and Harold, six, will make their home in Ann Arbor until next June.

While attending school, Chase will serve the District Health Department as a consultant, working on programs now being initiated.

Returning Seniors Strengthen Basketball Team

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix High School Girl's basketball team will open its 1976 season with a non-conference game at Alanson Thursday according to Coach Tom Felter.

On the following Tuesday, the Charlevoix team will travel to Elk Rapids to meet a second non-league rival before entertaining Central Lake here on Sept 21 The Michigan-Huron Shores league schedule will open on Thursday, Sept 30, when Charlevoix hosts Grayling.

When Coach Felter takes her team to Alanson Thursday, she will have an almost all-Senior team including several regulars from last season Among the seniors will be Maureen Cudd, Gail Powell and Kay Currey, who will give the team its only height. Other veteran players will be Teri Hufford, Sandra Hodge, Kathy Sladek and Terri Nuvotny. The latter will be returning to the team after recovering from an illness that benched her the last half of the season.

Other candidates for starting positions will be Jodi Alger who is returning after an absence of a year, Frances Peters, both seniors, Sue Hodge, Louise Caldwell, Jay Goss, Ginger Smith and Tami Mitchell, all juniors.

Mrs. Felter said there was also a fine group of sophomores who will give the JV squad a strong team and offer plenty of depth for next season.

The team finished in second place last season with a 14 win-2 loss record.

Girls Have Short Stay In State Tournament

Charlevoix's Kentucky Fried Chicken girls softball team made a short-lived appearance in the state finals at Coldwater Saturday, losing to Kendrich Construction of Lansing 16-12 in their initial appearance to the L & M Rascals of Port Huron by a slim 9-8 margin in their first game in the loser's bracket.

Kendrich had 19 hits to 10 for Charlevoix in the first game.

In the second game the Rascals had 10 hits to six for the Charlevoix nine.

Coach Jim Willis said the team lost their second game in the final inning after having a good lead as the result of Cheryl Pence's grand slam homer

Jodi Alger was the losing pitcher in both games after being pressed into service following a motorcycle accident which benched the team's regular pitcher, Pam Parsel.

Rayders Ready for Football Opener

The Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Don Carey, will open their football season Friday with a non-conference game at Onaway.

The following week will find the Rayders at Benzie Central before they open their Michigan Huron Shores league schedule at Kipke Field against Cheboygan on Sept. 24.

Coach Carey has now selected his starting teams at this time and was reluctant to name even possible starters.

Starting ends will come from among the following candidates for the positions: Kip Cinnamon, Matt Donn, Joe Left, Neil Dziedzic, Larry Bradley, and Tom Fowler; tackles: Tom Jones, Gary Probert, Barry Potter, Randy Bearss, Dan Wiklanski, Mike Whitley and Carney Russell; guards: Ed Bourke, Bruce Avery, Dave Tolias, Chris Passehl, Darrin VanLoo, Jim Kerner and Ricker Merriner; center: Dan Boss, Greg Loper and Bill Bellows.

Vying for the quarterback position are: Jim Elzinga, Brian Williams, Tom Left, Jim Alger and Ralph Muma while fullback assignments will go to Greg Krueger, Greg Chappius, or Ed Mann.

Coach Carey listed Bud Klooster as the only candidate for a halfback position but listed Scott Boss, Kerry Speer, Pat Klooster and Rob Stebe as candidates for a swing back position and Lee Begrow, Bob Tillen, Guy Carter and Jeff Wellman as tall backs.

The Charlevoix JVs will open their season with a home game with the Onaway JVs at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Council to Debate Merits of Zoning Ordinance

Donald Berlage

By PAULA HOLMES

"There are two types of thought on zoning in Charlevoix.

"There's the group that is for lax zoning because it's always had lax zoning, and then there's the group of people who have moved here from some place else and they know what zoning can do for a community and they want to use zoning to protect Charlevoix.

"What we've tried to do with the new zoning ordinance is meld the two ideas together," Susan Erber, Charlevoix Common Council alderman and chairman of the Ecology, Development and Land Use Committee, said explaining the proposed new city zoning ordinance which will be discussed at a public hearing at 8 p.m. Monday in the common council chambers.

"You have to understand that Charlevoix is a very unique community," Mrs. Erber continued. "People suffered here for years trying to make a living. One way they could give each other a break was through lax zoning.

"The city needed the tax dollars and if a person owned a parcel of land that wasn't zoned exactly right, well, they would rezone it in the best interest of the community," she explained.

"The new people that have moved into the city want to protect the unique character of the area and they feel it should be done with strict zoning," she said. "I think the new ordinance can represent both sides of the zoning issue."

Mrs. Erber and her committee have been working closely with City Attorney Donald Berlage in updating the antiquated 1943 zoning ordinance for more than a year. The first public hearing on the new ordinance was held in March and the second one will be Monday.

"The proposed ordinance actually isn't entirely new," Berlage explained. "It's just a refinement of the many ordinances that have been proposed in the past several years.

"Many people have been working on this ordinance including the Regional Planning Commission (made up of members from Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township), Bill mercer, our county planner, as well as city council," Berlage explained. "This ordinance represents a compiled effort and is a substantial improvement over our present ordinance.

"I think our town should get together and support a modern zoning ordinance," he continued. "There's been a lot of changes since our first ordinance went into effect 33 years ago."

The new ordinance does have several new sections in it including a section on Planned Unit Development (PUD). The PUD zoning recognizes there are unique parcels of property within the city where mixtures of uses such as commercial, residential and recreational could be placed side by side in such a manner that would not be harmful to each other.

PUD zoning would allow continued growth in the city through careful planning and coordination of various zoning densities.

Other new sections in the ordinance include the establishment of a single commercial zone. In many of the other proposed ordinances the commercial districts have been divided into as many as four different types. The proposed single commercial section would also contain a special section dealing with the requirements of the central business district.

Another new feature of the proposed zoning ordinance is the inclusion of a development plan review which would give city officials a chance to approve or disapprove the final plan for a proposed development to make sure the plan is what the developer had told the city it would be.

The proposed ordinance also provides for a scenic

From Castle Farms

Sheriff to Auction Furniture

By FRAN MARTIN

A public auction will be held at 3 p.m. Friday, Sept. 24, at the Charlevoix County Jail to sell furniture, a cash register, adding machine, microwave oven and other items.

The merchandise was recently removed from Castle Farms, located on M-66, by Charlevoix County Sheriff's officers following the filing of two writs of execution against the corporation.

The writs were issued on claims against Castle Farms by Haggard Plumbing of Charlevoix and Schubert Industries of Akron, Ohio. The two claims totaled approximately $2,000. The companies are represented by John Michael and Michael Gibbons, both of Charlevoix.

Earlier in the summer, the sheriff's officers had removed cash from the business place to satisfy a claim against Castle Farms made by the National Cash Register Co.

In a letter addressed to Sheriff Philo E. Sumner dated Sept. 8, 1976, the owner of Castle Farms Inn, Inc., Arthur R. Reibel, demands the return of assets of Castle Farm Inn., Inc., within five days of that date, alleging that the assets were illegally removed from the Castle Farm premises on the evening of Sept. 4 under the supervision of James D. McCallum of the sheriff's department.

The letter states further that in the event the assets are not returned in five days to the Castle Inn, the Castle Farms Inn, Inc., will commence litigation asking for actual and exemplary damages from the illegal removal of the assets from Castle Inn, together with treble damages for the abuse of process as set forth in the letter.

The letter alleges further that McCallum, Under Sheriff of the Sheriff's Department, personally committed two breaking and enterings on private property while in the process of illegally removing the personal property named on a list that accompanied the letter.

In the letter Reibel also alleges that McCallum utilized the assistance of intoxicated persons during the removal of the aforementioned assets. McCallum said he was accompanied by two uniformed sheriff's deputies and attorneys Michael and Gibbons.

In his letter to Sheriff Sumner, Reibel also stated that a criminal warrant will be requested from the Michigan State Attorney General's Office for the two breaking and enterings committed by McCallum.

Summer's End

THE STRETCH OF time from Memorial Day to Labor Day is a hectic one for Charlevoix. Summer visitors from downstate, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and parts unknown, swarm to the area to enjoy the sun, sand and water, like bees to honey. The pace of life picks up as store owners, resort owners and restaurant owners struggle to meet the increased demand for their services.

The pace quickens for local residents, too, as they renew old acquaintances with summer residents, fight the increased traffic and prepare for the annual visits of their friends. But all too soon the hustle and bustle subsides. Area residents find they have a chance to catch their breath as the cars begin to point south and the sun sets on another summer in Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Town's Reputation Turning Shady

Charlevoix is getting a reputation for being a shady town. But that's the way it should be, according to John Campbell, chairman of the Shade Tree Committee.

Campbell reported recently that the first year of Charlevoix's shade tree planting program was successful considering this summer's severe drought and the damage that it caused to crops and plants throughout the entire Northern Michigan area.

Campbell is slated to give a complete report about the program with the committee's suggestions for the 1977 planting program at the next Charlevoix Common Council meeting, Monday.

"Except for the problems we had with the drought, our first year went well," Campbell said reviewing the committee's achievements in the last year. "However, of the 260 trees we planted in the city, I expect 150 of them will not make it. We won't know for sure until next spring when the leaves bud out again.

"But, if you gauge the results of the program by the enthusiasm of city residents and of city council members, it went very well," the chairman added.

Campbell said the 550 trees that the city had purchased and placed in its own nursery by the sewage treatment plant and in Campbell's private nursery were doing very well.

"The city installed a sprinkler system in its nursery which worked very well and none of the trees were damaged," he said. "The city has also been using the sludge from the waste water treatment plant to fertilize the trees and they seem to be doing very well."

Campbell predicted the Shade Tree Committee would recommend to council that it follow a program of replacement and pruning in 1977.

"We expected to plant another 250 trees next year, but with all of the trees that were killed off by the drought, we won't have the man hours to replace these trees plus plant 250 more," he explained.

Campbell did think the committee would recommend that the city continue with the plantings in the downtown area and along the sidewalks in the Pine Channel-Antrim Street area.

Campbell invited all interested citizens to attend the council meeting and present their comments about the shade tree planting program.

City, Credit Union Settle Differences on Site Plan

By PAULA HOLMES

After the air was cleared and the differences were settled, the Charlevoix Common Council members and the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union officials looked to be the best of friends.

But it took two days of meetings to get the smiles back on everyone's faces.

After more than five hours of meetings at the regular city council meeting and during a special one the following day, the council and the credit union arrived at an agreement for the site plan development of the proposed credit union building at the corner of Petoskey Avenue and Burns Street. The agreement retained the green area in front of the building on Petoskey Avenue, placed the parking behind the building and made the driveway entrance to the building on Burns Street with an exit on Petoskey Avenue allowing a right turn only.

Council had held up the issuance of a building permit for the credit union because changes had been made in the site plan which placed the parking in front of the building on Petoskey Avenue removing all of the green belt and because both the entrance and the exit for the credit union were planned for Petoskey Avenue.

"I feel that the whole thing turned out pretty well," Jeannine Wallace, alderman, said. "We worked out a pretty good compromise."

Mrs. Wallace said the council had been concerned about maintining the character of the neighborhood where the new credit union building is going to be constructed.

"When we granted the rezoning of the parcel it was a highly controversial emotional issue," Mrs. Wallace explained. "And certain promises were made at that time by the credit union to the neighbors about maintaining a residential look to the neighborhood and they showed it in their proposed plans.

"The council felt the new plans the credit union had presented with all of the green area in front replaced by parking violated those promises," she explained.

"And I was concerned about the whole town, too," the alderman continued. "Everyday that we would drive by the new building, we would have to look at a sea of blacktop filled with cars,

"Under this compromise we got rid of that blacktop sea," she said. "And I think the credit union officials were glad to have the parking moved to the back, too."

Two parking spaces will remain near the front of the building however, as parking places for the handicapped required under the barrier free construction laws.

Kate Brady, treasurer and manager of the credit union, had no comment about the compromise agreement. agreement.

Plan Review in Ordinance Can Save City Headaches

By PAULA HOLMES

The words "site plan review" were heard throughout the Charlevoix Common Council Sept. 7 meeting with the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union Officials and Danash Associates, Inc., architects for the credit union.

"If you had a site plan review section in your zoning ordinance, you wouldn't be having these problems," Roger Reynolds, of Danash Associates, told the council at one point in his presentation.

"We SHOULD have a site plan review section," an alderman was heard muttering later in the meeting. "That's really what we need."

To find out just what a site plan review section or a development plan review section, as they are also called, can do for the city, the Courier spoke with William Mercer, Charlevoix County planner.

"A development plan review section in a zoning ordinance provides the city council or whatever governing body is enforcing the ordinance, with a double check," Mercer said.

The development plan review section requires developers to bring in their final plan for the use of a parcel of land for review, Mercer explained. Then city council can make sure that the developers are using the land in a way that is in the best interest of the community and that the plan is in keeping with the discussions held about the use of a parcel during rezoning hearings.

Mercer said the idea of development plan review is a fairly new one and in zoning and planning thought and he said that was why it had not been incorporated in Charlevoix's original zoning ordinance which was written in the 1940s.

The county planner said the idea of development plan review had not been incorporated into the original zoning legislation for the state, which legally enabled communities to write zoning ordinances, either. He said a bill is currently in committee in the Michigan House of Representatives which would make sure the development plan review is a legal part of Michigan zoning law.

"Michigan courts have not ruled on the validity of the development plan review," Mercer said quoting from a paper prepared for the Zoning Advisory Committee by the Office of Land Use of the Department of Natural Resources.

He said the new bill (HB 6504) would ensure that the development plan review sections could be officially and validly added to current zoning ordinances.

"Nationally, the development plan review has been found to be a valid and good tool for zoning," Mercer added. "However, just as with any planning and zoning tool, the development plan review concept is only as good as the operators of the concept."

Mercer said that many people don't like the development plan review because some communities have used it to exclude certain things from their area such as mobile home parks or condominiums.

The law does provide a means for people who have been treated unfairly under a development plan review to be given their rights. However, it can be a nuisance to developers who have to deal with an illegal use of the development plan review, he said.

Olach Cautions People to Look For Bus Lights

School's open and that means school buses and children are once again on the road. It also means that drivers have to be extra cautious.

Vince Olach, Charlevoix School District business manager, said many drivers have forgotten to stop when the red lights on the back of school buses are flashing.

"It is a state law and a city ordinance that all cars on both sides of the road and in both lanes on a four-lane street, must stop when a school bus' lights are flashing," he said.

Speedway

Why not commemorate a former prominent resort family by changing Lakeshore Dr. to Speedway 79 after the business they once owned? Since it is now the access road to Medusa Cement, it is a speedway for Medusa employees driving noisy pick-up trucks and motorcycles not to mention boat hauling equipment on route to the public launching ramp. So the name would be most appropriate.

LexaLite Growing By Leaps, Bounds, Celebrates Third Expansion Program

CHARLEVOIX AND area businessmen and merchants were treated to a tour of the LexaLite facilities Friday. Here a group views some of the hundreds of products of the plastics company.

By PAULA HOLMES

Some good has come out of the ever increasing crime rate—at least that's what the people at LexaLite International Corp. on U.S. 31 will tell you.

If it weren't for vandals, LexaLite probably wouldn't be around. The plastics corporation got its start in 1961 manufacturing the first vandal-proof street light globe, according to J.T. Barnes, president of the corporation.

"And there were lots of vandals, so there was lots for us to do," Barnes added laughing.

But what has happened at LexaLite since its first vandal-proof globe rolled off the line in Southfield, Mich., is no laughing matter. The then tiny corporation is now one of the worlds largest proprietary and custom molders of engineering thermoplastic.

The company moved to Charlevoix in 1965 and since then has expanded three times to meet the ever growing demand for its products. The most recent expansion of the plant was celebrated last weekend.

The company invited the public to tour its facilities, which were expanded by 50 percent, Saturday.

Charlevoix and other area businessmen and merchants were invited to the plant Friday for tours and a special dedication ceremony for the expanded facility.

The expansion provides 54,000 square feet for the production, tooling, research and development departments. In addition, there will be a new engineering center for research development and engineering along with the expansion of the LexaLite tool department.

The expansion will provide space for about 100 employees. Currently 90 people work at the plant.

At LexaLite the goal is to always strive to make a better product. After the company produced the first vandal-proof street light globe, it improved it. After much study by company engineers the globes now have incorporated in them special optional considerations that result in top efficiency, precise beam control and low-cost refractors.

The company then spread into the manufacture of custom-molded products and offered consulting and engineering services that created replacements for many metal parts for its customers as well as cost reduction one item which LexaLite convered into plastic from metal was the traffic control light. The company also manufacturers games and dishes.

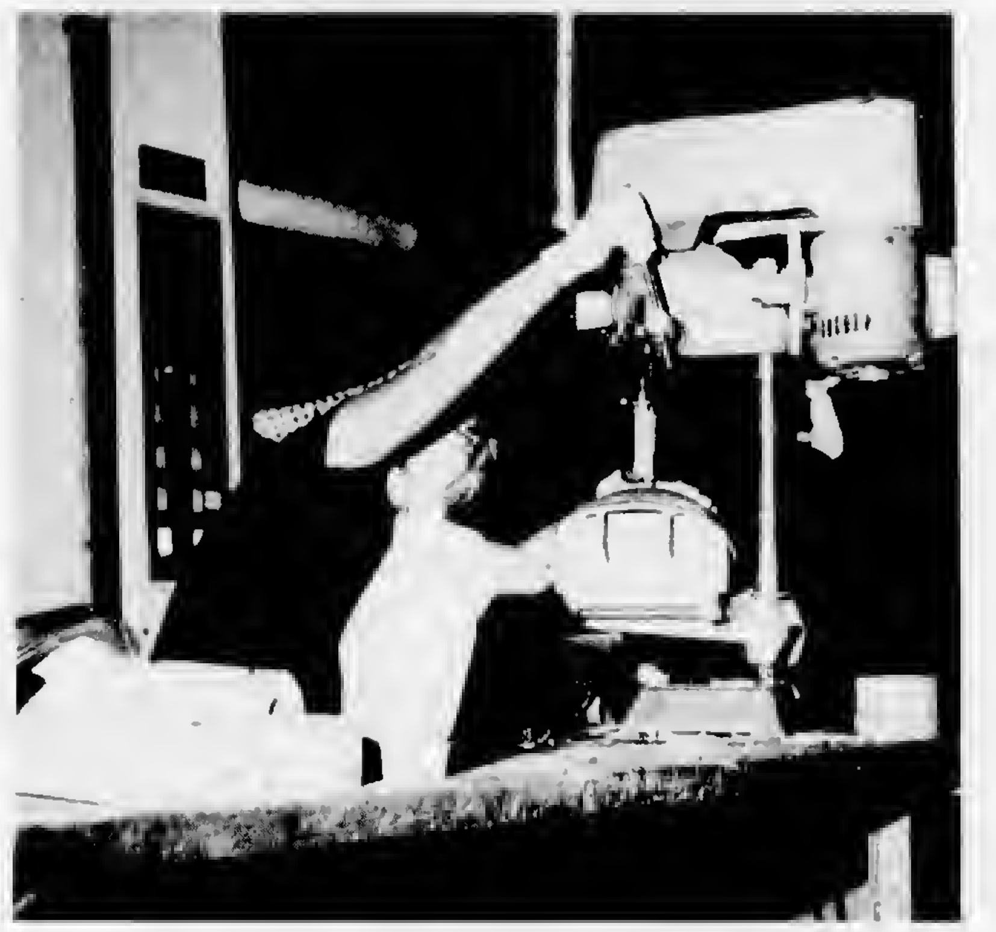
Lexalite currently produces 350 items out of polycarbonate acrylic, ABS and other engineering thermoplastics through the use of injection, low and form molding as well as thermoforming.

None of the company's products involve the use of PCB (poly carbonated biphenyl), a harmful chemical which has been found in Lake Michigan fish, according to John Zaremba, LexaLite vice president.

The company follows strict Environmental Protection Agency regulations and even maintains a trout pond to ensure that no chemical vastes are emitted in the waste water leaving the plant.



RUTH ALPETER, a LexaLite employee, was on hand during the tours to show visitors how some of the vandal proof globes are made.

Grandvue Plans Dampened, May Seek 1 Mill for Expansion

By PEG OHLE

Plans for a residential care unit at Grandvue Medical Care Facility were dampened last week when the Board of Commissioners learned that funds under the Public Works Employment Act would be distributed to areas on the basis of number of unemployed people, rather than percentage of unemployed people, in the area.

This means that Charlevoix County will be competing at a disadvantage with the large metropolitan areas in applying for funds to build the addition to Grandvue.

Last month, the Board of Commissioners authorized an expenditure of $32,640 for engineering plans which must accompany the request for funds. Total cost of the addition is estimated at $525,000. The project has been held up for over two years while the County sought funds from various federal grants.

The probability that Charlevoix County will not receive the requested funds under the Public Works Employement Act prompted the Board of Commissioners last week to ask that the millage proposal for that purpose be placed on the November ballot.

The proposal will call for the levy of one mill per year for three years for a sinking fund, with construction to start after the second year's collection, and all collections to be invested until needed.

However, if the federal funds are received and the millage passed, the millage will not be levied.

The proposal is being put on the ballot at this time because if it is not, the County would have to wait two more years before it could be presented to the voters.

Proposed Mill Cuts Would Cost Charlevoix District $198,000

By PEG OHLE

If the proposal to cut Charlevoix County millage from 15 to 12 passes November 2, the Charlevoix School District will lose $198,000 based on 1977-1978 collections.

This information was brought to the attention of the Citizens Information Service (CIS), sponsors of the proposal, by school Superintendent James McKimmy last week. At a meeting in Boyne City with all Charlevoix County school officials.

To indicate what this might mean to the school budget, McKimmy points out that this is more than the $141,000 in this year's entire transportation budget; more than the $125,000 the school district is paying for community services, adult education, Indian programs, capital outlay, health services, all administration costs, driver education, and band programs; a large portion of the school district's $278,000 costs of plant operation and maintenance; and about 25 percent of faculty salaries.

The question, then, becomes "where will the cuts be made?" The CIS has no ideas. Willis Peters of the CIS stated at the recent meeting that "The people who signed the petitions couldn't care less where it is cut." And Karl Waldner said the CIS based the allocations of millages "on generalities."

McKimmy and other members of the Charlevoix School District administrative staff are concerned about what the cut in millage could mean to school operation but report they are not making any definite plans for budget cuts at this time because the new millage would not become effective until the 1977-1978 school year.

The CIS, on the other hand, insists the cut would take effect January 1, 1977 and are seeking legal confirmation of this fact.

McKimmy believes that a county wide vote is not representative of an individual school district within the county. "We would probably go back to the voters in our school district for another vote if the millage cut passes," he said.

"Only 601 people, out of over 9,000 registered voters signed the petitions," McKimmy added, "and signing the petitions simply means bringing the question to a vote, not supporting it."

In conclusion, McKimmy pointed out that citizens already have a forum in the Annual Budget Review in which to state their opinions, but they do not take advantage of it.

School Enrollment Jumps In Charlevoix

By FRAN MARTIN

While many other schools in the state are showing a decrease in enrollments, the Charlevoix Public Schools continue to show a steady increase Supt. James A. McKimmy said in reporting this year's first day enrollment figures.

For the first time the enrollment passed the 1,800 mark with a total of 1,803 in the classrooms on the first day of school. This is an increase of 35 over the official 'count day' enrollment figure of a year ago when the number was 1,768.

State aid is based on the head count taken on the fourth Friday of September. If the enrollment figure remains at this total or increases between now and Sept. 24, the school district will be eligible for minimal state aid, McKimmy said.

The new enrollment figure passed the anticipated increase by 12 students.

The largest increases showed up in the K-5 school where the enrollment increased from 689 last year to 694 last week and in the high school where the total jumped from 611 to 643.

The classes that showed the greatest increase in the elementary school were the second grade where 130 students are enrolled compared to 100 in 1975. At the high school level, the twelfth grade showed the major increase, or 146 now compared to 125 on the fourth Friday in 1975.

Depending on where the increases fall, an additional teacher plus supplies and classroom furnishings may result on the K-5 level. This is anticipated at this time.

The figures for enrollment on the fourth Friday in 1975 and the first day enrollment figures for 1976 are shown below:

Grade	1975 count day enrollment	1976 1st day enrollment

Cancer Society Squeaks Over Top of Goal

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoix County's 1976 Cancer Crusade went over the top by $4.14 cents, Mrs. Maurice Dixon, secretary-treasurer, reported Thursday night at the local chapter's annual meeting at Grey Gables.

Mrs. Dixon said the drive met it's goal of $12,500 with only pennies to spare.

Mrs. Patty Muma of Charlevoix was chairman of the county Crusade.

Mrs. Deanna Beyer of East Jordan, public education chairman, reported that 1,480 school children in Charlevoix County saw movies on cancer prevention during the 1975-'76 school year. The movies were supplied by the American Cancer Society.

Board members voted to purchase a hospital bed and mattress with funds collected during next year's Crusade. The new equipment will be kept at the loan closet in East Jordan for use by county residents afflicted with cancer.

New officers assuming their duties Thursday were Mrs. Jeff (Nancy) Porter, Charlevoix; president; and Robert Bogart, Charlevoix, vice president.

For additional information about the Cancer Society and services available, contact Mrs. Maurice Dixon, 547-6704.

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix District Court last week by Judge David Fershee:

Dennis D. Gilkerson, 18, East Jordan, reckless driving. Plead guilty. $95 fine and costs.

Sue Warner, 20, East Jordan, furnishing alcoholic beverage to a minor. Plead guilty. $50 fine and costs.

Joseph H. Washburn, 45, East Jordan, simple larceny. Found guilty in non-jury trial. Ten days in county jail and $50 fine and costs.

Michael W. McDonald, 23, making improper turn. Plead guilty. $20 fine and cost.

Commissioners Approve Nuke Advisory Vote

Charlevoix County voters will have an opportunity November 2 to state whether or not they approve of a nuclear waste site being established in Northern Michigan.

The County Board of Directors last week approved a resolution to put the proposition on the ballot, citing the fact that the County is one of 12 in the area near the proposed sites and that "the effects of this may have a long time adverse effect on the environment and the health of the people of Charlevoix County."

Alpena and Presque Isle Counties will also have advisory referendums on November 2.

Editorials/Opinions

New Zoning Ordinance Could Prevent Disaster

Recently the Charlevoix Common Council, and indeed the whole town, were involved in a brouhaha over the change in the proposed construction plans of the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union. And while the situation seemed to be resolved to the satisfaction of everyone, it did point out the inadequacies of the current city zoning ordinance.

The city has no means of protecting itself from drastic changes made in construction plans, if the changes meet all of the zoning requirements set forth by the city zoning ordinance. A plan that is presented for a rezoning request, can be significantly altered, and in reality, the council can do nothing about it.

If the organization was not as community-minded as the credit union and chose to press for the changes, it could very possibly win court approval of them and then where would the city be?

Roger Reynolds, of Danash Associates, Inc., the architectural firm contracted by the credit union, said over and over in his discussions that if the city had a site plan review section in its ordinance that none of the confusion and the ill feelings that he and the credit union officials and the council were dealing with would have happened. Reynolds has dealt with many zoning ordinances in many towns and his words of experience are well worth listening to.

This deplorable situation may soon be changed, however. A committee of council members has been hard at work under the direction of Alderman Sue Erber, on the revision of our nearly 30-year-old ordinance. A second public hearing on the proposed ordinance will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the city council chambers

The council members will discuss the proposed changes in the new ordinance and discuss modifications in the proposed ordinance that have been made since the first public hearing was held last spring. It is conceivable that the council may even adopt the new ordinance during the hearing, since under law they are required to hold only one hearing on the issue.

Besides revising many of the zoning districts in the city, the new ordinance also provides for a site plan review system.

It may be well worth the time of Charlevoix residents to attend the public hearing and to learn about the zoning requirements the city may soon face. But most of all, attendance at the meeting could bring about changes in the city zoning ordinance that are sorely needed to protect the city from what could be a zoning disaster.

Debates Are Great, If People Listen

It looks like 1976 is going to be the year of the great debate. And what better way is there to clear the (hot) air than by challenging candidates to put their thoughts on the line in front of their opponent and the public.

The League of Women Voters started the whole thing–if you want to blame it on someone–when they challenged Presidential Candidates Ford and Carter to put their minds where their mouths were by agreeing to fund public debates between the two men. The League's offer was quickly followed by the network television and radio offers to give for a fee live, nationwide coverage to these great debates.

And now it seems that everyone is getting into the act. When Francis Brouillette, Democratic candidate for Congress from Michigan's 11th District opened his campaign this week, he challenged his opponent, Incumbent Rep. Philip Ruppe to debate the issues of the campaign throughout the vast district.

And even more recently Karl Waldner of the Citizens Information Service, has challenged county and school district officials to debate the merits or disadvantages of reducing the allocated millage of Charlevoix County.

Debates are a great way to bring out the issues and should be encouraged in this new enlightened age of candidate watching. However, the public should be cautioned to listen to what the participants in the debate are saying. Words are funny things and they can be twisted and contorted in amazing ways unless one is listening closely and can hear the candidate as he or she speaks out of both sides of his or her mouth.

In a real debate the opponent is supposed to catch the person with the forked tongue. However, it may not be obvious to even them. That is why the public must be doubly cautious in these days of slick debate coaches and even slicker speech writers, when listening to the debates at whatever level to look for good solid facts and statistics which can be authenticated.

News Managed?

Dear Editor:

I feel something has gone seriously wrong with the vaunted "objectivity of our major news media. How come the existence of 7,000 political prisoners in Soviet-occupied Germany evokes no protest from the otherwise highly articulated liberal spokesmen, nor any notice in our establishment media?

Why is it that 600 odd terrorist detainees in Rhodesia, the anti-communist nation in that region, do? Is it possible that someone is orchestrating our press, radio or other public opinion molders...managing the news? Of course news management – the manipulation of news and war propaganda – is not a new devide. It is probably as old as the trumpets of Jericho. Authentically, it has been used to achieve a psychological advantage in the Battles of Leipzig and Waterloo, during the last century, and the Battles of Marne and the Bulge in this one. It appears that news manipulation is being used by Washington to condition the American public on vital foreign policy issues in this election year.

The real question is whether this country shauld remain truly independent and the leader of the free world, or should we subordinate our sovereignty and ideas af homan freedom to a partnership with Soviet Russia, as Secretary of State Herr Kissinger wants. I think it incumbent upon the American people that we should be folly informed of the issues involved, as well as the likely conseqoences of our decision.

I feel and hope that many fellow Americans do share my views; the issue is, what we–the U.S.A., mighty America–should do about the rebellious former British colony of Rhodesia in Southern Africa and the subdued colonies of Soviet Russia in Central and Eastern Europe, including the forcefully Soviet-occupied Democratic German Republic. News articles, including Reuter's the leading British news agency, tell that there are between 600 and 700 political prisoners in Rhodesia. This I hear repeatedly on the radio and in our press.

The same Reuter's news agency and other news dispatchers also inform us that some 7,000 political prisoners are behind bars or in barbed wire concentration camps in Soviet-occupied East Germany. According to the news media, the life conditions of these Rhodesian detainees are livable conditions. As for the thousands of German political prisoners languishing behind the Iron Cortain–in camps and behind the massive Berlin Wall–there is suspicious silence in our big metropolitan dailies and the rest of the Establishment news media.

The only crime of most of those 7,000 political prisoners in Soviet-occupied Germany was a dash for freedom or a snide remark about their communist rulers.

Many Americans might like to help these anti-communist Germans, which could disarrange Herr Kissinger's plans for a bigger and better "detente" with the Soviets. I am convinced he wants those anti-Soviet, anti-communist Germans sunk from sight in this election period.

Why don't we hear about the plight of those poor commmunist slaves in Communist Soviet Russia, Communist Cuba, Communist China? Why does oor major news media attack these anti-communist leaders of Rhodesia, Chile, and South Africa? Why doesn't Herr Kissinger tell the Soviets to allow a majority rule or why is he silent about the ruthless dictator Castro in Cuba? Why doesn't Mr. Kissinger tell the ruthless butchers of China and Vietnam to allow a majority rule? Whose side is Herr Kissinger on? Why is he allowed to destroy every anti-communist and help those godless communist enemies?

I wish we had a pro-American Secretary of State.

Sincerely,
Richard Friske
Charlevoix, Mich.

It Jerry Ford loses the White House lease to Jimmy Carter, it won't be because any of us have anything against good uld Jerry persunally. He's a fine guy and a good sport, the kind of felluw yau'd like to have for a neighbor. I would rather hoist a few beers with Jerry Ford than his Bible-thumping challenger from the Deep South.

But good old Jerry isn't going to get himself elected to the White House because of his lousy economic policies–or lack of them.

Ironically, Ford is basing his bid for re-election un the claim that he has turned the nation around economically by bringing inflation onder control and putting the unemployed back to work.

Jerry Ford tells os that the Recession is over, and I suppose if I were one of the millians laid off last year I would be happy to have a regular payeheck again. Bot I wasn't laid off. I worked every day. But I watched the buying power of the dollar gruw smaller every day.

Jerry Ford may have slowed inflation and he may have found jobs for a few af us, but it has all happened to late to do much good. We can be as happy as hell that cabbage only costs 80 cents a head instead of 90 cents a head, but the question af buying cabbuge at all becomes academic when all you can afford is a 30-cent head.

Take the hoosing market, for example. If there is one thing I wouldn't want to be is a young married man just setting out to look for a house fur my family. In the first place, we wouldn't be able to swing the downpayment at today's inflated prices. And we simply would not be able to make mortgage payments at today's interest rates on anything mure sumptuuus than a hen house.

Even then we would be advised to share our quarters with the former tenants in order to pay utilities.

According to the Senate Banking Committee, the age-old American dream of a house in the suburbs has vanished fur six oot of every 10 families. The gap between the cost of new homes and the ability tu come up with the wherewithal to buy new homes is widening every day and the situation bids fair to become a hot campaign issoe.

Today the typical single-family home with three bedrooms and two baths on a modest lot costs a median price of $44,500. Half cost more than $44,500; half cost less.

Only six years ago–in late 1970–the same house cuuld have been purchased for $23,400, a price that more than half of the families in the United States could afford. During the same period, personal income has risen at less than half the cost of new homes, thanks not only to inflation but also to sharply increased mortgage interest rates, which have doubled (4.5 percent to 9 percent) in the past 26 years.

In order to afford that modest $44,500 home, the average American family would have to earn about $16,000 a year. Census and industry statistics indicate that only about one third of America's families have enough income to carry a martgage on the so-called "average home."

In 1950, the median price of new homes was $8,300, with 10 percent down. Payments on a 30-year mortgage came to about $42 a munth and the average family had no trouble staking a claim to a place in the suburbs.

The same type of loan today on a $44,500 house for principal and interest would require a monthly payment of $322.

Because of such grim statistics, many young American families and middle-income families generally have been turning to mobile homes, town houses or cheaper homes in older neighborhods. Others will rent for the rest of their lives.

But the dream of a new home in the suburbs persists. It is a dream that Jerry Ford is going to have to come to terms with if he wants to occupy the White Huose another four years. And time is fast running aut.

Have you ever seen that insurance commerical where the husband and wife arrive home only to discover their house has been burgled? As the flashing red lights of the police cruiser silhouette them in the darkness, the man torns to his half-numb wife and says, "It was everything we had."

We've just sent another child uff to college and we look the same way. If he ever plugs in all the appliances he took at the same time, he will plonge Los Angeles into total darkness.

We can understand ripping off the staples: clock, radio, hair dryer, record,s luggage, night stands, tennis rackets, skis, backpacks, tape recorder, typewriter and television set. What we can't understnad is his sudden fascination with things he never used at home.

Bicycle: A seven-letter obscene word meaning, "You mean I don't get the car?" This has been sitting in a corner of the garage gathering dust for three years. The bicycle was put to stud after our son revealed he was the only teenager in North America who had not developed an accelerator foot.

14 towels: We didn't think he knew what they were. Someone must tell him they're not disposable, bot after being scooped op off the floor can be laundered and used time and time again.

Dictionary: We would never have guessed his quest to be understood. For the last four years, he has limited his vocabulary to one-word-fits-all: gross. This applies tu food, sorroundings, vacations, people, teachers, studies, car, allowances, records, and his basic philosophy.

Glasses:
This is encouraging. The last time he dug them out was when he wanted to see something.

Shirt without a message on it: This could mean one uf twa things: he is discarding the things of his childhood and entering an adult phase of dress...or he needs rags to stuff in around his stereo in packing.

A set of sheets: The thought is there, but we've got to get through to him that they do not reproduce themselves.

"Isn't there some relief program to prevent this?" I asked my husband as we surveyed our bare domain.

"Yes," he pondered. "I think it's called 'birth contral.'"

Another Legion Disease

Perhaps Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp could spend an evening in an American Legion post. Just to prove it is safe.

There is more than one type of legionnaires disease, as Jimmy Carter could tell you.

A lot of people got sick, and some died, after attending a state American Legion convention in Philadelphia's Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. There has never been any proof that it was the hotel's fault, but there is always the suspicion. So tourists are staying at the Holiday Inn instead, and business is lousy at the Bellevue.

Gov. Shapp tried to do something about it. He spent the night at the Bellevue and came out alive and healthy in the morning. Which proves you don't have to worry about eating at the Bellevue if you are the governor of Pennsylvania.

I was a member of the American Legion for many years, in several cities. For the first few years after World War II, when my underwear was still olive drab, I even attended some legion conventions.

Which prompted my first reaction to the mysterious legionnaries disease. I thought some of those convention delegates might have been bored to death.

I have enjoyed some marvelous evenings in legion posts. That's where I learned how to play euchre, subsequently becoming the world's champion.

I also learned how to hold my liquor in a legion pot (with both hands, and take it to the john with you).

It was mostly fun. And another thing I learned from the legion was to disappear when the meetings started. Especially if there was a visiting official from the state or national level.

It has been my experience that the higher a legion officer's rank, the more certain he is to make a 90-minute speech explaining that the only way to goarantee peace in New Jersey is to kill people in Cambodia.

You can be sure the audience was full of this type of storm trooper when Jimmy Carter spoke at the legion's convention in Seattle. Those guys never miss a convention, even if they have to pawn their anti-aircraft guns to get bus fare.

And when Carter said he would pardon Vietnam draft resisters, the legion yahoos booed for 3 minutes.

I quit paying my legion dues during the Vietnam war because of my teenage son.

The legion's national commander was forever making brave speeches about how it was a shame that our nation's youth had to die, but their survivors should be proud that their sons had given their lives to stop the ever-widening scourge of communism.

At this same time, I was caotioning my son about the danger of leaving the house without bridge fare to Canada in his pocket. And it seemed only proper to give him the $7 a year I was no longer sending to the legion.

Fortunately, I got out before I caught the real legionnaire disease. This is the illness which Jimmy Carter was exposed to when he dared to hint at the truth–that the young men who refused to fight an immoral war might have been right, and John Wayne might have been wrong.

The real disease can be best described by that old cliche: "Misery loves company."

Ask any veteran about the military, it is not fun and glory. It is boring and lonely at best. And at worst it is blood and misery and stink and weariness. It's degrading and stupid and cold and hot and the sudden loss of your best friend.

Most legionnaires know that. So why do many of them want every mother's son to become a soldier? Why do they want revenge against the youth who refused a uniform? The answer is legionnaires disease:

"By God, I went through the Battle of the Bulge for my country. Today's kids should do the same or first thing you know we'll no longer have the freedom to meet every Wednesday night and drink beer."

2 years ago the Detroit USO was forced ta close because of failing patronage. What with no war, and no draft, there just weren't enough soldiers and sailors to keep the Ping-Pong balls bouncing.

If this marvelous trend should continue, someday there will be no legionnaires. Which is probably the only way to cure the disease.

Meet Charlevoix

...Harry Potter

Harry Potter is one of Charlevoix County's busiest housekeepers. As building maintenance man for the County Building and County Building Annex, he is responsible for the cleaning and upkeep of about 30,000 square feet of floors and an unmeasured number of square feet of walls, windows and fixtures. This week he tells the Courier something about his job.

COURIER: How long have you been on this job?

POTTER: Almost ten years, since January, 1967.

COURIER: Who works with you?

POTTER: Willie Williams helps me. I work from seven to three each day und he warks frum one to ten four days a week and four hours on Saturday. Of course, I can get called in at any hour if something goes wrong with the plumbing or boiler or something. But if things are well maintained you don't have problems so often.

COURIER: How do you manage to du your cleaning when the buildings are occupied all day long?

POTTER: During the day we do such things as map the hallways and wash windows. At night, when peuple are out of the offices, we dust and vacuum. We have a regular schedule. We clean a group of offices each day und hit all the high spots on Friday and Saturday. It's not bad if you do the wurk on schedule bot you can't let it go.

COURIER: The hall floors always look nice. How do you take care af them?

POTTER: They're terrazo and they have to be mupped and buffed. About every other week or so also wax them.

COURIER: What is the worst time of year for your floors?

POTTER: The winter time, when you get all the crud from the streets and sidewalks.

COURIER: What type of repairs do you have to make most often?

POTTER: In the lighting system and plumbing. Also furniture, such as chairs, which come apart.

COURIER: What are some of your other jobs?

POTTER: Well, we haul out a lot of trash each day. We burn it in the incinerator and the garbage man picks up the excess once a week as well as that trash we can't burn.

COURIER: What kind of equipment do you have for cleaning?

POTTER: We have two commercial size buffers and four commercial size vacuum cleaners. Also a supply of string mops for both mopping and applying wax to the floors. We use separate ones, of course.

COURIER: Your storage room here is full of cleaning products. What kinds are they?

POTTER: Just the regular run of powders, detergents and so forth.

COURIER: Everyone has his own theury about what to use for washing windows – vinegar or ammonia or whatever. What da you use?

POTTER: A regular commercial window cleaner that has ammonia in it.

COURIER: Do yuo do a thurough hausecleaning, say in the spring or fall?

POTTER: No, we can't do that and we don't have to. Bot every spring we have to spray the carpets with a de-charger to cut down the electricity. It gets pretty bad except in those offices that have humidifiers.

COURIER: Do the people of the offices keep their desks clear so it's easy to dust them?

POTTER: Yes, they do, but some, like Social Services, prefer to do their awn dusting sa they don't have to put everything away every night.

COURIER: Yau open the County buildings early, don't you?

POTTER: We open up every morning at seven o'clock and close shortly after five. When there's an evening meeting we have to unlock and lock for that. Also, quite a few of the County employees have keys.

COURIER: Are you a native of Charlevoix?

Harry Potter

POTTER: Yes, I was born in Marion Township.

COURIER: What was Mrs. Potter's maiden name?

POTTER: She was Betty Clark. She teaches in the Elementary School.

COURIER: What about your children?

POTTER: Our son, Richard, is 22 and works at Freedman's. Our daughter, Anita, is 19 and goes to Albion College.

COURIER: One last question. Do you do any housework at home?

POTTER: Not very often.

Mayhew Certified For Soil Program

Dick Mayhew, Charlevoix County Building and Code Administrator, has been certified by the State Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Program.

Mayhew is the third person in the County tu be certified. The others are Irvin H. Sturm, County Road Engineer, and Ronald B. Geer, County Drain Commissioner and administrator of the Soil Erosion act.

Student Teachers

FOUR COLLEGE seniors whose majors are elementary education will be at the Charlevoix Elementary School this term to work under present faculty members. They are (left to right) Irene Cohen of Petoskey, Kathleen Finn of Petoskey, Patricia Kaniarz of Harbor Springs and Ronald Bindi of Charlevoix. Ms. Kaniarz is a student at Michigan State University; and others attend Central Michigan University.

Krueger Urges Residents To Attend Hospital Meeting

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Area Hospital will be held at the Community Room of the City Hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21, Richard Krueger, Administrator of the hospital, has announced.

Reports will be presented and three directors named to fill three vacancies on the board. Terms of Thomas Smith, of Boyne City, Max Novak and Thomas Carey of Charlevoix will expire at this time.

Smith, who is completing his second three-year term as a member of the board of directors, has indicated that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Novak and Carey have said they will seek re-election to the board.

Nominations will be accepted from the floor at the time of the meeting.

In announcing the meeting, Krueger urged residents of the area served by the hospital to attend the annual meeting.

"This is your hospital. We think we are fortunate to have the facility here and hope you will express your appreciation for it by attending the annual meeting" Krueger said.

Crystal Ball Helps Tell All

By MARSHA ROBINSON

"I knew that was going to happen."

Sound familiar?

Most of us have had what might be termed a psychic experience – premonitions, hunches, or that feeling you've done this same thing in this same place even though you know it isn't possible.

And, for most of us who have had such an experience, it has been so rare as to have been dismissed as coincidence, forgotten, or become part of a story that ends with the comment "really wierd," or its equivalent.

If you happen, however, to be someone like Charlene Brook, psychic experiences are neither rare nor vague. She is a psychic.

Charlene, 24, is also, with her husband Larry, a summer resident of Charlevoix and producer of the Charlevoix Music Theatre.

She has been giving "readings" out of a studio in Southfield, Michigan, for six months now, using a talent she discovered a year ago and has been developing ever since.

Wierd?

"Oh yea," she said, "But I've seen so much proof, I can't ignore it."

Among the experiences that convinced her of her psychic abilities were:

-Telling a woman who was looking for her nephew that he might be involved with drugs, that he was in California and that she saw a car having to do with the name of the place. He turned up three weeks later in Carmel, California.

-Telling a man whose house had been broken into and burglarized who was involved, the color of the car involved and a description of the dent on the car, all of which proved to be accurate.

-Telling a recent divorced woman that she would be dating a man in a red sport coat. Two weeks later the woman greeted a blind date at the door and he was wearing a red suit.

Charlene uses a crystal ball for her readings. She sees some pictures in it, she said, but for the most part simply relies on what comes to her mind.

The source of her information is mysterious, and has many different names in psychic circles. Charlene prefers to think of the source as a psychic guide.

"I really don't know how it works," she said.

The information itself is not always specific. A name might come as a name, as a set of initials, or in the form of a symbol to be interpreted.

Charlene is a graduate of Wayne State University, and her clients are of no particular religion or profession. She has read for PhD.s, medical researchers, lawyers, businessmen and housewives.

Eating and sleeping are about all they have in common, she said

Pyschic readings help people in the same way a counselor might, Charlene feels, notifying people of the opportunities open to them and showing them how "instead of having to walk all the way around the block, they can cut corners."

She does not claim to predict future events.

In fact, Michigan State law forbids professional fortune telling, and all of her clients must sign a card which documents the fact that she has notified them that she is not foretelling the future.

Charlene wasn't sure whether or not the same body of law applies to astrologers.

Although she is the first professional psychic in her family, she is not the first to exhibit psychic tendencies. Charlene has a number of stories to tell about her father, who once told a customer his own shipping address before the man had a chance.

Both of her parents are open-minded about her new field.

Charlene herself still struggles with the remnants of the skepticism she had when she first went to Psychic Joyce Thomas, a trans-medium.

After a year of practice as Ms. Thomas's protege, Charlene is astounded by her ability and a little afraid.

"I'm getting better," she said.

"I never see anything evil. If I did, I would probably quit, I would scare myself."

Locally, the new psychic's clients have been very impressed.

One woman was praising her abilities when Charlene turned and laughing said, "I paid her to say that."

"She did not," the woman protested.

Unlike many psychics, Charlene said that she has not yet met the person she could not read for. She warned also to be wary of psychics who "get you so infatuated with what's going to happen that they give no proof of what has happened or what is happening with your life."

Some of the charlatons in her field will also use tape recorders, have objects flying around the room or research their clients before they come in for the reading, she said.

Even though she knows "there is something to psychic experience. I've seen too much for it to be coincidence," "Charlene will still come as a skeptic to a reading with any psychic she is unfamiliar with, and she urges others to be cautious as well.

She justifies her own prices by saying, "I know I can help people."

Eventually Charlene would like to study parapsychology formally. Sanford University is beginning to research the field.

THE CRYSTAL BALL and its interpretor, Charlene Brook, who says that, "Many people are afraid to hear what's going on," and she adds, "I've never seen anything bad."

Lake Charlevoix Owners Elect New Officers at Meet

The Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association Board elected the following officers for the 1976-77 year: Dave Fowler, president; Erroll Clark, first vice president; Bill Lloyd, second vice president; Joanne Zinn, secretary-treasurer.

Chairpersons for committees were also selected during the annual meeting. They are: Erroll Clark, membership assisted by Bill Lloyd and Paul Pfahler; Rod Stebbins, pollution; Jane Sooy, association bylaws revision; and Susan Vrondran, publicity.

The board approved sending Bill Lloyd to Black Lake for a lakes and streams meeting.

Student Sets Her Sights On Becoming An Author

By PEG OHLE

Nine-year-old Lara Thomas of Charlevoix wants to be an author when she grows up.

She has a good start because she has just had a story published in the children's magazine "Cricket".

Lara likes animals. She has a little dog named "Duke" and the hero of her story is a dog just named "Dog".

Like all good authors, Lara likes to read. She gets books from the library regularly, especially mystery stories. This summer she read a series of Nancy Drew books.

Also like all good authors, Lara has other intereests. She took swimming lessons this summer and spent a lot of time riding her bike. She likes to play Aggravation and several card games. She likes handicrafts and certain television shows. Her favorites are "The Brady Bunch," "I Love Lucy" and "Family Affair".

Now that she's back in school – in Mrs. Jacqueline Meier's room – Lara is busy with school work. She says she has had a lot to do so far. Her favorite subjects are reading, art and music. Arithmetic is "all right."

Lara will also be a Girl Scout this year, having graduated from Brownies. Her mother, Paula Thomas, will be a Girl Scout Leader.

This reporter enjoyed interviewing Lara and applauds her intention to become an author, even though she definitely stated she did not want to be a newspaper woman.

The following is Lara's prize winning story.

The sun was shining with a gleam. The forest was beautiful as a dream. The Deep Forest Award was to be given to the bravest animal in the forest. All the animals came to a meeting telling the beauty of the forest.

Rabbit came up to the stump and said, "Last year I won the award." She stepped down, bowed and walked over to her seat.

Ralf the mouse (who was a newcomer) came rushing down the path, crying and shouting. Raccoon came up to Ralf and asked what was wrong. Ralf said, "My family is on a raft in the Rustling Brook."

Raccoon, Rabbit, and all the others followed at Ralf's heels, ran to Rustling Brook. Rabbit came up to the front of the crowd so she would not have to be pushed around. When they came to Rustling Brook, the raft was nowhere to be seen. Dog, who was now a friend to the forest animals, came swimming up the river with Ralf's family on his back.

Woodchuck exclaimed, "Dog must win the award!" Everybody helped and put Dog on their shoulders.

Dog blushed and said, "I don't need an award." But it was too late. Beaver came with the award. It was placed around Dog's neck, and it never ever stayed there. Oh, but it was hung in Dog's doghouse.

Band Begins Practice For Marching Season

Music will begin ringing out on the morning air this week as the Charlevoix Rayder Marching Band takes to the field in preparation for the opening football game at Kipke field on Friday, Sept. 24.

Gary Stutzman, band director, said the size of the marching band has been cut to approximately 96 members and will include only symphony band members. In the past, members of both the symphony and concert bands composed the marching band, Stutzman explained. He went on to say that this meant meeting with each band at different times and then putting the two groups together for a mass rehearsal.

"I feel that though the band may be smaller, we can do a better job by using only one group and rehearsing every day rather than only a few times each week," he said.

Performing with the marching band will be a 12-member flag corps which attended the United Spirit Association camp at Albion where they walked away with top honors. Members of the flag corps are Sue Winchester, Giny Eby and Amy Potter, seniors; Peggy Hosmer, Corinne Ranger, Becky Juilleret and Terri Bradley, juniors, and Shari Mol, Lynn DeMoor, Janeen Boal, Liz Bellows and Sue Miller.

Brenda Boss will be the 'golden girl' this season and Kevin Kroll will be the drum major.

Instruments were issued last week and musicians are "getting their chops in shape" following the summer recess, Stutzman said.

As soon as the field is lined we'll be hard at it, rehearsing every Monday night and daily from 11 a.m. until 12 noon for the eight week season Stutzman said of the program, he added.

Stutzman attended summer school at Northern Michigan University during the summer.

Armed Services Offer Vocational Interest Test

Again this year, area high school students can discover their occupational potential through a free aptitutde testing program offered by the armed forces. The test results show students jobs in which they would most likely be successful.

The services will locally administer the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB), a comprehensive, twelve-part aptitude test developed by the Department of Defense.

Students who take the test incur no cost not obligation to any of the military services.

Although the ASVAB was designed to predict a person's ability to complete training for military jobs, it it also an extremely valuable tool in encouraging both military and civilian career exploration since both military and civilian jobs are basically quite similar in many occupational specialties. The ASVAB test scores are returned to students and their guidance counselors for career planning.

The program is gaining wide acceptance among secondary school officials who feel it exposes the student to hundreds of different occupations that a young person might not have considered before receiving the ASVAB results.

The ASVAB test will be given at Charlevoix High School on September 27th and at Boyne City High School on September 29th. Guidance counselors at the schools can provide additional information on the ASVAB test.

Claudia Black Marries Guy Lewinski

St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey was the setting for the double ring rites of Claudia Black and guy Lewinski on Saturday, Sept 4.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs Harold E Black of Charlevoix and Mr and Mrs. John D. Lewinski of Petoskey.

For her wedding, the bride chose a short-sleeved, full-skirted dress covered with a waist-length, long-sleeved hooded jacket trimmed in crocheted lace. The dress was crocheted for the bride by her mother. She carried a bouquet of gardinias, pink roses and baby's breath.

Susan Lewinski, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of light blue with pink and white daisy pattern. It was v-necked with long full sleeves.

Grant Lewinski served his brother as best man and Gary Lewinski, brother of the groom, and Don Black, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Father Andrew Lewandowski officiated and Ralph Huybrechts was the organist. Paul Huybrechts sang three selections, "The Wedding Song", "A Time For Us," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother chose a full-length beige gown with a V-neck and long sleeves trimmed with dark brown lace for the wedding. The mother of the groom was attired in a full-length navy gown with navy chiffon sleeves.

A reception given by the parents of the bride followed the wedding at the Knights of Columbus Hall. A rehearsal dinner was also given at the hall on Sept. 3 by the parents of the groom.

Following a honeymoon at Shanty Creek, the couple will live in Boyne Falls. Lewinski is employed with the law firm of Dreyer and Braeuninger in Gaylord and the new Mrs. Lewinski is employed by Dr. William R. Todd in Petoskey.

Grandvue Auxiliary Seeks New Members

The Membership Drive of the Grandvue Medical Facility Auxiliary will be continued throughout September, the auxiliary members learned at their monthly meeting Thursday. Currently there are 69 members in the auxiliary including two members from out of state, two from outside the county, one man and seven Life Members.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the auxiliary should contact Phyllis Malpass, treasurer, of East Jordan.

In other business Mrs. C. D. Geiken, secretary of the Charlevoix Area Historical Society, presented a copy of the new historical book, "Bob Miles' Charlevoix" for the care facility library.

Mrs. Charles Hawley, president, announced that the annual Fall Games Party and Bake Sale will be held on Thursday, Oct. 21, at the care facility.

MAKING JELLY & JAM WITH CORN SYRUP OR HONEY

Can corn syrup or honey be used instead of sugar in making jelly and jam? If you are a beekeeper or looking for a sugar substitute you probably have asked this question.

Either corn syrup or honey can be used in place of part, but not all of the sugar in recipes for jellied fruit products.

In recipes without added pectin, light corn syrup can replace up to one-fourth of the sugar in jellies and up to one-half of the sugar in other products. With added powdered pectin, corn syrup can replace up to one-half of the sugar in any of the products. With liquid pectin, corn syrup can replace up to 2 cups of the sugar.

Products made with honey will have a darker color than those made with sugar as the only sweetening, and the flavor will be somewhat different. Light, mild flavored honey generally is the best kind to use.

Honey can replace up to one-half of the sugar in any of the recipes where no added pectin is used. In products made with added pectin, 2 cups of honey can replace 2 cups of sugar in most recipes; only 3/4 to 1 cup of sugar should be replaced by honey in the small recipes yielding five to six glasses.

SNOW PEAS AND TOMATOES

There are always lots, of requests for food preservation information and recipes during the summer months.

One question that has been asked several times this season is how to preserve Snow peas (also called pea pods, Chinese peas, or sugar peas). These peas can be frozen and should be blanched 2 minutes as pre-treatment for freezing.

Another question deals with processing low acid tomatoes. To avoid botulism, a deadly form of food poisoning, low acid foods should be pressure canned. However, if you use firm, ripe tomatoes, (overripe or rotten tomatoes tend to be lower in acid) they can be safely processed in a boiling water-bath canner. Michigan recommendations call for processing pints 20 minutes and quarts 25 minutes. If you wish to add acid to your tomatoes as an extra measure of safety, use 1½ tsp. lemon juice or 1/8 tsp. citric acid per pint. All other vegetables should be pressure canned. Botulism spores are destroyed at 240 degrees F and only pressure canning can reach that temperature.

We also receive calls relating to canning lids and jars. The great variety of new lids appearing on the market, many of them for the first time, have generated some confusion. If you have a question concerning a particular type or brand, please call us at the Cooperative Extension Service office.

To Escape Rough Seas

Polish Boat Docks in Round Lake

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Charlevoix was a harbor of refuge this Labor Day weekend for one of the world's finest sailors.

Kazimerz Jaworski, third place winner in the Trans-Atlantic Singlehanded sailboat race this June, aboard his 38 foot sailboat Spaniel, was forced into Round Lake by the heavy seas on Lake Michigan just before Labor Day weekend.

Jaworski, Poland's world acclaimed boat designer and yachtsman, who had survived a north Atlantic hurricane during his solo sail from Plymouth, England, to Newport, Rhode Island, said he was certain northern Lake Michigan can be every bit as dangerous and nasty as the north Atlantic.

Sailing Great Lakes ports from Montreal to Chicago, as part of the Bicentennial Operation Sail, Jaworski and the crew of two countrymen he had added in Montreal, had not included Charlevoix on their original schedule.

The Spaniel's crew all commented that they wished Charlevoix had been part of their schedule.

"This is the most beautiful place we have visited." commented Thad Pokorski, a Pole now living in Canada, who serves as Jaworski's translator and custodian of Spaniel for the Polish government.

Spaniel spent two nights tied up at Bellinger Marina's gas dock, after finding the public docks filled to capacity.

"Not only is this a wonderful sailboat harbor, but no one would let us pay for our stay here," Pokorski exclaimed.

Jim Bellinger remarked later, "why they were nice people, why should they have to pay? Besides, this is a resort and I have a theory there should be no strangers in a resort."

Jaworski's tale of his transAtlantic feat captivated the few Charlevoixans who discovered Spaniel's presence.

On June 5, Spaniel and 124 other racing machines, all sailed singlehandedly, left Plymouth, for Newport. Twenty-five days later when Jaworski crossed the finish line, 5 yachts had sunk, 2 sailors were missing and presumed drowned, and 42 boats were so damaged they were unable to complete the race.

Yet, Jaworski still maintains, "Sailing on the Great Lakes is far different and often more difficult than sailing on the Atlantic.

"On the lakes, the winds are trickier and the waves are more frequent, steeper and sharper. On the Atlantic swells build up over 1000 miles and become long rollers, unlike here," the adventurer explained.

Jaworski, who designed Spaniel, affably agrees with his crew when they tell people he is a little bit crazy because he is already considering racing the Atlantic solo again.

A dedicated competitor, Jaworski rigged an alarm system that woke him if he slept longer than 20 minutes at a time. He equipped his boat with two self-steering devices on the rudder which enabled him to take these breaks.

Aboard the cutter-rigged yacht (one mast amidships, allowing for two more sails in front of the mast), Jaworski employed two computors as sailing aides. One computor measures the boat's distance off a desired course. The other computor grades the boat's sailing performance in terms of percentages, using the boat's known sailing potential, wind speeds and wind direction to arrive at its conclusion.

Spaniel was especially designed for the transAtlantic solo race. It is of all African mahogany construction. Below decks, accomodations are spartan. The galley (kitchen) occupies about four square feet, for example.

Jaworski, a rugged tall man, lost 20 pounds during his 25 day adventure.

He recalls crossing the finish line in Newport:

"I had no idea of my position. A boat came out to meet me. There were many many people with cameras aboard. They were constantly shouting and waving their arms. I thought it was maybe just because I had finished and was still alive. As soon as a boat came alongside a man jumped aboard and shouted excitedly. I couldn't understand him. Then he began embracing me. And it began to sink in."

Jaworski says he was so exhausted his knees buckled several times when he tried to walk on land.

He and observers alike were amozed that his relatively small boat not only survived the hurricane but actually finished third.

The winner Pen Duick VI of France is a 73 foot ketch (two masted boat) with several successful ocean races behind her.

Jaworski's tour of the Great Lakes, as part of Operation Sail, is a public relations effort by the Polish government.

Asked why his government would subsidize such a seemingly frivolous venture as a yacht race, Jaworski said that Poland is anxious for the world to realize it is a naval power with some of the best boat designers in the world.

THE POLISH SAILBOAT Spaniel was forced into Round Lake recently when rough weather took over Lake Michigan. The boat's skipper claims the Great Lakes are rougher than the ocean.

Short Course Offered In Lumber Grading

EAST LANSING–A five-day shortcourse in hardwood lumber grading will be offered at the Don Cragg Mill in Grayling, Sept. 27 through Oct. 1.

The course is sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and the National Hardwood Lumber Manufacturers Association. (NHLA).

"The aim is to teach sawmill owners, operators, sawyers and others the principles of grading hardwood for use in furniture and dimension plants," says Henry A. Huber, MSU Extension forestry specialist.

Practice grading sessions will provide participants basic grading skills. Wood specialists from MSU, NHLA and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will discuss fundamentals of hardwood grading, growth characteristics and identification of wood, interpretation and application of NHLA grading rules, determining yields for furniture cuttings from lumber grades, log grades relation to lumber grades, and trying defects in hardwood lumber.

"This course will not make you a qualified or certified grader, but will provide the basic information and added experience for grading hardwood lumber," says Huber.

The course is limited to 30 people, first come, first serve. The fee is $60. For details, contact Heny A. Huber, Forestry Department, Natural Resources Building, Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI. 48824. Phone (517) 355-0090.

New Donors Should Make Appointments

The committee in charge of the Red Cross Bloodmobile that will visit Charlevoix Thursday for the first time is asking that potential donors take the initiative and call for appointments.

Mrs. David Fowler, co-chairperson with Mrs. Robert Tollas, said the donor list has grown to a point where it is almost impossible to contact all donors to remind them.

"The need continues. I am certain people realize this and will come forth without being reminde," Mrs. Fowler said.

Under the program, persons from Charlevoix county requiring blood may receive it without charge except for the cost of the hospital for administering it.

Prospective donors are asked to call 547-9314 for appointments.

reserve district. However, this district refers to mostly city owned property. The change was made following the first public hearing.

The scenic reserve district was designed to preserve the scenic attributes of certain parcels of land in the city.

The proposed ordinance also includes a section on mobile home parks. Although no fund has been designated as mobile home park district, it would be possible if the new ordinance were adopted.

The new ordinance also provides for the establishment of a planning commission to enforce the ordinance.

"I think we need zoning control and planning in the city as long as we don't stifle ourselves," Mrs. Erber said.

"The new ordinance is fair in that respect, but a lot will depend on how it is enforced," she added.

Obituary

HOWARD R. DENNY

Howard R. Denny, 55, former Ellsworth resident, died early this month in Seattle, Washington.

He was born in Flushing July 21, 1921 and graduated from Ellsworth High School. Later he served in the United States Army and after discharge resided in Seattle.

In 1944, he married Frances Brian, who survives him, as do three brothers, Earl, Edward, and Alvin, all of Ellsworth.

Denny was employed by the Boeing Aircraft Company and was a member of the American Legion Post.

Persons wishing to send messages of condolence to Mrs. Denny may do so by addressing her at 8445 - 30th Street, Southwest, Seattle, Washington, 98126.

IVAN V. HOLMES

Funeral services for a former local resident, Ivan V. Holmes, 76, of Grand Haven who died Saturday at Hackley Hospital in Muskegon, will be held at the VanZantwick Funeral Home in Grand Haven at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Laird Stuart will officiate. Interment will be in Lake Forest cemetery.

Mr. Holmes was born in Charlevoix Feb. 14, 1900, and was married to the former Beatrice Thompson in 1926. They resided here until 1942 when they moved to Grand Haven. He had been employed at the Challenge Porcelain Co. until he retired.

Surviving are his widow; one son, E. Gerald Holmes of Grand Rapids and three grandchildren.

WILLIAM N. SCHROEDER

Funeral services for a Charlevoix resident, William N. Schroeder, 87, who died Saturday at the Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility in Bellaire where he had been a patient for several months, were held at the Paullin Funeral Home in Mancelona Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. James Plackner of the Bethany Lutheran church here officiated. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery at Mancelona.

Mr. Schroeder was born in Ontario, Canada, Nov. 11, 1888, and as a child came to Antrim county with his parents who settled in Mancelona. He was married to the former Anna Makel on Nov. 15, 1909, and lived in Mancelona until coming to Charlevoix in 1957. He was a licensed funeral director and operated a funeral home and furniture store in Mancelona until the funeral home was sold in 1946 and the furniture store was sold ten years ago. He was a member of the Bethany Lutheran church here.

Surviving are his widow; one son, John of Charlevoix; two granddaughters; two great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Michelson of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Maude Gothrup of Mancelona and three brothers, Herman of Mancelona and Theodore and Lewis of Grand Rapids.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory may contribute in his name to the Bethany Lutheran church in Charlevoix.

School Buses Put on the Miles

During an average year, Michigan school buses travel approximately 95 million miles (153 megameters) -- further than the distance from the Earth to the Sun, according to the State Board of Education.

NOTICE OF HEARING - ROAD WIDENING

The Antrim County Road Commission will hold a public hearing at the commission offices in Mancelona at 1:30 P.M. on October 19, 1976. The purpose of this hearing will be to explain and receive comment on proposed widening of an unnamed county road running along Grand Traverse Bay south of Norwood. That portion of the road proposed to be improved begins at the Antrim County line and runs south for approximately one mile.

The work is being proposed to enable the Antrim County Road Commission to provide snow plowing on this road. The work will involve the removal of stumps and trees near the edge of the existing traveled surface, provision for adequate surface drainage and the addition of gravel where necessary. The work is tentatively scheduled to be done in the fall of 1978.

Persons wishing to present a written statement or an exhibit at the hearing shall convey that statement or exhibit to the Antrim County Road Commission at least 10 days before the hearing.

Rayders Drop Opener To Onaway Cardinals

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

ONAWAY–The Charlevoix Rayders opened their 1976 football season here Friday on a losing note as they dropped a 7-0 decision to the hometown Cardinals.

Although the final score didn't show it the Rayders weren't really skunked by the Cardinals. The Rayders were on the scoreboard briefly, but a holding penalty nullified the score.

The first half of the game became a defensive struggle as both offensive teams found it difficult to sustain any scoring drive. The Cardinals were able to move the ball to the Charlevoix four-yard line, but they were stopped on downs. Rayder defensive man Brian Williams made the tackle on the fourth down to stop the Onaway scoring thrust.

In other first half highlights, Charlevoix's Ed Mann brought the large crowd to its feet during the first quarter as he broke around left end for 50 yards. The Rayders were not able to capitalize on the run and punted to Onaway.

Charlevoix opened the second half by quickly moving the ball down the field into Onaway territory. That offensive drive was capped by senior Ed Mann's touch down run around his own left end. Unfortunately, Charlevoix was detected holding and the penalty nullified the score.

Several plays later, in the early part of the fourth quarter, the Rayders were forced to punt. Onaway then used nine plays to put six points on the scoreboard with Cliff Hyde completing the scoring drive on a nine-yard run. Senior Mike Schnidt kicked the extra point.

The Cardinals' score came with 2:22 gone in the fourth period.

The Rayders fought back in the latter stages of the final period, but were not able to cross the Cardinals goal line.

Individual rushing leader for the Rayders was Mann with 120 yards in 22 carries. Greg Krueger carried the ball nine times for 46 total yards.

Defensive stand outs for the Rayders were seniors Gary Probert and Matt Doan. Probert, playing tackle, had six unassisted tackles and was in on a dozen other tackles. Doan accounted for four unassisted tackles and assisted on six others. Doan also intercepted one pass from Cardinal quarterback Paul Freel.

The Rayders held a game edge of 14 to 11 in first downs and led the Cardinals in total rushing yardage, 212 to 166. Onaway's Freel connected on four of six passes for 93 yards. The Rayders combined quarterback passing statistics showed five of 11 passes for 28 yards.

There were no fumbles in the game.

Next Friday, the Rayders will travel to Benzie Central for another nonconference game. Michigan Huron Shores league play for the Rayders begins on Sept. 24, when Cheboygan invades Kipke Field.

IT WAS A TOUGH WAY to open the season for the Rayders Friday. But things can only get better.

Alanson Downs Girls, 58-36

The Charlevoix girls basketball team dropped its opener to an experienced Alanson squad by a score of 58-36 on the Viking floor Thursday night.

Diane Russell paced the game with 25 points as Alanson jumped to n 10-9 first period lead, increased the advantage to 29-19 at halftime and 45-25 going into the final period.

Theresa Hofbauer contributed 18 points to the victory.

Maureen Cudd scored 13 and Teri Hufford 12 points for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix will be at Elk Rapids on Tuesday night and will host Central Lake on Sept. 21.

Golfers Open Season Against St. Ignace

The Charlevoix Golf Team, coached by Barry Anderson, will open its 1976 schedule Monday when the Rayders entertain St. Ignace at the municipal course at 4 p.m.

This will be the first of a series of matches that will run through Oct. 23 when the state finals will be held.

Coach Anderson said that the season looks "quite good". It will be remembered that the Rayders were Class C regional champs last fall with a 10-2 record overall season.

Returning from last season will be four experienced players, Art Ranger, Mike Custer, Pat Paul and Chris Hanna who are expected to give the team a strong nucleus.

Others who are candidates for the squad are Mark Martin, Bob Ranger, Dave Sonnenberg, Tom Leonard, Steve Schuch, Tom Morrison and Mark White.

Anderson said he expected the team to shape up well and to have a good season.

With Player Draft

Flag Football Season Starts

The Flag Football program sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department got underway Saturday with tryouts and player drafts according to Dwight Boss, City Recreation director.

The season will be launched Saturday with five games including two Junior League and three Senior League games scheduled to be played.

The Dolphins will meet the Cowboys in the opening game of the Junior League at 9:00 a.m. followed by a meeting between the Steelers and the Rams at 10:15 p.m.

Because of the Punt, Pass and Kick contest being held Saturday under the sponsorship of the Erber Auto Co., play will be suspended until 4:30 p.m. when action in the Senior League will get underway. At that time the Rams will meet the Patriots; at 5:45 p.m. the Cowboys and the Vikings will clash and at 7:00 p.m. the Bears will take on the Bucaneers. After Saturday, Senior League games will follow Junior League games at 75 minute intervals.

The organization of the two leagues and their respective teams were held Saturday at the ball park on Carpenter ave.

At that time four Junior League (9-10) teams involving 66 players were organized. They are, the Dolphins coached by Jiggs Whitley and Paul Parrish; Cowboys coached by Dwight Detraz; Steelers coached by Dan Wells and Jay Stevens and the Rams by Scott Swanson and Mitch Martin. The coaches of the latter two teams are high school students.

The Senior League made up of six teams involving 82 players in the 11-14 year age group and their coaches are: Rams coached by Doug Hawley and Don Potter; Patriots coached by Don Trimper; Cowboys, Curt Ayres; Vikings, Ed Buday and Frank Muma; the Bears, Tom Louiselle and Charlie Morris and the Bucaneers coached by Dennis Youngdyke.

Referees who, like the coaches, have volunteered their services are Pat Donnelly, Charlie Taylor, Jim O'Neill and Curt Thompson.

Boss has sent out an appeal for additional referees to serve during the coming season.

Boss has also called a meeting of coaches and referees for 7:00 p.m. Thursday at the City Recreation Office in the City Hall.

JVs Take Onaway

Charlevoix's Rayder JV squad posted a 14-7 win over the visiting Onaway Junior Varsity eleven here Thursday night.

The locals took the lead in the second period with a 12-yd. pass from Quarterback Gilbert Noirot to End Rich Russell. The conversion attempt failed and Charlevoix led 6-0 at halftime.

However, as the second half got underway, the Onaway fullback broke away for a 50 yurd run around end to score. The conversion boot was good and the visitors went ahead 7-6.

It wasn't until late in the game that Craig Boss romped 42 yards to put the young Rayders back in the game. A two-point conversion, a pass from quarterback Barney Way to Russell gave Charlevoix the 14-7 win their first time out.

michigan officeways Announces...

A Grand Opening!

September 15, 16, 17

In their new building located at 1008 Bridge St. - Charlevoix

Supplement to the Charlevoix Courier
September 15, 1976

CHARLEVOIX RESIDENTS may run into the Michigan Officeways Van on many of their travels. The van will be delivering Westinghouse or All-Steel, Inc., office furniture throughout the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula and parts of the Upper Peninsula, too.

Michigan Officeways can save you up to 97% on the cost of re-doing your offices.

We start with the Westinghouse ASD Group Open Office System.

Rearrange a conventional office, and you have to move walls and "unmoveable" partitions. You might also have to change or modify air conditioning, lighting, carpeting or other flooring. So it could wind up costing you as much as $25.00 per square foot to make the changeover.

Now compare that with the cost of changing the Westinghouse ASD Group Open Office System. Since ASD Group was designed to change with your business, you can re-do your offices for less than $.75 per square foot.

Looking for still more savings? Consider space. Since ASD Group work stations are oriented to facilitate specific tasks, you can fit the same number of people into a smaller space without sacrificing productivity or comfort. And that can reduce your rent substantially.

We've got a lot of other cost saving ideas, too. In fact, we've got a whole showroom full of them. So if you want to see how much you can save on your next move, drop around and see us. Once you've walked around and looked around . . . you'll come around to our Westinghouse ASD Group way of thinking.

Maximum flexibility.
Within your working limits.

Officeways Van Delivers Furniture Throughout North

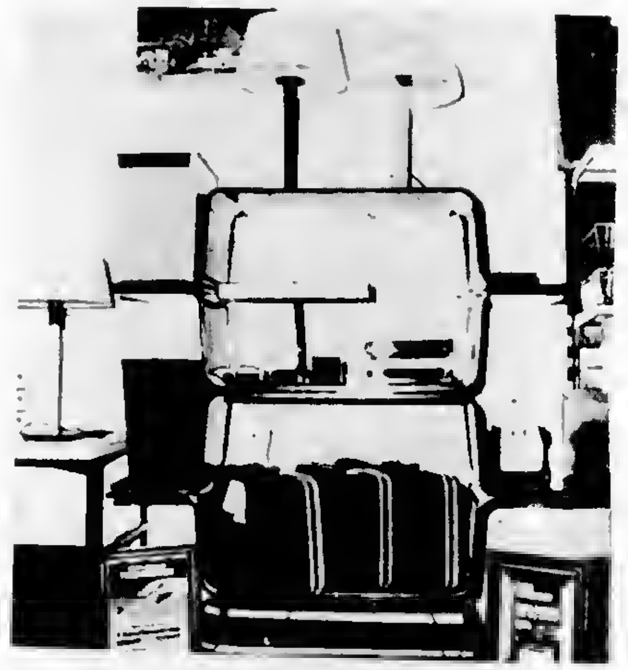
Is that the Michigan Officeways Van bound for Marquette?

It's possible, because Michigan Officeways has been granted areas of primary marketing responsibility, by leading producers of office equipment, that range from Marquette in the Upper Peninsula, Alpena and Traverse City to the east and the south in the Lower Peninsula.

"When companies such as Westinghouse Electric Corporation and All-Steel Inc, plus other national marketers of office equipment place their confidence in Michigan, Officeways to represent them in Northern Michigan, it is especially encouraging, Jim Mielke, Michigan Officeways owner, said.

"With the projected growth for this area, we are pleased to accept these responsibilities," Mielke continued. "Also, quality producers always provide the customer with the best buy in the long run, and back up their dealers with ample factory training and service.

"It is our policy to accept only those franchises which we can truly represent, and only those which present the 'best buy' concept of quality products and sensible prices backed up by all the service the customer requires," Mielke stated further.



EVERY BUSINESSMAN takes business trip and Michigan Officeways has just the thing businessmen need in the line of luggage.

Michigan Officeways Opens Doors

After two years of planning, the opening of Michigan Officeways represents the first, new complete office outfitter in Northwestern Michigan in over ten years.

The Michigan Officeways general marketing approach is a logical one—quality products at sensible prices presented with all the service and help the customer desires. From the customer's viewpoint, this means office products that last, bought with the understanding that a fair price was paid to a company who wishes to help the customer as much as the customer wants help.

Available at Michigan Officeways is complete office design and engineering assistance--helping the customer select floor covering, walls and partitions, lighting systems and functional equipment that can be changed to meet changing office interior requirements.

At the other end of the spectrum, Michigan Officeways carries all the basics from pencils, paper, paper clips and other necessary materials, to a complete line of drafting and art supplies.

From their five years experience as the Park Place in downtown Charlevoix, Michigan Officeways has retained their quality book department, still featuring their "special order" service.

Michigan Officeways is owned by Jim and Elizabeth Mielke. The Mielkes bring to their business a background of national marketing of office and institutional furniture and architectural equipment plus an association in industrial research with one of the nation's leading producers of business and printing papers.

Michigan Officeways is located at 1008 Bridge Street in Charlevoix, where customers will find ample free, off-street parking. The complete and ample inventory is presented in an open, bright and air conditioned shopping environment.

Hours of business are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

Michigan Officeways Grand Opening Sept. 15-16-17

THE SPACIOUS NEW building of Michigan Officeways provides ample room for the display and stocking of any office supply item Charlevoix and Northern Michigan residents may need. Michigan Officeways carries everything from office supplies and furniture to art supplies, books and luggage.

School District Officials Seek Approval of Expansion, Improvements

Two bond issues will be before the Charlevoix School District voters during a special school election from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

The board of education is seeking approval of a $3.1 million proposal for the renovation and expansion of the middle school and the high school. A second proposal seeks $525,000 for the construction and equipping of a 600-seat auditorium. The proposals will require the levying of an additional three mills.

According to Max Novak, school board president, passage of the two proposals is necessary for the operation of the schools.

"Our high school is getting very crowded," Novak pointed out. "We're already using the basement of the library for classes and we've had to move a portable classroom unit up to the high school grounds to hold other classes.

"Sooner or later we will have to go on shortened sessions because we won't have the space to hold the classes," Novak said. "And we can't tell when this might happen. It could be next year or in several years, we have no way of knowing how many new students we will get each year.

"Our enrollment is up over 1,800 now," he added. "That's getting up there. Our three schools are filled to capacity now and the fact is they're even a little overcrowded."

Superintendent James McKimmy stressed that the $3.1 million proposal does not pay for facilities to meet an expanding school enrollment. The facilities are needed to take care of the students currently in the district.

Included in the construction proposal at the high school are plans for: expanding the cafeteria, library, and vocational business classrooms, construction of a multipurpose room, athletic locker rooms, metals, industrial arts shop, vocational foods kitchen, instrumental music storage, science laboratory and growing room, four general classrooms plus the renovation of a study hall into an art room and of the special education area.

At the middle school the proposal calls for expanding shop classroom, constructing a new gymnasium, converting existing gym into four classrooms and a library, relocating the boiler room, kitchen and office areas, creating a separate music classroom, replacing the heating system and the windows, rewiring electrical service, treating the building for sound and heat distribution and refurnishing restroom areas.

McKimmy said the extensive renovation plans at the middle school would turn the antiquated building into a more efficient, contemporary school.

"Utilities are one of the biggest expenses we have," the superintendent pointed out. "And the middle school costs us the most to run. With the proposed changes, however, it would become much more efficient and there would be a savings in its cost of operation."

The new auditorium, proposed for construction at the high school, would include full stage and lighting,

THIS AREA of the Charlevoix Middle School grounds would be used for part of the expansion and remodeling project proposed under the bond issue.

Filed By Castle Farms

Residents Shrug Off Suit

A suit filed by Castle Farms Inn, Inc. is being shrugged off by area residents and businesses named as defendants in the case.

Arthur R. Reibel, owner and president of the corporation, filed the suit Thursday naming Philo Sumner, Charlevoix County sheriff, James McCallum, undersheriff, Haggard Plumbing and Heating Co., and Shubert Industries, Inc., of Akron, Ohio, in the complaint.

Reibel asked for a total of $175,000 in damages, the return of assets including furnishings and equipment, and a stay of proceedings filed by the two companies mentioned in the suit.

The suit follows the levy of two executions ordered by the court upon request from Haggard Plumbing and Heating and Schubert Industries to satisfy debts to the company by Castle Farms. In carrying out the executions, McCallum, John Haggard and attorneys Michael Gibbons and John Michael removed furnishings and equipment from the Castle Farms Inn so that they could be sold at auction to pay off the debts. Reibel sent a letter to Sheriff Sumner requesting the return of the goods and threatening a law suit.

The furniture and equipment was not returned, however.

When asked for comments on the suit, Attorney Michael said his comments were unprintable.

"This suit is nothing more than what you would expect from that party," Michael said.

"The idea is to sue those that get in your way or that you consider your enemies," the attorney continued. "It is time, effort and espense to them with no expense and relatively little effort to you.

"It's unfortunate, but that's what is happening," he said.

Michael said he expected that a number of motions would be filed within the next few days that would in his judgment dismiss the suit.

"I have no qualms about what we did being legal and feel the court will uphold us," he said.

Sheriff Sumner also shrugged off the suit.

"I really have no comments to make about that particular suit," Sumner said. "There is an old sheriff's saying though, that if you haven't been sued, you're not a sheriff."

John Haggard could not be reached for comment.

Reibel was also unavailable for comment.

School Board Sets Date For 1976-77 Budget Hearing

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education will hold its annual hearing on the 1976-77 budget at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 1, it was decided at the regular meeting of the board held Monday at the Charlevoix High School.

At that time, the budget will be discussed in detail prior to its adoption.

The 1976 taxes certified by the board reveal a 0.6 mill reduction over 1975. The reduction is in the debt retirement area of the taxes. Taxes to be levied in the township will be as follows: Voted, 15.25 mills; allocated, 9.1 mills; public library, 0.4 mills; 1958 old debt retirement (high school), 0.7 mills; 1968 new debt retirement (K-5 school), 1.4 mills. The tax levy in the city of Charlevoix where 50 percent of the tax bill was collected in summer taxes, the levy will be voted, 7.625 mills; allocated, 4.55 mills public library, 0.4 mills; 1958 old debt retirement, 0.25 mills; and 1968 new debt retirement, 0.5 mills.

In a special action, the board went on record as encouraging the residents of Charlevoix County to vote 'Yes' on Proposal A and 'No' on Proposal B to sustain the present allocation of 15 mills and defeat the proposal to reduce the allocation to 12 mills in order to continue the present level of school operations and county government services in Charlevoix County and in the Charlevoix School District.

CIS

Citizens Information Service–BAH!!! It's more like Can Infiltrate and Subvert. Allegedly the group is nothing more than Karl Waldner, Bill Peters, Oscar Ward, and perhaps, Margaret Stroud trying to justify a means to their end. To end our good school systems, end our good county government and local government. To harass, intimidate, and treat abusively our honest and dedicated officials until you have unscrupulous people such as they running our schools and government. Frankly, I'm tired of hearing about your so-called CIS. I believe the people of Charlevoix County like what they have and hope to improve it, not destroy it by listening to CIS propaganda. The 12 mill proposal they offer is for an indefinite period of time. The 15 mill proposal offered by the County (which is what has been levied for years) is for a two year period. Two years would give a concerned and interested group of people an opportunity to study the real facts, if they even felt it was necessary.

SPEEDERS

Dear Speeders: The speed limit on Lakeshore Drive after you pass the hospital is 55 m.p.h. It is a county road and even though it is not posted the speed limit is the same as on the highway. Many campers use the road from Bell's Bay, also.

Zoning Back on Drawing Board

By PAULA HOLMES

It's back to the drawing board for Charlevoix's proposed new zoning ordinance.

After more than two hours of discussion with approximately 20 interested citizens, the Charlevoix Common Council decided to adjourn the second public hearing on the ordinance to digest the recommendations and suggestions for changing and improving the ordinance.

The major objection to the new ordinance was against the Planned Unit Development (PUD) section. PUD zoning recognizes there are unique parcels of property within the city where mixtures of zoning uses such as commercial, residential and recreational could be placed side by side in such a manner that would not be harmful to each other.

However, because of the various zoning densities allowed there are several restrictions which must be met in a PUD district.

James Hiller, former alderman, and Thomas Duke, former member of a mayor's committee to rewrite the zoning ordinance, both objected to the PUD zoning.

Hiller felt the PUD section was too restrictive and would curtail the sale of valuable property that may be rezoned PUD under the proposed ordinance. Hiller also objected to the parking requirements of the district.

"I feel the PUD section should be stricken entirely from the ordinance," Hiller said. "There are so many restrictions in it, it would be impossible for most people to build on their property."

Duke agreed that the section should be removed from the proposed ordinance. The former member of the Farmington Planning Commission, which developed one of the first PUD zoning sections in the state, said Charlevoix did not really have any land that could be considered good PUD areas because most of the land had

City Council Two Weeks Away From Administrator Decision

Charlevoix is about two weeks away from knowing who its new city administrator will be.

George Plumm, alderman and chairman of the committee searching for a city administrator, said the common council is currently in the process of interviewing applicants for the job.

"We have interviewed three people for the job and we will probably interview about three more," Plumm said.

"We have received approximately 96 applications for the job and we understand that a few more may be straggling in for consideration," he said.

"I would say that in about two weeks we should know who the new administrator will be, but I can't tell you when he will be able to take over the job," the alderman explained. "He may have to give between 30 and 90 days notice before he can leave his present job."

Bells Bay Petition Discussed

A petition was presented to the Charlevoix Common Council asking the council to place an advisory vote on the closing of Bells Bay Road on the November ballot.

The petition, signed by 150 city residents, asked that the council find out what the feelings of the city residents were about the status of the road

The road, which is currently maintained by the Charlevoix County Road Commission, has been under discussion for some time. The Department of Natural Resources would like to turn the Bells Bay area into a state park. If this happened the road would come under state jurisdiction and residents would have to pay a fee to get down into the park they currently use for free.

The council members were not sure they had time to place the question on the ballot, or that they had the legal jurisdiction to do it. However, they decided to have City Attorney Donald Berlage look into the matter along with City Clerk Lyle King.

New Instant Lottery Game Not Affecting Voters

It doesn't look like the new Michigan Instant Lottery game is going to influence people to vote in November–at least not in Charlevoix.

The new lottery tickets feature portraits of the 35 nonliving U.S. Presidents and the grand prize for the game will be determined by the number of voters participating in the Nov. 2 Presidential election. The Presidential candidate garnering the most votes in the state will earn some lucky lottery winner $1 for each vote cast for that candidate in Michigan..

Charlevoix lottery ticket salesmen report that sales of the new instant-win tickets are fairly brisk, but they have not heard anything from their customers which would indicate that they are going to be sure and vote in the Presidential election.

"Sales of the new tickets have been great," Bill VanLoo, manager of Bourkes Steak and Stein, said enthusiastically. "People really like the instant-win tickets. The last game the lottery had you didn't find out if you had won right away and people didn't like it as well.

"With the last game we were selling between $15 and $17 worth of the tickets a week," VanLoo said. "With the new instant winner tickets we sold $500 worth in two days."

VanLoo said he didn't think the interest in the new game would get more people out to the polls in November, however.

"I don't think these tickets will get that many more people to vote in the election," he said. "The reason they like this game is because they can be instant winners."

Sharon Woodbury of Olesons said lottery ticket sales at the grocery store had been going very well, too.

"The ticket sales for the instant games always go better," she explained.

But she was skeptical that more people would be voting because of the game.

"I haven't heard anything from the people buying the tickets about voting," she said.

Ticket sales at Edward's IGA are also going pretty well, according to Pat Wood. The store sold about 250 tickets in two days."

But she wasn't sure that the new Presidents Game would influence voters, either.

"Boy I don't know if more people will vote or not," Ms. Wood said. "I'm not really sure that this game will have anything to do with it."

Ron Weislik, son of the owner of the Town House, thinks it will be interesting to see if the voters are influenced by the new lottery game.

"I don't think it will," Weislik said. "I think the people who are apathetic will stay that way and the people who buy lottery tickets will continue to buy lottery tickets no matter what the game is."

RUTH MARKUNAS, R.N., checks Roy Fortin, assistant high school principal, during the recent blood drive in Charlevoix. The drive collected 105 pints of blood.

105 Pints Donated During Recent Bloodmobile Drive

Of the 131 unsolicited donors who offered blood during the recent visit of the Bloodmobile, there were 116 donors wha were accepted. The others were deferrals for various reasons. Of the 118, 11 were unsuccessful donors, Mrs. David Fowler, co-chairman with Mrs. Robert Tollas, reported.

Though Charlevoix did not meet its quota of 150 units, Mrs. Fowler said the results were better than in October 1975 and better than anticipated because no calls to remind donors were made.

Of the total number who responded, 35 were first time donors.

In response to a request for blood for Nick Listori of San Francisco, husband of Karen Uhrick, a former local resident, 26 units of blood were donated. He is hospitalized at Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco for treatment of leukemia.

Apple Cider Plentiful Despite Severe Frost in Late Spring

Lovers of apple cider should be able to find plenty of the nectar available this fall if all apple crops turn out as well as that of Rosenthal Orchards on Barnard Road.

Mrs. David Rosenthal reports that although early apples were small in size because of the dry summer, late apples are maturing to full size.

"The last two rains we had really helped," Mrs. Rosenthal says.

"We will make as much cider as people want."

Rosenthal Orchards is the largest in the area, consisting not only of apples, but cherries, peaches, plums and pears.

It was a difficult year in general for fruit growers in Northern Michigan. A late frost damaged the buds of many fruit trees, especially cherries, and lack of rain caused leaves to wither and turn brown.

There may even be some permanent damge to the trees because of the dry season, according to Steve Fouch of the State Extension Service in Traverse City, but the extent of that damage won't be known until next spring.

Health Officials Ready for Swine Flu Project

By PEG OHLE

While plans for innoculations against "swine flu" still seem to be tied up in Washington red tape, the local health department is organized and ready to give the innoculations as soon as the vaccine is available.

Dr. Robert S. Libke, director of District Health Department No. 3, said last week that a supply of the bivalent type of vaccine (for high risk groups) should be available locally by the middle of October, and the monovalent vaccine shortly thereafter.

High risk groups are defined as people over 65 years of age; anyone with a chronic lung disease, such as asthma, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, or tuberculosis; anyone with a heart disease; anyone with chronic kidney disease; or anyone with diabetes or other chronic metabolic disorder.

The Health Department will administer the vaccines at various sites throughout the County at times when the maximum number of people will be able to take advantage of them. Local phyicians and nurses will volunteer their time to administer the vaccines and non-professional volunteers will handle other details.

Physicians and health care centers will also have vaccines available to give to their own patients in the office. While the Health Department innoculations will be free of charge, donations will be accepted. Physicians will ask a fee for those they give privately.

Dr Libke reports that he finds "a preponderance of acceptance" of the innoculation program.

"If we can get 65 to 70 percent of the people innoculated, we will be able to abort an epidemic," he believes.

With all the talk about flu, many people do not really know what it is, surveys reveal.

It is a highly contagious respiratory disease caused by a virus that is constantly changing. Many people call it "the grippe."

Those who have the flu one year build up an immunity to the viral strain that infected them, but by the following year, the virus may have altered. The body's defenses are less effective against the new strain and sometimes not effective enough to fight it off. Year after year, susceptible people get the flu.

The "swine flu" virus against which innoculations will be given this fall first appeared in February at Fort Dix, New Jersey and is the same virus that killed some 500,000 people in the United States in 1918. Although there have been other flu epidemics since that time, none have been as disastrous. The Asian flu of 1957-58 was contracted by 45 million people, of which 70,000 died. The Hong Kong flu of 1968-69 made 50 million people ill and killed an estimated 27,900.

It should be noted that there were no vaccines for the "swine flu" of 1918, nor were there antibiotics to treat the complications of the disease.

This reporter, who qualifies for the high risk group, remembers praying for her father's recovery from the flu and resultant pneumonia in 1918, and many other local people have recollections of what the epidemic was like.

Irene Crites was ill with the flu for three weeks in 1918.

"I was so ill I couldn't raise my head from the pillow," she remembers. She also remembers that factories closed down and friends died. She said that one woman who took care of people with the flu used castor oil as a remedy.

Ralph Hamilton didn't have the flu in 1918 but remembers wearing a neck of ill-smelling asafetida" around his neck to ward it off.

Louise Beutner says that everyone in her family had the flu except her father, who served as nurse.

"There were five children. I was the oldest and we all got it. I remember being delirious and seeing strange things," she added.

Hilda Alexander was teaching school in Charlevoix during the flu epidemic of 1918 and couldn't go home to Central Lake because her sister was ill with the flu.

"My sister lost all her hair from it," she remembers.

"So many young men had it, too."

Those who remember what it was like in 1918 will be among the first to be innoculated in 1976.

LT. CDR. James O'Neill finds time to catch a few fish before moving the Sundew and its crew back into action

Lt. Cmdr. O'Neill Learns Tricks of Fresh Water Seas

By TOM DAMMANN

"This is the first time I've come into Charlevoix at night," Lieut. Comdr. James O'Neill USCG said, focusing his binoculars on the pierhead lights and Pine River Channel behind. "About all I have left to experience is lifting buoys, ice-breaking and some limnology."

It was a windless night in August. Stars glimmered faintly through the heat haze as reflections of the lights of Charlevoix caressed calm, seductive Lake Michigan.

"About the only thing we have to be careful about is that dog's leg in the middle of the channel, Captain," advised a junior officer standing beside O'Neill on the bridge of the Charlevoix-based Coast Guard Cutter Sundew.

As the big vessel glided silently through the water, toward the bridge small voices squealed and called "Hi Dad" from family groups running excitedly along the sea wall. Individual crewmen returned happy recognitions. Under the bridge and into Round Lake the Sundew continued, headed toward the Chicago Club Boat House.

"Hey, we've got a problem over here," somebody shouted from the starboard side of the bridge.

All eyes turned to the right towards the Chamber of Commerce building. Spread out before them was a massive collection of sloops, ketches, a schooner, and a catboat, anchored almost up to the Sundew's berth at the City Dock.

"We'll have to do some backing and filling, alright," the skipper said, and with a minimum of orders the Sundew maneuvered up to the dock.

Lt. Cdr. O'Neill seemed a happy man as he bid a visitor goodnight. He had taken command of the Sundew July 28th, fulfilling a dream. In the first place it was time for sea-duty since he had completed three years of shore-duty helping to organize and to teach in the new Marine Environmental Protection curriculum at the Yorktown, Va., Coast Guard Training Center.

In the second place one of the sea-going commands in the entire Coast Guard most desired by middle ranked officers is the Sundew, because duties aboard it are probably the most diverse of any among its many vessels scattered around the world.

That condition has been more so than ever this past summer. Since the end of June, in addition to its regular duties along the east shore of Lake Michigan through to Cheboygan on Lake Huron the Sundew has been reasponsible for all the floating aids to navigation along the west shore of Lake Michigan from the Straits of Mackinac to Chicago. This became necessary when the Mesquite, normally based in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., went to Baltimore, Md., for a year of renovation, and would last until the cutter Acacia came to take over sometime this month.

The August week in question added to Lt. Cdr. O'Neill's variety of experience.

On Aug. 17 the Sundew left Charlevoix at 8 a.m. and steamed to White Shoal at the western approach to the Straits, then southwest to Gull Island west of Beaver Island to check buoys.

Next day she headed for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., passed through the Sturgeon Bay canal into Green Bay to fuel the manned Green Bay Light at the entrance of Green Bay (the city) harbor and tend other navigational aids in the channel from the bay to the city.

Friday was the day the Sundew would be boarded by several Wisconsin dignitaries who wished to inspect some of the 16 islands that stretch between the Garden Peninsula in the Up and Wisconsin's Door Peninsula. The purpose of the tour was to familiarize the people with the area which is under consideration as a national, interstate, or state, park or preserve.

The group was to be picked up at Gill's Rock in Hedgehog Bay from the decks of a ferry, since docking facilities could not handle the Sundew.

The Captain was worried only about the incline of the boarding plank between the two crafts, which he feared might be too steep. He breathed a sigh of relief when he was able to scrutinize the ferry with his binoculars.

"It should be simple," he said.

The rendezvous was scheduled for 9 a.m. The Sundew anchored about a quarter of a mile off the dock at 8:30 a.m. The Captain was advised by radio that the VIPs wouldn't arrive until 9:30 a.m.

"I may as well fiddle while Rome burns," he said, laughing, and went below to get a fishing rod. He didn't have any luck—he thoubht it was because he was using tackle he had used in the Chesapeake Bay.

By 10 a.m. some 50 officials, TV crewmen and news reporters were safely on board. They were led by Wisconsin Governor Patrick Lucey, and his wife, and included Senator Gaylord Nelson and several officials from Washington, D.C.

The VIPs disembarked at about 3:45 p.m. and by 3:53 p.m. the Sundew was underway for Charlevoix.

The Captain called the crew together on the well deck, thanked them for discharging their duties, said each member would receive a 72-hour pass during the next two weeks and declared a "happy hour" for 8 p.m.

He then returned to the bridge.

"I shan't leave the bridge until we get through here," he explained to his visitor, pointing to a spot on the charter marked, "Porte des Morte Passage" – Death Door –a channel between some of the islands, immediately above the tip of the Door Peninsula and the mainland, infamous among mariners for the shipwrecks and other marine disasters that have occurred there.

Back in Charlevoix the crew spent the next two weeks attending "human relations seminars" at the station, and rehearsing buoy pulling techniques in anticipation of the annual fall chore of replacing the heavy summer buoys with buoys especially designed to withstand winter ravages.

On Sept. 7 the Sundew set out for Milwaukee where it was to pick up some University of Wisconsin researchers and help them pull up special meters set earlier this year to record sub-surface currents in connection with a special limnology experiment being conducted by the University.

So now only buoy pulling and ice-breaking remain to fill out Lt. Cmdr. O'Neill's experience.

The Sundew is designated as a buoy tender but because of extra engine power it is the only one of its class that is also an icebreaker. In winter it helps the Milwaukee-based arctic icebreaker Westwind keep the Straits of Mackinac open, while the icebreaker Mackinaw works the St. Mary's River from Lake Huron to Lake Superior. They are the only three ice breakers on the lakes.

More than that, the Sundew is intimately associated with the life of the two Great Lakes it serves – Michigan and Huron –so life aboard her is intense and varied, a prize for anybody who serves aboard her, many of her crew agree.

Jordan River Hatchery Holds Open House

In recognition of the National Hunting and Fishing Day, Saturday, Sept. 25, the Jordan River National Fish Hatchery is going to hold an open house from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

During the day the fish hatchery officials will show a color slide tape entitled, "The Lake Trout Story." Each slide show will be followed by a guided tour while the 3,110,000 fish at the hatchery are fed by mechanical feeder. The fish will not be fed during the last guided tour because they will have received their daily ration by that time.

The Jordan River hatchery is located in Antrim County approximately three miles north of Alba and two miles west of U.S. 131 at the end of Turner Road. Entrance to the hatchery can also be gained from the Jordan River Road.

Since the station went into production in September, 1963, it has released 40,500,000 lake trout into the Great Lakes. In addition, it has transferred 19,800,000 lake trout to other hatcheries. These fish were also released into the Great Lakes after reaching the required length of five to six inches.

The schedule for the tape show and tour is: Tape: 10:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 2 p.m., 3:30 p.m. and 5 p.m.; tour, 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2:30 p.m., and 4 p.m.

School Bond Issue Deserves Community Consideration, Support

Schools are important to us all. They not only educate our children, but they provide for the Charlevoix of tomorrow. The schools insure that competent, well-versed people will be around to keep this city running after their elders retire.

Charlevoix School District voters will have a chance Monday to either vote to continue and improve the top quality education that Charlevoix youth are now receiving or to vote to send their children and yours to school in buildings that are overcrowded, inefficient and essentially white elephants as far as school buildings are concerned.

Two proposals will be on the ballot. One proposal is seeking voter approval (for the third time) of the issuance of $3.1 million in bonds for the remodeling and partial re-equipping of the high school and middle school and for the erection, furnishing and equipping of classroom additions to the high school and middle school.

The second proposal is seeking $525,000 for the erection, furnishing and equipping of an auditorium as an addition to the high school. This building would benefit the entire community by providing a place to house large group events.

Currently, the high school is being pushed beyond its capacity to educate students. The building was designed to house 472 students and it handles approximately 640. A portable classroom has been transferred to the high school grounds from the middle school and arrangements have been made to send students to the basement of the public library for classes. Already science classes are being taught in rooms that aren't equipped with laboratories.

And the middle-school, with its antiquated construction, is financially bleeding the school district through its high utility cost. The proposed renovation and remodeling would replace these obsolete facilities and save funds normally spent on heat and maintenance as well as provide more classroom space for a school which is fast becoming overcrowded.

What kind of an education are our children receiving when they must spend what accumulates to hours traveling to classrooms at another site or trying to learn about a subject in a room that is ill-equipped to teach it? Saying that the school was good enough for you and therefore must be good enough for your children is a tired, old argument. What was good enough for you is NOT good enough for your children. Times have changed. Jobs are much more technical than they were when you were in school and the job market is certainly much more competitive.

Students are going to need all the help they can get to make it in this world. Why not give them a break and at least allow them to get an education in a school that is properly equipped?

Support the bond issue Monday.

Kudos to County Board For Nuclear Vote

The Charlevoix County Commission should be applauded for its recent action concerning the federal government's proposal to make Northern Michigan a dump for nuclear wastes.

Because Charlevoix County is one of 12 counties which may be affected by the dumping ground if it is arbitrarily plopped down in Manistee or Alpena, the county commissioners voted to add to the Nov. 2 ballot an advisory referendum on the issue.

The results of this advisory vote will be a clear indication for the powers-that-be of the feelings and desires of the residents in this county about the dumping of nuclear wastes.

The vote will also arm our representatives in the U.S. Congress for the long battle which is before them over the dumping grounds.

Traditionally Americans have always made themselves heard through the ballot box, so it is fitting that this issue should come before the people in an advisory vote. It is the responsibility of government to listen to the voice of the people in an advisory vote. It is the responsibility of government to listen to the voice of the people and to abide by their wishes. The best way to show government officials how the people feel is through a vote. There is no doubt about an issue once the vote has veen tallied.

However, voters are only affective if the people go to the polls. Charlevoix County residents should turn out in droves to act on an issue which many affect the future living conditions of everyone in the area.

Vote Precious Possession

Fellow Citizen:

In this free country you have many rights, three of which, are paying taxes, freedom of speech, and voting. Most of us pay our fair share of taxes, and we all exercise the right of free speech, particularly to criticize our government at all levels. It's yours you know, by your vote, or failure to vote, you put it there.

Your vote is your most precious possession, no one can deny you that right, or tell you how to use it. Use it wisely, for it puts your selected public servant in office, to protect and serve you, that's correct–protect and serve. Those words appear in almost all oaths of office, and to assume office, they must swear to that oath.

I urge you to use that precious possession. At the last two Primary Elections, about 4,000 persons voted out of 11,500 registered voters in this County, or less than 35 percent of the registered voters told 7,500 other citizens who they would be allowed to vote for in the November election. I understand that there are about 2,000 persons who have failed to register, so that they may exercise this very personal right. How you vote is your choice, and remember the following when you vote.

That all power is vested in, and consequently derived from the people, that officials are their trustees and servants, and at all times amenable to them, and that when any government shall be found inadequate, a majority of the community have an indubitable right to reform, alter, or abolish it, in such manner as shall be deemed most proper. Don't let the Country run without you. Register to vote.

Deadline for registration is October 4 at 8 p.m.

Jim McCallum,
Secretary,
Charlevoix Republican Party

Searching For Viewpoints

Starting with this issue School Superintendent James McKimmy begins a monthly column "Chalk Dust." He will be discussing various school district issues from the superintendent's viewpoint.

The Courier would also like to offer space to other public officials and area residents who would like to present their opinions in a space that is a little more flexible than Letters to the Editor or Hotline.

Viewpoints should be submitted a week in advance to the Charlevoix Courier office, 301 Michigan.

Whether or not he succeeds, Dr Henry Kissinger must be given a full measure of credit for trying to avert all-out racial warfare in South Africa.

The job at best is Herculean: Trying to convince South Africa's white minority leaders to relinquish the reins of government to the black majority. The task, of course, doesn't lend itself to simple solutions, since white supremacy has been as much a part of life as eating and breathing since the first colonial adventurers set foot in South Africa.

How do you tell a white man who has been in the driver's seat for 300 years that his turn at the wheel is over? I don't know, and I really don't think Kissinger does either. But it is increasingly obvious that unless such men as Rhodesia's Ian Smith and South Africa's John Vorster have a change of heart, a bloodbath is the only alternative to a peaceful transition.

Critics of the United States are quick to point out that America is hardly a prime example of racial harmony. But it is very likely that our sharpest critics hail from racially homogenous countries where such problems are unknown.

However, I feel that the United States has dealt with its racial problems honestly and openly. We admit they exist, which is half the battle. And we are coming closer to solutions every day.

That is why Dr. Kissinger–an American citizen and a member of an ethnic minority–is the man for the job if anyone is. Next time you pass a church, send up a prayer for Dr. Kissinger and the work he is doing in South Africa.

The Starship "Enterprise," which has boggled the mind of science fiction buffs for the past generation, has left the realm of make-believe and will soon be shuttling Americans around outer space like Oscar Ward's taxi.

It was fitting that the scientists at NASA bowed to science fiction fans in naming the Enterprise. Originally, the world's first bonafide spaceship was to be called the Constitution. But, spurred by a pair of space fans called John and Bjo Trimble, 100,000 followers of the Star Trek TV series sent letters suggesting the ship be called "Enterprise," after the mythical flying saucer that transports millions of viewers into space every week. NASA agreed.

What makes Enterprise so special? Haven't we been sending missiles to the moon, Mars and other out-of-the-way places for years now?

Of course we have, but to date our spaceships have been like bumblebees–one fling and they're through. You remember how we always had to position the U.S. Navy in the middle of the Pacific every time a capasule returned from space? And how we all held our breath until the parachutes opened and the rocket splashed down safely?

With Enterprise, those days are over. Our space vehicles won't have to land in the ocean like a keg of nails but will be able to skim down to safe landings on desert runways. The experts figure Enterprise will make 100 trips into space–visiting weather and communications satellites or just joy-riding in earth orbit–before it will be retired.

The new space shuttle will make practical a whole host of new space projects, like orbiting laboratories populated by thousands of people hundreds of miles above the earth. Enterprise will carry America's space pioneers home for their Christmas holidays.

All of which makes us wonder what the status of space travel would be today if we hadn't had such visionaries as H.G. Wells, Egar Rice Burroughs and the producers of Star Trek among us in years past. They charted the course NASA is now following.

One doesn't like to make trouble among the sexes, but I firmly believe mothers of sons age faster.

That information comes right out of the aging mouths of mothers of sons. According to them, boy babies are born with an extra gene. You would recognize the technical name right away if I told you, but generally it's called the "Drive You Nuts!" gene (DYN).

The DYN gene is fully developed at birth, allowing a 50-pound toddler to pull over an entire bookcase, heave a bowl of cereal 500 feet and flush a pair of orthopedic shoes down the commode.

The DYN never stops working. One mother of 11 sons (a young woman – she looked like Jane Goodall left out in the sun for dead) said she never had a moment's peace from the time they rode a wagon down the front stairs and broke two steps to lifting the lid of the washer and discovering 27 soggy worms and one empty band-aid can. She confessed she kept a pint of bourbon in the trash compacter since she knew the boys would never discover it there.

Another mother of a 17-year-old with an overactive DYN gene said her son ran over a teacher's car . . . with his feet. One day the P.E. class had a race to the field. When he saw the top of the car (which was parked on a lower level) he used it as a shortcut and walked over the roof. Later, his 13½ shoe size and 157 pounds matched the $267 worth of damages perfectly. If something like this could happen when he's on foot, she mused, think what will happen when he starts to drive a car.

And what mother of a son with a DYN gene has not cringed when her son was hired in a fancy restaurant as a bus boy. One reported the specialty of the restaurant that employed her son was fish, lobster, shrimp, crab, etc., all served in a bucket for two. He dropped it right in the lap of an elderly gentleman.

"The customer was great about it," she said. "Excused himself and came back 10 minutes later completely dressed in a change of clothes. It made me wonder how this man knew he was going to meet my son."

What these women are saying about sons is true. The aging process is stepped up when a boy child is born. If mothers of daughters want to challenge that statement, they're welcome.

But I should know. I have two sons. As to why I look so eternally young . . . I eternally lie.

Hum Along With Me

Hum along with me, and the first one to clack a spoon will be shot. This is going to be about music.

I enjoy listening to any type of music played well, by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra or a drum and bugle corps. My taste is spread so thin I can be found drumming my fingers most anywhere, a concert hall or a cruddy saloon.

I have been known to demand an encore from a bartender who wielded a bar rag with a syncopated beat. But I also buy Texaco gasoline because Texaco sponsors the Metropolitan Opera live on radio Saturday afternoon.

On a recent Sunday I loved listening to Bobby Short at Meadow Brook. He is the singer-pianist who has mastered the obscure verse of Cole Porter and Noel Coward. He usually performs in the most intimate launges, preferably in Paris.

Short is so terrible sophisticated, my dear, he was confused by the huge spotlight shining on the Meadow Brook stage. It was the sun and he had never seen it before. I came away humming with a British accent.

And a vew nights later I was at Pine Knob to enjoy Kris Kristofferson who probably never heard of Bobby Short. Kris has most recently gained publicity by making love nude, which is really the only way, but he did it in Playboy magazine. He is as sophisticated as a backhouse.

But when Kristofferson sings his "Sunday Morning Coming Down" I know he wrote about a lot of my old Sundays and it feels bittersweet good, even if I am the only man in the crowd wearing a tie. I came away chewing on a strand of straw.

So you get the idea. I like all sorts of music, instrumental and vocal. Now comes the sad part. All I can do is listen. I can't play one instrument. I am so tone deaf, it is criminal for me to even try to sing. At least, that's what I was brought up to believe.

As previously reported, I was raised in the shadow of my big sister, Terrible Jean. It was humiliating enough that she was tougher and smarter than her only brother. But she could also sing the entire score from every Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers movie, with choreography.

Relatives were constantly demanding that she perform, which was similar to demanding that Tuesday follow Monday.

No one ever asked me to sing. It was always taken for granted that I couldn't carry a tune, but I never really got a chance to try. Terrible Jean carried all the tunes for our family in her ample mouth and she never put one down for fear someone else might get a chance to lift it.

So, naturally, I grew up musically warped (La la tra).

I was always the dumb kid "with no ear for music." After holiday dinners, when the relatives sat around the table singing background for Terrible Jean's solos, I was sent to the kitchen to make sure no one stole the refrigerator.

It is no wonder I developed a mental block which, to this day, prevents me from learning all the words to any song ("I'm dreaming of a white mmmmmmmmmm").

The world probably lost a great musical artist because of my deprived childhood. I was forever forced to seek melodious satisfaction vicariously, applauding when I should be performing. If I had been born into another family, I would probably be playing piano in a bar today.

But listening is next best. Some people like to shoot deer or worry about the Detroit Lions. I like to sit on a swivel stool, hunched over a piano bar, with both feet on a brass rail.

In Detroit, my favorite piano man is Ernie Swan at the Salamander Bar. In Port Huron, there's Bob Gibbs and his group at the Curtana. And in Flint, my man is Ray Lowell at the Shorthorn.

Denny McLain used to play the organ at the Shorthorn, before he won 30 games. He was pretty awful but he wasn't the worst noise ever heard there. The worst is the spoon players.

It does no good to hide the silverware. Several Shorthorn regulars bring their own spoons, sticking out of their hip pockets and rattling in their purses. Lowell, who is too nice a guy to scream in agony, allows the spoonists to clack along with his piano. It sounds like a mess hall riot at San Quentin.

If he'll allow that racket, perhaps Lowell will let me sing along with him sometime. If I ever learn a song.

"Come to me my melancholy mmmmmmmmm."

Meet Charlevoix

...Kathryn Boss

Kathryn Bass, R.N.

Katheryn Boss has been Director of Nursing Services for the Charlevoix Area Hospital for six years. She joined the hospital staff 21 years ago as an obstetrics nurse, following graduation from the Blodgett Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Grand Rapids. This week the Courier talks with her about nurses and nursing at the hospital.

COURIER: How many people are on your nursing staff?

BOSS: We have 31 part time and full time registered nurses, nine licensed practical nurses, 22 nurses' aides, one orderly, one operating room technician and one ward clerk.

COURIER: What are the duties of these nurses?

BOSS: The first thing a registered nurse does when she goes on duty is to get a condition report on each patient and to make the rounds. She also makes rounds with the physicians and transcribes their orders. She really spends a lot of time with the patients. Then, too, she is responsible for the duties carried out by the LPN's and nurses' aides. Special nurses have special duties, such as those in the operating room, obstetrics, intensive coronary care and the emergency room.

COURIER: What about LPN's and nurses' aides?

BOSS: Licensed practical nurses, among other things, give medication and treatments. Nurses' aides pass water, take temperatures, get patients ready for meals, feed them if necessary, give or assist with baths, change beds, and help patients to walk or get into chairs.

COURIER: What hours do the nurses work?

BOSS: The shifts are 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., 3 p.m. to 11 p.m., and 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. They have every other weekend off and take turns working on holidays. They are hired for specific shifts but may transfer if possible. In the corony care unit, the nurses rotate shifts with the exception of the supervisor.

COURIER: Do you have much turnover among the nurses?

BOSS: We are very fortunate in having a very low turnover rate. Mary Boss, our supervisor in central supplies, has been here the longest. She started in the old hospital in 1942, and except for three years she spent in Grand Rapids, has been here ever since. She will retire at the end of December.

COURIER: What is the average number of patients per day in the hospital?

BOSS: In August it was 30.

COURIER: How has nursing changed since you started to work?

BOSS: Nurses are assuming more responsibility these days. They are being given specific training in units such as coronary care, burns, and neo-natal. Nurses are coming out with specialties. It's a good thing.

COURIER: What about equipment?

BOSS: We have a lot of new, exciting equipment – a coronary intensive care unit, a fetal monitor, a radiant heater in the obstetrics department, a cardiac monitor and defibrillator in the emergency room. We are taking more X-rays and going more lab work. We have more people in the emergency room and it is now staffed with its own people.

COURIER: What about the medical staff?

BOSS: We have had a definite increase in the medical staff and have added several specialists in the last two or three years.

COURIER: How did you happen to become a nurse?

BOSS: My grandfather lived with us when I was young. He was sickly and I helped take care of him when my parents had to do other things. I found it interesting and challenging. When the doctor came to see him he would give me some small task to do and I was thrilled.

COURIER: Would you recommend nursing as a careeer for other women?

BOSS: It is an interesting profession, never dull, but a person has to be cut out for it. You must like people and want to help them. Our daughter, Denise, who is now a student at Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo, decided on her own to become a nurse. I didn't encourage her.

COURIER: Do you have other children?

BOSS: Yes, my husband, Nathan, and I also have a daughter, Gayle, who is a sophomore at Hope College, studying communications, and a son, Craig, a sophomore at Charlevoix High School.

COURIER: Are you a native of Charlevoix?

BOSS: No, I grew up in Central Lake and went to high school there.

COURIER: You sound as if you like your job.

BOSS: I do. We have a great staff of employees. I believe Charlevoix is one of the best little hospitals in the north. People are amazaed at the equipment we have and how well our personnel is trained. A lot of the training is due to the medical staff. We have a lot to thank them for. We get lots of notes from former patients thanking us for the care we have given them. This gives us a thrill and makes the whole day worthwhile.

ELECTION DAY

September 27 is election day on classrooms. The voters are being asked to approve bonds to make additions, renovate and equip classrooms in the Charlevoix High School and Middle School.

SHORTAGE OF CLASSROOMS

Students are now meeting in the basement of the public library three hours per day. Two classes at the high school and one class from the middle school were required to meet at the public library due to lack of sufficient classrooms in their respective buildings.

WHERE DO NEW STUDENTS COME FROM?

One hundred thirty-five students enrolled in Charlevoix for the first time this year in grades 1 through 12: First grade-12; second grade-12; third grade-9; fourth grade-9; fifth grade-6; sixth grade-9; seventh grade-25; eighth grade-14; freshman-10; sophomore-9; junior-10; senior-7.

Forty-one or 30 percent of the students transferred from adjoining school districts, 15 or 11 percent transferred from schools within fifty miles of Charlevoix, 43 or 32 percent transferred from schools in Michigan and more than 50 miles distance from Charlevoix and 35 or 27 percent came from other states in the union. Pontiac (5), Grosse Ile (8), Waterford (4) and Oak Park (4) were the downstate districts sending the largest number of students. Sixteen other school districts outside of the 50 mile radius had students who transferred to Charlevoix. Students transferred from 14 states into our schools this year.

BOND ISSUE TO IMPROVE CONSUMPTION OF UTILITIES

A significant portion of the bond issue will be used to improve heating and lighting at the middle school site. The present consumption of heating costs at the middle school are 208 percent times the per square foot cost at the present elementary site.

PLEASE READ

A brochure explaining the bond referendum was mailed to each boxholder in the school district. Additional copies are available in the office of the superintendent. Please read this brochure carefully before voting September 27.

Ruppe Sets Office Hours

WASHINGTON--Northern Michigan Congressman Philip E. Ruppe, R-11th District, announced today that his lower peninsula district representative will hold office hours in Charlevoix on Wednesday Sept. 29.

Jerry Newhouse has scheduled office hours from 12 noon to 1 p.m. at the Charlevoix County Bldg. in Charlevoix. Any area citizen wishing to discuss a matter involving the Federal government is invited to visit at that time. No prior appointment is necessary.

Frank Nackermans Married 50 Years

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND–Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Nackerman will re-new their marriage vows at a Mass at Holy Cross church Saturday to mark the observance of their golden wedding anniversary. A reception at the parish hall later in the day will be one of the highlights of the event which will bring their five children, 19 grandchildren and one great-grandchild home for the weekend.

Hosting the reception will be their daughters, Mrs. Arthur (Barbara T.) Huston of Belleville, Mrs. Harold (Rosemary) Smith of Detroit, Mrs. Richard (Ellen) Verduyn of Warren and Mrs. Jack (Colleen) Vulk of Ann Arbor.

Mr. Nackerman and the former Grace Campbell were married at St. Vincent DePaul Church in Pontiac by Monsignor Thornton. Nov. 25, 1926. They remained in southern Michigan until after Christmas and returned to Beaver Island to make their home between Christmas and New Year's Day, making the trip aboard McCann's fish tug, the Venus, because regular ferry service between the island and the mainland had been discontinued for the season. Mr. Nackerman served as Postmaster at the St. James postoffice for 34 years, from 1939 until his retirement in 1973. Since then they have done some traveling and plan to do more. During the summer Mr. Nackerman enjoys gardening. Mrs. Nackerman served as clerk of the postoffice for 25 years.

Mrs. Nackerman was born Feb. 12, 1906, at Pontiac, Mr. Nackerman was born June 18, 1903, at Manistique where his mother had gone for the delivery. He and his parents returned to the island when he was two weeks old. His father was one of the early brick masons on the island.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Nackerman

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Bailiargeon

Linda Sneathen, Joseph Baillargeon Wed

Charlevoix Community Reformed Church was the scene of the Sept. 3 wedding of Linda Lee Sneathen and Joseph P. Baillargeon.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sneathen of Charlevoix and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Baillargeon, Jr., of Charlevoix.

Dressed in a white eyelet gown with white ribbon accenting the waistline, the bride carried a bouquet of babys breath and asters in pink and lavender which she arranged herself.

Patty Ann Sneathen was her sister's maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Mrs. Steve Johnecheck and Mrs. Greg Skeel. Mary Ann Baillargeon, sister of the groom, was the flower girl. The women's gowns were styled after the bride's in beige cotton with clusters of pink, blue and gold flowers. They carried wicker baskets of cosmos, baby's breath and daisies.

Timothy Borowiak served as the best man with Day Key and Steve Key as groomsmen.

Ushers were Jeff Baillargeon, brother of the groom, John Sneathen, brother of the bride, and Gilbert Johnson.

Mrs. Jim Mansen sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Christian Wedding Song." Rev. Albert Mansen performed the double ring ceremony.

The wedding was followed by a reception in the church Fellowship Hall. Evelyn Bare, the bride's aunt, and Brenda Crisp and Barb Deur, cousins of the groom, served the cake while Sally Kauffman, cousin of the bride, and Jan Boss served punch. Jim Baillargeon, brother of the groom, managed the guest book.

For the wedding the bride's mother wore a flowered gown of polyester, and the groom's mother wore a spring green gown of polyester knit.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents on Sept. 2 at Staffords Bay View Inn.

Following a Canadian honeymoon, the couple made their home at Lake Terrace Mobile Court. The bride is employed at Big Rock Point Power Plant and the groom is a student at North Central Michigan College.

Stamp Act Angered People

Angered by the stamp tax levied to defray the cost of British troops, delegates from nine American colonies met in New York for the Stamp Act Congress on October 7, 1765. Out of the Congress came a Declaration of Rights protesting taxation without representation and a list of other grievances which were dispatched to the king and both houses of Parliament. The Stamp Act was repealed in March of the following year. A rare example of the stamp which prompted the action is on display in Henry Ford Museum.

Bradford Fosters Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bradford V. Foster of Charlevoix on their 50th wedding anniversary, will be held at Grey Gables on Sept. 25 between 2 and 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster have three sons, Richard Foster of West Allis, Wisc., Dr. Bradford Foster of Petoskey and Jerry Foster of Charleston, Ill.

Friends and neighbors are welcome to attend the reception which is sponsored by their sons and families.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

FOR

GENERAL ELECTION

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1976

To the Qualified Electors of the City and Townships ....

COUNTY OF...... CHARLEVOIX, ..., STATE OF MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law", I, the undersigned Clerk, will upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY for such registration.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I WILL BE AT MY OFFICE

Monday, October 4, 1976 - - Last Day

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m.

The 30th day preceding said Election

And on Saturday, October 2, 1976 — 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954 As Amended.

For the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P. A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION, APPLICATION, TIME

SEC. 506. A registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Transfers shall not be made after the 30th day next preceding a regular or special election or primary election, unless the 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in which event registration transfers shall be accepted during the following day.

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and had not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 523 of this act, shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that primary or election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

THE RAYDERS showed the Huskies what it is like to come face to face with some real hustlers. The Rayders defeated the Benzie Central team in a 14-6 battle.

Rayders Down Huskies In 14-6 Battle at Benzie

MATT DOAN attempted to get by Huskies Darrin Lung and Gregg Selander, but even his quick actions didn't save him from the tackle.

The sweet taste of victory was seasoned with pass interceptions and fumbles Friday night as the Charlevoix Rayders downed Benzie Central Huskies 14-6.

The Rayders just couldn't seem to get behind the ball as the quarterbacks Brian Williams, James Alger and Patrick Klooster attempted seven passes and completed only two with three interceptions. Fortunately, almost every time a pass was intercepted, Benzie Central would turn right around and fumble the ball back into Rayder control.

Benzie Central had their own troubles in the passing department with quarterbacks Bill Shroyer and Eric Garvin completing only 3 out of 14 pass attempts. The Huskies had two passes intercepted.

The Rayders opened the first quarter with the first touchdown of the game. Jeff Wellman carried the ball across the goal line on a two-yard run. Conrad Klooster then put the ball across for the extra point.

In the second quarter, there was no scoring by either team, but the Rayders held their own and not only pushed back several Huskie scoring attempts, but also put on some drives of their own.

The second half of the game opened again with the Rayders scoring on a 33-yard run by Greg Krueger. And once again Conrad Klooster made good with the extra point kick.

Later in that same quarter, the Huskies came back with a stunning run around the end into the open backfield by Nathan Roper. Roper charged 43-yards down the field to score. The extra point kick failed however, leaving the score 14-6.

In the fourth quarter, the Rayder defense again held back Huskie scoring attempts and gained control of the ball near the end of the quarter to keep the Huskies from scoring.

The Rayders had some strong performances offensively from Krueger who not only scored but carried the ball seven times for 46 yards. Scott Ross carried four times for 27 yards and Patrick Klooster carried six times for 23 yards.

CHARLEVOIX SOFTBALL LEAGUE officers, directors and league officials named the following to receive special awards for their contributions to the program during the 1976 season: (left to right) Bill Macy who was honored for his outstanding service to the softball program, James Willis, Slo-pitch league president who accepted the Women's Sportsmanship trophy for Mrs. Betty Bergmann who was not present and Peter Spieles who was awarded the 10th annual Larry McBride sportsmanship trophy.

Girls Lose To Elk Rapids

The Charlevoix 'girls' basketball team dropped its second game of the current season to Elk Rapids by a score of 58-56 Tuesday night.

Maureen Cudd scored 17 points and Kay Currey added 12 as the Rayderettes trailed Elk Rapids 16-12 at the quarter before taking a three-point 29-26 lead at halftime. The host team, however doubled its halftime score in the third period to go ahead 52-38 at the three-quarter mark coasting to an easy 68-56 win.

Karen Nurton poured in 21 points and Barb Lundy 14 for Elk Rapids.

Charlevoix will host a strong Central Lake squad in the third non-league game here at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Charlevoix JV's beat Elk Rapids by a score of 35-33.

Annual Awards Presented For Slo-Pitch League

Special awards given annually by the Charlevoix Slo-pitch Association were presented recently by James Willis, president of the association.

Mrs. Charles (Betty) Bergmann, who played with the Tri-City Asphalt team this season, was awarded the fourth annual Women's Sportsmanship award sponsored by Village Inn Pizza. She has participated in the women's softball program for more than 15 years.

Peter Spieles was the recipient of the Larry McBride award given for sportsmanship and contribution to the program. This is the tenth year this award has been given by the Slo-pitch Association. Spieles played with Blalock Insurance this season. This was his fourth year in the program.

Bill Macy was presented with a special award for his contribution to the softball program.

Ten Teams See Action In Flag Football Opener

The flag football season opened Saturday with all 10 teams in action according to Dwight Boss, director of the Charlevoix Recreation Department which sponsors the program.

In the senior league, the Bears dumped the Buccaneers 20-6; the Patriots shut out the Rams 20-0 and the Vikings defeated the Cowboys 40-0.

Junior league action saw the Steelers win over the Rams 22-2 and the Dolphins edge the cowboys 26-19.

This week the Rams will meet the Cowboys at 9:00 a.m. and Steelers will take on the Dolphins at 10:15 a.m. in the junior league. Senior league play will begin at 11:30 a.m. when the Vikings and the Buccaneers tangle. The Patriots and the Bears will meet at 12:45 and the Rams and the Cowboys at 2:00 p.m.

BEARS 26, BUCCANEERS 6

In the Bears 26-6 win over the buccaneers, Mark Morgan was the key player, throwing touchdown passes of 20 and 23 yards to Mike Borths and Dave Herbolsheimer, scoring on a nine yard run, passing to Morgridge for a P.A.T. and scoring one himself.

PATRIOTS 20, RAMS 0

Jeff Drury passed five yards to Craig Klooster and scored on runs of 15 and 13 yards to account for the Patriots TD's over the Rams. Ken Speigl scored one conversion and Frury added the other.

VIKINGS 40, COWBOYS 0

It was a razzle-dazzle type of game as Jeff Daylong passed twice to Ross Carey who scored on runs of 10 and 15 yards each; Scott Kelly passed to Phil Hoffman for five yards and a TD, Mike Zednicek with a nine yard run, Daylong with a 20 and Kelly with an eight yard run added three more scoring plays. Paul Hoffman scored one and Daylong two conversion points.

STEELERS 22, RAMS 2

Thad Morgan scored on runs of five and 15 yards, Chris Putman scored two safeties and Keith Potter and Lance Stevens one safety each as the Steelers defeated the Rams. Potter and David Umlor scored one conversion each.

Wayne Bergmann had a single safety for the Rams.

DOLPHINS 26, COWBOYS 19

A 35 yard touchdown run and a conversion by Brent Cole broke the 19-19 tie between the Dolphins and the Cowboys and gave the Dolphins the victory.

Until then the teams had been evenly matched as Wayne Sharrow scored on a five yard run and Cole on runs of 20 and 30 yards, the latter a kick-off return, plus a conversion point in each of the first three periods.

Dane Tollas scored on an 11 yard run plus a conversion; Tim LaBlance on a 40 yard kick-off return and Tollas on a 30 yard kick-off return to account for the Cowboys 19 points.

New Medicaid Act Cuts Payments

By PEG OHLE

The new Medicaid act which becomes law October 1 will have an adverse financial affect not only on Medicaid hospital patients, but all hospital patients, according to Charlevoix Area Hospital administrator Richard Krueger.

Rather than paying for the full stay of a Medicaid patient as it does now, Medicaid will limit its payments "to the length of stay by diagnosis which does not exceed the seventy-fifth percentile of Michigan length of stay guidelines as specified by the Department of Social Services."

Krueger explains the "seventy-fifth percentile" as follows:

"For every illness requiring hospitalization, each patient gets well according to his / her own schedule. Some heal very quickly, some very slowly. Consequently, it makes sense that for every diagnosis some patients stay longer than others. In fact, statistically, all illnesses can be described according to the length of stay.

"Take, for example, the patient with a diagnosis of appendicitis. One-quarter (25 percent) will get well by the third day after admission and will go home. One-half (50 percent) will have recovered by the fifth day after admission and will go home. However, on the seventh day, one three-quarters (75 percent) of all patients will have healed enough to be discharged to go home. One-quarter will have developed complications or will not have repaired sufficiently to be discharged. These are the people at the 75th percentile – usually the sickest patients – that the law says the state will no longer pay for."

This means that these patients will have to pay for the remainder of their hospital stays themselves, if they can afford it, or the hospital must recover the cost by charging all patients more.

Based on last year's patients' costs, the new law would mean a difference of $31,950 in Medicaid income to the Charlevoix Area Hospital while supplying the same amount of care.

The Michigan Hospital Association estimates that the average Medicaid patient in a family of three has an annual income of $4,000 to $5,000. It also estimates that the average hospital bill to be paid (or not paid) by persons staying past the 75th percentile is expected to approach $1,000.

It is in behalf of these people that the Michigan Hospital Association is working for modification of the 75 percentile care program and is making every effort to alert state legislators and the public to the dangers involved in this arbitrarily imposed limitation on Medicaid re-imbursement to hospitals in Michigan.

In the meantime, the State Department of Social Services reports it has formed a project team whose major objective is to increase the use of private insurance instead of Medicaid funds.

"This is to be accomplished through an ongoing training program so Department personnel may more readily recognize cases covered by private insurance. More effective data-gathering methods will also be used, as well as redesign of payment forms and development of a process to monitor and measure effectiveness and progress," the Department explains.

To put this plan in operation, Social Services is working with the legislature to bring state laws in line with Federal mandates which require Medicaid coverage to be secondary or supplemental when private health or casualty insurance resources are available.

100 Women Join Hospital Auxiliary During Membership Coffee

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital launched its new year of activities with a membership coffee at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Robert Neff.

Approximately 100 women purchased memberships in the service organization whose chief interest is the hospital proper and its patients. Many of those present volunteered for the various services that range from passing trays, working in the guild-sponsored gift shop, the Showcase, the Christmas committee, the sewing committee and other related services.

Mrs. William Squire of Boyne City has assumed the duties of the president; Mrs. Reed Friedinger, vice president; Miss Frances Milner, secretary and Mrs. Eleanor Schultz, treasurer.

The Guild meets at the hospital at 8:00 p.m. the second Monday of every month. Anyone interested in learning more about the organization is invited to attend. The Guild is presently planning its annual Thrift Sale which is scheduled for Oct 15 and 16.

Course Helps Homemakers

How would you like to be able to feed your budget on 10 percent less than what it costs on the U.S. Department of Agriculture low-cost plan.

Marlene Caszatt, Charlevoix County extension home economist, can help you. She is offering "Shopping On A Shoestring," a correspondence course for economy-minded food shoppers at no cost through the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service.

Although the course is for anyone in Charlevoix County who wants to cut food costs without cutting nutrition, it is specifically designed to enable a family of four (including a teenage boy) to eat well on $55 a week–if they follow the menus, recipes, grocery list and shopping tips in each issue.

Around No. 1, those people enrolled in the course will receive their first issue. Subsequent issues will be received weekly in November. Each issue will include food shopping tips, grocery list, a week's menus, including low cost snacks and recipes for main dishes, and other foods that can be made inexpensively.

Copies of the weekly November issues kept for future reference may be added to an compared with a group of monthly "Shopping On A Shoestring" newsletters to be sent January, February and March.

County residents can receive the information by sending their name and address, including zip code and county on a post card to: Shopping On A Shoestring, c/o Marlene Caszatt, Cooperative Extension Service, Federal Building, Boyne City, Mich., 49712.

The order must be postmarked by Oct. 1, 1976. Due to anticipated heavy response, telephone orders will not be accepted.

Council Searching For Artists to Honor

The Michigan Foundation for the Arts is asking community art councils and other persons interested in the arts to submit nominations for the 1977 Michigan Arts Awards. Deadline for nominations is October 15, 1976.

The awards, which were initiated this year, will be given annually to one or more Michigan artists who have brought distinction through their artistic work to themselves and to their state. The purpose of the awards is to give recognition to outstanding Michigan artists and to thereby promote development of a supportive arts environment in the state. While no fixed number or dollar amount for awards is specified under the program, last year the Foundation awarded five cash grants of $2,500 each.

Nominees for the awards can be creative persons in any arts discipline who are approaching or are at the peak of their artistic careers. In addition, all nominees must have a substantial and visible association with the state of Michigan. Nominations should include detailed information on the artist-candidate, copies of critical evaluations, lists of performances, published works, exhibitions, significant achievements and other appropriate supporting material.

The actual award recipients will be selected by the Foundation's Board of Directors, with the assistance of selected consultants.

Forms may be obtained from Mrs. Anne W. Rosch, Michigan Foundation for the Arts, 1200 Sixth Ave., Detroit, Michigan, 48226, and returned postmarked no later than October 15.

Gordon Freedman Receives Award in AAA Photo Contest

Gordon Freedman, 25, won the award for a color photograph he took of the National Capitol Building one foggy evening. Freedman's entry was one of more than 3,000 that AAA received from participants in the first photo contest it has held since 1941.

Freedman, a 1969 Charlevoix High School graduate, is currently living in Washington D.C. and is employed as a researcher and investigator on the House Committee investigating the Post Office and the Civil Service particularly political and bureaucratic abuses in hiring.

The Charlevoix resident said he first became interested in photography when he was working on the Democrat's Watergate Committee.

"I learned how to take pictures then because I wanted to be able to record what was going on during the investigation," Freedman explained. "No one was allowed to take pictures of what was going on, but because I was on the staff I was able to do it."

Following the completion of the Watergate investigation, Freedman further developed his photographic abilities when he received a research grant from the Ossabaw Island Project. He went to the island off the coast of Georgia, which is about one-half the size of Beaver Island, to do research on government and political philosophy and while he was there he worked on his photography.

"I do a lot of nature photography," Freedman said. "It's a good hobby to have, it can really help you out and relax you."

The Charlevoix resident said he doesn't plan to go into photography professionally, but would rather take pictures as a hobby.

"I sell things from time to time, and I do some work for people, but I don't think I would want to do it fulltime," he said.

Student Attends Orientation

Symposium Had Different Meaning

A symposium today often is an instructive and solemn occasion. Originally, the word meant "drinking together" and in ancient Greece was a catered party at which from three to nine guests would eat and drink and be entertained by dancers, musicians, jugglers, and courtesans, the National Geographic Society says.

Charlevoix Wins 3-Way Golf Meet

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team posted an overall score of 163 to win a triangular Michigan Huron Shores match held here Monday to open the 1975 season.

Cheboygan posted a team score of 178 for nine holes and St. Ignace a 196.

Individual scores for Charlevoix were Mike Caster and Pat Paul with scores of 40 each, Chris Hanna with 41 and Art Ranger with 42.

Charlevoix will travel to Harbor Springs Saturday to participate in the Harbor Point Invitational, Coach Barry Anderson said.

Zoning

already been developed.

Duke also urged the council members to get professional help from zoning and planning specialists.

"I think the proposed ordinance shows a tremendous amount of work, but a lack of specialization," Duke said. "I suggest that you send this ordinance to planning and zoning specialists and have the bugs taken out of it.

"It may cost the city a few thousand dollars, but it will be well worth it," Duke continued. "In the process of trying to change the ordinance without costing the people any money, you will build a camel.

"Even if it takes six months to have a professional go over it, it will be well worth it," the city resident said. "We've gone a long time without a new ordinance now."

Other objections to the ordinance included comments by Oscar Ward about the policing and enforcing of the ordinance, a question from Banny McRae about the allowance of duplex, which was overlooked in the ordinance, and a comment from William Fochtman about where a new car dealership could be located, which would not be allowed under the proposed ordinance.

Fochtman also asked what had happened to an ordinance prepared for the city at considerable expense by Williams and Works, a planning and engineering firm from Grand Rapids.

"Was that ordinance just shelved?" Fochtman asked.

"We've got about 10 shelves where various ordinances have been placed over the years," Susan Erber, alderman and chairman of the Ecology, Development and Lane Use Committee, which has been rewriting the ordinance, said.

"Time and time again we've put a proposed ordinance on the shelf mainly because it was objected to by a private concern," she said.

"With this proposed ordinance we have taken the work of about five different groups and tried to pull out the best of all ordinances," Mrs. Erber continued. "We are trying to move ahead and get a new ordinance adopted."

classroom lecture area for large groups, and will permit the speech, drama and music classes to perform in an adequate facility.

The auditorium would also be a civic center, McKimmy said, providing a place for community meetings and productions.

Two public informational meetings will be held this week on the bond issues for interested citizens. The first meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Charlevoix Middle School and the second meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Charlevoix Elementary School. Superintendent McKimmy and members of the school board will attend each meeting and answer questions.

School Board

The issue will appear on the ballot Nov. 2.

The Board of Education went on record as urging Philip A. Rappe, 11th District Representative, to support the necessary changes in the Public Works Employment Act of 1976 to eliminate the criteria of the number of unemployed in the allocation of funds in this act. It was explained that the changing of rules requiring attention to the number of unemployed will remove the unfair advantage being given the metropolitan areas at the expense of the unemployed persons who reside in outstate, less populated districts. In taking this action, the Board of Education joins the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners in urging support of the changes in criteria.

The board also recommended that the Charlevoix public schools apply for Federal Aid available under Public Law 874 and that Supt. James A. McKimmy be designated as the representative of the school district in the matter. Under the law, special funds are available to the school district for students whose parents have federally funded jobs. In the Charlevoix School District this applies to U.S. Coast Guard and U.S. Air Force families.

--Ratified the agreement between the Charlevoix Culinary Employees Association and the Charlevoix Board of Education for the 1976-77 school year.

--Approved the list of elements of information on Charlevoix Public School students to be approved for release as student directory information as per process of the Student Rights (Buckley) Amendment.

--Approved the employment of Mrs. Geraldine Brady as school nurse for the 1976-77 school year; of Charles Wright as administrative aide in the Elementary School under the rules and regulations of CETA; of Mrs. Beverly Anderson as girls JV basketball coach for the present school year.

--Granted the Sports Boosters the concession rights at football games during the 1976 season.

--Gave their support to 10 of the 39 resolutions as particularly important to the Charlevoix School District prepared for consideration at the Michigan Association of School Boards on Nov. 3-5. They are Urban Education Crisis, Personnel and Labor Relations, Occupational Safety and Health Act, Unemployment "Compensation/Retirement, Increased Fund for Driver Education, Needed State Fiscal Reform, Guaranteed-no-loss of revenue to Local and Intermediate School Districts due to Single Business Tax Act, Needed Revision in P.A. 379, Raise legal age for drinking and Juvenile Code Revision. Several members of the board indicated they were interested in attending the meeting.

Supt. McKimmy reported on enrollment figures at the present time. There are 693 students in the K-5 school, 453 in the middle school, 644 in the high school and 10 in the Adult Education program. He went on to say that there were 135 students enrolled in Charlevoix for the first time in grades one through 12. This includes 15 students from St. Mary's school. Fifty-six or 41 percent transferred from adjacent school districts (Petoskey, East Jordan and Ellsworth); 35 or 26 percent from schools outside Michigan; 43 or 32 percent from the downstate area. Of the latter number, eight students transferred from Grosse Ile, six from Pontiac, four from Oak Park and Waterford and the remainder were uniformly spread out in other school districts.

He also reported that three classes are being held at the Public Library. This is the overflow that includes one class from the high school and two from the Middle School. The transfer of a portable classroom to the high school has cut down on the number of classes that might have had to be held at the library site.

--Reported that tuition rates of $1,226 will be decreased by $878 allowed in State Aid making it necessary for parents to pay only $348. The rule that would have made it necessary for parents to foot the entire cost has delayed this action for a year.

--Reported that residents at Charlevoix who paid part of their school taxes as summer taxes would be paying less millage in December because this year debt retirement was levied with the summer taxes as required by law. Earlier only a percentage of allocated and voted millage were levied.

--Reported that Parent-Teacher Conferences would be held Nov. 10-11-12.

The board heard a report from Vincent Olach, business manager, on buses and bus routes. He said there were 14 regular drivers and five substitute drivers, an increase of one for the Kindergarten run; five drivers were replaced, three because they moved away and two because they did not return. There are 15 buses being used, five for high school students and 10 for middle and elementary students plus two for noon kindergarten runs. One high school bus has been eliminated by adjusting routes and shifting loads. Other vehicles in use include one to transport students to Voc Ed Classes in Petoskey; one to auto mechanics classes; one to take students to the library and a station wagon to transport the handicapped to and from the school at Ironton. Buses travel 922 miles per day or 67 miles per day less than last year. The average passenger load for elementary students is 66 students per bus and 50 for high school buses. A total of 1160 are transported per run.

Olach also reported that two bids had been received for the 46 band instruments that were being considered for purchase.

AUTUMN COLORS PAINT THE BEAUTY OF GOD'S CREATION

The spectrum of autumn will soon be displayed
And it's truly a sight to behold;
As the green leaves of summer will now be arrayed
In the brilliance of scarlet and gold,
For a moment of glory before they disband
In the cold winds that soon will appear.

It's the season of harvest all over the land;
A magnificent time of the year.
You will learn through your Church that the beauty of fall,
From the time that Creation began,
Was a harvest of color God painted for all,
As a part of His wonderful plan!

--Gloria Nowak

The year was in its yellowing time, and the face of Nature a study in old gold.
— Kenneth Grahame

reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of the

Sherrel Bergmann Receives Ph. D

Mrs Sherrel Pearsall Bergmann recently received her Ph.D degree from the Graduate School of Education at Kent State University

Her dissertation was "Designing and Implementing a Drama-Guidance Model to Enhance the Self-Concepts of Transescents" (Transescents is defined as middle school age children)

She has accepted a position at Lake Forest College at Lake Forest, Ill., where she is chairperson of the Department of Education Her goal is to build a program that focuses on preparing teachers to work with the middle school junior high students.

In November she will be offering two presentations at the National Middle School Conference in St. Louis, Mo. One will be on the emotional development of the transescent and the other on new methods of teaching about health and sex for middle school teachers.

Dr Bergmann earned her Ph. D over a period of three years while teaching full time and going to school. Her degree is in the area of curriculum, instruction and supervision with the emphasis on junior high middle school She studied under Dr. Gordon F Vars, noted expert and author on the junior high - middle school.

A graduation of the Charlevoix High School, Dr Bergmann received her B A. degree from Central Michigan University and her M.Ed from Kent State University

Attending the Commencement exercises were her husband, Jack Bergmann, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearsall

Bergmann, a registered engineer, has joined the firm of James Anderson Engineering in Lake Forest where he will be in charge of all structural engineering

THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY Department of Social Services celebrated the start of its new building with a ground breaking ceremony last week. Participating in the ceremony were Jim Behling, contractor, Dick Tillen, director of Social Services, Bob Ouderkirk, owner of the new building, and Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township supervisor.

Putman Honored By Free Press

Chris Putman, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Putman, has received recognition as a Star Carrier for the Detroit Free Press.

The commendation, which includes a Star Carrier patch, is given for dependability, good salesmanship and all-around good service, according to William B. Salls, Carrier Promotion Manager for the newspaper. The award is given monthly to a carrier in a given area.

Chris services the Mason-Antrim street and Boulder Park areas.

No Place to Deposit Waste

Nuclear Fuel Storage in State Up

By PAULA HOLMES

Charlevoix County voters may find their November 2 advisory vote on the location of nuclear waste disposal sites will have little, if any, significance.

At present, nuclear power plants such as Big Rock are having no choice but to leave spent nuclear fuel bundles on site because there is no place to dump it.

Consumers Power Company, which operates the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant in Charlevoix County, had been sending its spent fuel (nuclear waste) to Nuclear Fuel Services, Inc., in West Valley, N.Y., for reprocessing and the extraction of reusable elements.

However, that plant has not been in operation since 1972, when a nuclear regulatory directive requiring a construction permit for the expansion and modernization program at the plant was issued. The company's application to the regulatory commission for the permit, which has been opposed by the Sierra Club and other environmental groups, is still pending.

In July, the company informed Consumers Power, that its contract with the utility for disposing of nuclear wastes was no longer in effect.

"For the time being, we are storing the spent fuel in our spent fuel pool," Dave Blanchard, reactor engineer at Big Rock, said explaining what the company is doing with its nuclear wastes.

The spent fuel pool is approximately 27 feet deep, 26 feet wide and 20 feet long. It holds fuel bundles containing approximately 130 kilograms of uranium and plutonium, the highly toxic, man-made element created during a nuclear reaction.

Blanchard said it was not unusual for the nuclear plant to store two to three years worth of spent fuel bundles in its spent fuel pool before sending all the bundles at one time to the reprocessing plant.

Blanchard said he did not know what the plans of the power company were for the future storage of the spent fuel adding, "at the moment there is no other place to go" with the nuclear waste then the spent fuel pools.

Dr Chimei Chan, a health physicist at the Jackson office of the power company, said the company did not have any specific future plans for disposal of the nuclear waste.

"We have enough storage space at the sites of the Big Rock and Palisades plants to last another 10 to 12 years," Chan said. "We have enough storage capability for the forseeable future and by the time we run out national policy will be made concerning whether nuclear waste should be reprocessed or if it should be dumped and where it should be dumped."

Chan said he did not feel the state was becoming a nuclear waste dump site because of the additional storage of spent fuel within its boundaries.

"That would not be a fair statement to make," Chan

Commissioners Clash With CIS Over Proposed Millage Cut

By MARSHA ROBINSON

Charlevoix County Commissioner Ralph Richardson met head on with members of the Citizens Information Service (CIS) Monday night.

Richardson spelled out cuts in the county budget he felt would be necessary should CIS's proposed 12 mill tax allocation limit be passed by voters in November.

The 12-mill proposal B was brought to a vote by petition, and is an alternate to the county's Proposal A, which would limit tax allocation to 15 mills.

The county itself would receive 3.7 mills under CIS's plan and 4.7 mills under the county plan.

According to Richardson's calculations, the one mill difference would mean the elimination of the departments of planning, cooperative extension, animal control, and parks and recreation, which would involve the closing of Whiting Park.

Funding would also have to be eliminated for the operation of the Ironton Ferry, the Commission on Aging, other services and departments under his tentative reduced budget.

CIS co-chairman Karl Waldner charged Richardson with dramatizing the cuts, but refused despite repeated requests from the audience to reveal the Service's own version of a 3.7 mill county budget.

"We will give them to you when we feel it's an appropriate time," said Willis Peters, who with Waldner represented CIS at the meet.

Waldner said the CIS's proposed budget would be available to the public on Oct. 18.

When asked for his suggestions, County Commissioner Oscar Ward, who is also a co-chairman of CIS with Waldner and Peters, said that he "would have nothing to do with the amount or where" the cuts would be made.

Ward said that he questioned whether proposing specific cuts at this time was "premature, if this isn't going to transpire for another year."

According to Peters, the Service is presently requesting an opinion from the attorney general as to when the tax limit proposal will go into effect.

Initially, it was the opinion of the CIS that the proposal would take effect Jan. 1, 1977 while commissioner Richardson said that it would not go into effect until December of 1977 when tax bills for 1978 were sent out.

Richardson, along with several other commissioners, was present at the invitation of CIS and had been requested to make public their interpretation of the impact of the possible cut in revenue upon the county.

Earlier in September, officials from county school districts were asked by CIS to discuss the effect of a possible 2.4 mill reduction in tax allocation contained in the alternate proposal.

The officials told CIS representatives at that time that in light of the many variables in school finance it would be impossible to predict cuts necessary to operate with reduced tax allocations.

Richardson stressed that the cuts he outlined as possible for the county budget under CIS's proposal were tentative, based upon his own calculations and not representative of the entire commission's thoughts.

He anticipated that a total cut of some $260,000 would have to be made from the county's budget of about $1.6 million if Proposal B were to pass.

The figures were based on 1976 valuations and anticipated a loss of between $50-60,000 in federal revenue sharing and about $10,000 from the state as a result of the lower local tax base, he said.

Richardson said that even with the extensive cuts he mentioned, the county's contingency fund would amount to $50,000, too small for a 1 million dollar

Courier Named Best in State In Michigan Press Contest

The Charlevoix Courier has been named best in the state for its size in the 1978 Michigan Press Association Weekly Newspaper Contest.

The Courier took first place in its circulation class for General Excellence in the contest judged by members of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association. The judges described the Courier as "an all around outstanding newspaper."

In addition to the General Excellence Award, the Courier also took first place in the News Reporting section of the contest.

The Courier was selected for the awards from a field of 40 weekly newspapers which submitted more than 300 entries in seven general categories and for the overall general excellence award.

In the past two years, the Courier has earned 12 state and national awards. In addition to the two awards just received from the Michigan Press Association, the Courier also received the School Bell Award from the Michigan Education Association and was named a Blue Ribbon Newspaper by the National Editorial Foundation this Foundation this year.

The newspaper was also named a Blue Ribbon Newspaper in 1975 and received three awards including honorable mention for the General Excellence Award from the National Newspaper Association. The Courier received four awards from the Michigan Press Association in 1975.

Other area newspapers of the same circulation receiving awards in the seven general categories were the Otsego Herald Times, the Charlevoix County Press and the Antrim County News.

County Officials Meet With Beaver Islanders

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix county officers including members of the Board of Commissioners and representatives of other offices such as the Department of Health and Bureau of Social Services were on Beaver Island Friday for the annual meeting arranged by the Board of Commissioners and the Planning Commission.

Purpose of the meeting is to conduct a seminar type conference at which representatives of county government discuss various phases of county government with township officers and residents.

Clyde Cunningham, chairman of the board of commissioners, presided at the meeting at which highway repair and construction, Proposals A and B and the proposed Grandvue sinking fund which will be on the ballot in the Nov. 2 election and the proposed common zoning permit application were among the issues discussed.

St. James and Peaine township officers and residents had many questions relating to road improvements. Among them were why more work on the King's Highway and the street along the bay could not be

McKimmy Threatens to Sue Group Over Bond Defeat

By PAULA HOLMES

Charlevoix School Supt. James McKimmy has threatened suit against a citizen's group in wake of Monday night's bond proposal rejection.

The school official charged that the Committee for Tax Weary presented voters with misinformation that could have attributed to the defeat of two bond issues.

"Potential litigation may be taken after a full investigation," McKimmy said Monday night.

The superintendent claims the Committee for Tax Weary Citizens, an ad hoc committee of the Citizens Information Service (CIS), used erroneous information to convince voters to defeat the proposals in advertisements that were repeatedly aired on a local radio station.

"It is unfortunate when organized opposition can blatantly use public media to distribute information nearly 100 percent in error," Superintendent McKimmy said.

"It is unfortunate that the board of education has to wait until after the fact of an election to explain the error of a group so unethically motivated," he continued.

"The litigation would be undertaken only to demonstrate to the public that they have been misled by people of questionable motivation," he said.

McKimmy claimed the committee claimed in its advertisement that 6 percent interest on the $3.1 million bond issue would amount to $2,985,600 over 16 years.

"This figure can only be arrived at by taking the full amount of the bond issue and multiplying it by 6 percent for 16 years," the superintendent pointed out. "That does not take into account the payments that will be made on the bonds which will result in a total amount of interest that is only 55 percent of the figure the committee is using."

Willis (Bill) Peters, chairman of the Committee for Tax Weary Citizens whose members also include Karl Waldner and County Commissioner Oscar Ward, said he stood by his figures when he was contacted by the Courier Monday night.

"The facts presented in the advertisement are not erroneous," Peters said in a telephone interview. "I have confirmed them with the vice president of a local bank.

"If the school board wants to sue I am ready for them," he continued. "Those figurea were substantiated through a banker."

McKimmy said the defeat of the two proposals would ravage the current educational program.

"The program will be devastated by overcrowding, building costs will be escalated by inflation and perhaps we will have to follow the lead of surrounding schools and give up our accredited programs realizing that other schools haven't been able to afford accredited programs," the superintendent said.

Voters defeated proposition 1, which sought $3.1 million for the renovation and expansion of the middle school and high school, by a narrow 66 votes. Of 1,638 votes cast, there were 783 yes votes and 849 no votes with six spoiled ballots and 17 absentee ballots.

Proposition 2, which sought $525,000 for the construction and equipping of a 600-seat auditorium was defeated by a margin of 463 votes. Voters cast 585 yes ballots and 1,048 no ballots with five spoiled ballots.

Judge Fershee Rules Section Of Real Estate Act Illegal

A section of the State Real Estate Act was declared unconstitutional last week by District Court Judge David Fershee.

The opinion was rendered in the case of the People of the State of Michigan versus J. Hilliard Shackford, growing out of a warrant issued May 25 by Charlevoix County Prosecutor Roy C. Hayes against Shackford alleging violation of certain sections of the Act.

Specifically, Judge Fershee contends that one section of the law, added by amendment in 1960, is uncertain and vague because the amendment does not state whether the specific acts listed within it are criminal violations or regulatory standards.

"A close and thorough analysis of (the Act) raises a substantial question of whether the proscribed activities were meant to be criminal or merely to vest the Department of Licensing and Regulation with power to promulgate rules and discipline persons within its jurisdiction. Nowhere in the sections under which the defendant is charged does the act forbid or command the doing of an act," the opinion states.

Judge Fershee also quotes "Wharton's Criminal Law and Procedure". "If a statute is so vague or uncertain that a reasonable man would be compelled to speculate at his peril whether the statute permits or prohibits the act he contemplates committing, the act is unconstitutional."

Judge Fershee concludes, "The sections under which defendant is charged do not meet this constitutional requirement of notice. A reasonable man reading this section would be compelled to speculate whether failing to escrow funds (with which the defendant was charged) carries criminal sanctions or merely subjects him to regulatory sanctions.

"It is fundamental to our system of jurisprudence that a law that carries penal sanctions is to be strictly construed in favor of the person to whom the penalty is directed....

"A strict construction of (the law) requires this Court to hold the statute unconstitutional. It violates the 5th and 14th amendments of the United States Constitution and Article I, Sec. 17 and 20 of the Michigan Constitution of 1963, because it fails to give adequate notice of whether it is criminal or merely regulatory."

James McGarry Opens CPA Office

James L. McGarry

James L. McGarry, Certified Public Accountant, has opened offices at 101 Bridge Street.

A resident of the Charlevoix area for about three years, McGarry has recently been employed by Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. as controller. In his new capacity he will furnish services to the public in all fields of accounting — presentation of audited financial statements, monthly unaudited financial presentations, general financial systems type consulting, and tax planning and return preparation.

McGarry believes he is the only practicing CPA in Charlevoix County. He received his Bachelor's degree at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa and took additional courses at Wright State College in Dayton, Ohio. Before coming to Charlevoix he worked with a large accounting firm in Dayton.

In explaining the CPA title, McGarry noted that it is regulated by the State and requires experience in public accounting and passing an examination that is a general test of knowledge of accounting, auditing, theory, law, taxation and economics.

McGarry is also teaching a Lake Superior State College course in cost accounting at North Central Michigan in Petoskey this semester. He is active in the work of Big Brothers/Big Sisters and enjoys all outdoor sports. Professional affiliations include the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Mr. and Mrs. McGarry live at 312 Clinton Street with their two children, Erin Lee aged four and Bryan Patrick aged 10 months. Mrs. McGarry is a former special education teacher.

Volunteers Make World Brighter for Needy

Shirley Roloff

What do Charlevoix residents Jean Giffin and Shirley Roloff have in common? A deep concern for less fortunate people living around them.

Both women are volunteer workers for the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services and both women were recently honored for the outstanding service they gave to the department throughout last year.

The women are two of some 70 people who have volunteered their services to the department's Special Services Coordinator Suzanne Wickert, to help with: transporting people without cars, preparing tax forms, setting up and running special events such as senior citizen picnics, tutoring members of adult basic education and graduate equivalency diploma classes and just being good neighbors.

Ms. Wickert, who interviews all potential volunteers, said a volunteer must have certain qualities. She looks for people who are willing and able to handle a commitment, who will be understanding of other people's situations and who are patient, tolerant and down to earth.

"Being a volunteer is not a glamorous job and it is often tedious," the special services coordinator explained. "But a volunteer does fill a need in the community."

And filling those needs is exactly what Mrs. Roloff and Mrs. Giffin like best about their volunteer jobs.

"I have a wonderful husband and five beautiful children, but when you stay at home all the time, sometimes you feel like you don't accomplish much," Mrs. Roloff said explaining why she is a volunteer.

And since she began working as a volunteer helping senior citizens a year ago, Mrs. Roloff has seen a lot of accomplishment.

"The changes that have happened have been heartwarming," Mrs. Roloff said of her first year's experience. "One woman you wouldn't even believe was the same person, she's changed so much since a year ago.

"She had never had a checking account before in her life. But now she has a checking account and she's learning to manage her own money," the volunteer beamed.

Mrs. Roloff has adopted about a dozen senior citizens in the last year. She takes them to the doctor or to pick up food stamps and helps them find clothing and furniture.

"Mostly I just give them love and friendship," Mrs. Roloff explained. "And a little help directing their lives.

"There's nothing more rewarding than when they thank me for some little thing I've done for them," she added smiling broadly.

Mrs. Giffin helps social services by working with a group of blind adults, a group of mentally impaired adults from the Charlevoix House and by visiting senior citizens at Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

"Originally, I tried to get a job with social services," said Mrs. Giffin, who has worked professionally as a social worker and holds a masters degree in the field, explaining how she became a volunteer.

"But there was just so much red tape to go through to get a job and I found there were many unmet needs that I could work on as a volunteer, so I decided to do that," she said.

"It doesn't pay as much," she smiled. "But I am able to do what I want to help, when I want to."

Mrs. Giffin has also found her work to be very rewarding and she said she has learned as much as the people she helps. One outgrowth of her activities with a group of blind citizens has been that they have started helping each other.

"Once they got to know each other, then they started sharing ideas about how to do things for themselves," she said. "They helped each other as much as I did."

Both women urged interested people to take time to find out about the volunteer program.

"There are so many things that could be done, if we had enough interested volunteers," Mrs. Giffin said.

"I wish more people would do it," Mrs. Roloff added. "It doesn't take that much time to help people.

"They're all such delightful people, it's a shame that no one cares about them," she said.

More than 60 Attend Annual Meeting

Hospital Elects Three Trustees

By FRAN MARTIN

Three directors were elected to the Charlevoix Area Hospital Board during the annual meeting recently.

Roy Bruneel of Boyne City was elected as a director to succeed Thomas Smith of Boyne City. Smith had served two terms on the board and did not run for re-election.

Max Novack and Thomas Carey were re-elected to three-year terms. Carey presently serves as president of the board.

In other business, E.D. Hawley, treasurer of the board of directors, told the more than 60 area residents who gathered at the community room of the City Hall for the meeting, that the hospital had finished its fiscal year in the black.

Hawley said the hospital concluded the year with $49,810 on the credit side of the ledger compared to $32,095 in 1975. He was quick to add, however, that the needs of the hospital far exceeded this amount.

Revenues for 1970 were listed as $1,773,952 as compared with $1,334,952 the year before while total expenditures were $1,733,640 for the year ending in June. Expenditures in 1975 were $1,330,278.

In his report, Richard Kreuger, administrator of the 44-bed hospital, said that the number of patients admitted showed a 16 percent increase or 1,739 while the days occupancy totaled 9,670 or 60 percent, an increase from 53 percent the year before. Outpatient and emergency patiens totaled 9,226, an increase of 30 percent.

A breakdown of occupancy in the various departments showed medical-surgical adult beds experienced a 70 percent occupancy; CCU (Coronary Care Unit), 47 percent; Obstetrics department, 30 percent and pediatrics department, 28 percent.

The average length of stay in the hospital here is 5.7 days compared to the state average of 7.2 days, Kreuger said.

He went on to list the equipment purchased during the year which cost $35,000 plus the cost of leasing various equipment at $12,000 for a total expenditure of $47,000 for equipment.

He went on to list the changes and proposed changes necessitated for more practical operation or to meet fire regulations. This includes replacing of glass in various areas plus installation of solid wood doors throughout the hospital; installation of bulk oxygen tank outside the building and piping it to the hospital and remodeling of the nurses station which no longer meets record needs.

He concluded his presentation with a list of equipment which must be purchased or replaced within the next 19 months. This included sterilizers for the Central Supply station at an estimated cost of $14,000; operating room equipment, $10,000; furniture for patients' rooms, $20,000 replacing that in use for many years. The needs in this area totaled $75,000.

Kreuger added, "You can see that the funds on hand that we ended the year with doesn't start to meet our needs."

He commended the many individuals and organizations that had supported the hospital with contributions and in other ways.

Mrs. Jeffrey Porter presented a report of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital and the many ways it supports the hospital.

Thomas Carey, president of the hospital board, also acknowledged the support given the hospital, mentioned briefly the growth of the hospital since the first annual meeting in 1919 and commented on the increasing cost of operating such a facility.

People Heading Back to the Woods -- To Participate in Firewood Program

Charlevoix County residents are flocking to the woods in greater numbers than ever this year.

According to William Mettig, forester with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), the thing that seems to be drawing people into the woods from their homes is the free firewood program operated by the state.

Mettig said so far this year, 202 people have applied for permits allowing them to take firewood from state lands throughout Charlevoix and Antrim counties. That's an increase of about 50 over the number of permits issued at this time last year, he said.

And 1975 was the best year ever for the firewood program. More than 250 permits were issued to residents last year, the forester said.

"People are using the wood for their fireplaces and to heat their homes," Mettig explained.

A salesman at Kit Carson Lumber Co. said the increase in the number of people seeking permits for free firewood coincided with the increase he was seeing in the sale of woodburning stoves.

"We've seen an increase in sales for the last three years," he said. "And this year sales are up again—about 50 percent over last year.

"People are definitely buying stoves that will heat their homes," the salesman continued. "They aren't getting the good looking ones, they're more interested in the cast iron ones that throw off a lot of heat."

Mettig said the wood available on state lands was very suitable for use in a fireplace or wood burning stove.

"We have an ongoing program where we thin the hardwoods, so in some places there are good sized trees down that the people can have."

Under the free firewood program, area residents are allowed to remove any wood from state lands that has been cut or blown down.

"People are not allowed to cut down any trees," Mettig explained. "But they can have all the wood that they find that has already been cut down."

Having people removed the wood for their own use aids the DNR in its forest management program and it represents a savings to the residents, too. At between $20 and $40 a cord for wood, all the free firewood you can get helps.

Mettig said he was not worried about the wood supply, even though more people than ever are applying for permits to remove it from state grounds.

"There's be more than enough wood to go around," the forester said. "We have timber programs on state land in both counties. We're always cutting wood."

The forester said the main areas where people can pick up wood are in Chandler and Boyne Valley townships and in the Jordan River Valley.

County residents can apply for permits at the DNR office in Boyne City.

Red Cross May Face Disaster If We Don't Help

It looks as though hard times have befallen all of us. Even the American Red Cross is having a hard time making ends meet.

Those disaster fighters are having a disaster of their own–a financial disaster that is. The problem is that there have been so many catastrophic events in the country this year, that the Red Cross has run-out-of funds before it ran out of days in what may be the most disasterous year in American history.

So far this year, the Red Cross has spent a staggering $35 million helping people pick themselves up after earthquakes, typhoons, tornadoes, floods and fires. They have fed, sheltered and cared for disaster victims in every state in the union and in such far flung places as Guam and Guatemala.

They have had a hand in helping people suffering from the rampages of large, well-publicized natural calamites and from calamites which didn't attract as much attention, but which still caused a lot of suffering for those involved.

And now the Red Cross is asking us to help them overcome their financial disaster. To offset this year's drain on the Red Cross resources, a nationwide special fund campaign has been launched to raise $10 million. The money is needed to the organization to face nature's future blows and the ensuing calls for relief from victims.

We depend upon the Red Cross to fulfill its obligations. Let's fulfill ours.

Give.

More Volunteerism Needed in Charlevoix

It takes a lot to be a volunteer–a lot of time, patience and a strong belief in your fellow man.

Four women–Jean Giffin and Shirley Roloff of Charlevoix, and Janet Walter and Lila Miller of East Jordan–were recently honored by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services for their outstanding voluntary contributions. More than 70 other people participating in the department's volunteer program were also thanked for the time they had donated to the project during a special luncheon.

And honored these women and 70 other people should be. It's hard to find a volunteer in these days when it seems like all people are concerned with is what they can do to make a buck. It's refreshing to know that these people were willing to help those who needed it most and to know that they were willing to help with no thought of reward to themselves.

There's something about the help that you get from a volunteer that seems more genuine, too. There's only so much a government program can do to help a person. And somehow that help always seems to be so boggled up in red tape and has an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. time limit set on it.

But with a volunteer the help seems to be genuine. It's a kind of person-to-person aid rather than program-to-program aid that can really get people back on their feet and moving in the right direction.

So congratulations to these volunteers for a job well done and a pat on the back to the Department of Social Services to call on the resources of the county to help get the job done.

Citizens Should Inform Officials About Bad Roads

Somebody will get killed there one of these days.

Have you ever thought that while driving in our county–or anywhere? The Automobile Club of Michigan (AAA) is urging motorists to drop them a note when they discover a dangerous place on the road so that the AAA traffic and safety engineering department can route that note to the proper governmental official to get the complaint checked out.

AAA is asking all motorists to do this with dangerous places they find along state highways. The Courier is urging all Charlevoix city and county residents to do the same thing with our own roads.

The next time you come across what you consider a bad curve, blind intersection or any other dangerous place on the road, call the city or county road officials and let them know. There are a lot of roads in the area and the officials may not be aware of certain dangerous situations.

And who knows, your feeling that someone might get killed at that spot may well be right. We have enough traffic deaths as it is. We should help each other and the road commission out.

Letters to the editor

Defends CIS

Dear Editor:

One can tell that is for sure another election year – with the barbs and brickbats flying once again with "character assassination" in mind by directing the voters attention hopefully toward personalities rather than the principles involved regarding school and local government financing.

The writers' vituperative remarks appearing in the Courier Hotline 9-22-76, who faded to sign his name, mentions that 2 years without change would be adequate for future study. This brings the real problem into full view as those concerned and interested parties have been studying for years how to raise our property valuation to generate more tax dollars for those privileged to be nourished at public expense.

Neff Supports Lasater

Dear Editor:

Since having an opportunity to analyze the results of the Primary Election in which George Lasater emerged as the Candidate for the Republican Party for the office of Sheriff in the General Election, I feel it is only fair to the electorate, including those who may have voted for the other candidates to have the benefit of recommendation in making their final choice of candidates.

Specifically, it is common knowledge that Sheriff Sumner is under-taking a write-in campaign as opposition candidate to George Lasater.

First, let me say that I support the candidacy of George Lasater for Sheriff of Charlevoix County. That decision takes into consideration a number of factors which I believe justify such support. Specifically, as I have studied the candidates and learned to know them through the rigors of a primary contest, I find that George Lasater has the basic qualifications to make a good Sheriff. He brings to the election a background in administrative skills through his work with the Probation Department, and prior to that, related educational fields.

I believe George Lasater to be conservative in his approach to the Sheriff's office in its budget, and management policies; yet, at the same time through his administrative ability in establishing an efficiently run department, will afford all of the residents of Charlevoix County strong, vigorous law enforcement.

On that basis, on Election day, I would ask that those who have supported me, and for those constituents who yet may be undecided, to give every consideration to casting their vote for George Lasater as their ballot-box statement for strong, effective, local law enforcement.

Sincerely,
Bob Neff

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

[Editor's Note: Bob Clock is sick this week. The following are exerpts from an old column that is still timely.

If you have enjoyed the battle royal between the home folks in Michigan and the big shots in the Pentagon who want to bury a waffle iron in the Upper Peninsula, hang onto your hats.

The upcoming fisticuffs over the burial of atomic garbage in salt beds under Alpena will make the Seafarer controversy look like a game of tiddlywinks.

For long years, many of us have realized that the nation's nuclear plants are producing a deadly by-product – plutonium – which has a half-life of something like 500,000 years, give or take a millenium or two.

This means that our growing stockpile of rotting plutonium must be placed forever under lock and key, far from the avenues of human commerce, preferably with an armed guard at the gate.

The stuff is so deadly that a teacupful in the hands of the wrong people could snuff out life on earth as we know it.

Despite such dire knowledge, our power-hungry utilities keep building nuclear plants and planning more, without a second thought as to the awful custudial responsibility they are placing upon our progeny for generations without end.

To its credit, the federal government realizes it has a problem on its hands. But instead of ordering a halt to nuclear expansion until the waste disposal problem is solved, it is looking for a "safe" place to dump its ugly refuse.

And salt beds – such as those found under most of Michigan – seem to meet most of the requirements. This month, scientists working with the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), hope to begin exploratory boring on a tract of land 10 miles west of Alpena in search of a disposal site.

Of course, there is an outside chance that the Alpena site would prove O.K. for nuclear waste disposal. But it appears from here that the chances of contaminating Michigan's substrata are far greater.

How do we know that in a thousand years this atomic poison won't leach into our ground later and turn the Great Lakes into vast stygian seas, lethal to all forms of life?

How do we know that the Great Earthquake of 2003 won't fracture the deadly atumic vaults, exposing the human race to sure and swift extinction?

The best answer would be an all-out effort by the scientific community to find a simple, economical way to neutralize and render harmless our atomic garbage.

Until this is done, we shouldn't allow one more ounce of plutonium to be created, even if it means putting up the shutters on our nuclear power plants.

Sweeping radioactive dust under the green carpet of Alpena County is not the answer to the nuclear waste disposal problem, just as the Seafarer grid is a lousy way to say goodbye to Planet Earth.

Bright-eyed Optimists Bug Erma

If there's anything I can't stand it's being around people who are optimistic about everything.

When I'm ready to drown in a pool of self-pity, I don't want anyone throwing me a sanctimonious line.

As I told a well-meaning friend the other day, "I walked by the mirror today and said, 'Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?'"

"What did it say?" Esther asked.

"I don't have to listen to language like that."

"At least you've got your health," said Esther.

"No one should be this healthy. Do you realize I've only got two dresses I can squeeze into?"

"You can only wear one dress at a time," she smiled stoicly.

"That's the point, turkey, I may have to start wearing both of them at the same time."

"Waste not, want not," she said.

"You know the trouble with me? I'm too cheap to throw anything away. I clean up the kids' plates like a suction nozzle on the sweeper. I don't have a mouth. I have a trunk."

"A woman never stands so tall as when she stoops to eat a crumbled cookie."

"Where did you hear that?"

"In the Bible, I think."

"Mayva said the other day I wasn't obese, I just had a lot of fat that didn't fit."

"Consider the source."

"I am considering the source, Esther. The mouth of the Nile should have such a source. Does it bother you the way Mary Tyler Moore stands around with both hands on her hips? You just know they can span her waist."

"Yes, but is she happy?"

"If she isn't, I never want to smile again. I could be a size 5 if I wanted to. If I could just stop rewarding myself for answering the phone and bringing in the milk."

"Rome wasn't built in a day," she smiled charitably.

"It's your fault I'm fat!" I charged. "You and your platitudes."

"Well, maybe you could lose a few pounds."

"Boy, Esther, I never figured you for a mean mouth."

If it Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

Liberty--Or a free lunch

State gambling czar Gus Harrison is making me feel unpatriotic.

A patriotic citizen votes. Harrison has wrapped his newest lottery game in the flag of good citizenship.

If you buy a lottery ticket, you will help get the vote out for November's presidential election. If you don't buy a ticket, you'll have only yourself to blame when Sonny Bono is elected president.

I have never bought a Michigan lottery ticket and I don't intend to start now, even at the risk of being deported to Ohio.

It is not unusual for me to be Michigan's only resident who has never purchased a state lottery ticket. I am always not doing things that everyone else is doing. And I always have a good reason no matter what you think.

For instance, I've never been snowmobiling. I've always believed snow is God's way of punishing people for being idiots. Which proves again that God is just. Only idiots go out into the snow unless the house is on fire.

I have never driven a motorcycle. Motorcycles are God's way of punishing snowmoble owners in the summer.

Long ago, after giving it a fair trial, I quit playing bridge. The good players are too quarrelsome and the bad players would rather play poker anyway, so shut up and deal.

I never watch animal acts where the trainers slips the animal a bunk of food after it successfully performs some dumb trick. If the bear doesn't feel like standing on his head, is he starved until he changes his mind?

I never go camping. If God had intended people to live outdoors, He would not have created mortgages.

I could never fish or hunt for sport. I can't escape the guilty thought that animals can also say: "Ouch, that hurts!" At least the cow is dead before I bite the hamburger.

You get the idea. As for the state lottery, I abstain in protest against legalized hypocrisy.

My state says it is against the law for me to purchase a raffle ticket to help buy furniture for my golf club. But it is legal for me to buy a raffle ticket to help Michigan finance a football stadium for the Detroit Lions. Phew.

For about four years now I have successfully rebuffed the lottery agents who peddle tickets wherever money is used. Bartenders and bankers have urged me to take my change in lottery tickets and I have refused without a twinge of conscience. In fact, I felt righteous. After all, Mother raised me to believe gambling is wrong, especially when the odds are so lousy.

But now Czar Harrison has rubbed up a new instant lottery game with the big payoff based on how many votes are cast in Michigan for the next president. The winner will get $1 per vote.

And when I tell the checkout girl I don't want any tickets, she will probably tell me to go live in Russia if I don't believe in freedom.

Gus' advertising posters say "Get out and vote" and "Every vote counts." The 60 million tickets feature the full-color faces of 35 former presidents. Richard Nixon's face was not included for fear of making Abraham Lincoln throw up.

When you buy 10 of these tickets at once the agent will sing "Hail to the Chief" and the Michigan flag will automatically spring out of his [illegible] register.

If you refuse to buy, a state trooper will be summoned to rub on your back until proof of your citizenship can be seen through your shirt.

Some 120,000 persons whose tickets read "finalist" in all six boxes will become eligible for the grand prize, which will be at least $1.25 million and could reach $2 million.

These 120,000 finalists will know, weeks before the election, that the size of their possible prize depends upon how many people vote. The finalists will be mobilized into platoons and stationed near election booths throughout the state.

They will sing patriotic songs and reenact dramatic moments in American history, such as the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Their purpose will be to remind everyone that it is a privilege to vote, and this privilege must be exercised if this nation is to remain free, and if the lottery prize is to reach $2 million.

The important thing is that Czar Harrison's new lottery will remind each citizen of the value of his vote - $1.

No one ever said it wasn't patriotic to be greedy. Give me liberty or give me a free lunch.

Meet Charlevoix

...Bob Burns

BOB BURNS enjoys his Charlevoix home and the animals sorrounding it. It is not unusual to see him with a chickadee or two on his fingers.

Robert C. Burns is typical of many Charlevoix area retirees - a local boy who left to make his way in the big city and returned to enjoy his retirement days in the land of his boyhood. This week the Courier talks with Burns about a number of things, past and present.

COURIER: Were you born in Charlevoix?

BURNS: Yes, but we moved to the farm on Oyster Bay in 1907.

COURIER: Where did you go to school?

BURNS: I started at the old Hopyard School on Susan Lake. Then I went to Charlevoix schools and graduated from High School in 1921. There were 29 graduates in that class and seven of them still live here.

COURIER: Who are they?

BURNS: Annabel Comfort, Katherine Fitch, Edward Hammond (in East Jordan), Mildred Howe Shapton, Ruth Solomon Withers, Helen Webster Paddock, and myself.

COURIER: Is your present home here on Oyster Bay part of your father's farm.

BURNS: Yes, he bought 80 acres with 2,000 feet of shoreline for $1,200. I am the fourth owner of the land since it was opened for settlement in 1875.

COURIER: What did you do after high school?

BURNS: I went to Olivet College, where I met my wife, the former Margaret Schrandt. While at Olivet I took a year off and worked my way around the world. Then I went to the University of Michigan and received a Master's degree in psychology. I also took some law courses there. Later I went to the Detroit College of Law and received L.L.B. and J.D. degrees.

COURIER: What about your professional career?

BURNS: I got caught up in the depression and became Superintendent of Schools in Farmington. Then I went to the Detroit school system, where I served as an administrator, did testing, and acted as chief disciplinarian. During this time I also practiced law and sold real estate.

COURIER: When did you retire?

BURNS: In 1965, to devote full time to practicing law. We moved back here in 1968.

COURIER: What prompted you to return to the Charlevoix area to live?

BURNS: We've always loved it here, spent our summers here. Also, all our friends are here–the deer, rabbits, coons, Johnny the muskrat, cardinals, chickadees, blue jays, all of them.

COURIER: What are some of your early memories of the area?

BURNS: I remember Susan Greensky, the widow of Peter Greensky, for whom Greensky Hill and Church were named. Susan Lake was named for her. She used to trade baskets with my mother for fruits and vegetables. We still have one of her baskets. I remember how frightened the Indian ponies were of automobiles when they first came in. I remember when we moved here in 1907 Cooper's Shingle and saw Mill was across the Bay. There were no other buildings. I remember the ship Mullen sinking in the Bay in 1908. It had been tied up over the weekend waiting to be loaded with lumber. I remember looking into the Bay and seeing many other ships that had been brought there to be scuttled. I remember my father telling about helping to dig the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix and how the level of Lake Charlevoix went down six feet when the channel was completed. I remember that my grandfather's name was Barnard Burns and that Barnard Road was named for him. The property that Barnard Church is on was given to the church by my uncle William Burns.

COURIER: What do you do now that you're retired?

BURNS: I still practice some probate and real estate law. I like to shoot targets with muzzle-loading guns, garden, and walk in the woods and observe nature. I also like to travel. I've been in every country except Australia. We take a trip every year since I retired. Our last one was to the Soviet Union.

COURIER: What organizations do you belong to?

BURNS: The Shrine, Kiwanis Club, Historical Society and Congregational Church. I'm a past lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Club and chief driller of trees for the Kiwanis maple syrup project.

Robert C. Borns

COURIER: What about your family?

BURNS: We have three children. Our daughter Sylvia teaches home economics in Traverse City, our son Robert is married, has two children and lives in White Bear Lake, Minnesota, and our son David is married, has one child and lives in Algonac.

Paula Holmes...

...Speaking Her Mind

I'm not sure who won the great debate between Presidential Candidates Jimmy Carter and Jerry Ford that was aired over national TV and radio networks last week. But I can tell you who lost–the American people.

The debate was great! The verbal skills of both men were adequately displayed as Carter and Ford each scored points by getting in their digs at each other's weakest spots. And both men presented very convincing outlines of their programs with very well documented arguments.

In fact, the arguments were loaded with figures and statistics. The only problem was that those facts and figures about the very same problem were conflicting. And woe be it to any common American citizen to figure out who was right–if either man was.

I'm not saying that we shouldn't have had the debate. I think it was a wonderful thing the League of Women Voters did when they offered to sponsor the debates and to help the American citizens become more informed about their choices. It's just that the American citizenry has been hoodwinked.

We've been hoodwinked into thinking that these great debates are going to determine for us who really should be President. But, so far all they have determined is that both men know how to use the resources around them to present information that the common voter would have no way of knowing if it was correct.

We don't have top financial advisers at our dispoal to let us know if the tax facts presented were truth or fiction. So what do we poor common citizens have left to us? Judgment of those men based on their personalities and very few validated facts.

And when it comes down to that, we're the big losers in the great debate.

Unknown Library Board Does A Lot of Work for County

By PEG OHLE

Perhaps the least known unit of county government is the County Library Board.

This five-person board works with a budget of slightly over $5,000 derived from penal fines allocated by the State, and from funds provided by the county ($900 annually), the Village of Boyne Falls, and the Townships of Boyne Valley, Melrose and Hudson.

These monies go to support three community libraries, those in Boyne Falls, Melrose Township, and on Beaver Island. They are not large libraries such as the one in Charlevoix. The Boyne Falls library is located in the Village Hall, the one in Melrose Township in the Fire Hall, and the one on Beaver Island in the school.

The County Library Board has been in existence for about 10 years. It annually sets the budget for each of the three community libraries, allocates the penal fines, and contracts with the Northland Library Service in Alpena for books on a rotating basis.

Because of the small budgets, every expense, no matter how small, is carefully considered by each library.

"The putting up of one book shelf can be a matter of much thought," says Mrs. Betty Potter of Charlevoix who serves on the Library Board.

Joseph Schwem of Boyne Falls, chairman of the Board, says that from a generation of non-readers "we are getting a new generation who can and do read. A library provides a means of economic, social and cultural growth."

Members of the County Library Board are appointed by the County Commissioners. Those presently serving, besides Mrs. Potter and Schwem, are William Granel of East Jordan, Mrs. Ann Thurston of Boyne City, and Mrs. Marcelyn Hamlin of Walloon Lake.

Photographer Receives Award for Display

The Professional Photographers of America have announced that Jerry Martinchek of Martinchek Studio of Petoskey has been awarded the blue ribbon "Award of Excellence" for his entry in the associations' national Promotional Exhibit competition.

Promotional entries consist of a studio's letterheads, mailing pieces and price lists or brochures as well as samples of its newspaper and telephone directory advertisements. The national level judging was conducted by a panel of Master of Photographic Craftsmen.

This is the second Award of Excellence the local studio's entry has earned. Martinchek's display was judged Best in State.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagner

Judith Hamilton, Robert Wagner Wed

Judith Ann Hamilton of Charlevoix and Robert J. Wagner, Jr., of Cheyenne, Wyo., exchonged their wedding vows in a ceremony solemnized at St. Francis Xovier church in Petoskey Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. Fr. Andrew Lewandowski officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more thon 150 guests. Arrangements of white gladioli and blue and melon miniature carnations and baby's breath graced the altar. Prof. August Huybrechts, at the organ, played a program of troditional music and the wedding march and accompanied Mrs. Wayne Woods who sang "We've Only Just Begun", "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Donna Hamilton and Robert S. Hamilton of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wagner, Sr., of Petoskey.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Paul E. Cavanagh of Lake City. For her wedding she chose a gown of champagne chiffon over taffeta fashioned with an Alencon lace and seedpearl-trimmed yoke and chapel length train. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from o matching lace and seedpearl trimmed cap. She corried a nosegay bouquet of ivory roses, blue and melon carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Daniel Blechel of Pittsburgh, Pa., served as matron of honor and Peggy Schuch as bridesmaid. Mrs. Blechel wore a sleeveless A-line gown of melon crepe and o matching flowered chiffon cape. Miss Schuch wore an identicol gown in blue crepe and a matching flowered chiffon cape. They carried nosegay bouquets of blue and melon carnations and baby's breath.

Corey Flinn of Detroit assisted his cousin as best man. Scott Wagner of Petoskey, brother of the bridegroom, and Douglas Hord of Portage, cousin of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Hamilton selected a sheath of blue flowered chiffon over taffeta and a matching chiffon coat for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Wagner, mother of the bridegroom, wore a two piece cowl neck brown ensemble with a brown peacock print jacket.

A reception, hosted by the bride's mother, followed at the Grey Gables Inn. Anne Cavanagh of Kettering, Ohio, and Wendy Hord of Portage, cousins of the bride, ossisted.

After a wedding trip through the west, the couple will be at home at 816 South Greely Highway, Cheyenne, Wyoming, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

The bride received an Associate Degree in Business from North Central Michigan College.

Wedding guests were present from Ohio, Pennsylvania and several Michigan cities.

On Friday evening the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, Sr., hosted a rehearsal dinner at Juilleret's of Petoskey.

Rayders Surrender to Cheboygan After Fierce Battle

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

The Charlevoix Rayders carried the unbeaten Cheboygan Chiefs right down to the wire Friday night before bowing, 6-0, in the Michigan Huron Shores Conference opener for both teams.

The Rayders defense has allowed just one touchdown per game in its 1976 schedule, yet they find themselves with a one and two record.

On the other hand, the offense has been able to generate only two touchdowns in those three games.

Friday night the Chiefs received the opening kickoff as Ken Marr returned the ball to his own 35 yard line. With fullback Scott Perry doing most of the work, the Chiefs moved the ball to midfield before the Rayder defense stalled the drive.

Charlevoix got a break on the subsequent punt when the ball sailed over the Cheboygan punters head and the kick was blocked.

After taking over on the Cheboygun 45-yard line, an illegal procedural penalty, two short gains into the line and an incomplete pass, Charlevoix was forced to punt.

The Chiefs then handed the ball right back to the Rayders as they fumbled inside their own 10-yard line.

Again, two plunges into the line and an incomplete pass failed to gain any ground for the Rayders. The Cheboygan defense then broke through to block an attempted field goal by Conrad Klooster.

Charlevoix was not able to generate any form of offense during the remainder of the first half.

Cheboygan opened the second period by punting to Charlevoix on the 40-yard line. Four plays later the Rayders punted back.

Brian Williams then intercepted a Bill Newman pass, but the Rayders could not move offensively.

Perry took charge of the Chiefs offense and moved the ball down to Charlevoix's 16-yard line in three carries. The Chiefs' scoring drive ended on the next play when Perry fumbled on the three-yard line.

The Chiefs came right back after Charlevoix's next possession, again behind the hard running of Perry to finally punch across a touchdown with 1:42 remaining in the half.

A run by quarterback Newman for the extra point failed. Score at halftime: 6-0.

The Rayders received the second half kickoff and with senior halfback Ed Mann in the line up for the first time, started to move the ball offensively.

Defense took over in the third quarter and neither team could sustain a drive of more than one first down.

Much of the offensive steam of in the quarter was cooled by a flurry of yellow penalty flags thrown by the officials.

The Rayders, aided by several long penalties, finally got their offense untracked late in the final quarter.

With less than 1:30 on the clock, Charlevoix faced a fourth down and five situation on the Chiefs 25 yard line. Mann got the first down with inches to spare as he carried to inside the 20.

The Rayders called time out with 1:13 on the clock following a short gain by Mann. Several plays later and with less than a minute on the clock, the Rayders faced another fourth down situation.

A clutch catch by Matt Doan off a Brian Williams pass gave the Rayders a first down inside the 10-yard line.

Lee Begrow fought his way to the six-yard line as the Cheboygun defenders fought desperately to keep their goal line unspoiled.

Charlevoix coach Don Carey then called the Rayders' last time out to map strategy for the last couple of plays in the game.

Ed Mann struggled forward for three yards as the large partisan crowd cheered the Rayders on.

An incomplete pass stopped the clock with four seconds remaining. A last ditch desperation pass attempt by Williams was smothered by the Chiefs' defenders as the gun sounded.

Cheboygan, who had shut out Class A opponent Sault Ste. Marie a week ago, returned home with their record unblemished and their goal untouched. Yet, they must consider themselves lucky to get out of Charlevoix with that untainted record.

Charlevoix, handed two breaks early in the ball game, was kept in the ball game thanks in large part to a fine defensive effort by all hands.

The appearance of Mann in the second half gave the Rayder offense some spark, but unfortunately the officials "rule book" and the clock proved to be the Rayders' undoing.

Friday, the Rayders will host Grayling at Kipke Field.

Patriots Continue On Top In Flag Football Contests

The Patriots posted their second win of the season Saturday with a 41-12 victory over the Bears while the Bucaneers and the Cowboys moved into the win column for the first time with 6-0 and 26-0 victories over the Vikings and the Rams, respectively.

BEARS 12

Jeff Drury led the Patriots attack against the Bears as he scored on touchdowns of 22, 35, one and 10 yards and passed 22 yards to Craig Klooster for a fifth touchdown. Ken Speigl added a sixth scoring play on a 22 yard run. Rich Georgl and Drury scored two conversions and Speigl one for the Patroits' 41 points.

Two touchdown passes by Joe Sladek prevented a shutout for the Bears. The first was for 20 yards to Mike Bartz and the second to Dave Herbolsheimer for 30. Both were scored in the second period.

BUCANEERS 8
VIKINGS 0

A fourth quarter touchdown pass for 24 yards from Dave Milligan to Eric Fiedler gave the Bucaneers their 8-0 win over the Vikings after Darin Podskalny had put his team on the scoreboard with a safety in the third period.

COWBOYS 26 RAMS 0

The Cowboys posted their first win of the young season by scoring in each period against the Rams.

Soctt Kelly scored in the first two quarters on runs of 20 and two yards and Paul Hoffman passed 12 yards to Ross Carey for the third six-pointer of the game. Kelly and Carey scored two P.A.T.'s and Hoffman scored two safeties and Jim Buchanan one.

This week's action in the Senior League will find the Patriots meeting the Bucaneers at 11:30 a.m.; the Rams and the Vikings clashing at 12:45 and the Cowboys and the Bears meeting at 2 p.m.

The Steelers moved into the lead in the Junior division of the flag football program with a 21-6 win over the Dolphins. In the second game played Saturday, the Cowboys blanked the Rams 13-0.

In this Saturday's action, the Rams will play the Dolphins at 9 a.m. and the Steelers will meet the Cowboys at 10:15 a.m.

DOLPHINS 6

In a game marked by the defensive action early in the meeting, Lance Stevens scored the Steelers first TD late in the second period on a 28 yard run to give his team a 6-0 halftime lead.

Jeff Lamerand scored a safety in the third period but it wasn't until the last period that the Steelers got rolling and scored two more times. Chris Putman scored on a five yard run with Tony Towsley adding the conversion and Thas Morgan on a 34 yard romp to close out the scoring.

The Dolphins single TD came late in the game on a 30 yard kick off return by A.J. Whitthdeft.

COWBOYS 13 RAMS 0

Jim O'Neill scored the Cowboys first touchdown of the game on a 13 yard pass from Dane Tollas and Tim LaBlance added the P.A.T. to put the Cowboys ahead 7-0 at halftime.

Dean LaBlance, on a one-yard plunge, closed out the Cowboy scoring as the victors held the Rams scoreless.

JV Downs Cheboygan 20-6

The Charlevoix JV's defeated their Cheboygan counterpart by a score of 20-6 in a hard fought battle on the Chief's field Thursday night.

The first period of the game was scoreless but in the second quarter Barney Way rolled to the right and hit Pat Schmidt for a five-yard TD pass to give the young Rayders a 6-0 lead after the conversion failed. In the last minute of the half, the Rayders climaxed a 50 yard drive with a scoring pass from Way to Schmidt for short yardage. Way passed to Rich Russell for the extra point for a 14-0 lead as the half ended.

The second half opened with Charlevoix in charge of the defense as they held Cheboygan scoreless. The Rayders changed quarterbacks in the third period as Gilbert Noirot drove over the final yard of a 70 yard march. The conversion failed and Charlevoix led 20-0.

Cheboygan scored in the final period on a one-yard dive but the Rayder defense stood fast and the young Chiefs were held to six points.

The Charlevoix defense did an outstanding job led by Craig Boss who had 15 tackles.

Charlevoix will host Grayling at Kipke field at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Organizational Meeting Set For Winter Recreation Programs

Organizational meetings for the Charlevoix Recreation Department-sponsored winter court sports have been scheduled for next week by Dwight Boss, City recreation director.

Coaches, managers and any other group wanting to get a team in the Independent Basketball League are asked to attend a meeting at the Recreation Department office in the city hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 5. With the leagues to be organized and schedules set up for the opening of the season early in November, it is important that all entrants send representatives to Tuesday's meeting. The Topside in the defending champion in the Class A League and LaBlance Insurance in the Class B League.

Volleyball leagues will be organized at the same time, 7 p.m. at the city hall on Thursday, Oct. 7. Again, Boss urged that all team representatives attend the meeting, to make plans for the forthcoming season.

Drenth Sets Course Record At Cross Country Tri-Meet

Wally Drenth veteran Cross Countryman, set a new course record with a time of 16:12 in a triangular Cross Country meet held at Cheboygan Tuesday.

In the meet Charlevoix beat Grayling 23-33, while losing to St. Ignace by one point, 27-28. St. Ignace also beat Grayling 21-34.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey next week.

Benefit Set For Beaver Islanders

The Bicentennial Year Beaver Island Caper will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wyoming on Saturday, Oct. 9, according to Mrs. Brian Gallagher of Wyoming.

Sponsored by the Beaver Island Club of Grand Rapids the group annually holds a benefit party with the proceeds going to projects on Beaver Island. This year's proceeds are going toward a carillon at Holy Cross Church on the island.

The party offers an evening of dancing with live music and entertainment from 8:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m., with a buffet lunch at approximately 10:30 p.m.

The site of the party will be 5830 Clyde Park ave. SW in Wyoming.

OLDSMOBILE 1977
MORE THAN JUST BETTER CARS
THEY'RE BETTER OLDSMOBILES

In our search for a new measure of excellence, we've strived to make every Olds a better Olds for 1977. Our new Ninety-Eights and Delta 88s are more space-efficient, more weight-efficient and fuel-efficient than last year. (EPA test results below are estimates, your mileage depends on how you drive, your car's condition and its equipment. California EPA estimates are lower.)

There's lots more, too. Redesigned Rocket V8s ... beautiful new interiors in many models ... a new Cutlass Supreme Brougham 4-door with a luxurious 98 Regency-type interior ... a new Toronado XSR so dramatic in design it causes excitement wherever it is seen. So read our news, then visit your Olds dealer. He's got the Olds that fits your needs and lifestyle!

Oldsmobile
CAN WE BUILD ONE FOR YOU?

98 Regency. A remarkable new kind of luxury.
Only a completely new car could do everything a luxury car must do in 1977. So here's the room, comfort and splendid luxury you expect in a Regency ... plus the unexpected luxury of good gas mileage: an estimated 21 mpg in the EPA highway test, 16 mpg in the city test, with the standard Rocket 350 V8! You've got to experience its driving ease to believe it!

Delta 88 Royale. New idea in family cars.
Now you don't have to sacrifice the room, the comfort, and the great ride you want ... to get the kind of good gas mileage you need! There's new headroom and legroom in the rear, new suspension systems for the smooth, big car ride you like. Yet Delta 88 mileage is dramatically improved: 23 mpg, highway, 17 mpg, city test, with available Rocket 260 V8.

Which kind of Cutlass is the right Cutlass for you?

Salon: The "grand touring" Cutlass. With 260 V8, 5-speed transmission, 2.73 axle, EPA estimates are: 26 mpg, highway; 17 mpg, city. Hatch roof available.

4-4-2: The legend lives on! Bold, sporty looks. FE2 rallye suspension. EPA estimates with available 260 V8, 5 speed transmission, 2.73 axle: 27 mpg, highway test. 17 mpg, city.

Cutlass S: Classy Cutlass look, ride, and comfort in the lowest priced Cutlass of all! Plus an EPA highway rating of 26 mpg, 16 mpg, city, with standard 231 V6 engine and manual transmission.

Supreme Brougham: Big-car luxury interior, practical size in coupe or new sedan! EPA estimates: 25 mpg, highway; 18 mpg city, with 231 V6 available automatic, 2.73 axle.

Toronado XSR. New concept in personal luxury cars.
Twin sliding roof panels, wraparound rear window, a new classic look. New Rocket 403 V8 with computerized MISAR electronic spark timing. EPA estimates: 19 mpg, highway; 13 mpg, city.

Starfire GT. The joy of driving is alive and well!
See what's in Starfire with the available GT package: buckets, floor-shifter, tach and gauges, GT stripes, rallye wheels—and more! EPA estimates with available 231 V6, 5-speed transmission, 2.56 axle: 34 mpg, highway; 19 mpg, city. Sensational!

Omega Brougham. Economical answer to expensive European sedans.
Our impressive import fighter. Roomy, luxurious-feeling inside, compact, maneuverable on the road. The affordable alternative! EPA estimates: 27 mpg, highway; 16 mpg, city, with standard 231 V6 engine and manual transmission.

WHEREAS, the packaging and marketing of consumer products has resulted in an ever-mounting increase in the mass of material discarded by the residents within our jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, nonreturnable beverage containers are a major portion of this packaging explosion, and contribute to a large extent to the solid waste load; and

WHEREAS, these throwaway beverage containers in fact encourage litter to be deposited by the streets and parks because they have no deposit; and

WHEREAS, the cost to this body to pick up and dispose of both the regular household garbage and litter is considerable; and

WHEREAS, these containers also represent a waste of this country's finite energy resources and our finite natural resources, in addition to the limitations of our annual budget; and

WHEREAS, we believe that this matter of curbing the sale of throwaway containers can best be handled by statewide legislation in order to avoid inequities to individual areas;

RESOLVED, that Charlevoix County Voters be urged to support the ballot proposal which would require minimum deposits upon beverage containers of at least ten cents; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this body express through all available means its support of minimum five cent beverage container deposits at the state level.

Respectfully submitted: Commissioner Ward, Paul, McKinnon and Florenski.
VOTE: Yeas, 14. Nays, none. Absent, Commissioner Fulkerson, 1. Resolution Carried.

RESOLUTION - AERIAL PHOTO MAPS

Moved by Commissioner Ingalls and supported by Commissioner Smith that the following resolution be adopted:

Mr. Robert A. Walter, Forest Technician from the Boyne City office of the Department of Natural Resources has requested permission from the County Commissioners to procure the 1938 aerial photo flight now located in the County Equalization Department.

The Equalization Committee was in agreement that due to the fact the Equalization Department does not utilize these photos, as they are of a very small scale and the flight is in the year 1938, the photos could be housed at the Boyne City branch of the Department of Natural Resources with the stipulation that should the County ever need the aerial photos, they would be returned.

Respectfully submitted by: Commissioners Ingalls and Smith.
VOTE: Yeas, 14. Nays, none. Absent, Commissioner Fulkerson, 1. Resolution Carried.

Moved by Commissioner Riehardson and supported by Commissioner Harmon that the report on the rules of the Charlevoix County Humane Society be accepted. Motion Carried. Report placed on file.

RESOLUTION - HUMANE SOCIETY CONTRACT

WHEREAS, the Committee to draft a contract between the Humane Society and the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for the operation of the animal shelter has met and considered the problems and potential operational rules; and

WHEREAS, the Committee has reported to the County Board at their September 8, 1976 regular meeting; and

WHEREAS, the Board has accepted this committee report;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Problem statement and contract be submitted to the Humane Society for their evaluation and input; and

FURTHER, BE IT RESOLVED that the Humane Society be instructed to return same to the Board Committee in time for final submittal to the Board of Commissioners during their regular October session.

Respectfully submitted by: Sheriff's Committee, Commissioners Richardson, Meggison, Milstein and Harmon.
VOTE: Yeas, 12. Nays, none. Absent, 3. Resolution Carried.

Moved by Commissioner Paul and supported by Commissioner McKinnon that Commissioner Meggison be appointed as Representative and Clarence F. Rabach-Alternate to represent the Employer at the M.E.R.S. Motion Carried.

It was also decided that the Clerk will make the reservations.

The next meeting of the Board of Commissioners will be held September 24,1976 on Beaver Island

CLARENCE F. RABACH, CLERK CLYDE CUNNINGHAM, CHAIRMAN

CHARLEVOIX MARCHING Band Flag Corps made its debut Friday night.

Rayder Band Travels to Harbor For Regional Symposium Saturday

The Charlevoix Rayder Marching Band, directed by Gary L. Stutzman, will be among the eight northern Michigan bands to participate in the MESBOA District II Band Symposium at Harbor Springs on Saturday. The event will be held at the Ottawa Stadium.

According to Stutzman, chairman of the second annual event, the symposium will begin at 9 a.m. with each band appearing before clinicians, Jerry Michelson, director of the marching band, and Greg Robinson, assistant marching band director, at Northern Michigan University. The clinicians will review each band and, following each performance, will work with each group and offer suggestions for improvement.

"The symposium is meant to be a learning experience for the bands rather than a competitive event. Band members will be learning not only from their experience as a member of a marching group but by watching the performances of other bands. We feel it is an excellent way to improve the calibre of our bands in District II," Stutzman commented.

Each band will be allowed 25 minutes.

Following the day-long symposium, the bands will appear in full uniform and each will perform during the program scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. If weather conditions permit, there may be a parade from the school to the stadium.

Bands that will be appearing at the symposium and the evening program will be those from Petoskey, East Jordan, Gaylord, Forest Area Community School, Harbor Springs, Charlevoix, Mancelona and Grayling. Stutzman said others may enter before the deadline later this week.

Persons planning to attend the event are to park and enter the stadium from the highway level.

There will be a charge of $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Harold Fisher of Suttons Bay is the president of District II.

70 Serve School District in Variety of Positions

Noncertified Personnel Increasing

As the enrollment in the Charlevoix Public Schools has grown, the number of residents in the school district increased and the program expanded, the number of noncertified personnel has increased to more than 70 serving in a variety of positions.

Beginning at the Central Office the list includes the following: Judy Potter, bookkeeper; Lillian Carr, secretary; Diane Himbaugh, clerk-typist.

The transportation staff is composed of Theodore Heeres, supervisor, Angel Bearss, Ray Browe, Harold DeYoung, Lawrence Hull, Beverly Sladek, Albert Thorpe, Peg Thorpe, Temple Wiles, Cordon Wolgamott, John Murawski, John Golovich, Eldon Potter and George Tompkins.

Tutor Children Who Need Extra Help

Volunteers Needed for Elementary School

By PEG OHLE

People who have time to give to help Elementary School children keep up with their classmates are needed for the school's volunteer Tutoring Program.

Now in its second year, the program provides tutoring on a one-to-one basis for those who are having trouble with the basics of mathematics and reading.

The children are selected for special help on the basis of achievement tests and teacher recommendations. Each child is tutored one-half hour a week in one or both subjects, always by the same volunteer so that a good personal relationship can be established between the student and the volunteer teacher.

Every interested person is invited to participate in the volunteer program – men and women of all ages who enjoy working with children. The time commitment is two continuous hours a week, during which they work with four different students.

Volunteers do not plan the students' programs. This is done by Mrs. Betty Potter, head of the school's Resource Center, in coordination with the teachers. Volunteers are given a packet of materials especially prepared for each child at each session.

Last year there were some 35 people in the Volunteer Tutoring Program and it is hoped there will be more this year. Charles Wright, aide to Principal Ralph Raymer, is in charge of the program. He asks that people wanting to participate call him at the school.

Wright also says that later in the year there will be an incentive program for gifted children, those who are able to do work above their age and class standards and need help in attaining higher goals.

Wright's job is funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

SENIORS Mary Wolf, DeEtta Smith and Theresa Russel are all smiles as they think about graduation.

School Could Improve, However

Seniors Think They're Prepared

Classes may be just beginning in the Charlevoix School District, but many seniors are looking toward the end of the school year and what the future holds for them.

When June rolls around in what will turn out to be just nine short months, the seniors will be graduated and out on their own. Will school have prepared them for independence? The Courier interviewed seven seniors this week to find out what they think.

In general, the students felt they would be prepared when they graduated from high school. However, several of the students felt they could have been better prepared to continue their education or to begin their careers.

Both Brian Williams and Greg Grubaugh were satisfied with their high school education. They both felt the information needed for their chosen fields has been presented in classes at the high school.

Williams is planning to continue his education at a university and eventually would like to become a dentist. Grubaugh is also planning to go to college and study either law enforcement or perhaps athletic training.

Theresa Russell, however, disagreed with her classmates..

"I don't think that school has prepared me at all," the senior said. "I want to have a career as a medical assistant and work in a doctor's office.

"In order to do that, I will have to know shorthand and how to use a dictaphone," she explained. "Those are basic skills and two common things that you need for office work.

"We don't have any classes on those subjects here," she said.

Miss Russell said she would probably have to take the courses when she goes to Northwestern Michigan Community College next fall.

"But I would be that much further ahead if I had taken those courses in high school," she said.

The student is getting some background in nursing, however, by attending health care classes in Petoskey with two other Charlevoix classmates as tuition students.

Mary Wolf, a senior who plans to study nursing after she graduates, also felt the high school could have prepared her more.

"I think we should have an advanced chemistry class," Miss Wolf said. "There are a lot of students in this school interested in medicine and I'm sure we could have filled up a section."

The student has had some help from the school in getting advanced math courses. When she transfered into the district she was ahead in math, so this year she is attending North Central Michigan College for her math class.

Miss Wolf said she appreciated the extra help her counselor and Principal Vane Smith had given her to help her become more prepared in the math area. She added that she hoped more students would be allowed to take community college courses.

Jeff Shelto and Ed Mann also put a word in for the addition of vocational drafting classes to the high school curriculum. The students can take the class at Petoskey High School, but they said that the distance and the wasted time travelling back and forth discouraged them from doing that.

Both Shelto and Mann are interested in pursuing an architectural career and need all the drafting classes they can get.

The students also stressed that the counselors could help them become aware of high school course selections and career opportunities at an earlier age.

"The counselor should help the students in the lower grades, like middle school and freshmen, understand what courses are required and what electives they can take," Williams said explaining how school could help students become even more prepared.

"If you don't start thinking about what you want to do and learning about what courses are available, early enough, you won't be able to take the courses you need," he said.

DeEtta Smith, who is thinking about following a career at a veterinarian tech, said if the school offered more of a variety of electives at an earlier grade level, it might help students decide earlier what type of a career they wanted.

"More electives could help get students interested in something before it is too late for them to get the right classes in time for graduation," she said.

Miss Wolf said more electives would help all of the students.

"By the time you get to be a senior, you have taken about all of the courses the school offers," she said.

The students said they understood why the school had difficulties presenting a broader selection of courses.

"We just don't have the room up here," Miss Russell said. "We need to pass the millage and get enough room up here for all of the students."

Miss Wolf also said she hoped the millage would pass.

"School is probably preparing us for the future," she said. "But without enough room for all of the things we need, we probably aren't as well prepared as students from many other districts."

CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL Seniors Brian Williams and Greg Grubaugh contemplate the future.

BOTH JEFF SHELTO and Ed Mann are considering architecture as a career. They would like to see more drafting courses at the school.

Middle School Students Speak A Strange Language in Classes

Parents of students in the Charlevoix Middle School, especially eighth grade, are probably finding their young ones speaking in a strange tongue these days.

That's because they are being taught the rudiments of the metric system – learning to mesure by meters, liters and grams.

And, in case you don't know, a meter is slightly more than a yard, a liter is slightly more than a quart, and a gram is – well, 1,000 grams equal about 2.2 pounds.

Johnny may report that he weighs 56.7 kilograms, that he is 172.7 centimeters tall, has a body temperature of 37 Celsius, and a blood capacity of 3.79 liters.

Alice may tell you that for the spaghetti sauce she is about to make she will need 1 kilogram of ground beef, 15 milliliters of salad oil, 1.35 kilograms of canned tomatoes and numerous other ingredients measured metrically. However, it will still be 5 garlic cloves and 1 bay leaf.

Jim Wyns, eighth grade math teacher, says it is all a way of leading students into understanding the metric system without trying to convert pounds to kilograms, inches to centimeters, ounces to liters, or any other "English" measurement, to the metric system.

Students are taught to "think metric", which Wyns says is no different from "thinking" other measurements.

Ann Shindorf's eighth grade science students are also working with metrics, using gram weights and metric measures such as liters and milliliters.

"Most students catch on pretty well. We don't try to convert – just learn and accept," she says.

Middle School Principal Vincent Chew explains that until business industry start using the metric system on a large scale, there is no reason to teach it intensively in the schools.

"Lumber yards are still selling lumber by the foot, not meters," he points out.

However, some items, such as shoes, are sized by both "English" and metric methods.

Our present system of weights and measures stem from congressional action in the late 1700's. Although there was opposition led by far-sighted leaders like Thomas Jefferson, Congress retained the "English" system of weights and measures that had prevailed in colonial America.

The United States is now the only industrialized nation in the world that has not converted to the metric system.

For those interested in preparing themselves for the changes in years to come there are several self-teaching guides on the metric system. One, "Thinking Metric", is a concise yet complete explanation of what it's all about, with chapters relating to metric measurements for "Distance and Speed", "Volume", "weight and Mass", "Temperature", and "Work, Power and other Quantities."

Or, perhaps better yet, ask an eighth grader to explain it.

Most older people dislike the idea of change and feel that "what was right for me is right for my children," but even the most stubborn must admit that working with multiples of 10 is less complicated than working with multiples of 12's, 16's, or 32's.

And the old system isn't founded on such a scientific basis. For instance, an acre was originally the amount of land a person could plow in a day with a yoke of oxen; a mile was the distance covered by 1,000 double steps of a soldier on the march; a foot was the length of a man's foot; and a yard was the distance from the nose to the end of the fingers on an outstretched arm.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES

SEPTEMBER 7, 1976
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

The Minutes of the August 23, 1976 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Council discussed the changes on the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union and Danash Associates, Inc. prior to the issuance of a building permit. Agreement could not be met at the Council meeting and request was granted to hold a Committee meeting on Wednesday, September 8, 1976 at 9:30 a.m. for further discussion.

Mr. John Campbell, a member of the Shade Tree Commission, presented pictures of the City's tree nursery showing how well they are doing; and he stated that 50 percent of the trees that were planted along the City streets last spring are dead due to the lack of water, and leaving the roots exposed to the sun for long periods of time while in the process of planting.

Mr. Campbell is to make a presentation of the upcoming tree program for the year at the next regular Council meeting. Council will discuss the presentation.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Morris that the City of Charlevoix appreciates the Consideration of the Farm Home Administration's offering of a loan, but due to the bond market at this time, funds for our water project would be to our advantage to go to municipal bonds. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Council discussed the continuing of Blue Cross Insurance for retired employees, this will be looked into and further reviewed by City Officials.

Motion was offered by Alderman Morris and supported by Alderman Erber that the following Resolution be adopted.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix ordains that Ordinance No. 338 adopted on January 28, 1974 revoked, rescinds and held for naught.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the said salary commission be abolished.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Wallace that the following Resolution be adopted.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Charles Pease is appointed as the City of Charlevoix representative for the Airport Planning for the purpose of securing grant funding for the Airport Project.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wood and supported by Alderman Morris that the City proceed with repairs on the Airport Administration building and hangar door, and that all work be done at the City Administrator's discretion. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $254,060.08 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Morris and supported by Alderman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Council adjourned.

Lyle S. King, City Clerk

REGISTRATION NOTICE

FOR

GENERAL ELECTION

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1976

To the Qualified Electors of the City and Townships ....

COUNTY OF ...... CHARLEVOIX, ..., STATE OF MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law", I, the undersigned Clerk, will upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY for such registration.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I WILL BE AT MY OFFICE

Monday, October 4, 1976 - - Last Day

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m.

The 30th day preceding said Election

And on Saturday, October 2, 1976 — 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954 As Amended.

For the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

ELECTOR UNABLE TO MAKE PERSONAL APPLICATION, PROCEDURE

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

UNREGISTERED PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE

SEC. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P. A. 1954.)

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION, APPLICATION, TIME

SEC. 506. A registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Transfers shall not be made after the 30th day next preceding a regular or special election or primary election, unless the 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday in which event registration transfers shall be accepted during the following day.

TRANSFER OF REGISTRATION ON ELECTION DAY

SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and had not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 523 of this act, shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that primary or election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan, on the 27 day of Aug., 1976.
PRESENT: The Honorable Martin B. Breighner
Circuit Judge

On the 5th day of August, 1976 an action was filed by Charlevoix Oil Company, Petoskey Electric Supply, Inc. and Joseph Frank, Plaintiffs, against Joel William Arvilla and Patricia Arvilla, Defendants in this Court to adjudicate and determine the interests of Defendants in certain real and personal property, to adjudicate and determine that Defendant Patricia Arvilla is indebted to Defendant Joel William Arvilla, to determine that certain transfers of personal and real property from Defendant Joel William Arvilla to Defendant Patricia Arvilla were fraudulent.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Defendant Joel William Arvilla shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before the 15th day of October, 1976. Failure to comply with this Order will result in Judgment of default against such Defendant for relief demanded in the Complaint filed in this Court.

said. "There's a difference between storing something at a site and disposal.

"When you dispose of something you leave it there permanently," he said. "Storing spent fuel at a site is a common practice and is an interim thing. It does not mean the wastes will be there permanently."

Chan said the additional storage of spent fuel at the nuclear plants would not require any additional security.

"Our security systems are currently in compliance," he said. "The storage of additional spent fuel does not require additional security.

"The security requirements for both the Big Rock plant and the Palisades plant are the same," he explained. "And the Big Rock plant contains about 10 percent the amount of fuel of the Palisades plant."

Slide Show Scheduled

Beaver Island photographs will be exhibited by Petoskey photographer Helmuth (Bud) Schulz at the next meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society on Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

The photographs are part of the collection Schulz assembled during annual trips to Beaver Island over a period of almost forty years.

done at this time since heavy equipment was presently on the Island. They also asked for a survey of island roads to determine their categories, whether primary or secondary roads, and asked many questions regarding the financing of highway maintenance. Many were fielded by Robert Mousseau, a member of the County Road Commission who told the questioners he would obtain other answers for them.

Edward Wojan who was spokesman for the island residents regarding several issues asked for a discussion relating to Proposals A and B that will appear on ballots during the Nov. 2 election. Proposal A will sustain the 15 mill tax allocation now in effect for allocation to the county, schools, townships and the Intermediate School District. This proposal is for two years. Proposal B, a 12 mill tax limitation for an unlimited time, is being requested by 603 of the county's more than 11,000 voters. It would cut millage to the county and schools but allow 1.5 mills to the townships whose budgets do not show a need for additional millage. Most questions related to what the reduced millage would mean to School Aid and other funds levied on a local effort basis.

The proposed 1 mill tax levy for three years to establish a sinking fund to construct a 27-bed addition to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility came in for some discussion also. It was the consensus of island residents that there was a need for the addition and that a sinking fund was the reasonable way to go.

Millage, what it could be voted for, the method of transferring voted millage remaining in a fund for a given purpose for use elsewhere within the township, the limits on voted millage and similar questions were asked and answered.

William Mercer of the planning department told of the proposed package arrangement whereby all permits needed for various phases of construction, including zoning, healthy department and building code would be issued in one package was explained and was readily approved.

The Planning Commission then met to take action on the new Chandler Township Zoning Ordinance which had to be approved by the commission before it could be OK'd by the township board at a meeting Friday evening. The township has been under an interim zoning arrangement that was to expire Sept. 25.

Twenty-six persons including representatives of county government and departments, Ralph Ostling, 103rd District Representative, Mrs. Jacquie Merta of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and four guests made the trip at their own expense.

operation."

Other areas blue-penciled in Richardson's expected budget were civil defense, marine, detectives, snow patrol, library, advertising, Northwest Economic Development District and capital equalization.

Reductions in the services of the Veteran Affairs and Equalization Department would have to be made, as well as staff cuts in each of the remaining departments not required by statute.

Richardson said that the Michigan Employment Security Commission Recommends that the county budget an amount equal to 44 percent of its payroll to prepare for unemployment expenses resulting from "a mass layoff".

The county presently budgets 2.7 percent of its payroll for possible unemployment, he said.

Chairman Waldner maintained that the "county is floating in money" and that the CIS proposal was feasible.

Obituary

DELORES L. PISCHNER

Funeral services for Mrs. Emil L. (Delores L.) Pischner, 65, who died Wednesday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where she had been a patient for two months, were held Friday at St. Mary's church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon and Msgr. Victor Gallagher of Alpena officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday evening.

Born at St. James, Beaver Island, Jan. 2, 1911, the former Delores L. Gillespie was married to Mr. Pischner at St. James on Jan. 13, 1932. They resided there until moving to Cheboygan in 1937 and the following year came to Charlevoix to make their home. Mr. Pischner preceded her in death in October, 1958. She had been employed as a nurses aide at the Charlevoix Hospital for 18 years. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Rosary Altar Society.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Howard (Joanne) Pearl of Milwaukee; two sons, Roger J. of Charlevoix and Borry M. of Grand Rapids; 11 grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Cole of St. James, Mrs. Ray Osborne of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Henry Supernaw of Charlevoix and four brothers, Jewell Gillespie of St. James, John of Phoenix, Ariz., Norman of Ludington and Gerard of Florida.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor her memory contribute in her name to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Franklin VanDeCar

Funeral services for Franklin L. VanDeCar, 75, who died Friday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where he had been a patient for 23 months, were held Monday at the Bible Baptist church. The Rev. James Lugibihl officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. VanDeCar was born in Ohio July 29, 1901, and lived in Marion, Ohio, and California before moving to Warren, Michigan. He lived there for several years before coming to Charlevoix in 1968 to be with his niece, Mrs. Louise Pop. He was a retired carpenter and factory worker. He had been active with the Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army before coming to Charlevoix. He was a member of the Bible Baptist Church here.

Surviving are a half-brother, Lawrence VanDeCar of Gladwin; two half-sisters, Mrs. Pearl Smith of Decker and Mrs. Clora Maddy of Westland and two nieces including Mrs. Pop.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Fershee

Fershee told the Courier in a telephone interview Monday, that he came to his decision following two months of study of the amendment to the Real Estate Act.

"The section of the act which I ruled was unconstitutional was added to the real estate act in 1960," Fershee explained. "The original act was passed in 1919 as a penal act. The amendment is actually regulatory and not criminal.

What the legislators did was take a very good penal act and tried to use it as a regulatory act giving the licensing bureau the power to discipline realtors, the judge said.

"In today's world, if you are going to make something criminal then you should make it clear what acts are criminal and what aren't," he said. "There shouldn't be any guessing games.

"You can't expect businessmen to have an attorney interpreting the law for them about everything they do," Fershee continued. "If a reasonable man can not tell from the act what is criminal and what isn't, it is not a constitutional act."

Fershee said it was not unusual for a district court judge to rule an act unconstitutional.

"Originally, the district judge took over from the justice of the peace," Fershee said. "But in the last nine years we have expanded our jurisdiction and this is within the scope of our duties.

Hayes told the Courier last week that he disagreed with the opinion and may appeal it.

Golfers Tie Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayder Golf team, participating in a triangular match at Gaylord Monday, tied for second place with Petoskey behind the Gaylord team who came in with a score of 171. Charlevoix and Petoskey posted with scores of 174.

Eric Booker was medalist for the match with a 38. Tom Oelke of Petoskey carded a score of 40 and Mike Custer was low for Charlevoix with a 41.

Other Rayder team members were Pat Paul with a 42; Steve Schuch, 45; Art Ranger 46 and Bob Ranger 49.

In the Northern Michigan Open held at Harbor Point Saturday Charlevoix come in third behind Harbor Springs, who won the match with a 324 and Petoskey who posted a score of 347. The Rayder score was 354.

Ed Kelbel of Harbor was medalist with a 77.

Custer carded an 82; Paul, 87; Art Ranger, 91 and Schuch, 92.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey Monday and Petoskey on Oct. 7.

Girls Defeat E.J.

The Charlevoix girls basketball team defeated East Jordan by a score of 57-30 in a non-league game Monday night.

The JV's also posted a win by a 47-10 margin.

Charlevoix jumped to a 24-10 first period and remained in control all the way as they led 37-19 at halftime and 45-20 going into the final period.

Kathy Sladek paced the scoring with 20 points. Maureen Cudd added 16.

In the JV game, Charlevoix led 15-2; 22-4 and 43-6 by quarters before claiming the game by a 47-10 score. Chris Lehman had nine points for Charlevoix. Lori Gee had four for East Jordan.

Belvedere Club Presents Check To Hospital

The Charlevoix Area Hospital received a pleasant surprise this week. The members of the Belvedere Club presented the hospital with a check in excess of $9,000.

F. Carl Schumacher, Belvedere Club president, made the presentation to Richard Krueger, hospital administrator. The check will be used to purchase necessary equipment.

In the past, contributions from the colony of summer residents have been used to purchase a heart monitor for the operating room as well as an operating table.

The club has had a Hospital Benevolence Committee for many years and has been active in its support of the hospital, Schumacher said. The club has helped finance the building campaign and the establishment of the new radiology department. In the past eight years, nearly $100,000 of financial support has come from the Belvedere Club for the improvement of the hospital.

F. CARL SCHUMACHER, president of the Belvedere Club presents Richard Krueger, administrator of Charlevoix Area Hospital, with a check for the equipment fund.

Krueger to Head Kiwanis on Oct. 1

Richard L. Krueger will assume his duties as president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club Oct. 1 when the club year begins following his recent election to the post.

He succeeds Glenn L. Kenney, immediate past president. Other officers are Frank A. Schuch, president-elect; Clarence F. Rabach, vice president; Ralph S. Hamilton, secretary treasurer.

Directors are Raymond Giffin, Holger Andersen, James McCallum, Edward K. Shanahan whose terms expire Sept. 30, 1977, and Roy Forton, Clarence Edger and Clarence A. Odmark whose terms are up Sept. 30, 1978.

Chairmen of standing committees for the year include the following: Spiritual aims: Rev. Giffin; Youth Services: Fortin; Citizenship services: Gary Bailey; subcommittees: Agriculture Conservation: Edward Beutner, Public and Business Affairs: Odmark; International relations: Robert C Burns; Membership development Kenney; Sponsored youth: Vane Smith; Major emphasis: Edger; Special events: Webster Francis;

The Kiwanis Club meet at 6:15 p.m. every Monday, at the present time the meeting place is the Grey Gables Inn.

Volunteer Firemen Offer Movie On Lifesaving Method

A film is now available to area industries, schools and organizations that could help save a life.

The Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department recently purchased a film entitled, "The Heimlich Maneuver," for use throughout the community. The film was purchased with funds raised through the sale of raffle tickets.

The movie describes a technique perfected by Dr. Henry Heimlich of the University of Cincinatti, for use when someone is choking because a piece of food or another item is stuck in his or her throat. The technique is simple to learn and complete instructions are given in the movie.

The first group to view the film was the nursing staff of the Charlevoix Area Hospital. The nurses saw the film Thursday night. Any other group that would like to see the film may make arrangements by contacting Dr. Harry R. Custer, 723 Park, 547-9943

Area Cabaret Director Named

Kamila S. Cherry of Charlevoix has been appointed a member of the Little Traverse Bay Community Cabaret Board of Directors and coordinator of cabaret activities in the Charlevoix area.

In her new position, Ms. Cherry will be responsible for organizing local people who would like to perform in the cabarets, finding outside performing groups to supplement the various cabaret shows and setting up cabaret events.

"There are a lot of talented people in Charlevoix and they need a place where they can get some exposure," Ms. Cherry said of the cabaret. "One way to do that is to get different types of groups into the area that will draw the crowds for the local talent as well."

Ms. Cherry said she would like to see the cabaret expand in Charlevoix.

"If we can get support from the community, we may be able to get away from the rock and roll groups and the disco and get a variety of entertainment up here," she said.

The new coordinator said she enjoys music of all types and enjoys all the areas of the performing arts and would like to see all areas represented in the cabarets.

Ms. Cherry, who is the traffic director for WVOY, asked that anyone with suggestions for improving or changing the cabaret contact her evenings at 547-4144 or write 414 East Dixon, Charlevoix.

Mike Davis will be coordinating the cabaret activities in Boyne City and Lindsy Koeber will be coordinator for the Petoskey-Harbor Springs area.

State PTA Officials Visit Here Oct. 6

In an effort to develop more strong, active parent-teacher-student associations, members of the Michigan Congress of Parents, Teachers and Students will be in Charlevoix from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6 at the First State Bank Community Room.

Mrs. Elaine Stienkemeyer, Michigan PTA President from Holt will lead a group of state PTA representatives on an outreach called the "PTA Space Shuttle" to meet with local citizens, PTO members, teachers, and administrators.

The Shuttle will begin in Reed City on October 5th then proceed to Charlevoix, Petoskey, and conclude in Alpena on October 9th.

"The Space Shuttle underscores the Michigan PTA's commitment to be an effective statewide organization with citizen participation from all parts of Michigan," Mrs. Stienkemeyer said.

The Space Shuttle meetings will be informal sessions for personal discussion with the state representatives. Visitors may come anytime during the scheduled time and stay as long as they wish.

Mrs. Stienkemeyer emphasized that the Shuttle is open to all parents, teachers, school administrators, students, interested citizens, and parent organization members.

Transit System Unused by City

America is still in the middle of an energy crisis. Every so often gasoline prices go up a few more pennies to remind us of that fact.

But you wouldn't know this country was facing an energy crisis based on the use of its mass transit systems. And Charlevoix is no exception.

Twice daily, a 33-passenger bus runs through town making stops at Charlevoix Airport and Veterans Memorial Park downtown. And almost twice daily, the bus leaves town — empty.

The mass transit system, operated through a state subsidy by a Pellston-based firm, has been traveling between Charlevoix and Cheboygan and points in-between since May. In September, the bus line carried 215 people - between Cheboygan and Charlevoix with 126 people leaving Charlevoix for other places, according to Randolph Bricker, president of Wolverine Stages Inc., the company operating the system.

"With a state subsidy of 44 cents a mile and our revenues, we have finally got this run to a break even point," Bricker said.

"It takes a while for people to know you are around."

Bricker said his company began making runs to Charlevoix because of the large number of phone calls and letters his company was receiving from city residents interested in using the service. The company began running bus service from Mackinaw City to Boyne City over 18 months ago. But the response to the 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. runs has not been outstanding.

"I don't know whether we are an idea before its time or not," Bricker said. "But we're going to hang in there and continue to provide bus service to Charlevoix.

"We feel that business will eventually build up in the Charlevoix area," he continued. "So we are going to maintain our service and show people that we are a reliable company. We're here to stay."

Bricker said about 90 percent of his passengers were senior citizens with a very small percentage of the workers in the area using the bus to commute to their jobs.

He said he would like to start an early morning run out of Charlevoix, but the use of the mass transit system doesn't warrant it.

"People are still oriented to using cars," the bus company president said. "But as gas prices continue to go up, and the information I have indicates they will, they will begin to look for an alternative and cheaper means of transportation.

"And we'll be here providing more and more runs as people use the system and better and better buses," he said.

In the meantime, Bricker makes money to support the mass transit system through a thriving charter service.

"Any revenue we make on the mass transit runs is subtracted from the money the state sends us in subsidy," Bricker explained. "That just gets us to the break even point. As we make more money, the state will subsidize us less."

THIS 33-passenger bus makes two round trips a day between Charlevoix and Cheboygan. However, the state subsidized transportation system only carried 215 passengers in September.

The merchants and members of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce are planning to meet again at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the First State Bank Community Meeting Room.

City Council Awards $4,537 Bid For Construction of Taxiway

By PAULA HOLMES

The Charlevoix Airport is in line for some improvements.

At the suggestion of Alderman Ray Wood, chairman of the Airport Committee, the Charlevoix Common Council awarded a $4,537 bid Monday night to the Manthei Development Corp. for the construction of a taxiway from the new hangar to the end of runway 26.

The taxiway will be 50 feet wide and 910 feet long. Funds for the construction of the 6 inch deep gravel taxiway will come from the Airport Capitol Improvement Fund. The construction of the taxiway is part of an agreement which the city entered into with the Hangar Association when it offered to construct a new hangar at the airport.

However, the common council did not keep its part of the agreement without reminding the Hangar Association of its duties. City Attorney Don Berlage asked Dawson Way, president of the Hangar Association, to produce figures showing the cost of the hangar construction for the common council as required in the contract between the city and the association.

Way said the association had the figures but was still attempting to arrive at the book value of the hangar.

Mayor Ed Hansen told Way that the council did not care what the book value of the hangar was and said that all the council wanted was the construction costs so it could figure the depreciation on the hangar, which will revert to city ownership in 20 years.

"There's no element of fairness in that figure," Way said.

"This was the first time in the history of Charlevoix that private individuals were allowed to build a hangar at the city airport," Hansen pointed out. "You should be happy to have a hangar."

Way assured the mayor the association was very grateful for the hangar.

"Then put your money where your sentiments are," Hansen said. "And get over here with some figures.

"If you stall as much when you are flying as you have on this thing, you're going to crash," Hansen chided.

Salaries

In other business, the council approved raises for the city clerk and treasurer. The council had appointed a Salary Commission to make the raises, but due to an oversight by the commission, no provision was made to increase the clerk and treasurer's salaries this year. The Salary Commission can only meet on the odd year, so the council had to abolish the commission to make the raises which will become effective following the next election for the two posts according to the law.

The council voted to increase the two salaries 5 percent for each year it was not raised to keep the salaries in line with the increases that other city employees received. This increases the clerk's salary from $9,737 to $10,711 over two years. The treasurer's salary was increased from $8,847 to $9,732.

Shade Trees

The common council also heard a report from John Campbell and Thomas Pointner, members of the Shade Tree Commission.

The men reported that 200 trees were trimmed last year and 260 trees were planted along the city streets. Also 500 trees were put in nurseries for use in planting next year. The commission spent $18,000 during the year for the start of the program.

For 1977, the commission suggested a budget of $9,000 for the maintenance of the trees in the city and an additional $3,600 for the acquisition of oak trees to replace the one which died this year due to the severe dry weather in the area.

The commissioners also suggested continuing with the planting program along Bridge between Hurlbut and Dixon and in the city parking lots. They also asked that a complete planting program be planned for the replacement of trees throughout the city.

Grey Gables

In other action the common council voted to deny a request from Dave Phillips, owner of Grey Gables, for an entertainment permit.

Alderman Jeannine Wallace said the recommendation of the committee reviewing the request was to deny the permit because of the problems with traffic congestion in the area and noise.

"We're not denying anything that Phillips already has," Alderman Joe Morris explained. "But we are limiting the expansion of entertainment until something can be resolved about the parking problem."

Bells Bay

The city council also voted not to hold an advisory vote on the Bells Bay Road. The council had been petitioned by 150 city residents to hold a vote concerning whether people would like the road to revert from the county to the Department of Natural Resources.

"In as much as the question affects property outside the city jurisdiction and the vote amounts to campaigning in a polling place according to the State Election Regulations we just can't hold the vote," Mayor Hansen explained.

School District Ends Fiscal Year In the Black--$10,000 Balance

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Public Schools concluded the 1975-76 fiscal year with a general fund balance of $10,672 Supt. James A. McKimmy advised the Charlevoix Board of Education as he presented the annual report at a meeting of the school board Monday.

The report went on to say that the general fund had started the year with a $7,286 balance, received revenues of $2,039,300 from local, state and federal sources and incoming transfers while expenditures totaled $2,035,914.

The report also included a report of monies in all accounts including debt retirement funds, Public Library account, the hot lunch account, which shows a credit of $7,752,-and other lesser accounts.

An enrollment report given by Supt. McKimmy showed an increase of 39 students over the 1975-76 total. McKimmy then went on to review the overall figures and to show enrollment project figures and how they are arrived at. Figures for enrollment projected in 1972 show that the enrollment in the Charlevoix Schools is slightly above the projected figures and reveal an upward trend at a time when the birth rate is declining and other school districts are showing a decrease in enrollments.

The corrected copy of enrollment in the K-12 schools shows 1,807 students or four more than the number released earlier in the day. Students from nearby St. Mary's school attending Physical Education classes one hour a week gives the enrollment a full time equivalency of three and an up-dated Adult Education enrollment added one more to account for the increase.

Vincent Olach, business manager, reported on the recent appraisal report of all school property and equipment. The report was started in November and completed last month. It accounts for buildings and equipment by school and sets the value of these at $8,967,252 and its net sound insurable value at $7,175,901. The initial report cost of the appraisal $4,113. It will be updated for next five years at a cost of $500 annually.

McKimmy reported on Proposal C which will appear on the state ballot. He explained that State Aid was designed to be allocated on a 50-50 basis. However, as the state has found itself in a financial bind the amount has been decreased from 44 percent to 36 percent and approval of this referendum which would will limit all state taxes and spending to 8.3. percent of the combined personal income of Michigan would find State Aid to schools cut even more as the burden is thrown on tax payer at the local level.

McKimmy also reported on the Child Protection Act and the responsibility it places on all school personnel including teachers to report cases of child abuse. He said copies of the law were being distributed to everyone who has any contact with a child in the school system. Further information will be distributed as it becomes available from the Department of Social Services he said.

His report on funds to be made available through the Public Works Act of 1976 was very discouraging. He said that though the school district would apply for funds through EDA, the prospects of receiving any looks dim. The funds are to be made available for work projects with the criteria being the number of unemployed rather than the percentage of unemployed.

He also reviewed the results of the recent election in which the proposed bond issue for building purposes was turned down by 66 votes and a proposal for an auditorium by a larger margin.

In other action, the board approved an expenditure of $10,000 for band instruments at this time with the Band Boosters paying $5,000 on or before Oct. 10 and the remaining $5,000 on or before the same date in 1978. The Band Boosters have taken on this responsibility to support the band program in the school. David Juilleret, president of the group, was presented at the meeting to hear the board's decision and to accept the gratitude of the board.

The board approved the request by the Senior Class to conduct concession sales during the basketball season.

Oct. 18 was set as the date for the board's regular meeting and Nov. 1 as the date of the budget hearing.

There will be refreshments aboard the cruise craft for all participating in the event.

Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office or at the Beaver Island Boat dock.

17-Year-Old Youth Dies In One-Car Accident

A 17-year-old youth, Steven R. Weisel, was killed in a one-car accident on M-66 2½ miles east of here at approximately 1:30 a.m. Saturday when his car left the highway after following along a guard rail for some distance and going over an embankment on the east bank of Loeb Creek.

Charlevoix County Sheriff's officers said his passenger, Diane Haggard, 18, crawled from the overturned car and up the embankment to the highway. She then went to the nearby home of E. James Hiller to ask for help.

Weisel, who was pinned behind the wheel, was dead at the scene from multiple injuries according to Dr. Robert G. Martin, Medical Examiner. He is the son of Mr. Anthony J. Warsohl of Charlevoix and Leo Weisel of Clarkston.

Miss Haggard was taken to the Charlevoix Area Hospital for treatment of lacerations, abrasions and bruises and released to her home.

Community Chest Starts Drive For Funds to Support Agencies

The Charlevoix Community Chest fund drive got off to a quiet start this week.

The fund drive which annually raises money to support the activities of 14 local groups will be held from Oct. 1-22. This year the Community Chest hopes to raise $19,000.

"We are depending heavily on our mail campaign for contributions," Robert Bogart, president of the fundraising organization, said. "These letters were mailed out Sept. 24 and we are urging all recipients to send us their contributions as soon as possible."

Bogart said people who had not received a letter should send contributions to Elaine Martin at the First State Bank. He urged all citizens to participate in the program which helps provide needed services to the area.

To help residents keep track of the fund drive progress, the Community Chest will also be erecting a thermometer in East Park to provide weekly information about how much money has been given toward the goal. Weekly reports will also be released to all media.

The organizations and the amount they will receive if the Community Chest reaches its goal are: Salvation Army, $1,446; Mount McSauba and the Charlevoix City Recreation Department, $500; Bergmann Center, Inc., $2,000; Girl Scouts, Crooked Tree Council, $1,500; DAC Counseling Center, $1,000; and Boy Scouts, Scenic Trails Council; $1,000.

Other groups receiving funds are: Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Red Cross, $1,450; Charlevoix Area Hospital geriatric support, $3,000; Charlevoix Community Nurses Emergency Fund, $200; Camp Daggett, $1,000; Charlevoix County Big Brothers and Big Sisters, $2,567; Michigan United Fund, $1,000; Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood, $1,000; and Northern Michigan Resident Service, Inc., $750.

The group will also use $587 to cover operating expenses.

Ready to Serve Entire Community

Ransom Counseling Center Open

By PEG OHLE

The "Chip" Ransom Counseling Center opened its doors this week to serve the Charlevoix area.

The Center is funded by the Woodbury Ransom family, Charlevoix summer residents, in memory of their son, Charles A. "Chip" Ransom, who was killed in a boating mishap.

It was organized by members of the First Congregational Church but has no affiliation with the Church.

Oren Schroeder has come from the Institute of Lutheran Social Services in Washington, D.C. to serve as director of the Center. He will be available to help all who are in need of someone "to talk out" their problems.

These people may be referred by a social services agency, a church, mental health clinic or other organization, or may decide on their own that they need help.

Before going to Washington, Schroeder served as pastor in two parishes in Ohio. He holds an undergraduate degree from Capital University in Colombus, Ohio and a Master of Divinity degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Columbus.

He says he has found from experience that the greatest problem faced by married people is the inability to communicate and deal with one another as equal partners.

"When we get into close relationships, competition emerges. We need to change that competition to cooperation," he says.

"People permit problems to last too long. It becomes marital warfare and by the time they decide to get professional help there is no energy left."

He advises that people recognize the need for counseling and seek it immediately.

Schroeder says the "danger years" in marriage occur most often after a couple has been married between 10 and 15 years, and that another stress point occurs between 20 and 25 years of marriage.

He also says that in early marriages, disillusionment can cause problems.

Individual problems are often related to depression, Schroeder has found. "People with narcissist tendencies want to have immediate gratification. They think only in terms of themselves and have difficulty in finding themselves."

To help people solve their problems, Schroeder will work with them to reach the goals they want for themselves. The number of talk-sessions this will take will depend upon the problem and the person's willingness to cope with it.

"I'm excited to be in Charlevoix and to be able to work closely with the community," Schroeder says. "Washington was too large. We couldn't have an impact on the community. Here we can work with everyone – ministers, doctors and others."

Oren Schroeder

Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder and their children, Karyn, 14, and Marc, 7, reside at 106 Auld Street. Mrs. Schroeder is a former teacher of English.

Receives Degree

Gary M. Hetherington of St. James, Beaver Island, is a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Engineering from the University of Michigan this summer. His major is in the field of naval architecture and marine engineering.

Englishmen, Americans Renew Acquaintance

Friends Meet Again After 30 Years

Editors Note: The following is an account of a visit Fran Martin participated in this summer, which united two families who knew each other only through correspondence.

By FRAN MARTIN

The year was 1944; the place was Peterborough, England, site of a huge U.S. Air Force base from where American pilots flew their missions over the continent during World War II. The principals were the enlisted men in the crew of a B-17 called "Lil' Satan" and a 12-year-old English lad named Ivan Elmer.

Ivan was the son of the Albert Elmers and was among the many English boys of the same age who attached themselves to American airmen stationed near his parents' home.

It was never quite clear how he became attached to the crew of Lil' Satan but a strong bond soon developed and when one of the crewmen mentioned that he'd like to find someone to do his laundry Ivan quickly volunteered his mother's services. Ivan then took the crew home to meet his parents whose older son, Neville, was serving with the British Navy. The end result was that Mrs. Elmer was doing their laundry and the crew members were 'drawing their rations' on days off and using Mrs. Elmer's kitchen to prepare American food the way they liked it.

Among the crew members was Staff Sgt. James A. Martin, a gunner on the B-17. As it turned out, he was the first of the crew to be rotated back to the States and, as a result, missed the farewell party at the Elmers before the others left.

Upon his return home to Charlevoix, Jim told of how good the Elmers had been to him and that Christmas the first of numerous packages bearing gifts, usually of food that the English family couldn't buy for any price, was sent to the British Isle.

Along with the letters that came from Peterborough was news of other crew members who also kept in touch with the family; of the Elmer's son, Neville, who returned safely after the war; of Ivans service in the British Army when he was stationed in Hong Kong and after his discharge, the news of his marriage to a lovely blonde named Marion. It was then she who acknowledged the holiday greetings and the letters and kept Ivan's American friends abreast of family news, though there was always a holiday letter from his mother.

And in return there was news of Jim and his family, usually written by his wife, the former Clara Louise Cummings, and the usual mention of plans of someday visiting each other.

Their last Christmas, along with the usual Christmas greeting and letter, came the news that Ivan, his wife, Marion, and their sons, Martyn, now 15 and named for his American friend, and Adrian, 12, were coming to London, Ont., to visit Marion's brother-in law and sister and then would be coming to Charlevoix.

Finally, one Saturday night, after a call from southern Michigan, the family arrived in Charlevoix for a reunion after 32 years.

In the beginning all the Englishman could say was "I can't believe it. I can't believe I'm finally in Charlevoix" thought you wouldn't recognize Charlevoix he said with an English accent.

The next four days were spent reminiscing, recalling incidents that both had thought were long forgotten, of seeing northern Michigan and, for the Elmers, getting to know the Martins–quite a chore for there are a lot of them.

Ivan had brought with him a number of momentos, among them pictures and a fragment of a parachute the crew had given to Mrs. Elmer and which all but Jim had signed before leaving England. Jim, after 32 years, finally got to sign it and it is now back in England.

The only thing that Martyn wanted to take home with him was an American flag. The flag was among the Petoskey stones, scads of literature found at the Chamber of Commerce office publicizing the area–"You have to pay for these in England" he said as he took samples of everything--and other momentos of the trip that made the return trip with the family.

Their American hosts, Jim and Clara, drove the family to Sarnia, Ont., on their return trip to London, Ont., to visit briefly before departing for England.

There were invitations for all the Martins to visit them in Deeping St. James, a suburb of Peterborough where the Elmers operate a neighborhood store and where Ivan is employed at the Massey-Ferguson plant that manufactures Diesel engines.

There were also promises they would return, especially from Martyn who plans to enlist in the British Navy after graduation from high school.

And as he said good-bye, Ivan, could still only say "It's still like a dream...a dream I've lived with these 32 years."

A RECENT REUNION in Charlevoix brought together Ivan Elmer, a 12 year old English lad the last time they saw each other, and James Martin, a sergeant-gunner on a B-17 stationed near the lad's home at Petersbrough during World War II. The Englishman, now 44, accompanied by his wife, Marion, and their sons, Martyn, 15, named for the father's American friend, and Adrian, 12, visited the Martins here recently. Seated are the former Air Force sergeant, James Martin, Mrs. Elmer and son, Adrian. Behind them are Ivan Elmer, Mrs. Martin and Martyn.

Engineers Ready to Unveil Area Study For Proposed Expanded Sewer Service

A study of sewer needs in Charlevoix and five surrounding townships is in its final phase and plans for an expanded sewer system are expected to be revealed at the end of this month, according to Alvin Ranger, engineer working on the project.

The city and Charlevoix, Hayes, Norwood, Marion and Eveline townships are part of a sewer facilities area which recently received an $18,750 phase I grant from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the study of future sewer needs. The facilities plan area was defined by the Water Resources Commission of the Department of Natural Resources.

Shadke and Associates are the engineers designing the proposed sewer system with Ranger, Greg Shadko and Wayne Boss of Boss Engineering working of the project.

"We've been working with groups like the district health department and township board members identifying areas where sewers may be needed in the next 20 years," Ranger explained.

The plan for the proposed sewer expansion outlines immediate service areas, locations that will need sewers in the next 10 years and parcels where sewers will be needed in 20 years.

"We've already discussed the service areas at one set of public hearings and we will be holding a second set of hearings at the end of this month," Ranger said.

Based on the first set of hearings, the engineers have determined that the Boulder Park area, the Irish Boatshop Marina area and the Pine Point area in Charlevoix Township are locations that need immediate sewer service.

Areas with less immediate needs, but which should be considered for sewer service in the near future include North Point, M-66 along the lake in Marion Township, Ironton area, Bay Shore area, and Pine Point along the Boyne City Road toward Horton Bay.

Norwood Township doesn't seem to have any immediate needs, Ranger said, but expansion plans may be projected for 20 years from now.

"In the city, there are several areas that don't have sewers and we are considering extensions into all the areas," the engineer said.

These areas include: the motel section along south U.S. 31, the southwestern part of town near the airport and the Ferry Avenue area.

The engineers are not considering constructing any waste water treatment facilities, but merely expanded the current sewer lines connecting to the city's treatment facility.

"Charlevoix really has a Cadillac of a treatment system," Ranger said. "I think we will probably find that it will be the most adequate and the cheapest means of handling waste."

Ranger said following the second set of public hearings the proposed plans will be sent to the EPA for consideration for a step II grant for the completion of engineering details for the immediate service areas.

"It looks like this area will be in line for the funding of the second phase," Ranger said. "At the last meetings we attended, we learned that out of a total of $18 billion that had been approved for these projects all over the country, only $7.5 billion had been committed.

Permit Package to Make Life Easier for County Builders

By Peg Ohle

If present plans are carried through, Charlevoix County residents who are building or remodeling a house, garage or other outbuilding, will not have to run from one office to another securing necessary permits.

The Charlevoix County Planning Department has prepared a "package" of necessary permits which would be available at all of the three offices issuing permits – the Health Department, Office of Building Inspection, Planning Department and township Zoning Administrators.

County Planner Bill Mercer says the County Departments have approved the plan and he is waiting for the approval of the various township Zoning Administrators before finalizing it.

People needing permits could request they be sent by mail and the completed permits could be returned by mail with the necessary fees. Presently, all permits must be secured individually.

All new construction in the County must be covered by permits from the Health Department, Township Zoning Administrator, Soil Erosion Code Administrator, and the Building Code Department. However, there are some exceptions – garages and similar outbuildings do not require Health Department approval and construction affecting less than one acre of land, lying more than 500 feet from a lake or stream, does not require a soil erosion control permit.

There is also a definite order in which permits must be obtained. The Health Department permit comes first, followed by zoning, soil erosion, and building.

Health Department permits for sewage systems cost $15 and for wells $10; each township has its own schedule of zoning permit fees; soil erosion code permit fees are based on category, such as residential and commercial; and building code permit fees are based on the cost of the building project.

MESC Launches New Service To Place People in Jobs

By PEG OHLE

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) is not only a place from which to collect unemployment insurance.

It is a job placement service, and to emphasize that fact MESC has launched "Job Service," a new program to recruit job openings for Michigan's unemployed.

All unemployed people who register at MESC offices are catalogued by skills so that when an employer calls seeking someone to fill a certain job, people with the required skills can be found immediately.

Governor William G. Milliken recently sent his own letter to over 70,000 Michigan employers requesting that jobs be listed through the MESC Job Service, and pointing out that the services are free of charge to both employers and applicants.

If a job cannot be filled by a local resident, a computer-assisted Job Bank can give job openings statewide, or even national exposure, if the employer requests it.

Job Bank also offers the employer pre-screening, testing, referral and placement services.

"Employers have borne the financial burden of unemployment insurance because benefits are financed through a tax on employers' payrolls," S. Martin Taylor, MESC director, states. "Employers can ease that financial burden by hiring the unemployed through Job Service."

The local office of the MESC is located on U.S. 131 south in Petoskey, phone 347-5150.

Editorials/Opinions

County Residents Should Watch Actions OF CIS Very Closely

If you're not already concerned, you should start paying more attention to a so-called citizen's group named "Citizens Information Service," or CIS.

Many have asked us why our newspaper along with other media in the area even bother to give this group any space on our pages. They claim that this group represents a very small minority that doesn't deserve our attention.

But it is precisely for this reason that our newspaper does devote a portion of this weekly space to the group and its activities. Just like we would for any other group that is active within the county.

Although we do and will continue to express our views on our editorial page our news pages must continue to remain as open as possible to serve as a communication link to our readers.

And while news pages will continue to reflect the activities of this group, we cannot editorially stand on the sidelines without making some comment about this organization.

Some of the basic underlying principles that CIS has been projecting to the community are ones that we can find little argument with. Their tactics and methodology however, leave much to be desired.

For example, we, like any other county taxpayer cannot argue with the principle that government should not overspend or watch its pennies carefully.

And this is virtually what CIS is claiming in its November ballot proposal to limit county spending to 12 mills.

But, at a recent meeting in Charlevoix, the group demonstrated to us that they are unaware of the difference between sound fiscal management with reasonable cutbacks and arbitrary across the board limitations without any thought as to its effects on county operations.

And while the organization is so bold, in nearly a tribunal manner, as to demand just how the county would handle this tax limitation, they have so far been unable to present some reasonable alternatives.

Their defense at the recent Charlevoix meeting was that their solutions would be forecoming.

Similarly, residents were able to listen to a local radio spot just before the Charlevoix School District election that warned residents that they have a chance to set their own taxes on their homes and property for years to come by voting "No" on the school bond proposals. The ad was placed by CIS.

"It is highly questionable at this time to be planning expansion at a time of declining birth rates," the radio spot revealed.

The ad continued to enlighten listeners about some facts and figures concerning the bond proposal. The figures being used by the group are now being challenged by the school district.

Again, like the tax limitation question, we are not against dissention. In fact we would encourage it for the mere reason that it forces us to reevaluate our positions and ask ourselves if this is what we really want.

When the gasoline crisis hit us two short years ago, people were force to reevaluate their energy needs and uses.

But there is a difference between crisis situations that we have no control over and those that are caused by careless effort and poor preparation.

When we see disagreement, we like to see alternatives and other solutions.

If county expenditures are too high at their present millage rate, just where are they too high and where should they be cut. Perhaps there are some areas that should be looked into.

Similarly in the school situation, perhaps the birth rate is declining and uncertain economic conditions make some people wonder if expansion is the best way to go. At the same time, the school district is faced with overcrowded conditions and a rising enrollment.

We would like to see more constructive proposals from CIS, rather than a "I'm against you" attitude with every issue.

Comments made by a CIS leader to our managing editor that "if you gals expect to do a man's job," make us want to pay more attention to this group because they make us wonder just how creditable CIS is.

Letters to the editor

Hire the Handicapped

Dear Editor:

"We don't hire Spics, Niggers, Jews, Wops, Krauts, Polocks or women. They're too lazy, too dumb, dishonest or just don't belong here. Why don't they go back to the old country or Africa or go home and make babies and clean house?"

All of these old concepts and group labels have been scattered and buried, thank God. There exists another group too, but it hasn't been as vocal in claiming its rights, as have the others. This group is coming out of the closets and cellars where they have been hid and ignored since time began. Those who are physically and or mentally handicapped are finally being recognized as human beings with the same inalienable rights as everyone else.

Those individuals who have worked and lived with this group of people have long recognized that a tremendous resource is being untapped. This group represents a potential labor force with qualities which should endear them to every employer in the country. They like to work. They want to work. They take pride in their work. They don't want to be welfare recipients. They want to be productive members of society. They make fools of those who say "You just can't get good help anymore."

If all this is true, why aren't they all working? The problem is employers don't know it, and if they are informed, they don't believe it enough to actually seek out handicapped employees. This is too bad. Time magazine, for example observed, "Some restauranteurs are hiring the mentally retarded because they are the only people willing to try–and even take pride in their work".

There are now laws which keep employers from discriminating against the handicapped. The Federal government, however, has put extra teeth into the law. Any firm which has contracts with the federal government amounting to $2,500 or more MUST take affirmative action to hire the handicapped. This means they not only must not discriminate, but they must actively seek out handicapped employees. In other words it is not just smart to try and hire the handicapped–it is the law!

There are three workshops in the Northwestern lower peninsula. They serve mentally handicapped adults. They are all seeking to help handicapped individuals become part of the mainstream of society. Employers interested in hiring the handicapped will find these workshops to be a valuable resource of information and of potential employees. These workshops are the Lamplighter in Cheboygan, Bergmann Center, Charlevoix, and Asgard Enterprises in Traverse City.

CIS Responds

Dear Editor:

In regards to the meeting held by the CIS last Monday night, I feel it's necessary to give the voters a more accurate and unbiased picture of what effect there would be if Proposal B passes, come Oct. 18.

Commissioner Richardson blatantly emphasized throughout the meeting, the closing of Whiting Park, Civil Defense and severely cutting state ferry, etc. Any intelligent voter knows that these are scare tactics used by many politicians to retain their costly monuments. The facts are, if cuts do come by the voters they would not be that severe.

CIS will, on or about, Oct. 18, share its reasonable and fair ideas for cutting when and if Proposal B passes.

If you don't do anything else this week, take a drive outside of town to gasp at this year's outrageous display of fall colors.

Being colorblind to some degree, I don't usually get all excited about sunsets, rainbows and other examples of Mother Nature's art work. But the colors this fall are something else again, probably because of the unusually dry summer.

Now I haven't the faintest idea how an unusually dry summer should cause the foliage to be more spectacular than ever. Maybe the leaves didn't have as much chlorophyll and it evaporated more quickly, or whatever it does. Maybe dry leaves pick up more colorful elements from the soil then wet leaves.

But I do know the display of color between Charlevoix and Boyne City is something to behold. Hills are carpeted with rusty sumac. Yellow poplars and birches seem to have their own inside source of illumination. Bushy maples, red to the crown, cry: "Look at me! Look at me!"

Each tree is a show-offish child, begging for attention and admiration.

Of course, mingled with the bizarre colors are the cool, stately evergreens which never change from season to season or from year to year. I can't help but wonder if they enjoy the gaudy show going on around them.

But there is a note of sadness on the Charlevoix-Boyne City-rd., too, where thousands of regal elms—once the queens of the woods—stand leafless against the sky like the graceful skeletons of Japanese fans. They, of course, are victims of Dutch elm disease and are a grim reminder during pleasant weather of the snows and storms of January.

So don't miss the color this year. You won't believe it.

It is odd how most elections seem to degenerate into shouting matches over questions far removed from central issues.

This time around, Jimmy Carter's archaic slang in Playbody magazine and President Ford's golfing companions seem to be copping most of the headlines. Real issues—like unemployment, taxation, inflation, foreign aid, atomic waste and the role of big government in your life and mine must wait in the wings. Some of the important questions may never be answered before the election.

Instead of policy statements that will have at least some bearing on how the government will function after the election, we have President Ford debating with himself whether to fire the secretary of agriculture because he has a dirty mouth and appears biased against minorities.

Instead of telling us what he will do to fight inflation, Jimmy Carter spends his time apologizing to Mrs. Lyndon Johnson for calling her late husband a liar in the Playboy interview. And when he isn't apologizing, he is trying to explain his rather puzzling sex life in which he apparently spends a lot of time "lusting."

Good Lord! I thought lusting went out with high button shoes!

I suppose the news media is as much to blame as anyone for the present sad state of the presidential campaign. Newsmen, by and large, tend to be nitpickers and they are sensitive to the innuendoes of both campaign oratory and off-hand remarks. After a few well placed questions by newsmen a whole new side issue is born and the candidates are off and running in a different direction.

Every four years after the hoopla and ballyhoo is over, I tell myself there has to be another way. How can the greatest nation on earth pick its national leaders in such an irresponsible manner?

And yet the system seems to work. Lincoln was a Republican before he became the Great Emancipator.

If there's one aspect of television that intrigues people, it's the Green Room Mystique.

Maybe it's because it's the one room that viewers have never seen. They want to know what goes on in that mysterious hole in the wall that contains the bodies of guests just before they walk out on the Carson, Dinah, Douglas, Merv, or Donahue sets. Do the sweatees drink? Is it a fun place? Are they nervous? Is it really green?

With every book I've published, I do the green room circuit. (I also sell the book door-to-door with a line of vanilla.) This month, with the publication of my newest, "The Grass Is Always Greener Over the Septic Tank," I will visit more than 70 green rooms. (Setting a new Olympic record of 70 spit-ups.)

I am known as the Willy Loman of the green rooms. Rarely do I meet anyone I know or anyone who knows me. In fact, in one green room, I was the only person there not related to anyone on the show by a former marriage.

I take a seat near the door, and every 15 seconds or so a director will poke his head in the door and inquire, "You okay?" He does this because I am the only person in the room rocking back and forth and humming while sitting in a fetal position.

Occasionally, a man will come in, scrutinize all the faces and come to rest on me. "You! You'd better come to makeup." To which I reply, "I've just returned."

During recent years, I've noted a camaraderie among guests of talk shows, mostly because they have become a rather tight-knit group that tours with some regularity. It is hard to break through. Once, for no reason at all – except I was lonely – I said, "Has anyone heard from Frank lately?"

I've never seen booze in a green room (externally that is), or a magazine, or a picture on the wall, or much food, or children, a newspaper, a phone, a living plant, or a television set that works.

A green room has the personality of a bus station restroom, the capacity of a life raft, the comfort of a Brahma bull in a chute just before the gate opens...and you are mumbling to yourself, "I turn right...that's the hand I open mail with...and go up one step and kiss the host..."

As to why they're called green rooms. . . most of them aren't. They merely reflect the color of the people who occupy them.

A piercing question

"You still need parental consent to get your ears pierced, but you don't have to tell them about an abortion."

So spoke Jackie Halsema, a member of the Miami Right to Life Crusade Inc. She had just heard about the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that unmarried minors do not need parental permission to get an abortion.

Naturally, this raised an important issue which could not be ignored by President Ford and Jimmy Carter.

Where do they stand on pierced ears?

Some people think this should remain a personal decision to be made by the woman attached to the ears, with the advice of her jeweler.

They are her ears, so if she wants holes in them, it's her business. It should make no difference if she is a minor. Barring complications, she will still have the same ears when she is an adult.

So what if a 15-year-old girl cannot get a reputable jeweler to pierce her ears without a note from her mother? She will not give up. She will pierce her own ears with a dirty needle, or go to a back-alley piercing mill. She will risk infection and a bungled piercing which could later heal over.

That's what the pro-piercers say.

The anti-piercers see things much differently. They are concerned about the rights of ears.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops, with plenty of Protestant support, is working for a constitutional amendment which would forbid piercing in every state.

The bishops' strong stand has contributed to what is generally called Jimmy Carter's "Catholic problem."

Carter recently rejected the bishops' request that he support their constitutional amendment. He did say, however, that he personally wouldn't pierce his ears. And he added that he doesn't agree with the Democratic platform plank which says it would be "undesirable" to force all females over six years old to wear iron earmuffs at all times.

Carter has recently been courting the pro-ear vote by visiting ethnic neighborhoods and promising to preserve the purity of ears, but not through a constitutional amendment.

Carter has been heckled severely by supporters of the amendment. They greet him at airports with gruesome posters of festering ears.

President Ford recently touched on pierced ears while talking to reporters in the Rose Garden outside the White House. He spoke there so Jimmy Carter couldn't accuse him of campaigning in the Oval Office. (The taxpayers pay the upkeep on Ford's office, but he fertilizes his own garden.)

Ford said he now supports a constitutional amendment "restoring protection" to the rights of ears. His press secretary later explained that this did not represent a change in position for Ford who, earlier this year, said "I do not agree that a constitutional amendment is the proper remedy."

When the press said Ford sounded fuzzy on piercing, his press secretary told them to go press a rose. "Sit on it," he said.

Both Ford and Carter agree it would be a better world if ear piercing were never needed. They both advocate ear education and other measures which would eliminate any need for piercing. Girls would be taught at an early age that earrings can be screwed on with no danger of dropping off and becoming lost.

It is up to parents to teach girls it is possible to look good in earrings without getting holes in their ears. If the parents won't do the job, then the schools must. Slides and other informational material could be supplied by the jewelry industry, which certainly has a stake in the controversy.

Out of respect to the bishops, attendance at ear education classes would be voluntary. Alternate classes in "The Beauty of Chaste Ears" could be offered.

But education is the long-range solution. It will take many years to teach every female in the United States to wear earrings by pressing innocent flesh, not by piercing it.

In the meantime, there's an election coming up and it is important that the public know where Ford and Carter are on lobes. Possibly we should also listen to a third presidential candidate, Eugene McCarthy.

When asked how he felt about pierced ears, McCarthy said it was nobody's business but his. "Ask me about unemployment," he said, showing a reckless disregard for the really important problems which a government should solve for its citizens.

Any clod can go out and find a job. But a woman needs a president to tell her if she can get her ears pierced.

Meet Charlevoix

...Sam Supernaw

Sam Supernaw is a former Charlevoix High School athlete who still "participates" in football and basketball behind the loud speaker. In this interview he tells the Courier why and compares today's teams with those he played on.

COURIER: How long have you been field announcer for the games?

SUPERNAW: Since I came back to town. About six years.

COURIER: Why do you do it?

SUPERNAW: Because I've always been interested in sports and it gets me to the games. Sometimes if you don't have kids playing it's hard to get there. I enjoy watching the games.

COURIER: Do you ever have trouble with the spectators?

SUPERNAW: Sometimes they heckle me if I make a mistake, call the wrong name or make a grammatical error. It's a funny position to be in because I'm supposed to remain neutral. Sometimes that's difficult because I was born and raised in Charlevoix and feel this is my team.

COURIER: What is your relationship with the players?

SUPERNAW: I have only a "hello" relationship, unless I know them otherwise. Being an announcer doesn't get me that close to them.

COURIER: Do you have trouble learning the numbers of the players?

SUPERNAW: At the beginning of the football season sometimes it's hard. Of course I recognize the returning players.

COURIER: Do you think spectator turn-out is good for the games?

SUPERNAW: Yes. When I played we had only the small bleachers and people stood along the fence. For the population of the school we had good turnouts then and still do.

COURIER: With what school does Charlevoix have the greatest rivalry?

SUPERNAW: In recent years it's been Petoskey – I suppose because they are near and have had good teams. When I played it used to be Boyne City. Petoskey was not in the league then. Of course, there is still great rivalry between Charlevoix and Boyne City.

COURIER: How does this year's team look?

SUPERNAW: They have a great defense. They lost two close games, 6-0, one to Cheboygan. I hear Cheboygan has one of the best teams in the north but they beat us only 6-0, and we probably should have won. After we get the offense going we should have a good team this year. The Grayling game will probably be the test.

COURIER: Do many of the football players engage in other sports?

SUPERNAW: Many of them play basketball, some of the bigger ones go into wrestling, and some of the big linemen are good shotputters.

COURIER: What sports did you participate in when you were in high school?

SUPERNAW: Football, basketball and track. Those were the only three sports they had for boys when I was there – 1957 to 1961. You participated in them or you were left out. Now they have other sports like golf, tennis, wrestling and cross country.

COURIER: How does present-day football differ from what you played?

SUPERNAW: There are more boys on the team; more specialists. The platoon system has changed it. There used to be only one or two guys shuffled. It used to be a basic ground game. Now there's more passing and more sophisticated plays. The kids on the whole are more talented because they can't concentrate on one aspect of the game – offense or defense. We had as good individual players back when I played but now there are more good players on the team, not just one or two. However, our teams in 1958 and 1959 were rated state champs because they had eight, 10 or 11 great players.

COURIER: Do today's football players practice harder than they did when you were in school?

SUPERNAW: They probably do because there is more opportunity for them to get into the game. They can train for one spot – kicking, punting or something else – and can be assured of a spot if they work hard. The team practice is about the same but there is more individual practice.

COURIER: You graduated from high school in 1961. Then what did you do?

SUPERNAW: I went to Michigan State and studied accounting. I graduated in 1966 and went to work for Price-Waterhouse in Detroit for two years. Then I was transferred to San Francisco for two years. I had an opportunity to come back and work for a CPA firm in Petoskey, so I did. I always wanted to come back to the area. I worked there two years then started my own accounting firm in Charlevoix in 1971. I'm also involved with Cinema III theater here in Charlevoix, a theater in St. Ignace, and one we lease in the summer time in Harbor Springs.

COURIER: What organizations do you belong to?

SUPERNAW: The Lions Club and the Congregational Church.

COURIER: Do you have any hobbies?

SUPERNAW: Yes, golf, skiing and hunting. I have a boat but I don't fish any more.

COURIER: What else have you done?

SUPERNAW: I spent three years on the City Council but got off because of the pressure of business. However, I hope to get back into city government again.

COURIER: Tell us about your family.

SUPERNAW: I married the former Mary Lou Anderson from Ann Arbor, whom I met at school. We have two boys, Jonathan, 12, and Sam, Jr., 10.

COURIER: Are your boys athletes?

SUPERNAW: We're working on them. They play Little League ball and flag football and basketball.

Sam Supernaw

Ms. Dietrich Named to Campaign

Ms. Janis Dietrich of Charlevoix has been named to the Don Riegle for Senate committee as a county coordinator in Charlevoix County.

Mrs. Dietrich will serve as a organizing voter registration drives and voter identification. Also involved in assuming the position is an extensive drive for volunteers.

Letter to the editor

Replies to Neff

Dear Editor:

Before responding to Neff's letter published in last weeks Courier I would like to make three statements:

1. I am not a member of the C.I.S.
2. I am and have always been a dues paying member of the Charlevoix County Democratic Party.
3. I am a volunteer member of the Committee to re-elect Republican Philo Sumner to the office of Charlevoix County Sheriff.

At our first organizational Committee meeting for Sheriff Sumner it was announced that Robert Neff had been contacted and he would rather not commit himself to either candidate for Sheriff but if he was confronted by his supporters in the Primary Election he would suggest they vote for Sumner in the November 2 General Election.

Later in the week a gentleman stopped at our home stating that Neff had a program in process to support George Lasater.

After attending school together and throughout the years of maintaining a friendship basis with Neff I felt free to phone him at his home and to confirm one report or the other. Neff stated both statements were true. He had told Sumner he would not commit himself openly but if the question arose he would suggest voting for the incumbent Sheriff. While having lunch with Lasater he was offered a job on the Sheriff's staff - and he felt with his training he would be of great help to Lasater. In all due respect to Neff's service with the State Police twenty-five years ago it is very possible that after several refresher courses he perhaps could be of some assistance. Laws and lifestyles do alter greatly throughout a span of years.

During my conversation with Neff I asked if he didn't feel that Lasater's promise of a Sub-Station of the Sheriffs Department in our out-lying areas was not a dishonest move. I was informed the 'promise' was merely a 'good-will gesture' and after election Lasater could easily 'get off the hook' as the County Board of Commissioners would never allocate monies for such actions.

With a big thank you to Neff for being so honest with me I would like to close by asking three questions:

1. Is it possible the employment offer changed Neff's opinion of candidates?
2. Has Sheriff Sumner promised to put your name on his new pay roll?
3. Are we certain we will benefit the residents of our county by changing sheriffs at this time?

Thank you,
Mrs. Dan (Beth) Genelt

Sumner Discusses Operations

To The Editor:

There are a lot of things over-looked at the Sheriff's Department when you setup working conditions for the complete department, so let's start to consider them, and the manpower that is available.

The Jail, which never closes, requires the following: dispatching, telephone, booking, printing, records, feeding, transporting, and cell checks every hour. This takes 6 personnel to operate the jail, for the 168 hours in a week. There is also a 40 hour a week Janitor. There is one Animal Control Officer (40) hours a week. Beaver Island Officer (20) hours a week. For all Civil process, and enforcement of Civil law (2) men officers, or a total of 80 hours a week. One Marine-Snowmobile Officer (40) hours a week. Court Officer, and Jury Officer (40) hours a week to service the three Courts. Detective Division (40) hours a week. The above mentioned services are for 168 hours a week, not 40 hours.

That is a total of (14) personnel, from the (20) stated in the paper. This now leaves (6) personnel to handle all complaints, road patrol, liquor inspections, management, sick leave, vacations, emergencies, accidents, etc.

It is stated in the paper, that a substation could be operated at no increase to the taxpayer. One man at the substation will handle complaints on a call out basis and work (40) hours a week. This means that (128) hours a week this area will not be covered, also this means that the patrol car will be unavailable to any other personnel for the other (128) hours a week.

It states in the Union contract that there will be (2) men in a car after dark. Where is this second man going to come from?

There are (15) Townships in the County, what is going to happen to them, should we assign men to each township also, with only (6) men to handle the complete County, this includes the Sheriff, and Under-Sheriff, and Matron.

Respectfully Yours;
Philo E. Sumner
Sheriff of Charlevoix County

Friend of Court Otis Retires After Five Years

Charlevoix County's first Friend of the Court retired Wednesday.

Howard Otis, 70, retired after five years of service to the county. And Otis left with quite a record in that department.

One of the duties of the Friend of the Court is to collect delinquent child support payments. Otis made a reputation for Charlevoix County in that department.

"When I first came here we weren't making any collections," Otis said. "Now we are seventh in the state in percentage of collections we make.

"You see, if the father's don't make the payments then we have to use taxpayers money to support the children," Otis explained. "With good collections we save the taxpayers money."

Otis, who summered up here for many years and then finally moved up here in 1969, said he had been asked to take the job by Judge Edward Fenlon and County Clerk Clarence Rabach when they first set up the department.

The Friend of the Court said his law background came in handy during his tenure in the position.

"I went to the Detroit College of Law, but back in the Thirties no one was hiring lawyers, so I started an automobile dealership," Otis explained. "I was never sorry I didn't use my degree, but it was helpful with this job."

Otis also holds a masters degree from the University of Michigan and an AB from Kalamazoo College.

After a stint in the Army during World War II, Otis spent the next 30 years selling Dodge and Plymouths and then Chevrolets, while summering in the Charlevoix Area.

Otis said he plans to lead an active life in his retirement.

"I'm not going to take it easy," he said. "I will probably accept a job with a Detroit car dealer managing dealerships and I'll keep active with car wholesales."

Howard Otis

Otis said he was planning to do some traveling to visit a sister in New York and his daughter Mildred (Tiller) when she studies in Germany next year.

Otis and his wife Mary have three children, Sharon Cronk, who lives in Cheboygan with her family, Howard (Buster), who is working on the Alaskan pipeline, and Mildred Tiller.

No successor has been named to the Friend of the Court position yet.

Project Unit Sign-ups Start During 4-H Week Celebration

This is 4-H week and 4-H project groups are now being formed. Bob Bellairs, program assistant, is encouraging young people of all ages to enroll.

"There are no dues, no uniforms, just a lot of good times," Bellairs say, pointing out that many chores young people routinely do around the house could probably earn them 4-H achievement awards.

Men and women are also invited to become 4-H leaders, for only their own children or for the whole neighborhood. The Cooperative Extension Service and Michigan State University provide them with all the information they need to become leaders.

High school students are needed to participate in the teen leader program. This entails leading groups, attending learning seminars sponsored by Michigan State University, and helping out the younger members.

4-H lists 33 projects in which members may participate but stresses that the number is endless because "if you don't see what you want, you can put together your own pilot program with help from our staff."

The list of suggested projects range from outdoor activities (camping and hiking, firearm safety, natural resources and conservation) to science (crops and soil, electrical, entomology, veterinary) to family-oriented subjects (family living, health, home design, sewing, nutrition) to many others.

Once considered an organization for farm children, 4-H and its projects have branched out into fields that interest all young people no matter where they live. This is borne out by the fact that sewing is the most popular 4-H project.

"Head, Heart, Hands, Health" is the meaning of 4-H. Those interested in becoming members or leaders should fill out the accompanying coupon and return it to Bob Bellairs, Cooperative Extension Office, Federal Building, Boyne City 49712.

Principal's Group Offering Scholarship to High Schoolers

High School seniors looking for college scholarships should visit the principal's office.

The National Association of Second School Principals is holding a competition this year which will award 102 lucky seniors at least $1,000 in scholarship finds through the Century III Leaders Scholarship Program.

The Century III Leaders Scholarship Program is the 1976-1977 successor to the Bicentennial Seniors Scholarships which were awarded to the class of 1976. Top national award will be a $10,000 college scholarship. Two winners from each state and the District of Columbia will get $1,000 scholarships, and the nine national finalists will receive an additional $500 scholarship.

The 102 state winners will participate in a four-day Century III Leaders meeting in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in March, 1977, in which national education, business and government leaders will conduct seminars about current issues. At the completion of the conference, the national winner will be selected.

Winners will be selected on the basis of performance in a specially prepared current event examination conducted in each school; the student's participation in school and community activities; and a "Projection for Innovative Leadership" This projection must be a written statement of the student's ideas about how Americans can meet the nation's needs and challenges during its third century.

Owen B. Kiernan, Executive secretary of NASSP, says the competition will begin at local participating high schools where one winner will be selected for a Certificate of Recognition and an opportunity to win a state scholarship.

Any graduating senior in an accredited public, private or parochial high school can enter the competition by submitting an application to the school principal before the deadline of Oct. 15, 1976.

Leslie Lehmann, Kim Kelly Speak Vows in Bay City

The First Congregational Church of Bay City was the scene recently of the wedding of Leslie Jeanne Lehmann and Kim Robert Kelley.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lehmann of Bay City and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kelley of Bay City and Charlevoix.

Arrangements of autumn flowers and lighted tapers graced the altar for the ceremony performed by the Rev. George LaVoo on September 18. James Hill was the organist and Mrs. Darwin Mixer the soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a gown of white polyester satin and lace for her wedding. Made by her mother, the gown was fashioned with an empire bodice, lace yoke with a stand-up collar and long lace sleeves. Her veil was of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Julie Lehmann was her sister's maid of honor and Jean Lee was bridesmaid. They wore identical peach gowns with brown velvet trim styled with scoop necklines and long sheer sleeves ano carried baskets of white daisies, peach carnations and baby's breath.

Dennis Belknap assisted the bridegroom as best man. Keith Lehmann, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Russell Lehmann, brother of the bride, Eric Zier and James Singleton seated the guests. All are from Bay City. Jeremy Lehmann of Saginaw, nephew of the bride was ringbearer.

Mrs. Lehmann wore a sleeveless lavender princess dress and lavender and blue printed jacket for her daughter's wedding. Mrs Kelley, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of seafoam chiffon over taffeta.

A reception followed the West Side Masonic Temple.

Following a wedding trip to northern Michigan, the couple will live in Essexville.

Among the wedding guests were Mrs. Elaine Martin and son, C.T. Martin, Karen Adams and Mrs. Harry Gebeau of Charlevoix.

Diane Cornell Marries Lloyd Himebauch at St. Mary

Diane Elizabeth Cornell and Lloyd John Himebauch were married at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Sept. 4.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W Cornell and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Himbauch, both of Charlevoix.

Father Magoon and Rev. Kyser performed the afternoon ceremony held before 250 guests.

For her wedding, the bride wore an early Victorian style dress with white lace. Her veil was a picture hat with veiling and she carried dried wild flowers in the fall colors of burnt orange, gold and brown.

Beverly Anderson served as maid of honor and Jeannie Himebauch, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid. The two girls wore a lime green dresses with a small hollow and white flower print. The dresses were a voil, straight line floor length style.

The girls also carried dried flowers of fall colors.

Kenneth Cornell, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Oscar B. Ford was the best man and Jeffery Himebauch was a groomsman.

Ushers were Ronnie Himebauch and David Himebauch.

A reception given by the parents of the bride followed the wedding at the American Legion Hall.

For the wedding the brides mother wore a floor length aqua colored crepe dress. Mrs. Himebauch wore a floor length blue knit dress. Both mothers wore fall colored orchids.

The grooms parents held a rehearsal dinner at Bourke's Steak and Stein.

Following a camping honeymoon south of Traverse City, the couple made their home in Charlevoix where John is a mechanic with Bellinger Marine Service. Diane is working on her BA in administration at North Central Michigan College.

PTA Space Shuffle At First State Bank

Members of the Michigan Congress of Parents, Teachers and Students will be in Charlevoix for a special meeting from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. today at the First State Bank Community Room.

Mrs. Elaine Stienkemeyer, Michigan PTA president from Holt, will lead a group of state PTA representatives on an outreach called the "PTA Space Shuttle," to meet with local citizens, PTO members, teachers and administrators.

All interested people are invited to attend the information session.

COURIER Lifestyle

New Chiropractor Jeff Ricks Opens Office at 1101 Bridge St.

Jeffrey B. Ricks, Doctor of Chiropractic, has moved to Charlevoix from Vassar to open a practice at his new offices at 1101 Bridge st.

At Vassar, he was associated with the widely known Blossom Clinic for the past year.

Dr. Ricks will open his new offices here on Monday, Oct. 11; upon his return from attending a National Upper Cervical Chiropractic seminar at Monroe this week.

The hours at his office will be from 9:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. daily Monday through Friday and 9:00 until 12 noon on Saturday.

A native of Birmingham where he was graduated from high school, Ricks was graduated in 1971 from Western Michigan University with a B.A. degree in Marketing before entering the Palmer College of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa. Attending school throughout the year, he completed his studies in three years and graduated with honors in 1975. He interned at a clinic associated with the college before joining the Blossom Clinic. He also has 300 hours of graduate work taken on and off campus, mostly at seminars, to his credit.

He is married to the former Patricia Bracy. They have one daughter Kristin, two. They make their home at 221 W. Hurlbut.

82 Enrolled In Adult Ed Classes At H.S.

Eighty-two persons are enrolled in the Adult Education program offered by the Charlevoix High School, Roy M. Fortin, assistant principal in charge of the program, has announced.

Thirty-seven of the number are enrolled in High School completion courses--U.S. Government, Bookkeeping and Adult Basic Education.

The other 45 are enrolled in Adult Enrichment courses, Beginning Bridge, Oil Painting, Beginning Quilting and Driver Education (Adult).

The high school completion courses are offered without charge to those persons utilizing them for credit toward graduation.

The enrichment courses are offered for a fee plus materials.

The classes are taught at designated evenings at the high school for 10 weeks.

PET Classes Offered To Charlevoix Parents

Mothers, fathers, teachers and others interested in learning how to build a better relationship with children are encouraged to attend a Parent Effectiveness Training (PET) session next Monday at 7:30 at the Bethany Lutheran Church.

The Reverend Edgar M. Priess, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church in Boyne City who is a certified instructor for PET, will be on hand to explain the technique and demonstrate some skills of PET. If it is determined there is enough interest in the subject, an eight-week PET course will be set up, taught by Priess.

Further information may be obtained from Dorothy Porter, phone 547-9497.

Joint Health Program Offers Preventive Care to Youth

By PEG OHLE

A program conducted jointly by the Department of Social Services and District health Department is aimed at preventing medical and physical problems in young people.

Called "Project Health", it is available to everyone under 21 years of age who is included on a Medicaid card.

Social Services caseworkers are on the alert for possible health problems while visiting homes and when found, refer the child to the Health Department for screening by specially trained registered nurses and technicians. If results show the need for a doctor, dentist or other medical person, the child is referred to him.

Rather than waiting for health problems to show up, Project Health encourages routine periodic screening, preferably at ages six months, one, three, five, eight, 11, 14, 17 and 20. The object is to prevent health problems get a start, not allowing small problems to become serious, time-consuming and difficult to cure.

The local Health Department holds screening clinics every three months. One hundred and sixteen young people were tested in the last two clinics and another clinic is scheduled for next month.

Participants are given a dental inspection, vision test, hearing test, several blood tests, urinalysis, and are checked for motor, personal-social, and language development. Participants' health history is reviewed and immunization chart checked. An assessment is made of dietary and physical factors.

After the tests are given, a nurse discussed the results with the family and makes plans for any needed follow-up.

There is no cost for screenings, diagnosis or treatment to those eligible for Medicaid. The Medicaid card also covers glasses, dental work and hearing aids.

Women Voter League To Organize This Week

A chapter of the League of Women Voters is being formed in Charlevoix.

There will be two meetings this week at which interested people may learn more about the organization. The first meeting will be held this evening from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Community Room at the City Hall and the second meeting will be held Thursday morning from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the same place.

Betty Clauson, field service vice-president of the state League of Women Voters, will be present at both meetings to explain the processes of the League and how it operates.

The new chapter welcomes members form Charlevoix County and surrounding areas.

ED MANN finds a hole and dashes through it

GRAYLING VIKINGS Mike Schilbe and Gary Hong close in on a Rayder ball carrier, but that didn't stop the team from rolling up a 27 0 score

Rayders Down Grayling Vikings 27-0

By DICK ROSENCRANTZ

The Charlevoix Rayders in an outstanding display of offensive and defense control of the line of scrimmage shut out the Grayling Vikings, 27-0, last Friday at Kipke Field.

The win evens the Rayder's Michigan Huron Shores Conference record at 1-1 and overall record at 2-2.

From the opening kick-off, the Vikings found themselves back pedaled most of the evening. An infraction of the rules on the kick-off forced Viking kicker Allen Johnston to try again from the 35 yard line.

Bud Klooster returned the second try to his 41 yard line.

Rayder coach Don Carey started an all senior backfield of Brian Williams at quarterback and Ed Mann, Gregg Chappuies, and Scott Boss at running backs.

The seniors ran like it was the last game of the season and the state championship was riding on each play.

Chappuies took the first handoff from Williams and moved to the Viking 48 - first down. Mann then moved through a hole in the Viking line big enough for Patton's Third Army and rambled to the Viking 26. Boss fought for eight more yards to the 18. Chappuies carried to the five on the next play and then completed the scoring drive by vulling in from the five. Bud Klooster added the extra point bya splitting the uprights and Charlevoix was ahead 7-0 with less than two minutes gone on the clock.

Opening those big holes on the opening drive as they did most of the night were center Dan Boss, tackles Barry Potter and Gary Probert, guards David Tollas and Chris Cinnamon and ends Matthew Doan and Neil Dziedzic.

The Vikings never recovered from that opening touchdown blitz as the Rayder defense bottled up their offense in the Grayling end of the field throughout the first half.

The Vikings failed to gain a first down throughout the first half and ended up with a mere 15 total yards in offensive effort during the first 24 minutes of play.

Obviously trying to establish some sort of running game against a tough Rayder defense that had held the opposition to less than 4.5 points per game, the Vikings continually hit a stone wall. That wall anchored - by Probert, Potter and 230-pound Tom Jones, actually provided Grayling's only bright spot of the night - kicker Allen Johnston.

Johnston, forced to punt several times with his back close to his own goal line, averaged over 40 yards a kick and had several close to 50 yards in length.

The Rayders continued to knock on the Vikings throughout the first quarter but several incomplete passes thwarted any further scoring.

In the second quarter, Bud Klooster returned a Johnston punt to the Viking 35 yard line. On third and 8, Williams completed his first pass of the evening to Matt Doan and a first down on the 20. Williams caught the Viking line backers blitzing and Doan was all alone for the pass completion. Several plays later, Scott Boss scored from the 17. After Klooster's second conversion, Charlevoix was on top, 14-0.

The Vikings, unable to penetrate the Rayder defense went to the air. Quarterback Steve Olson's second attempt was intercepted by Scott Boss as the ball bounced the intended receiver's hands.

Williams quickly went to work with a completed pass to Dziedzic on the Viking 36. Mann moved the ball to the 20 as the Rayder offensive line continued to dominate the 'pit'. Williams again called on Mann and the senior halfback brought the capacity crowd to its collective feet with a brilliant display of broken field running to give the Rayders a first down on the ten yard line. Mann caught the Viking defense moving one direction and he moved against the flow of action for the first down.

Mann completed the drive by skirting his left end and barely getting into the corner of the end zone to post Charlevoix 20th point on the scoreboard. Klooster made it 21 with his third conversion.

After stopping Grayling on the ensuing kickoff, the Bayders again moved into Viking territory. With Mann and Lee Begrow picking up first downs and Doan catching a Williams pass, the Rayders threatened to score again but time ran out on the score board clock.

Following the second half kickoff, the Vikings started to move the ball and threatened several times. But timely interception of Olson passes by Williams and Boss killed the scoring drives.

Following a Williams interception early in the third quarter, the Rayders completed their scoring for the evening when Williams scored on a four-yard quarterback keeper play. Klooster's try for his fourth conversion point was blocked.

During the fourth quarter, Coach Carey started to insert substitutions into the Rayder lineup, both offensively and defensively.

Juniors James Alger and Tom Left were used at the quarterback position during the final period, as were juniors Woody Pearson and Robert Tillen at the running back positions.

Chris Passehl and Darin VanLoo on the defensive line and Pat Klooster and James Elzinga in the defensive backfield provided the Viking offense with the same problems as the starting defensive lineup did in the first half.

Grayling head coach Bill Kilinger elected to stay with Olson as his quarterback throughout the game but did insert less experienced players as the game drew to a close.

The Viking defense intercepted two Rayder passes in the final period but were not able to take any advantage of either turnover.

Grayling, who had beaten Gaylord last week in a fine showing, could not get untracked throughout the game as the Rayder defense held the Vikings to a total of 75 yards in the game. The Rayder offense, which had been having trouble in the first three games generating any scoring punch, racked up over 340 yards total offense.

The Rayders have this Friday off as the scheduled opponent, Rogers City, has suspended football action for 1976. In two weeks, the Rayders will host St. Ignace in a homecoming game at Kipke Field.

THE RAYOER defense and offense were tough this week and held the Vikings to only 72 yards.

JIM ELZINGA wasn't fooled by this Viking play as he read it correctly and was in on the tackle.

THE VIKINGS had their hands up to block the pass, but they were unsuccessful.

CHARLEVOIX ATTEMPTS to squeeze through the line but didn't quite make it this time. That didn't stop them from gaining 340 yards.

Girls Down Grayling In Decisive 49-14 Battle

The Charlevoix girls basketball team posted a decisive win over the Grayling quintet, a 49-14 win in which all 12 team members participated on Thursday.

Paced by Maureen Cudd, who had 12 points, Charlevoix jumped to a 22-4 first period lead and increased it to 37-7 at the half and 47-11 at the third period before coasting to an easy victory.

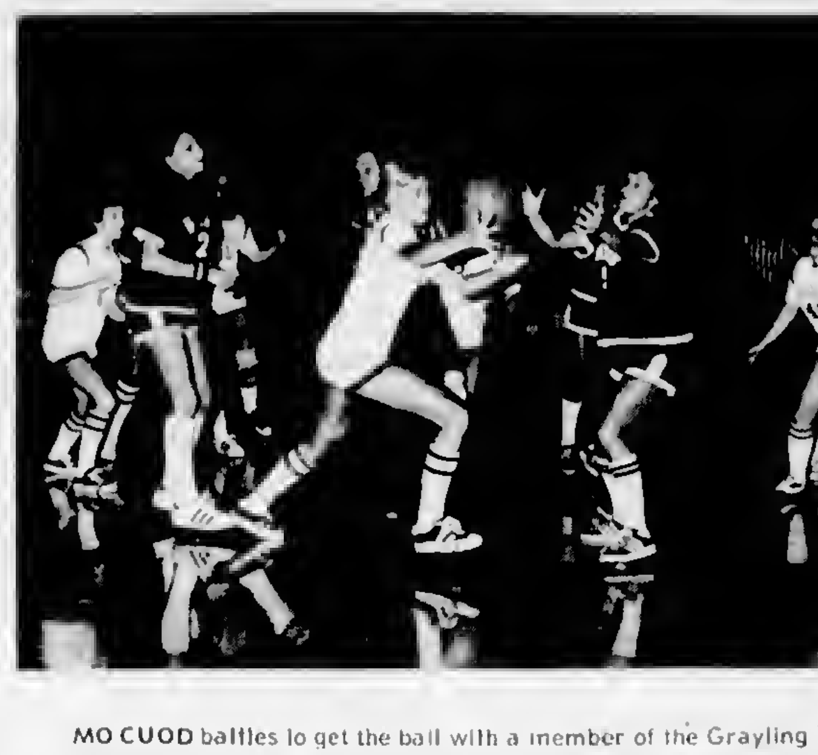
Shelly Buss and Sheri Reed had six points each for the visitors.

The Charlevoix JV victory, 43-12, was equally lopsided.

Charlevoix went ahead 14-2 at the quarter and 24-5 at halftime before forging to a 36-7 advantage going into the final period.

Sherri Selissen scored 13 and Chris Lehman 11 points for the victors. R. Wolfin had eight for the Grayling JV's.

Charlevoix will host Cheboygan here Thursday.



MO CUOD battles to get the ball with a member of the Grayling Varsity Basketball team during Thursday nights game. The Rayders defeated the Vikings to extend their winning streak after a slow season start.

Drenth Sets Second Record At Cross Country Meet

Wally Drenth, Charlevoix Rayder harrier, set a new track record for a second straight week when he covered the three-mile track at Petoskey in a time of 16:35. The former track record was 16:39.

Teammate, Mark Russell, came in third with a time of 17:14.

Their efforts, however, were of no avail as they came in second in the meet with 45 total points.

Petoskey won the meet with 28 points. Gaylord was third with 72 and Grayling fourth with 87.

Drenth had shattered the track record at Cheboygan the week before with a time of 16:12.

Charlevoix will be at St. Ignace with Petoskey Tuesday.

The membership of the Rayder Cross Country squad has changed since the season opened and now includes, in addition to Wally Drenth and Russell, Mike Crowder, Ed Engstrom, Jeff Drenth, Craig Golovich, Brad Snizik, Steve Berlage and newcomers Dan Bruce, Mark Byard, Ron Hilton, Dan Sayer, Lee DeMitchell, Gene Morrison, Nate Klooster, Tom Morrison and Steve Mielke.

Pete Spieles is team coach.

JV Wins Again, Defeats Grayling

The Charlevoix Rayder JV squad scored on a variety of passing and rushing plays Thursday night to roll up a 32-6 win over Grayling.

Quarterback Barney Way passed nine yards to Rich Russell midway in the first period to put Charlevoix on the scoreboard. He then passed to end Pat Schmidt for the two-point conversion.

In the second period, Way romped 65 yards after going around right end to breakaway from the TD and then went around left end to carry the ball in for the conversion.

After a 16-0 lead at the half, Coach Hal Evans changed quarterbacks as Gilbert Noirot took over. Noirot then got off a 30-yard pass to Russell for a third TD and passed to Schmidt for the P.A.T.

As time ran out in the third period Kevin Kratt went through left tackle to score from 13 yards out. He then hit the line for the conversion points.

Grayling's single TD came late in the game on a two yard plunge as Evans emptied his bench.

The Charlevoix JV's will meet class A Sault Ste. Marie at Kipke field at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. The substitution of the Varsity Reserves was necessary when Bogers City dropped football for the season.

Cowboys, Patriots Continue To Lead Flag Football Race

The Patriots and the Cowboys continued to lead the Senior League in the flag football program with records of 3-0 as the season passes the halfway mark.

The Patriots shut out the Bucaneers 27-0 and the Cowboys defeated the Bears 19-0 while the Rams posted their first win of the season, a 20-7 victory over the Vikings.

In Junior league action, the Cowboys handed the Steelers their first defeat of the season by a score of 14-6 and the Dolphins defeated the Rams 13-6.

This week will find the Rams meeting the Steelers at 9:00 a.m. and the Cowboys and the Dolphins closhing at 10:15 a.m. in Junior League action. In the Senior League the Bears and the Rams will meet at 11:30 a.m.; the Vikings and the Patriot at 12:45 p.m. and the Bucaneers and the Cowboys at 2:00 p.m.

Patriots 27 Bucaneers 0

The Patriots did all their scoring in the first half before the Bucaneer defense tightended up in the second half.

Craig Klooster opened the scoring on a 38 yard run in the first period and in the second period took a six yard pass from Jeff Drury to add another scoring play. Drury added two TD's of his own on runs of 23 and one yard to complete the scoring. Rich Georgi added two conversion points and Ken Spiegl one.

Cowboys 19 Bears 0

In shutting out the Bears, the Cowboys scored on a five yard run by Jeff Daylong who then passed 25 yards to Mike Zednicek and two yards to Todd Daylong. Keith Corner scored one conversion point.

Rams 20 Vikings 7

In posting their first win in three games, the Cowboys, Gary Drury passed 26 yards to Mark Beaudoin in the first quarter; got off a 10 yard pass to Beaudoin in the second and a five yarder to Joe Herriman in the third to shut out the Vikings. Beaudoin then scored one conversion.

Dolphins 13 Rams 6

Doug Milligan opened the scoring for the Dolphins with a six yard scoring play before adding the conversion for a 7-0 lead. Mike Roebuck scored on a five-yard run for the Rams but the conversion failed and the Dolphins retained a slim one-point lead until late in the game when Brent Cole went in for the four yard line.

Cowboys 14 Steelers 6

Touchdowns by Tim LaBlance on a 10 yard pass interception in the first quarter and on a 19 yard run in the final period were instrumental in the Cowboys win over the Steelers. John Marsh added a conversion to give the team 13 points.

Dave McKenzie fell on the ball in the end zone to give the Steelers their only score.

Freshman Take First Game, Over Run Boyne City Players

The Charlevoix High School freshman football team posted its first win of the season last week, a 37-0, shut out over Boyne City.

This week the young Rayders will host Grayling here at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

In the meeting with the young Ramblers, the Rayders scored five TD's and four of their five conversions.

Scott Morgan scored on a 10 yard run and on a 10 yard pass from Bob Russell. Later in the game, Rod Anderson romped 29 yards; Gerard Doan passed 35 yards to John Fiedorek for another scoring play and Anderson plunged over from four yards out for the final tally.

Jack Cross ran two conversions in and Anderson kicked two and Morgan one.

Correction

The Cowboys of the Senior Division of the Flag Football League defeated the Rams 26-0 instead of losing by the same score as was reported last week. The team now has a 2-0 record. The error was the result of misinformation passed on the Charlevoix Courier.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix and Boyne City last week by Magistrate Howard Talboys:

Margo L. Goebel, 30, Central Lake, speeding. $35.

Steven W. LaBell, 19, Southfield, failing to stop at stop sign. $20.

Willis L. Peters, 50, Charlevoix, speeding. $23.

Arnold L. Howes, 34, Petoskey, no cycle endorsement. $20.

Linda L. Fuller, 27, Boyne City, speeding. $20.

William C. Oliver, 21, Petoskey, speeding. $20.

Jeffrey A. Eaton, 18, Boyne City, excessive noise (squealing tires). $20.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES SEPTEMBER 20, 1976
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Pro-Tem George Plumm presiding due to the illness of Mayor Hansen. Aldermen present: Wood, Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Plumm. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the September 7, 1976 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Mrs. P. D. Campbell addressed the Council and asked that the new channel lights on the north side of the channel be blacked-out on the back side so as to prevent the lights from shining into the windows of the homes on Pine River Lane. This will be taken under study by the Council for further action.

The meeting was opened to a Public Hearing on the proposed Zoning Ordinance and following a long period of discussion it was in the best interest of the City Council to further study and revise the Ordinance to conform to the requirements of our City. No action was taken.

A petition signed by some 150 City residents concerning Bells Bay Road was reviewed by the Council. The petition was to put an advisory vote on the November 2, 1976 ballot to get feed back as to what should be done with the Bells Bay Road. The vote would be to see if the people feel the road should continue to come under Charlevoix County Road Commission or close it and let it come under The Department of Natural Resources. This discussion was held over by Council until the next regular meeting on October 4, 1976. The feeling was that it should be studied further and the City Attorney & City Clerk get all of the facts and figures on conducting this vote.

Police Committee recommended that the parking meters on the side streets come down and that the gates be taken off the parking lot gates and stored away somewhere around October 1, 1976, and that the meters remain on Bridge Street until snow removal becomes a problem. This would permit free parking on the side streets and the Clinton Street parking lot.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $192,298.48 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Morris and supported by Alderman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Wood, Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, and Plumm. Nays: None. Absent. None.

Council adjourned.

Lyle S. King, City Clerk

RENA SHOOKS

ELLSWORTH -- Funeral services for Mrs. Rena (VanderArk) Shooks, 80, who died Thursday at the Munson Medical Center where she had been a patient for two weeks, were held Saturday at the Atwood Reformed Church. The Rev. Larry Brosseit officiated. Interment was in the Atwood cemetery.

The former Rena Telgenhof was born in Antrim county Oct. 18, 1896, and was married to Henry VanderArk at Central Lake on Dec. 8, 1916. They always resided in Ellsworth where they operated a general store until his death in 1954. She later married Vet Shooks who preceded her in death in 1973. She was a member of the Atwood Reformed Church, the church choir and the Ladies Aid.

She is survived by a niece and a nephew whom she raised, Mrs. Robert (Arlene) Smalley of Ellsworth from the age of seven years and George Martin of Ann Arbor from the age of four years; nine grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Anyone wishing to honor her memory may contribute in her name to the Michigan Heart Fund.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ALBERT J. CLARK

Funeral services for Albert J. Clark, 70, who died Saturday a short time after he was admitted to the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Petoskey Feb. 22, 1906, Mr. Clark was married to the former Margaret Kocher. He had lived most of his life in the Charlevoix area. He was a commercial fisherman.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Albert C. of Charlevoix and Robert N. of Colorado Springs, Colo.; a daughter, Mrs. Richard (Katherine) Oless of Phoenix, Ariz. and five grandchilren.

D. D. WALKER

A memorial service for D. D. Walker, 72, who died Tuesday at the Charlevoix Area Hospital where he had been a patient for several weeks, were held Friday at Christ Episcopal Church. The Rev. James Hampstead of the Emmanuel Episcopal church in Petoskey officiated.

Mr. Walker was born in St. Louis, Mo., March 25, 1904, and had been a resident of the Belvedere Club since 1944. He was past president of the Belvedere Club Association and had owned and operated Walker Marina for several years prior to his retirement in 1971. He was vice president of the Chicago and Southern Airlines which is now merged with Delta Airlines.

Mr. Walker, after becoming a member of the Belvedere Club, became interested in Charlevoix. He served as a director of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Association, with Mrs. Walker established a nursing scholarship at the hospital and was instrumental in raising funds for the support of the institution. He also was a director and served as Chairman of the Board of the Charlevoix County State Bank from May 1966 until May 1970. He was a member of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Louise Olin, whom he married in 1951; three daughters, Mrs. Betty Lou Bayer, Mrs. Mary Walker Hermann and Mrs. Clifford P. (Carol) McKinney, Jr., all of St. Louis, Mo.; a step-daughter, Mrs. Adele B. Kilgore of St. Louis, Mo. nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Walker requests that anyone wishing to honor Mr. Walker's memory contribute in his name to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Golfers Win Again

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team took advantage of the ideal Indian summer weather to post another victory Monday, this one a 164-195 win over Boyne City.

The Charlevoix team boasted dual medalists in Mike Custer and Pat Paul whose scores were 38. Bob Ranger had a 41 and Steve Schuch a 47 to give the Rayders their total score.

Ray Green with a 40 was top scorer for Boyne City.

Charlevoix will be at Petoskey at 4:00 p.m. Thursday.

Slightly Fishy Business Doesn't Worry Manager Of Jordan River Hatchery

By PAULA HOLMES

Things are a little fishy at the office of Charles Hiltz, a federal government employee.

But Hiltz isn't a bit worried about it. He's the manager of the Jordan River Fish Hatchery, where things are always a bit fishy.

Hiltz, along with three other biologists and three biology techs, oversees the hatchery of more than 11 million Lake Trout eggs each year at the only federal fish hatchery in the Lower Peninsula. And that's a lot of babies to be taking care of, Hiltz said.

The fish hatchery manager said the baby fish—or fry as they are technically referred to need as much care as human babies.

"After about four months in the incubators, the fish hatch and the fry are then removed to holding troughs," Hiltz explained during a recent open house held in celebration of National Hunting and Fishing Day. "At first we feed them every 10 minutes or so and then after a while the fry are fed every half hour.

Furtunately we have automatic feeders now," the hatchery manager continued. "But before we were feeding them by hand."

After four months of consuming a specially prepared diet of pellets about the size of a grain of table salt, the fish have become about 2 inches long, and are now called fingerlings. At this point some of the fingerlings are shipped off to the two federal hatcheries in the Upper Peninsula for raising, and Hiltz and his crew are then responsible for a mere 3 million fish, which they raise to the size of about 6 inches and then release into the Great Lakes, Michigan and Ontario.

The planting process is quite an involved one, according to Hiltz. The hatchery owns four trucks, which hold between 25-40,000 fish. Beginning in April and continue through July, the trucks travel about 40,000 miles planting fish all along the lakes.

The fish are planted from the shore or from trucks carried out in the middle of Lake Michigan by the Ludington car ferry. The U.S. Coast Guard has also helped the hatchery plant fish by dropping buckets of fish into the lake from helicopters.

But the hatchery program, run under the auspices of the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission, a part of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of Interior, is just a part of the commission's total program.

The commission, which is composed of representatives from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Canada, was set up in 1955 to control the sea lamprey and return Lake Trout to the Great Lakes. At that time, Lake Superior was the only lake left with lake trout in it. All commercial fishing of the Lake Trout was ceased and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fish hatchery in Marquette started a brood stock of the fish and supplied the eggs to other federal and state hatcheries.

The commission also ordered federal biolgoists to begin working on the eradication of the sea lamprey. Biologists spent time researching the affects of various chemicals on other lake life as well as on the sea lamprey and finally came up with a chemical that killed the lamprey, but not the fish, Hiltz said.

The chemical was used successfully for several years but lately there has been an increase in the number of the eel-like fish in the Boyne River, Little Traverse Bay and Lake Charlevoix.

"The lamprey have begun spawning in the deltas instead of the streams," the biologist explained. "A new treatment had to be found for use in the deltas."

Hiltz said the biologists have to be very careful when using the chlorine-based poison not to put the fish in stress. He said the biologists study the streams and deltas for 24-hours before they dump chemicals in it to make sure that the proper amount is used.

The biologists are also studying the spawning patterns of the Lake Trout which have been raised in the hatcheries and then released into the Great Lakes.

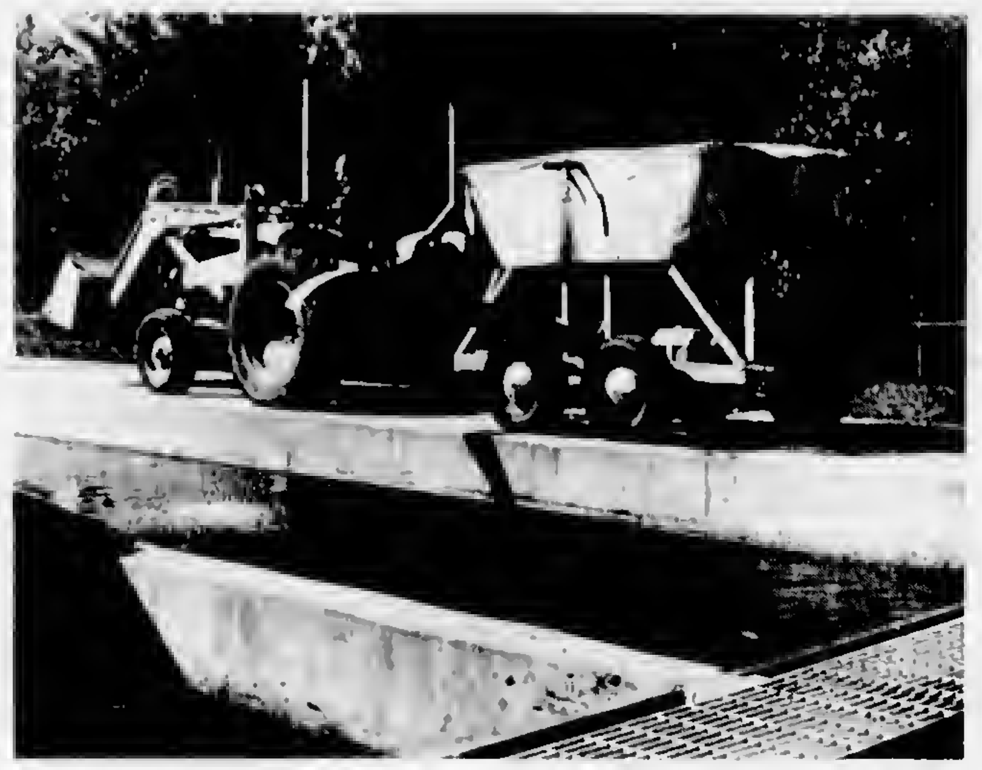
"The fish seem to be spawning properly, but the eggs are not hatching," Hiltz said. "The spawn that is collected from these fish hatch in the hatcheries, but not in the lakes."

The fish that have been planted in the lakes from the shore are returning to these places to spawn, the biologist said and this is not the proper environment for the eggs. The fish that have been planted off reefs in the middle of the lake return to these reefs to spawn, but these areas also seem to be the wrong place, Hiltz said.

Pollution in the lakes also seems to be taking its toll on the eggs.

Hiltz said the hatchery program was scheduled to end in 1975, but because of the problems with the spawning of the fish it has continued.

"I think the program will be around for quite sometime," he said. "In addition to the problems with the spawn, there is so much pressure on the lakes from the more than 1 million fishermen in the state that I don't think we could afford to stop."



FEEDING MORE than 3 million fish can be a big job and it takes big machinery. Here one of the biologists at the Jordan River Hatchery feeds her little charges.

15 MILL ARGUMENT

In answer to "one concerned citizen", the present 15 mills is allocated by the County Allocation Board (which is comprised of 1 township representative, 1 member at large, 1 municipality rep., 2 county rep., 1 Intermediate school district rep., and 2 school representatives) who do their best to fairly distribute the 15 mills based on request and needs of the various budgets. All millage over and above the 15 mills is voted by the people. In checking the public records I found that when the value in the county took a substantial increase in 1972 the county's allocated millage was reduced to 4.3 mills when in the prior year the county had been allocated 6 mills. The difference went to the schools to help keep down the millage that would have to be voted. You are correct in saying services would have to be cut, or there would have to be special elections to maintain statue quo- and elections cost the taxpayers. However, there appears to be more of it than the loss of millage, all federal and state revenue sharing is based on tax effort. Lower your millage and you receive less from the state and federal coffers. Therefore, another form of our tax dollars go to help other areas within the state and country instead of our area receiving it. From what I understand, our county has used their federal revenue sharing to help operate the county's general fund, this way to keep taxpayers dollars cut, where other counties have used the money for Capital Improvements. If and when revenue sharing is lost, the county will be hard put to operate on the revenue that they now collect.

I believe we are all concerned about taxes, at the local, state and federal level, but as long as we can keep government control at the local level it is more inexpensive to finance than when it becomes mandatory at the state or federal level (and the county is the local level. Your representative is as close as your phone).

Also, everything over the 15 mills is voted by the people, so everything over the 12 mills would have to be voted. Another very important issue to consider is that the 15 mill proposal is for 2 years while the 12 mill proposal is for an indefinite period of time. The County Board of Commissioners only accepted the agreement to put to a vote of the people the recommendation from the allocation board. The allocation board spent a good deal of time trying fairly to distribute the millage (15 mills) to the units of government in a manner which they could live with. The Allocation Board has been generous with the schools in what they allocated; as long as the county and townships received revenue sharing, they allocated the schools as much as possible to keep taxes and millages down. So, in all fairness, the County was not out to deprieve the schools, nor the schools the county. All the units have worked together to keep taxes as low as possible. Remember all of the people involved, whether they be school officials, county officials, township officials, etc., - these people pay taxes too.

From Another Concerned Citizen

Millage Defeat Depressing

The success of conservatives in blocking needed millage for school improvement to keep up with enrollment is indeed depressing. There is a voter group, swing group which swings negatively, who are obstructionists by principle, and without whom there could be progress.

Probably other ways of taxing for schools should be found, but that comes slowly, and in the lower income groups even the small levies do make problems, it is true. But I know of a person who said, "I refuse to vote for higher millage if it increases my taxes one bit." And of all persons known to me this is the one who would least feel a tax increase, and is prosperous, pardoxically, because of a good education.

It is too bad the young must be penalized because of these, with little but selfishness and a Neantherthal conservatism responsible. And those who hang in the middle and do not vote are also to blame. This community ought to know better.

I am not connected with the schools in any way.

Busing Problem

We are a concerned group of parents of Charlevoix school children. We live near Bay Shore on U.S. 31 and we have a busing problem. First of all, every morning we have to take the kids across the highway to a different road, so they can get on the bus. The bus does not stop the traffic on the highway. This is a busy intersection on a curve and the traffic does not stop. The bus does not pull over to the shoulder of the road, it blocks traffic. After picking up the kids, the driver backs the bus up a curved hill right on the highway. For the last four years, he has pulled right into the curved drive, which is not private, off the road to pick up the kids. The excuse was that there was a kindergartener which there is now. The school went to the county to get them to put up signs stating it was a bus stop, but were turned down. We tried to switch to a bus that goes right by on the highway, but was told it was full. Byron Deer

Likes Rosecrantz

I don't really know who to address this to, but I would like to compliment Dick Rosencrants on his article of the Charlevoix-Grayling football game. I was there and I could obviously see he was, too. What I like about it was; he said more than just the score and a few highlights. He ran down the whole game. Not like many other writers. I also like the way he mentioned a lot of the athletes, not just the one or two that had a great game. I wish more writers would write that way. I hope he keeps it up through all the sports seasons.

P.S.

Rayders Prepare For Homecoming

Maurean Cudd

Ginny Eby

Patty Fels

Rita Wasoski

Julie Wimmer

By FRAN MARTIN

Occupying the limelight at the Charlevoix High School this week will be five lovelies, Maureen Cudd, Ginny Eby, Patty Fels, Rita Wasoski and Julie Wimmer, one of whom will be named the 1976 Homecoming Queen.

The outcome of the election by the student body will be revealed at the Pep Rally at Kipke Field at 6 p.m. Thursday.

The Thursday evening Pep Rally will open the two-day homecoming festivities that will be climaxed by the Homecoming parade at 7 p.m., the Homecoming game between Charlevoix and St. Ignace at 6 p.m., the formal coronation of the 1976 Homecoming Queen and the introduction of her court during the halftime of the game and the Homecoming Dance following the game, all on Friday.

The 1975 Homecoming Queen, Sue Kane, will come from her studies at Michigan Tech at Houghton to crown her successor.

The Pep rally at Kipke field will open with the traditional bonfire. It will be followed by the introduction of the Queen candidates and the announcement of the 1976 Homecoming Queen who will then 'dub' Matt Doan and Lee Begrow, Rayder team co-captains as her first official duty. A Station WVOY announcer will serve as master of ceremonies at all homecoming events.

Music for the event will be by the Charlevoix High School Marching Band directed by Gary Stutzman. Both Varsity and JV cheerleaders will be on hand to pep up the festivities.

The Homecoming parade on Friday will form at the Middle school where floats will be judged prior to the parade by Marti Mathers, Mary Beth Wallick and Ms. Roxie Loding.

Leading the parade scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. and wend its way to Kipke field via Stote st. and Garfield ave. will be the Rayder marching band. Besides the floats, the 1976 Homecoming Queen and her court, the 1975 Queen and the cheerleaders will ride in the parade.

The coronation ceremony will be the highlight of the halftime festivities. Following the review of the floats and the announcement of the winner, the 1976 Queen and her court will be introduced, Sue Kane will crown her successor and the co-captains will present her with flowers and a game ball. Roger and Becky Smith, twin children of Mr. and Mrs. Vane Smith, will serve as crown bearers.

The Marching band's halftime program will be dedicated to the queen and her court.

The Homecoming dance at the K-5 school under the sponsorship of the Junior and Senior classes will climax the week-long Spirit Week at the high school. Music for dancing will be by the Star Flight, a combo from Indiana.

The Spirit Week events have been planned by the Student Council headed by Kay Currey. Gail Kaczynski is the faculty advisor.

The queen candidates were nominated by the Senior class.

Officers Continue to Remove Property From Castle Farms

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix County Sheriff's officials returned to Castle Farms Saturday and claimed another truckload of items for use in satisfying eight judgments issued against the corporation and its owner and president Arthur R. Reibel.

The items had been tagged earlier in the week when the first entry was made into the Castle Farms buildings following the serving of writs of execution.

The items taken from the property Saturday were the largest in size and included equipment and appliances that were on a list held by the First National Bank and Trust Company of Petoskey, which has a security interest on the property.

The bank's judgment holds priority over the seven other organizations which are attempting to obtain money for equipment purchased from them. The bank's judgment is in the form of a lein on the goods for money loaned to purchase the equipment.

The furnishings and equipment taken on Wednesday and Saturday are presently in possession of the Sheriff's Department which will conduct a public auction to satisfy the bank and seven other businesses holding judgments against Castle Farms and Reibel. The executions total approximately $18,000, largest of which is that of the First National Bank. The original note from the bank was for $10,000, $8,100 of which is unpaid. Equipment and furnishings at Castle Farms was used as security for repayment of the loan at the time according to the bank's attorney, Nathaniel Stroup.

Included in the judgements were two executed earlier for Haggard Plumbing and Heating, Inc., of Charlevoix and Shubert Industries, Inc., of Akron, Ohio, and, on last Wednesday, re-executed in behalf of First National Bank and Trust Co.

At that time, furnishings and equipment removed from Castle Forms on Sept. 4 by the Sheriff's Department was returned to Castle Farms after being re-claimed from buyers in a Sept. 24 auction when it was found the bank had first claim on it. The returned items were then shown to Reibel when he appeared some 20 minutes late for an appointment and re-claimed once more by the Sheriff's Department.

When Reibel did not appear for the 2 p.m. appointment, Sheriff's officers removed hinges from doors and later, when Reibel refused to unlock doors, continued to remove hinges or break padlocks or hasps.

A cash register with $50.95 that was in it when it was seized on Sept. 4 and a microwave oven and stand were returned to Reibel when proofs of purchase were shown.

In all, executions were levied against 117 items including some that were grouped as a single item such as chairs of one kind. All items were inventoried and tagged and the majority of them removed from the Castle Farms property. All but the largest items such as walk-in coolers and related equipment are now in storage awaiting the auction.

Meanwhile, suits against Sheriff Philo E. Sumner, James D. McCallum, Undersheriff, Haggard Plumbing, Shubert Industries, Inc., and John Haggard continue in effect and are awaiting action by the courts.

No Word Yet On Choice of Administrator

The Charlevoix Common Council has not yet decided who the next city administrator will be. The council met as a committee of the whole Monday night to discuss various candidates they have been interviewing for the job.

"We had a pretty good meeting last night," Mayor Ed Hansen said. "But we've decided we want to have a few more interviews before we make a decision.

"It will probably take another week before we know," Hansen said.

The council has interviewed six candidates for the job and reviewed the applications of more than 96 people in the last six weeks. Hansen said the council had narrowed it down to about three people.

"We're looking for someone that is flexible enough to change with the council when it changes and who doesn't have one set way," Hansen said.

The mayor also said the council had to decide exactly what it wanted from the city administrator before it hired anyone.

"We have to let them know what we expect and they have to tell us what they expect us to do, too," he said.

No Comment On Proceedings From Reibel

The answer was no comment from Arthur R. Reibel, owner and president of Castle Farms, about the executions issued against the corporation's property for non-payment of bills.

"Anything I have to say will be said in court," Reibel said Wednesday as sheriff's deputies loaded up two U-Haul vans with Castle Farm furnishings and tagged other items for removal on Saturday.

"It's not that I'm being rude," he added. "It's just that, that's the way it is."

Correction

In last week's city council story it was reported that the city had a contract with the Hongar Association for the construction of a taxiway. This is incorrect.

The council decided to construct the taxiway with airport improvement funds following a 5-1 vote to accept the low bid for the construction. Ivan Whitley cost the lone dissenting vote.

Board of Regents Candidate Takes Campaign Out State

As Nuv. 2 draws nearer, more and more candidates can be seen stumping the area for votes.

One of the candidates who made it to Charlevoix recently was David F. Upton, a Republican candidate for the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

David Upton

Upton, a U-M graduate, said his visit to Charlevoix was part of a campaign sweep he was moking of the Northern Michigan area which also included stops at Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette.

"I'm the only man from an out-of-state area who is running for the Board of Regents," Upton, a St. Joe resident, said. "I feel the out-of-state areas should be represented on these boards and I came up here to find out what people in this area think."

Upton, who is an engineer by trade, also served a two-year term in the State House of Representatives in 1963-64. The former legislator said this experience would help him as a regent.

"I'll know how to work with the state in making sure that the University gets its share of the tax dollars," he said.

"And as a former state legislator I can't advocote raising taxes to support schools, either," he said. "I would work for more alumni involvement and support of the school to add to the funds, the University would receive from the state."

Upton also felt his engineering background would help him in the position of regent.

"As an engineer I learned to analyze things carefully," he explained. "And I would question programs ond make sure that things were thoroughly studied before we went ohead with them."

The Republican candidate also said he would make an effort to have the University work closer with the community colleges in presenting programs to area people and in making sure that credits were transferable to the University.

He also said he would try to improve the public's knowledge of the services which the University offers.

"People should take advantage of the pool of knowledge at the University," he soid. "When they are considering zoning questions, building programs and other things, they should contact the University for consultant services and research materials."

Nothing New About Campaigning For U.S. Senate Candidate's Wife

Condidates' wives seem tu be hitting the campaign trail in greater numbers than ever this year. But campaigning is nothing new to Olga Esch, wife of Marvin Esch, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate.

"I've always campaigned," Mrs. Esch said during a recent visit to Charlevoix. "This is the seventh campaign I've worked on."

Mrs. Esch said there were certain things that she, as the wife of the candidate, could bring to the campaign.

"I know how hard he works in Washington," she said. "And I can tell the constituents about it.

"Also I'm too interested in the campaign not to be a part of it," she said.

Mrs. Esch said she has done all sorts of things as a campaigner.

"I've been at factory gates and uninn halls," she said a smiling crossing her face. "And I've campaigned door-to-door in various cities."

"Lately I've been involved with a lot of coffees and at the openings of telephone centers and campaign headquarters across the state," she said.

This year the Esches are being joined by their two sons and one daughter as they campaign across the state.

"Not only am I a mother, but I seem to be the coordinator," she laughed explaining how she keeps track of her widespread family. "I try to be home a few days each week to keep the home fires burning."

Mrs. Esch sold she has heard two basic concerns from voters across the state in her travels.

"People are concerned number one with unemployment and secondly with crime," the blonde, ruddy-cheeked woman said. "They want crime halted and they want to get the repeater off the street."

Even with all of her experience as a campaigner, Mrs. Esch said she is not interested in running fnr office herself.

"I don't want to run for office," she said. "I had my working days when I was a radiation therapist and I was quite happy with thnt.

"And I'm kept busy now working with constituent groups that come to Washington," she said.

Mrs. Esch made her remorks during a coffee held in her honor at the Del Terrill's home. The Terrill's son is a member of Esch's staff

Fish Shanty Houses Unique Bookstore

'DOC' RATIGAN poses in front of the Dockside Press on Belevedere Avenue.

By PAULA HOLMES

The ramshackle fish shanty nestled between two boat yords on Belvedere Avenue is an unlikely place for a bookstore.

But then the Dockside Press is an unlikely bookstore.

The unique little store, operated since 1954 by Owner and Author William O Ratigan, has been a landmark for resorters and yachts people seeking a bargain on a good book. The store is a haven for bargain seekers because Ratigan allows the customers to set their own prices.

A sign greets all who enter the store with the following verse:

This is our hobby, not our business.
If you don't think the price is right,
Nome the price you think is right
And who knows, we might agree.

"That sign really bothers some people," Ratigan chuckled. "I've priced some of the books for those who just can't name their prices and I bargain with those who want to."

And just as his prices are indefinite so are the hours of the Dockside Press.

"We're open aume summers, sometimes," he said. "I usually get down here in the afternoons and evenings."

But if visitors come to the Dockside Press during the hours that it is closed, they needn't fear. Ratigon has outfitted the windows of the store with shelves for storing books outside. When he first opened the store he had a sign asking people to leave a nickel in the cup for any book they wanted. Now, due to inflation, the price has been increased to 50 cents.

"I can't remember when I put those shelves up," the Great Lakes author and historian said. "I guess they've always been there.

"You know, in the 22 yeors the Dockside Press has been here, I don't think one of the books sitting on the shelves outside the building have been stolen," Ratigan recolled. "If you trust people, they will be trustworthy."

Ratigan said he could remember times when he had come to the store and noticed some books were missing.

"I'd think I'd been—what is it young people say—ripped off, but then I would find a note saying that they didn't have ony money that day and then a few days later the money would uppear in the box."

Most of the cheaper books are relegated to the outside shelves, which are protected from the elements by the overhang of the roof and the winds which generally blow in a direction away from the store entrance.

"I put voluable books out there, too, from time to time just to see what happens," he smiled slyly. "Sometimes they are grabbed up and sometimes no one knows they are there."

Ratigan, whose weather worn face looks like the faces of the sailors on the Great Lakes he has written so much obout, said the Dockside Press started out to be a storage place for his private collection of books, and then it became a convenient place for people to get autographed copies of one of the more than 11 books he hos written about the Great Lakes.

"The Dockside Press officially opened when my first book "Soo Canal!" was published," Ratigan explained. "When that came out a lot of people were coming to the house to get the book authographed.

"My family was getting tired of all of the interruption, so I moved down to the Dockside," he said.

And he's been there ever since.

"I liked it down here so much that I moved a desk in," Ratigan explained. "I've done research down here and I've even written books down here."

Other books to Ratigan's credit include: "Great Lakes Shipwrecks and Survivals," "Straits of Mackinac!", "The Blue Snow," and "Hiawatha and America's Mightiest Mile."

Besides the books and other antiques at the Dockside Press, there is olso an old press.

"There are plenty of stories about that old press," the author said. "But most of them aren't true."

Ratigan said many people think the old Washington Press was King Strang's press on Beaver Island. But the author said that wasn't true. Whot is true, is that the press was used for many years by children and parents alike at the Belvedere club to print up invitations and advertisements.

Another very importont part of the Dockside Press is the Log which Ratigan watches over like a mother hen over her chickens.

"The log is really the most important book in the entire place," he said. "For 22 years visitors to the Dockside Press have been writing in it.

"It shows the change in people," he continued. "In the past people were more flamboyant and wrote all over the pages—drawing pictures and recording recipies.

"Now they all write in small letters in neat rows," he observed.

Soon Ratigan will be closing the store for the season and corefully he will pack up the Dockside Press Log and take it home with him to protect the memories of 22 years of sharing his first love—books.

Charlevoix Residents Smoke Slightly More than Others

NEW YORK—How much smoking are residents of Charlevoix County doing these days? Is their cigarette consumption greater or less than among people in other sections of the country?

Judging from the lutest statistics, the proportion of adults who smoke cigarettes, locally and elsewhere, appears tn be on the decrease.

Impressed by the health warnings, a growing number of people are quitting entirely, according to the findings. Others have cut down on their consumption.

Not everyone cnn do so. A recent Government survey shows that 9 out of 10 who are still smoking have tried, somewhere along the line, to give it up but found it too difficult.

Because of the many who did succeed, however, only 39.3 percent of the male population over 21 are smokers today, compared with 42.2 percent in 1970. Among the women over 21, it is 28.9 percent now, as against 30.5 percent in 1970.

The facts and figures are from surveys and studies made by the U. S. Public Health Service, the Federal Center for Disease Control, the Tobacco Tax Council and others.

In Charlevoix County, a breakdown shows, cigarette sales came to approximately 2,476,000 packs in the past fiscal year.

In terms of the local population over age 18, this was equivalent to 201 packs per capita in the year.

It was less than in some communities and more than in others. Nationally, the average rate of consumption for people over 18 was 198 packs. It was 196 in the East North Central States.

Although the percentage of adult smokers in the United States has been going down, the total number who smoke is on the increase, due to the rising population.

The survey indicates that there were 875,000 more smokers last year than in 1970. In the same five-year period, however, the population rose by 10 million.

Because taxes on cigarettes have been increased in some states and localities, the cost of smoking has been going up. What effect, if any, this has had on consumption is unknown.

In Charlevoix County, the total outlay in the past year was approximately $1,186,000, or about $96 per smoker.

County Voters Have Ways to Go To Beat 1972 Presidential Tally

If Charlevoix County voters turn out in the same number for next month's General Election as they did in 1972, a large percentage of votes will be cast.

County Clerk Clarence Rabach reports that in the Presidential Election of 1972, 83.35 percent of the 9,336 registered voters went to the polls.

"Charlevoix County has a record of good voter participation, especially the Charlevoix area," Rabach notes.

However, only 35.4 percent of the registered voters turned out for the August primary.

The number of registered voters in the county has increased from 9,336 in November, 1972 to 11,498 in August of this year.

Most of the increase has occurred since the 1974 primary election of 1974, when there were 9,404 registered voters.

Charlevoix County voters do not vote straight tickets, Rabach says.

"Approximately 80 percent of the tickets are split. People usually vote Republican or Democrat for national nnd stote offices, then split for local candidates."

Building Inspector Issued 90 Permits For Construction During September

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued 90 permits for construction projects during the month of September. This covers all building in the county with the exception of that in the City of Charlevoix.

Construction for which permits were issued will amount to $757,298, with residential construction accounting for $539,876 of the total.

The largest number of permits (13) was issued to builders in Eveline Township and Boyne City, followed by Wilson Township (11), Boyne Valley Township (7), Charlevoix and Melrose Townships and East Jordan (6), Hudson, Marion and South Arm Townships (5), Hayes Township (4), Evangeline and Norwood Townships (3), Peaine Township (2) and Bay Township (1).

From January 1 through September 30, 516 permits were issued by the Department, for a total of over $5 million. Permit fees collected during that time amounted to $18,503.

183 Permits Awarded This Year Under Soil Erosion, Sedimentation Act

One hundred and eighty-three permits for construction under the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act were issued during the period January 1 through September 30, with 31 being issued during September.

Such periods must be secured for any project which disturbs more than one acre of land lying within 500 feet of a lake or stream.

The 183 permits were distributed throughnut the county as follows: Eveline Township (36), Hayes Township and Boyne City (17), South Arm and Evangeline Townships (12), Hudson and Charlevoix Townships (11), Peaine and Bay Township (9), Melrose Township and East Jordan (8), Marion Township and City of Charlevoix (7), St. James, Boyne Valley and Wilson Townships (5), Norwood Township and Village of Boyne Falls (1).

Through September, permit fees in the amount of $3,445 have been paid to the county, which department administrator Ronald C. Geer says more than covers the cost of operating the department.

Senior Catholics Invited to Shrine

Senior Catholics from all parts of the 21 county Gaylord Diocese are invited to a pilgrimage tn the new catnedrol in Gaylord nn Sunday, October 17, at 3 p.m.

Newspaper Week-- A Celebration For All

It's National Newspaper Week. And once again newspapers have a chance to give an annual blow of their own horns and to discuss the virtues of the First Amendment which guarantees freedom of the press and freedom of speech.

And the press should discuss these issues lest the importance of these freedoms be forgotten. People don't remember that the print media and the printed word represent the 'only' free press in the nation. Broadcast media are licensed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and thus under government regulation. Woe be the day when newspapers have to go to Washington to get licenses renewed periodically.

And American newspapers are fast becoming the only media free of governmental control in the entire world. It's an awesome burden that the newspapers carry, but it is a burden that they share.

Americans should remember that freedom OF the press does not mean freedom FOR the press. The press represents the people and it is the people's right to know that is guaranteed by the First Amendment. And it is the people who must actively participate in keeping this freedom.

Newspapers and newspaper readers need to recall this warning spoken by Alexander Hamilton 200 years ago. "Liberty of the press must altogether depend on public opinion and the general spirit of the people and of the government."

The First Amendment has been challenged unnumbered times. It has survived throughout our history and with it the very essence of democracy has survived.

Likewise, the free press has withstood many tests during these past 200 years--but those fights to maintain that freedom have been waged almost single-handedly by the newspaper profession itself. All Americans should have been and should continue to be vitally concerned. If a free press can be denied what is to prevent free speech from being denied?

Newspaper readers should exercise their right to a free press by increasingly presenting their opinions for publication in news columns and on editorial pages. They must also fight to ensure that governmental controls are not placed over newspapers and to ensure that censorship does not take place.

Always there will be those who think the power of the press is too great and should have restrictions imposed upon it. And some criticism of the press is justified.

Regardless of shortcomings in the press, it should be remembered that even in the face of severe public and governmental criticism of the press, society has retained the basic right to speak through the printed page without governmental interference or restraint.

And we should continue to reject the alternatives to this principle which threaten the existence of an informed, open and free society. –PJH

Support Chest Drive For a Better Community

Just how much do you value the young people of our community?

Much of their success or failure in life will be resting in your hands during the next few weeks as the Charlevoix Community Chest continues with its annual fund raising drive.

The fund drive raises funds to support some 14 local groups–many of which help our young people find a direction and purpose in life.

Groups such as the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Big Brothers and Sisters, Camp Daggett, Charlevoix City Recreation Department and Mount McSauba depend on your contribution through Community Chest to survive.

Organizations like these have been touching the lives of many for years, and in many cases have made a significant impact young people's futures.

We would like to see these kind of organizations survive in Charlevoix because we think they do help.

In a day and age when adults say they are concerned about what is happening to the younger generation, there's a chance for those same adults to make some type of contribution to how they will turn out.

This year the Community Chest hopes to raise $19,000. We don't think that's asking too much considering how many organizations the program supports.

And while many youth organizations find support from Community Chest, people of all ages can derive a benefit.

If you haven't already made a contribution, we encourage you to make one. Community Chest can make a difference but only if you are willing to help.

Think about it, just how important is our future generation to you.

Letters to the editor

Supernaw Says Thanks

Dear Editor:

As general chairman of the past summers Venetian Festival in Charlevoix, I write today to express appreciation to the persons and businesses that were of great assistance during the preparation and actual presentation of the festival.

Chris Shapperkotter handled the Queens Pageant, Barry Boone the Boat Parade, Thomas Merta the Street Parade, John Alger the Venetian Pageant of Drums, and Jeanne Hice the Dress-up and Doll Parade.

For some it was their first close exposure to the operation of the festival and they responded most favorably.

Additional features that were included in the 1976 Festival were made possible by cash contributions of some of Charlevoix's leading merchants and organizations.

Special Thanks to those six that gave $100 to a special Festival Fund: They include the Charlevoix County State Bank, the Medusa Cement Company, the Kit Carson Lumber Company, the Charlevoix Lions Club, Fochtman Chevrolet-Buick and the Town House.

In addition, there were significant cash contributions by Hess Furniture, Mr. Peter Pace, The Airport Inn, WVOY, the Argonne, Haggard's Plumbing and Heating, Cinema III, The First State Bank of Charlevoix, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Staley Hardware, Edwards IGA, Dapper Dick's Deli, Williams Dockside Pharmacy and Charlevoix Properties, Inc.

Money from these sources allowed us to present several extra features including the following: Venetian Pageant of Drums, "Mini-" fireworks display on Friday night following the Pageant of Drums, the "Funny Car" from Flint, the appearance of the Harbor Springs High School Band, the sound system in East Park, and the concert presentation by the Midshipmen Drum and Bugle Corps.

It should also be pointed out that Mr. Peter Pace, President of the Chamber of Commerce and director Elbert Kaiser were of great assistance in securing the fireworks and the shooting areas.

Let us not forget the great assistance delivered annually by the City of Charlevoix. Not only do they hire the Chamber to present the summer festival, they offer an immeasurable service thru their street, electric, parks and recreation and police departments during the entire week.

The co-operation of many persons, organizations and businesses was necessary to make the 1976 Venetian Festival successful from entering a float in the parade to supporting the Chamber of Commerce and I would like to say "thank you" to everyone that helped.

Sincerely,
Bill Supernaw
General Chairman
1976 Venetian Festival

A Hot Line!

Dear Editor and crew:

This "HotLine" thing has been on my mind for some time. The following is how I feel about the response to it.

"The Hot Line"

Oh me, oh my, a real hot line it is most of the time! About two-thirds I would think is fault finding and why this and why that. Do you ever wonder why when people are given the opportunity and privilege to have their say, it's almost always the bad things? Don't you have anything good to say? There certainly are many comments to make, unless we have our minds and eyes shut.

I feel akin to Charlevoix, because I guess, my brother was postmaster for many years and he and his family were loving members of your town. We remember the many wonderful new things we saw there and I still feel a part of you.

Haven't the people of Charlevoix ever heard how people rave about the beauty and clean fresh air, the clean clear water (Maybe you have to live where water is always dirty to appreciate the latter) and how the trees are so beautiful and that there are so many recreation areas.

But maybe you have to have the experience of the little boy who said, "I am glad I am back in Michigan, Grandma, because where we were vacationing nobody said hi." The every day people of Charlevoix are friendly and that in itself makes life worth living.

Terms of the new Ford Motor Co.–United Auto Workers (UAW) labor contract covering 170,000 employes are so generous and so inflationary that they may well place new automobiles well beyond the price range of us northern Michigan hillbillies.

Of course, single-income families were priced out of the automobile market three years ago when the energy crisis triggered a new round of inflation and all h— broke loose on the economic front.

But the new Ford contract could well put the price of Ford automobiles well beyond the reach of just about everyone, except other Ford employes, multi-income households, government workers and out-and-out millionaires.

It goes without saying that the problems don't end with Ford, which was merely the UAW's initial target. If Ford workers approve the contract — which is sort of iffy at this point because they'd like a little fattening here and a little padding there— then it will serve as a model for contracts with General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors.

Although the negotiators have hesitated to put a price on the contract, some experts on the scene in Dearborn estimate that the new wage increases and fringe benefits will come to about $4 on hour, pushing Ford's total payroll costs to somewhere in the mid-teens — $14 to $15 an hour.

Holy Moses! We have folks supporting families in northern Michigan making less per hour than Ford's additional wages and fringes–quite a bit less. And you can be sure they are not in the market for new cars — or even used cars.

The big item in the Ford contract — and one that could help northern Michigan if it weren't for its devastating impact on the economy — is one that provides for 13 additional paid holidays year, bringing total vacation time at Ford Motor to 45 days.

The UAW pushed for the big increase on grounds that too many of its members had been laid off for too long and that a shorter work week was a sure way to bring more employes into the job market. And the union is probably right.

However, Ford Motor and its customers will catch it in the neck. Not only must the company hire additional hands to perform the chores normally performed by regular employes on their new time off, but it also must pay its vacationing employes to the tune of a 40-hour week.

And guess who is going to pick up the tab for all this squandered money? Right again. Ye olde customer is going to find himself paying $50 for an ash tray.

The new contract also:

–Requires the company to kick in more toward the Supplemental Unemployment Benefit Fund, from which employes are reimbursed during lay-offs. The added funds should give employes 95 percent of their take-home pay.

–Provides lump-sum payments ranging from $400 to $600 for retirees and spouses, because of inflation related increases in the cost of living.

–Offers a rebate of $200 to $300 to Ford employes who buy new cars.

–Increases wages by at least $1,500 over the next three years.

–Provides hearing aids, glasses and dental care for Ford workers and their families.

–Permits foundrymen to retire with pensions after 25 years, and –Offers an extra measure of financial goodies to members of the skilled trades.

But the contract is in trouble. Skilled tradesmen aren't exactly happy, and Joe Doaks thinks he could be better off.

Meanwhile, non-unionized northern Michigan stands by with its mouth slightly agape. We have come to depend on the automobile. It is as much a part of the way of life in Charlevoix County as it is in Wayne County. But the new UAW contract will make old Henry Ford's brainchild the plaything of the rich.

Which is not what the old man intended.

I don't know what visitors to a hospital did before television. It must have been dreary for them to come into a room and talk to a sick person.

One cannot imagine how vital this hospital accessory has become until you check into a hospital. Recently, during my confinement as a patient, a friend of mine called and said, "I'll drop in on you this afternoon. Do you have color?"

"I'm a little pale," I apologized, "but...."

"Not you, you ninny. I mean is the TV set in color?"

"Sure, but I don't know what..."

That afternoon, she dropped in and for the next two hours cried in her knotted handkerchief through "The Young and the Restless," "All My Children," "Ryan's Hope" and the "$20,000 Pyramid."

During the credits, she turned to me, shook her head in disgust and said, "You think YOU have problems!" and left.

My children were even less subtle. One crashed through the door, snatched the remote control out of my hands and said, "What are you doing watching the Boston Pops when Starsky and Hutch are on?"

On his heels was my other son who grappled the controls out of his brother's hand and flipped to a move, "The Bionic Nostril."

"I was sick today," I ventured.

"Tell us during the commercial."

"Wanta play with my bed? If you push the right button my back breaks in half."

"Shhh."

When their father walked in, he kissed my call button (his eyes never leaving the set) and said, "Boys, your mother doesn't want to watch this drivel," and flipped it to a ballgame.

"I met Robert Redford in X-ray today," I said.

"There's a lot of it going around," one of them mumbled.

"Oh hello, Doctor," I said as my physician entered the room.

"Could you keep it down?" said my husband. "There are men trying to play ball here."

"Maybe it isn't important," I whispered to my doctor, "but I have this invisible feeling that I'm here and no one can see me. Do you know what I mean, Doctor? Doctor? DOCTOR!"

They'll all be sorry when I get my own series. COPYRIGHT 1976 FIELD ENTERPRISES, INC.

Does Ford Lust?

The Democrats will demand that all presidential candidates make their impure heartbeats public.

The precedent has already been set. When one candidate makes full disclosure of his financial records, his opponent is forced to do the same thing. If he refuses, he immediately becomes suspect. What is he trying to hide?

Now Jimmy Carter has revealed that he has committed adultery in his heart.

What has President Ford committed in his heart?

The public has a right to know.

Also, now that Carter has allowed a slight peek behind his teeth, he must expect that his heart will be the subject of more detailed scrutiny.

Carter has frankly admitted he has "looked on a lot of women with lust." His candor is to be admired–if it is not a smoke screen.

It is not an uncommon ploy for a sinner to confess readily to minor infractions, thus gaining praise for coming forward voluntarily. And people are so proud of him for honestly admitting that he walked on the grass, they wouldn't think of questioning him about the despoiled maiden hiding in the bushes.

I am reminded of my Catholic childhood when I was taught to beware of "all sins of thought, word, deed or omission." In the confessional, I would feint the priest to the point of absolution. I would so swamp him with accounts of my soiled thoughts that my dirty deeds often sneaked by unnoticed in the crowd.

Naturally, the first question to occur after Carter's initial revelation concerns the identity of the women with whom he frolicked in his heart. Anyone we know?

The public also has a legitimate interest in Mrs. Carter's reaction to her husband's Playboy confessions. A TV reporter asked her what she thought about Jimmy playing around in his heart, and her answer sounded evasive. "Jimmy is a wonderful husband," she said.

Mrs. Carter must beware of being too understanding. She could blow the women's lib vote. After all, she is as human as Jimmy, and there has to be a limit to her Betty Crocker sweetness.

Does Jimmy have carte blanche? Or is he safe from domestic troubles only as long as he confines his sinning to his left and right ventricles, and doesn't stray along the aorta?

And is it only a matter of time before Ladies Home Journal asks the hardest question: Has Mrs. Carter ever committed adultery in her heart?

In the face of her competition, Mrs. Carter would be well advised to drop the cornpone generalities and give specific answers to all questions about her impure heartbeats. The woman she hopes to replace, Betty Ford, has already demonstrated she doesn't mind telling the world what she has on her mind. She can be expected to be just as open about her heart.

You probably remember that Mrs. Ford appeared on TV last year and told Morley Safer that she wouldn't be surprised if her daughter had an affair. If she can be that casual about what goes on in her family, Lord only knows what she permits in her heart.

Which brings us to the man on the spot, President Ford. It is Ford foremost who must answer the Democratic challenge. Carter has revealed the sins in his heart. The next move is up to Ford, and he had better move cautiously.

Everyone remembers what Betty Ford told Morley Safer about her daughter. But you've probably forgotten that Betty also discussed Jerry's behavior on that same program. She said she doesn't mind that her husband enjoys looking at pretty girls.

So it is already a matter of public record that the president ogles. Now he must reveal what is going on in his heart while he watches a deep decolletage jiggle along a reception line.

Either that or face the charge of not being a born-again candidate.

Obviously, when Carter opened his heart, he added a new element to political campaigns. The possibilities are fascinating.

Before a candidate reveals his financial history, he hires a sharp accountant. Before he bares his heart, he may hire a doctor for exploratory surgery.

How about a transplant?

"Give me a heart without a centerfold, Doc."

...Garry Miller

Garrett (Garry) Miller has assumed the job of Administrator for Bergmann Center. This week he talks with the Courier about the purposes of the Center and how it operates.

COURIER: What is the purpose of Bergmann Center?

MILLER: To provide meaningful activity for individuals who otherwise would be idle and for whom there is no other program. We try to provide a growth experience to those capable of growing and fitting into the mainstream of society.

COURIER: Who is eligible to enroll in Bergmann Center?

MILLER: People over 18 with mental or physical handicaps who have completed all the public school education they are capable of attaining.

COURIER: What do these people do at the Center?

MILLER: It is not just a facility to take care of people. It is an actual work environment. They come to work, punch time cards, have a coffee break in the morning, a break for lunch (which they bring) at noon, and a break in the afternoon. They work seven hours a day, pay taxes and social security, and get paid by the hour. The pay structure is less than the minimum wage but is certified by the Department of Labor. They start at 58 cents an hour and as ability increases they are paid more. We make a time study twice a year to establish the productivity level of each person.

COURIER: What kind of work do they do?

MILLER: We have contracts with several local companies. For Weather Shield Sports we silk screen print practically all their Hot Seats. Hot Seats are a device used by sportsmen and sports spectators to provide heat. We did 242,000 of them in one year. We also do some assembly work for Weather Shield. Then, for Freedman Artcraft we package screws into plastic bags. This is a good job for our people because they are virtually 100 percent accurate. They don't become bored and consider the job important. We have also done some silk screening for them. We clean, weigh and stamp spools for Hoskins Manufacturing and are now doing a time study on a large salvage operation for them. Before we establish a contract price we do a time study to determine a fair price. We have a contract with LexaLite to clean and package photo cells. We also make and sell some products for ourselves. One is a Love Light, a stained glass cover for candles. They are especially popular at Christmas time and sell for between $6 and $14. Then we have "Let's Talk" sweat shirts with the American Manual Alphabet for the deaf, wooden jewelry boxes, key holders and fishing lures. We also refinish furniture. Our products are all available at the Center, 201 East Garfield Street.

COURIER: Can you handle more jobs for manufacturers?

MILLER: Yes, we would like any industry which has a job it thinks we might do to call us. We can provide quality control at a savings to the industry. We would like especially to become involved with Emmet County industry because half of our people come from there.

COURIER: How is the Bergmann Center financed?

MILLER: By local funds – the Community Chest, the Boards of Commissioners of Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim Counties, and the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Board. The Mental Health Board furnishes us the bulk of our funds, based on the amount we collect from other sources.

COURIER: How many people do you have room for at the Center and who refers candidates to you?

MILLER: We have a capacity of 25. We are filled up and have a waiting list. Candidates come to us from many places, including the Department of Social Services and other social service agencies, as well as from individuals. Anyone knowing of someone who might be eligible should phone or write us.

COURIER: Besides you, who helps run the Center?

MILLER: We have a Board of Directors consisting of Robert Bergmann, chairman; Mr. Merle Plagge, vice-chairman; Robert Cook, secretary-treasurer; the Reverend Austin Regier; Mrs. Robert Miller; Jack Waldvogel; and Wayne Hagermann. We would welcome anyone else who would like to serve on the board, particularly representatives from local industry. Our day-to-day work is done by Jessie Cunningham, supervisor; Julie Odmark, aide to the supervisor; Helen Denny, account clerk; and Gary Gillespie and Gary Dinnell, drivers.

COURIER: What are your specific duties?

MILLER: My job is to seek out and maintain contracts with industry and public relations with different agencies and state-wide organizations working with the handicapped. We must continually be aware of new procedures used by other facilities and laws relating to the handicapped. One of these is the Affirmative Action Law promulgated by the federal government which requires firms with federal contracts exceeding $2,500 to actively seek out handicapped employees. People who have hired handicapped persons in the past have found them more prompt, less often absent, more loyal, and more prideful in their work. There are even programs whereby employers can be re-imbursed for training the handicapped to become productive workers. We'd be happy to have any company use Bergmann Center as a source of information or employees.

COURIER: What is your business background?

MILLER: I have a bachelor of science degree in marketing from Ferris State College and have been involved in sales work – computer systems, chemicals, and real estate. This helps me in my industrial contacts because I am acquainted with a wide variety of industries.

COURIER: Are you a native of Charlevoix?

MILLER: No, I moved here in 1962 with my family. My stepfather and step-brother, Steve and Don Kowbel, had the Harbor Hardware store and my mother taught school.

COURIER: Tell us about your family.

MILLER: I'm married to the former Barbara Dohm – she's a native of Charlevoix – and we have two sons, Gary, who is seven and Matthew, who is five.

COURIER: What do you do in your spare time?

MILLER: I'm a fisherman and beekeeper and am involved in real estate on a part-time basis.

Garry Miller

League of Women Voters Operation Explained

By PEG OHLE

Two representatives from the State Board of the League of Women Voters were in town last week to talk with interested men and women about forming a local League.

Betty Clason, a vice president of the State League, and Penny Swart, a past vice president, both of Mt. Pleasant, explained to two different groups what the LWV stands for, how it operates, some of its accomplishments, and how to start a Local League.

Mrs. Clason explained that it takes only 30 paid members to start a Provisional League and she was sure there were enough interested people in the Charlevoix area to do so. All new Leagues are provisional for two years to give them time to study past actions at the state and national levels.

LWV also has made provisions for "Units at Large" for sparsely populated areas, but such units are limited in participation.

Presently, in Northern Michigan, there are Leagues in Traverse City, Alpena, Manistee, Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Marquette, and a Unit in Benzie County.

The Courier asked Mrs. Clason if there were anv particular reasons why LWV was needed in today's world. She answered:

LWV also has made provisions for "Units at Large" for sparsely populated areas, but such units are limited in participation.

Presently, in Northern Michigan, there are Leagues in Traverse City, Alpena, Manistee, Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Marquette, and a Unit in Benzie County.

The Courier asked Mrs. Clason if there were any particular reasons why LWV was needed in today's world. She answered:

"With the complex issues of today, we need groups to help find the answers. We believe the average person is capable of understanding after study and discussion. We need citizens' groups to make responsible decisions. When we favor an issue we also favor financing for it. We look at the entire picture. We look at all the information and facts before taking action. Sometimes this makes for slow progress but it is also effective."

The State League is winding up two years of discussion of election laws. Next year it will study the United Nations. Other subjects on the agenda are energy sources, taxation, education, and environmental quality, including the "bottle bill" and solid waste disposition.

While the League does not endorse political candidates, it does furnish members with biographical information about candidates and their replies to questions posed by the League. The League does, however, take positions on ballot propositions.

After thorough study and discussion by League members throughout the state, the League has taken a stand on three of the four propositions to be voted on November 3.

The League supports Proposal A, which would prohibit the use of nonreturnable bottles and cans. It takes no position on Proposal B, which would change the qualifications for the offices of State Senator and State Representative. It opposes Proposal C, which would limit state taxes and spending to 8.3 percent of the combined personal income of Michigan. It supports Proposal D, which would replace the present flat rate state income tax with a guaranteed tax for 1977 and the legislature determining rates and bases thereafter.

There are approximately 150,000 LWV members in 1,600 local leagues in the United States, but as Ms. Clason remarked, "We seem like more because of our conbined vigor." In Michigan there are approximately 5,000 members in 43 local leagues.

Further information about joining the local league may be obtained from Mary Harty, phone 547-2149.

BETTY CLASON of Mt. Pleasant was In Charlevoix recently explaining how the League of Women Voters operates.

Women's Club Plans Annual Fashion Show

The Charlevoix Women's Club Annual Fashion Show and Dinner will be held next Tuesday, October 19, at 6:30 at the Weathervane Inn.

Local models will show fashions from several area shops, including Alice Jane Dows, Bahnhof Shop, The Cottage, Country Casuals, Kaden's Emporium, Mettlers by the Bay, Shop of the Gulls, and the Sly Fox.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Walter J. Hufford, Mrs. George Petitjean, Mrs. A. B. Mowrey, and Mrs. Leonard L. Espich.

The dinner menu will consist of Molded Salad, Chicken Divan Parisienne (poached breast of chicken with broccoli and Hollandaise sauce served with rice pilaf). Rolls, Green Mint Sundae, and Beverage.

Marina LaBlance will serve as commentator during the fashion show.

Dinner reservations may be made with Mrs. Kit Carson, 101 West Dixon Street.

Homecoming Game on Channel 6

MT. PLESANT- Central Michigan University's homecoming game on Saturday, October 16 will match CMU's Chippewas against the Indiana State Sycamores. The entire game, as well as the half-time show, will be televised 'live' on WCMU-TV 14, Mt. Pleasant, and on WCML-TV 6, Alpena.

This is the first opportunity for the people living in Northern Michigan to see a 'live' telecast of CMU's homecoming game since "JCML TV 6 did not begin broadcasting to the Northern communities until November of 1975.

The broadcast will begin at 1:15 p.m.

La Leche League Sets Date for First Meeting

The newly organized Charlevoix group of La Leche League will hold its first meeting Monday, October 18, at 7:30 at the home of Mary Neal, 519 Petoskey Avenue.

The group will meet the third Monday of each month. In a series of four meetings, members will discuss different phases of breastfeeding. The topic for the first meeting is "Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Child." Discussion will be led by Jennifer Bellairs.

Further information about the group is available from Mrs. Bellairs at 547-6255.

Boat Building Site of Hospital Guild Thrift Sale

The annual Thrift Sale sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital will be an event of Friday and Saturday at the Beaver Island Boat Co. building at 104 Clinton-st. a quarter block west of the traffic light in downtown Charlevoix.

The annual sale offers a wide variety of furniture, household items, clothing, books and knick-knacks. Short of being a white elephant sale, this sale probably offers the widest variety of items found any place Mrs. Clifford Biddick, Sr., sale chairman with Mrs. William Macy, said.

Sale hours will be from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The Thrift Sale is the major fund-raiser for the Hospital Guild which supports the hospital with the purchase of equipment and numerous volunteer services.

VFW Auxiliary Offers Casserole, Salad Lunch

The V.F.W. Auxiliary will sponsor a Casserole and Salad luncheon at the V.F.W. post home Thursday, Mrs. Leland Warner, general chairman, has announced.

Serving will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until 2:00 p.m. A choice of several hot casserole dishes plus many salads will be available. Rolls and a choice of beverage will complete the menu. There will be a charge of $2.00.

The V.F.W. post home is located on US 31 North across from the Lake Terrace trailer court.

Fourth Grade Reading Class Gives Art to School

Students Unveil Special Painting

The room was silent in anticipation. All eyes were glued to a rectangular-shaped object wrapped in a black plastic garbage bag leaning against the wall.

It was the unveiling.

Last year, Mary Ann Chew's fourth grade reading class decided it would like to write and publish a newspaper as one of its projects. With the money they earned from the sales of their editions, the students decided to purchase a piece of art for their elementary school.

Last Tuesday, the completed work was unveiled and hung on the school's library wall during special ceremonies conducted by the now fifth grade students.

"We decided to buy a painting because it would last a long time and everyone would enjoy it," Norman Carlson explained during the presentation ceremonies.

Then Jim Works and Jackie Erber produced a painting in bright blues and reds of a Wednesday night sailboat race on Lake Charlevoix.

Present for the ceremonies was the creator of the painting Ivor Menzies and his wife Rosalie as well as Mrs. Chew's new reading class.

"The students made $26 from the sale of their newspaper, which I told them they could spend in any way they wanted on anything they wanted," Mrs. Chew explained. "And they voted and chose to buy a painting for the school."

The teacher said many of her classes had decided to purchase something for the school.

"In the past, classes have given a Brunim sculpture, a Neff seagull and a collection of the Laura Ingalls Wilder books," she said. "So the idea of giving something to the school for everyone to share was not something new to the students."

After deciding to buy a painting, the students asked Mrs. Chew for the names of local artists who could do the work for them. She suggested Menzie's name and since a few of the children knew the artist, he was commissioned to do the painting.

"I was very excited when the children asked me to do the painting," Menzies recalled. "It was great to think that children had that much interest in art.

"Painting this picture has been one of the greatest thrills I've had since I've been painting," he said.

Menzies said the children didn't quite know what they wanted painted when they came to talk to him about the project.

"They sort of hemmed and hawed," he smiled gently. "And then I suggested sailboats and they said that would be perfect."

But as it turned out the picture was entirely perfect.

German Exchange Student Visiting Charlevoix High

By FRAN MARTIN

The student population at the Charlevoix High School has been increased this year by the arrival of one Michael Plata, 16, from Bad Schwartau, Germany.

However, unless you engaged him in a lengthy conversation or used numerous colloquialisms or slang expressions you'd never know he wasn't a native born American. He has an excellent command of the English language.

"Languages are easy for me" was his explanation for this and he looks like any other student that age you might meet in the corridor or classroom. In his country students have five years of English.

Mike, as he's called, is spending the school year with Mr. and Mrs. John Northup under the Youth for Understanding program.

His real parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dieter Plata of Bad Schwartau, a city of 18,000 located on the Baltic Sea. His father is a trucker. His mother, Alice is employed as a secretary. He has one sister, Dagmar, who is 13 years old

Among the subjects he is taking at the Charlevoix High School are mechanical Drawing, a class he likes very much and which is not offered in the German curriculum. His other subjects are U.S. Government, English Literature, Advanced Biology and Trigonometry. The second semester the latter will be replaced with Advanced Math. The math classes are also among his favorites.

He finds Americans friendy and open. He enjoys the woods and lakes where one can hunt and fish though he has never hunted and had done only a little fishing.

He finds it interesting that kids here can't visit discoteques until they're 18. In Germany, he says, they can go to them at 16.

How does he like it here? "It's great and I'm enjoying every minute of it" he said summing up his new experience.

Council of Cooperative Nurseries to Hold Annual Conference Oct. 18-19 in Petoskey

The Northern Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries will hold its fourth annual two day conference dealing with parents and their pre-school children at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey, Michigan on Oct. 18 and 19. This year's conference theme will be "Raising Today's Children for Tomorrow's World."

Northern Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries is an organization representing 50 member cooperative nurseries in Upper Michigan from Houghton in the UP to Tawas and Ludington in the lower peninsula. NMCCN is the largest and fastest growing area of cooperative nurseries in Michigan and involves over 1500 member families.

This conference is one of the most comprehensive early-childhood development conferences in Michigan and offers much to anyone interested in their pre-school child and his development. Mr. Ben Hamilton, Title I Consultant for the State of Michigan will keynote the conference Monday evening with an address entitled "The Role of Education in Raising Children for Tomorrow's World." The conference involves a series of 36 workshops led by speakers with expertise in various areas of interest in living and working with children. The conference, while sponsored by the Northern Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries is open to anyone interested in early childhood education.

Persons wishing additional information may contact Joyce Palmer in Alpena, Michigan, phone 517 354-5751.

Kenneth Smiths Mark Fortieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Smith, former residents, celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 10, at their home in Tryon, N.C.

Hosting the event were their daughter, Mrs. James Thistlewaite of Grosse Pointe and their son, Rusty Smith of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were associated with Camp Charlevoix located on the north side of Lake Charlevoix for many years prior to the sale of the property several years ago. They owned and operated the camp for many years after having been affiliated with it in other capacities prior to that time.

CBers Plan Coffee Break

The Twin Valley React Radio Club will hold a "coffee break" Sunday, October 23, beginning at noon, at the Loft Bar on Pleasant Valley Road in Boyne City.

Judy Paroll of the club reports that it will be a social time for all people interested in, or wanting to learn about, Citizen's Band radio.

School Officials, Interested Parents Learn About PTA, May Form One

Providing a quality education for children everywhere is the goal of the Michigan Congress of Parents, Teachers and Students (PTA).

Five PTA representatives visited Charlevoix last week to explain to local residents how the organization expects to achieve this goal throughout the nation.

And Charlevoix residents must have been impressed with the group's presentation, because as a result a PTA may be formed in Charlevoix.

"We have two parents groups at the Charlevoix Elementary School already," Superintendent James McKimmy said. "And we have had several people ask us to form a PTA or some sort of parents group.

"Through these contacts we are going to try to organize a regularly meeting group of parents," McKimmy said.

People interested in being a part of the group should contact one of the principals at the elementary, middle or high schools or McKimmy.

The PTA performs many services people aren't aware of the representatives told area residents.

"People aren't really aware of the resources that are available to them through the PTA," Elaine Stienkemeyer, Michigan PTA president, said explaining why she had made the trip to Northern Michigan.

"When they find out we are real people that are interested in the same things they are, they get excited and enthused about the organization," Mrs. Stienkemeyer, a Holt mother of four, said.

Mrs. Stienkemeyer said in the last two years, the state PTA organization has been trying to visit various communities to explain its operations. In its latest visit to Northern Michigan, the PTA officers talked with residents in Petoskey, Reed City and Alpena as well as Charlevoix.

"There seems to be a greater interest in the organization now," the president said. 'Even groups that had dissolved in the past are coming to us and asking us to help them get started again.

"People seem to see a need for a unified group interested in providing a quality education for their children," she said.

Mrs. Stienkemeyer said the PTA is basically local people working to improve their own schools.

"But their state and regional officers are on hand to help them work on various problems," she explained.

The president said 32 Michigan residents served on the state PTA board and another 33 people served on various commissions studying the problems of local schools.

"Any of these resource people are available to local PTA chapters for discussion of problems," Mrs. Stienkemeyer said. "We are pleased to attend meetings and discuss what is being done to solve educational problems."

The state PTA president said volunteers serve on five commissions: the Education Commission, Health and Welfare Commission, Individual Development Commission, Leadership Commission and Membership and Organization Commission to study problems and present solutions to them.

"We are very active as lobbyists in the capital," Mrs. Stienkemeyer. "We study all the legislation and we are represented on almost all of the State Department of Education Committees."

One accomplishment of the state PTA commissions in the past few years is the development and testing of an alcohol education packet which is no being offered to all schools.

"We want to meet the needs of students, parents and teachers throughout Michigan," Mrs. Stienkemeyer said.

ELAINE STIENKEMEYER (sitting on the left) discusses the function of the PTA with Ralph Raymer and other interested Charlevoix residents.

Rec Dept. Still Has Openings For Volleyball, Basketball

Interested in playing volleyball or men's basketball?

If you are, check with Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, who is presently organizing leagues in these sports for schedules that will begin the first week in November.

There are more teams needed in the Men's Volleyball league where four teams are organized and ready to go. The games will be played Tuesday night. Contact Boss at 547-9098 for forms which must be in by Oct. 22. Outside teams are welcome to enter.

There are also openings for eight more teams in the mixed volleyball league. These should be local teams. The league presently has eight teams. This league will play Wednesday and Thursday.

The women's volleyball league is organized and ready to go, Boss said. He has planned clinics for these players to be held at the K-5 gymnasium at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 18 and 25.

The A League of the Independent Basketball League has room for several more teams. Thus far, Way Oil, Townhouse and Swanson's from last year's league and two others up from the B League, Kenney's Excavation and Credit Union have signed up, More are needed, however, for a good league with plenty of competition, Boss said.

The B League in basketball is another league organized and ready for the season. This league includes Tri-City Asphalt, Klooster John Deere, Bay Shore Steel, County State Bank, Wojan Aluminum, Medusa, LaBlance Insurance and Al-Ray Cottages. These teams will play Monday and Wednesday.

Boss went on to say that effective Nov. 2, the Middle School gym will be open from 7 until 10 p.m. for use by men and women who are not already participating in any Charlevoix Recreation program. It is designed primarily for older residents not involved in volleyball or basketball league but who would enjoy participating in some sport just for exercise.

Cowboys, Patriots Widen Lead in Flag Contests

By FRAN MARTIN

With only two weeks remaining in the flag football season, the Patriots and the Cowboys continute to lead the pack with 4-0 records after posting wins over the Vikings by a 13-0 margin and the Bucaneers 56-6, respectively.

In the third senior league game, the Rams edged the Bears 20-16.

The Cowboys defeated the Dolphins 14-12 and the Steelers shut out the Rams 19-0 in the Junior league.

This week the Dolphins and the Steelers will meet at 9:00 a.m.; the Cowboys and the Rams at 10:15; the Patriots and the Cowboys at 11:30 a.m. in a game that may be a battle for the league title; the Bucs and the Rams at 12:45 p.m. and the Vikings and the Bears at 2 p.m.

PATRIOTS 13 VIKINGS 0

The Patriots handed the vikings their fourth loss of the season, a 13-0 shut out. However, it was a hard won victory for the Patriots who managed only two TD's over the lowly Vikings, a one-yard run by Jeff Drury in the first period and a four-yard pass from Drury to Richard Georgi in the final period. Drury scored the single conversion point.

COWBOYS 56 BUCANEERS 6

A 30-yard punt return by Eric Fiedler was the only TD scored by the Bucs as the Cowboys ran rough shod over the team with the 1-3 record.

The action in the game revolved around Jeff Daylong who passed three times to Ross Carey for scoring plays, scored three touchdowns on his own, scored one conversion himself and passed twice to Todd Daylong and once to Keith Comer for other conversion points. Scott Kelly added two TD's plus a safety and Jim Buchanan added a second safety. No yardage on runs was given in the report.

RAMS 20 BEARS 16

The Bears got off to a fast start and led the Rams 9-8 at halftime before blowing the lead and losing by four points.

A touchdown by Mark Morgan on a 16 yard run plus a conversion and a safety by Mike Bartz accounted for the halftime lead after the Rams had been held to a TD by Keith Potter on a 10 yard pass from Gary Drury and a safety by Peter Cockfield.

The Bears, however, could muster only one scoring play on a pass from Joe Sladek to Tim Louiselle and conversion by Morgan while the Rams came through with a kickoff return by Bill Herriman and a TD pass from Drury to Mark Beaudoin to take the game.

STEELERS 10 RAMS 0

The Steelers got back on the victory train this week with a shut out of the Rams who have yet to win a game this season.

A 10-yard run by Lance Stevens, a Stevens to Thad Morgan pass for 20 yards and a 24 yard sprint by Morgan gave the Steelers the winning margin. Jim Kenney added a conversion point.

COWBOYS 14 DOLPHINS 12

Two conversion points scored by John Marsh gave the Cowboys the winning margin in their game with the Dolphins.

The Dolphins were ahead 12-7 at halftime following scoring plays by Mike Johnson on a nine yard run and a TD by Dave Milligan on a 20 yard run. These followed Dane Tollas' 17 yard TD run early in the game.

The Cowboys trailed until the final period when Tim LaBiance fell on the ball in the end zone following a blocked punt and Marsh added the conversion.

JV Ties Class A Soo Squad In Tough Gridiron Battle

The Charlevoix JV football team played the Class A Soo squad to a 14-14 tie in a game played here Thursday night.

Two blocked punts gave the visitors the tying points but on the ground the young Rayders out-played the bigger outfit.

Charlevoix scored first in the game on a six yard run off tackle by Kevin Kratt. Gilbert Noirot passed to Pat Schmidt for the two-point conversion to put the Rayders ahead 8-0.

However, late in the half, the Soo team blocked a Rayder punt on the 20 yard line and scooped up the ball to score. The visitors then ran the ball in to knot the score 8-all at halftime.

A second blocked punt, this time on the two yard line, put the Soo eleven ahead for the first time. The conversion attempt failed as they led 14-8.

The young Rayders came back to tie the score in the final period on a one-yard run up the middle by Kratt. The scoring play was set up by a 30 yard run by Barney Way and climaxed an 80-yard drive.

The Charlevoix JV's will be at St. Ignace for a game at 6:30 p.m.

Freshmen Bow to Grayling

The Charlevoix Freshman football team bowed to the visiting Grayling eleven by a score of 6-0 in their third game of the current season.

The team's next game will be here with Onaway Oct. 19.

An 80 yard punt return in the second quarter by a Viking back accounted for the only TD in the strong defensive game.

Charlevoix threatened twice, battling to the 15 yard line where the team fumbled away scoring opportunities. Other than the single scoring play, Grayling never got past the Rayder 40 yard line.

Coach Charlie Bentley credited Robert Bussell with six unassisted tackles and with playing an outstanding game on defense. Kirk Heckendorn, playing in the defensive secondary, had a pass interception and a couple outstanding defensive plays, Bentley said.

Former Stars Shine On College Squads

Some of Charlevoix High School's former football stars are making good on college football teams. We received the following reports this week on what former players are doing.

Michigan Tech's football team won its Northern Intercollegiate Conference opener recently, a 35-0 victory over Winona State.

Kevin Martin

The win raises the Huskies' record to 2-1 and marks their first shut-out of the season. They held the Warriors to a mere 80 yards in total offense while piling up 385 themselves.

In that game, defensive halfback, Kevin Martin, was credited with one tackle and a kick-off return of 18 yards. He was among several team members named for an Outstanding Performance Award by the coaching staff.

A sophomore at Tech, Martin was an outstanding halfback on the Charlevoix Rayder squad prior to his graduation in 1975. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claire C. Martin.

Robert Alger

Freshman rover Bob Alger played recently in Ferris State College's 41-3 win over Northeastern Illinois University according to a recent news release.

The 6-0, 180 pound freshman should see plenty of action for the Bulldogs.

Alger was quarterback of the Charlevoix Rayder eleven for two years prior to his graduation last June. In 1975 the team finished second in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference standings. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alger.

The most recent honor bestowed on Bob Alger was being named last week "Bulldog of the Week", in recognition of his two pass interceptions, three pass deflections that would have resulted in opponent's touchdowns, and centering for eight points.

After Slow Start Girls Roll Over Cheboygan

The Charlevoix girls basketball team, utilizing its fast break, defeated Cheboygan 40-36 in a game here Tuesday that saw the local team overcome a 13-4 first period deficit.

It was a close game all the way as Charlevoix edged into a two-point 21-19 halftime advantage and held on 31-29 going into the last eight minute when they stretched the winning margin to four points.

Maureen Cudd with 14 points was top scorer for the Rayderettes. Kathy Sladek and Sandy Hodge added nine points each.

Margaret Olsun had 13 points for Cheboygan.

Charlevoix's JV's also wrapped up a victory, this one by a score of 38-16 with Sherri Selissen with 16 points leading the scoring.

It was an easy victory for the locals as they led 13-4; 19-8 and 28-16 by quarters.

Margaret LaVigne had 10 points for the visiting team.

Charlevoix will host Gaylord here Tuesday.

Harriers Top St. Ignace, But Lose to Petoskey

The Charlevoix Rayder harriers won over St. Ignace by a score of 27-30 but lost to Petoskey 22-36 in a triangular meeting held Tuesday at St. Ignace.

Petoskey also won over St. Ignace 25-34.

Charlevoix is scheduled to travel to the Soo Invitational on Wednesday and participate in the Petoskey Frosh-Sophomore meet on Saturday.

The Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet will be held at Petoskey Oct. 19.

For the third week, Wally Drenth set a new course record, this time at the St. Ignace course where he clocked a record time of 15:04. The former course record was not available. Earlier he had set new records at Cheboygan and Petoskey.

In the meet at St. Ignace, Mark Russell came in ninth with a time of 16:25 among the 36 entries from the three schools. Jeff Drenth was 10th with a time of 16:56; Ron Hilton, 13th, with a time of 17:06; Nate Klooster, 15th, 17:15, and Craig Golovich, 20th, with a time of 18:08.

MINER KOSTER

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for a former local resident, Miner Koster, 89, who died Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids, were held Monday at the Ellsworth Christian Reformed church. Arthur Sluis of Reformed Bible College in Grand Rapids officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth cemetery.

Born in Banks Township April 23, 1907, Mr. Koster was married to the former Tena Dranth Dec. 4, 1933. They resided on a Banks township farm and later in Ellsworth before going to Grand Rapids where he was a factory worker until his retirement in 1974. Mrs. Koster preceded him in death in 1973. He was a member of the Christian Reformed church.

He is survived by a son, Jerry, of Muskegon; two grandchildren and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Fannie Koster of Ellsworth.

The Hastings Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

HAROLD DUTCHER

Funeral services for Harold D. Dutcher, 89, who died Monday at his home following a lengthy illness, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Raymond Giffin will officiate. Interment will be in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix March 17, 1907, Mr. Dutcher had always resided in Charlevoix. He was a groceryman and meat cutter by trade and had been associated with local stores until opening a business with a partner, known as Dutcher and Johnson Market with which he was associated until it was sold in 1959. He was a member of the First Congregational church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mrs. Carol Slocum Schofield whom he married in Charlevoix in 1965; a son, David A. of Charlevoix; one daughter, Joyce E. Dutcher of Santa Barbara, Calif.; a stepson, Robert W. Schofield of Charlevoix; four stepdaughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Julie) Wojan, Mrs. James (Ruth) McKinney and Mrs. Gary (Linda) Moore, all of Charlevoix and Janet L. Schofield of San Diego, Calif.; 12 grandchildren; a brother, John D. of Hollywood, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Daisy Szczepanski of Detroit.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory contribute in Mr. Dutcher's name to the First Congregational Church Memorial Flower Fund.

MERLE MYERS

ELLSWORTH--Funeral services for Merle D. Myers, 69, of Cincinnati who died unexpectedly Thursday at his summer home on Six Mile Lake, were held Tuesday at the High Funeral Home in Cincinnati. Interment was in Resthaven cemetery.

Born Oct. 19, 1906, at Bettsville, Ohio, Mr. Myers was division manager for the Sears Roebuck co. in Cincinnati from 1933 until his retirement in 1965. He had been a summer resident here since 1933. He was an elder in the Silverton Presbyterian church, a member of the Silverton Auxiliary Police and of Masonic Order.

Surviving are his wife, the former Luella Treece whom he married in 1927; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Betty Lou) Neel of Cincinnati; one son, Capt. James Myers stationed at Worms, Germany, with the U.S. Army; four grandchildren and a sister, Ms. Clara Tolley of Maumee, Ohio.

John Peternard

St. James, Beaver Island -- Funeral services for John Peternard, 68, who died Saturday in Chicago, were held Wednesday at Holy Cross church. The Rev. Alvin Yard O.F.M. officiated. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery. He died Saturday in Chicago.

Born in Hungary, Mr. Peternard came to Chicago at the age of four years with his parents. In 1947, he was married to the former Sadie (Gallagher) McDonough in Chicago where they made their home.

He is survived by his wife; one son, John W., of Chicago; a step-daughter, Mrs. Don (Kay) Masini of St. Joseph and four grandchildren.

Painting

"When the children came over to look at the picture after it was finished, one little boy noticed a mistake," Mrs. Menzies said.

"He said, 'Oh, Mr. Menzies it looks just like the races, it's exactly right, except we use plastic markers'" she recounted.

Menzies explained that the markers were too far away for him to tell what they actually looked like.

"So I guessed and painted them like the ones I had seen used in the races at Lake St. Clair," he laughed. "I was glad that he noticed."

Chopsticks Hold Good Blessings

Chopsticks supplied to diners at Chinese restaurants often are decorated with five ideographs representing happiness, luck, prosperity, peace, and long life, the National Geographic Society says.

NOTICE OF HEARING - ROAD WIDENING

The Antrim County Road Commission will hold a public hearing at the commission offices in Mancelona at 1:30 P.M. on October 19, 1976. The purpose of this hearing will be to explain and receive comment on a proposed widening of an unnamed county road running along Grand Traverse Bay south of Norwood. That portion of the road proposed to be improved begins at the Antrim County line and runs south for approximately one mile.

The work is being proposed to enable the Antrim County Road Commission to provide snow plowing on this road. The work will involve the removal of stumps and trees near the edge of the existing traveled surface, provision for adequate surface drainage and the addition of gravel where necessary. The work is tentatively scheduled to be done in the fall of 1976.

Persons wishing to present a written statement or an exhibit at the hearing shall convey that statement or exhibit to the Antrim County Road Commission at least 10 days before the hearing.

Norman's Furniture Provides Customers With Pieces Crafted Their Way

MANY CUSTOM made places of furniture line the walls of Norman's Furniture Store.

"Have it your way," is the motto of a new furniture store in Charlevoix.

Norman's Furniture, which moved to Charlevoix from Bay Shore recently, features custom-made, unfinished, and mass-produced furniture.

"Anything a customer wants, we can get for him," Don Norman, owner of the new store, located on U.S. 31 North, said. "If a customer comes into the store and can't find what he wants, all he has to do is show me a picture and we'll make it up for him."

Norman and his brother John are owners and operators of a custom-made, hand-tooled, furniture business in Williamsburg with outlets in Charlevoix and Traverse City. A third brother Eddie, also helps with the construction of the furniture. Some standard pieces which the brothers produce include: corner hutches, hutches, candles, gun cabinets, kitchen cabinet, vanities, bunk beds, coat trees and all kinds of tables. All pieces are constructed out of 1 inch thick wood.

The brothers will also custom design furniture to fit a specific space or place, if one of their standard pieces isn't suitable.

"The only thing we don't make is chairs," Norman said. "But we've come across a very good manufacturer whose things we sell at our store and catalogue order for our customers."

Norman also has a line of unfinished, mass-produced furniture which he sells at the store.

"People can save a lot of money buying unfinished furniture," Norman said. "And we have all of the finishing supplies they will need right at the store.

"Or they would like, we will do the finishing for them," he said.

Norman said he was excited about moving to Charlevoix with his furniture store and he is looking forward to meeting the many residents of the area. He urged people to visit the store and also extended and invitation to people interested in visiting the factory in Williamsburg.

FDA Has Pamphlets Explaining Flu

The swine flu vaccine has sure been a conversation topic lately. You probably wonder what good the shot will do, and whether or not you should get it. And, if you do get it, what side effects might you expect*

The Food and Drug Administration has a new fact sheet that should help answer some of your questions. For a single free copy of The New Flu, write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 57, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Tests on the faccine show that it works in peopel age 25 and over with a single shot. A booster shot may be needed for people age 18 to 24. More testing needs to be done to find the proper dosage of the vaccine under 18.

Are you wondering what the side effects might be? For most, the only discomfort will be a sore arm. Others will have symptoms that include low fever and tiredness.

If you are running a fever, you should delay getting vaccinated until the fever is gone. And people who have received another type of vaccine within the previnus 14 days should consult a physician before taking the flu vaccine.

Because the vaccine is made with eggs, if you're allergic to eggs you shouldn't get the flu shot.

Since the shot itself is being provided by the Federal Government, it won't cost the consumer anything. The vaccine will be given free by various Federal, State, and local agencies at local clinics or other places. If you want your own physician to vaccinate you, the cost will be whatever the doctor charges for giving the shot. Watch your local newspaper for details about the availability of the vaccine in your area.

The New Flu (free) is one of over 250 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the catalog, Consumer Information. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the catalog is available free from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Mrs. Ross Alexander
547-9878

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lambdin have returned to their home in Detroit after spending the summer in their local home.

Mrs. Ruby (VanDam) Horton of Willis and Boyndon Beach, Fla. is a guest this weekend at the home of her cousin Hilda Alexander.

Diane Alexander of Allendale spent last weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander and explained about her recent trip to the Soviet Union that coincided with a class she is taking on Government and Politics of the Soviet Union and International Law. There were five students that received college credits for the trip.

Highlights of the trip were Moscow, Capital of the Soviet Union. They saw the Kremlin, St. Basils Cathedral, Gum Department Store the largest in Russia, the Armory Museum, and in the Kremlin, Lenins Tomb, also Pushkin Museum and the Bolshi Theater.

Their next stop was Kiev, capital of the Ukranian SSR. That city has many beautiful parks and recreation spots. They saw St. Sophias Cathedral a State Farm and St. Vladimin Statue overlooking the Dnepier River.

Their final stop in their trip was Leningrad known as the Venice of the North. They saw the Hermitage which is the largest museum in the Soviet Union. Included in this museum is the Czars winter palace where Nikolas I was arrested during the Socialist Revolution. They also visited Petershev, the Czars summer palace, located about fifteen miles out of the city on the Golf of Finland part of the Baltic Sea.

Russell Snyder of Saginaw is covering their local home on Washington Street with aluminum. Looks nice.

The church choir resumed practice Thursday evening after having a months vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury are visiting friends in Denver, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. James White will return to their home in Paris, Kentucky, after spending several weeks in their local home.

Mr. and Mrs. Karlton Knorr our local Honey man has finished their Bee business here for this season and returned to their home and business in Florida.

The Bogart Roofing Company of Charlevoix are reroofing the church and Robert Koontz has remodeled the front of the church porch over the steps. We hope this will take care of the winter ice problem.

Ray Williams is a medical patient in the Charlevoix Hospital. He has the very best wishes of his friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodbury returned home Wednesday after spending two weeks with friends in Denver, Colorado and visiting interesting places while traveling.

About thirty church parents and children and several grandmothers enjoyed the color tour on the Boyne City railroad to Boyne Falls Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Trayte is spending the winter in Ft. Meyers, Florida.

Chester and Leona are building a two story addition on the westside of their place of business at the ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kemp, and the latters sisters, Mrs. Pearl Sinclair and Mrs. Emily Coward of East Jordan spent several days this past week at Grand Marais and Copper Harbor.

Residents Begin Taking Sides on County Proposals

Proposal A

By PAULA HOLMES

They call themselves the "Whole Lot of County Taxpayers Voting Yes on County Proposal A and No on County Proposal B" Committee.

Their aim is to provide county voters with what they feel is pertinent information in the 15 mill-12 mill limitation debate.

County Proposal A seeks to set a definite split of the usual 15-mill allocation at 4.7 mills for the county, 9.1 mills for the school districts, .2 mills for the intermediate school district and 1 mill for the townships. This is how the allocated mills have been split for several years.

County Proposal B will lower the amount of mills levied in the county to 12 mills and allocate 3.7 mills to the county, 1.5 mills to the township, .1 mill to the intermediate district, and 6.7 mills to the school district.

For the last two weeks the 40 members of the Yes on Proposal A, No on Proposal B Committee, led by Reed Freidinger and Tom Bickersteth, have been interviewing county and school officials attempting to determine just what would happen if the millage levy were reduced by three mills from the present 15 mill levy to the proposed 12-mill levy. A mill is a tax of $1 per $1,000 of property evaluation.

"Based on our study of the figures and on the comments of the Citizens Information Service (CIS), we feel they have shown a lock of foresight in picking the proposed three-mill reduction," Freidinger and Bickersteth said.

"They have failed to take into account that a reduction in the millage levy will result in a corresponding drop in state and federal aid which is based on local tax effort," the two men explained. "Once you get done adding up how much state and federal money we will lose with a three-mill reduction, you are talking about a lot more lost money than three mills."

The men presented what they feel are some startling figures they found during their study of the issue.

In addition to the $185,000 the Charlevoix School District, the $194,000 the Twin Valley School District, the $29,000 the Boyne Falls School District and the $15,000 the Beaver Island School District will lose, an additional $90,000 in state aid will be lost to the districts.

"When interviewing the superintendents, they estimated that approximately one-quarter of their teachers would have to be laid off due to the loss in revenue or about 50 teachers would be unemployed," the men said.

On the county level, the men found that 44 people would have to be fired from their jobs to meet the cut in funds.

"County Commissioner Ralph Richardson estimated that 25 people would have to be laid off to meet the $186,773 loss in budget due to the reduction in mills," they said.

"But in order to pay the unemployment compensation due to these people, another 10.7 people would have to be laid off and to pay their unemoloyment another 4.5

Proposal B

By KEN WINTER

BOYNE CITY – Wilson Township resident Karl Waldner admitted Monday night that his so-called "Citizens Information Service" (CIS) has only two other members besides himself.

And he also revealed that his group's proposed government budget cuts if county ballot proposal B (limit county allocated millage to 12 mills) is based on 20 percent common sense, five percent instinct and 75 percent research he was unable to substantiate.

CIS has made previous claims to have a larger membership representing public interest.

Waldner made his revelations during a press conference held at the Top of Michigan Rural Electric Cooperative Auditorium.

Only a handful of press (representatives) along with several other residents were present to see Waldner's 11-page proposal to lower Charlevoix County's property taxes from 15 to 12 mills.

After nearly an hour of discussion about his document, Waldner admitted that his proposed cuts had not been thoroughly researched.

"I just don't feel the officials are doing the job they could be doing," Waldner said at one point during the discussion.

However his written document explained his position in much stronger language.

"...If taxpayers/voters are supplied with facts other than exaggerated and slanted semi-official ones, it is entirely probable they would find that their reaction at the November election would be to eliminate most of the present officials from their present offices, thereby ending the long tolerated cheating on the public trust," the general statement to his proposal read.

When asked how the government officials were cheating the public trust, Waldner said only that the "various officials in all units of government should be held accountable."

Waldner's document presents what he terms is the background for each local unit of government ranging from the township up to the intermediate school district. Following each background statement, Waldner provides a cost cut statement.

However, when asked where he derived his proposed budget cost cuts, Waldner said much of it came from common sense and the public meetings he has attended during the last few years.

Waldner said he has heard no official position from any of the governmental units of what they would do if the proposal passes and the county has only 12 instead of the present 15 mills to allocate.

When asked how his proposal is different from the no position stand taken by many public officials, Waldner said at least his position is forcing them to try to make cuts.

Waldner said the dialogue he and several others have created has been healthy and will make people more aware

Coach, Elementary Teacher Hired by School Board Monday

By FRAN MARTIN

A teacher was hired for the Charlevoix Elementary School and a high school volleyball coach was appointed at Monday's Charlevoix Board of Education meeting.

Ronald Cox was hired as a probationary teacher in the K-5 school. He is a Central Michigan University graduate and for the past year has been a substitute teacher in the system.

Patricia Carland was appointed volleyball coach for the 1976-77 school year. Mrs. Carland has been a teacher in the school system since 1970. She will succeed Marie Osterberg who resigned from the position at the close of the 1975-76 season.

Elzinga Insurance was awarded the transportation fleet insurance. His bid, the only one received, was in the amount of $3,619. The bid was approved by a vote of 6-1 with Max Novak casting the nay vote. He said, by way of explanation for the vote, that he objected to the high cost of fleet insurance. "We're going to have to do something about it. Maybe we should have a state pool. I'm not happy about it". Insurance companies in the area were invited to bid on the insurance.

The bid for gasoline was awarded to the Standard Oil Co. and supplied by Doug Way. The bids of 41.6 cents for regular and 43.6 for no lead gasolines were the lowest of four received. Other bids were received from the Petoskey Oil Co., Sunoco and Total. The latter bid on only the regular gasoline.

Supt. James A. McKimmy addressed the board regarding the possibility of seeking funds under the Public Works Act for school construction. He outlined the criteria and the chances of getting the funds emphasizing that it would be necessary to spend approximately $3500 in order to obtain the necessary engineering data in order to apply. No decision was made. He will poll the board members Thursday regarding their decision.

McKimmy also spoke briefly on State Proposal C relating to the proposal to limit all state taxes and spending to 8.3 percent of the combined income tax of Michigan. He said that the legislature, under the proposal, would be able to earmark funds as they saw fit and thus could take funds

Council Approves Funds for Review Of Proposed Charter by Attorney

By PAULA HOLMES

Funds were approved by the Charlevoix Common Council for the review of the proposed city charter by a municipal attorney Monday night.

John Robert Clock, a member of the Charter Commission, requested council grant the commission $2,000 to cover the cost of the review, the cost of publishing the charter and any travel expenses the commission might incur. Council approved funds only for the attorney. The commission still has $800 in its budget for other expenses.

Clock requested funds for the review based on two bids from Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo municipal attorney firms. The Kalamazoo firm of Morris and Culver, which was highly recommended by the Michigan Municipal League and several Michigan cities, had a low bid of $750.

The Charter Commission recently finished writing the proposed charter and wants to have it reviewed for any legal inconsistencies by a municipal attorney. Following the review by attornies, which is expected to take two days, the charter will be sent to the

Vote No

I am a taxpayer and resident of Charlevoix County and according to my 1975 tax statement the millage rate for our township was 3 mills. As I understand this, 1 mill was allocated to the township from the allocation board and the other 2 mills was voted by the electorate of the township. Prior to the election in April of 1975, our township had voted 2.7 mills and there was 3.7 mills spread on the tax statement. We have supported our township for their various needs. I also noted in the paper the other day that Hayes Township stated that they did not need any extra money and were even concerned with losing the 1 mill allocated because they could not show a need for same. What I am wondering is – where did the people initioting the petitions to put a vote on the ballot this November that would lower the millage to 12 mills by reducing the county by 1 mill, the schools by 2.4 mills and INCREASING THE TOWNSHIPS to 1.5 mills, get their facts? How did they determine the townships needed the EXTRA .5 mill? I see no evidence to that fact nor do I want my millage increased in the township by one-half mill. VOTE NO ON THE 12 MILL PROPOSAL. We don't need this kind of favor.

Decision on Manager Due by Thursday

The Charlevoix Common Council is expected to meet Thursday to wrap up the selection of a new city administrator.

Alderman George Plumm, who has been heading up the search for a new administrator, said the council had narrowed its selection of administrators down to two people. However, the council recently received a letter from one of the candidates saying he could not take the job at this time.

Plumm expects to offer the job to the second candidate Thursday night.

Charlevoix has been without a city administrator for almost three years. Robert Wexstaff had performed the city administrator's duties for about two years as an acting administrator. He resigned from that position in August. Since that time the position has been filled by Chuck Pease, city assessor.

Noon, 1, 5 p.m. Bridge Openings Eliminated by Council for Summer

By PAULA HOLMES

The Pine Channel Bridge may be a little easier to live with next summer.

The Charlevoix Common Council approved a resolution Monday night eliminating the noon, 1 p.m., and 5 p.m. bridge openings because they interrupted traffic flow during peak periods.

The council passed the resolution at the request of the Michigan Highway Commission, which had received many complaints from area residents and had asked the council for its recommendation.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners had also requested the city to take action to improve traffic flow during peak summer traffic periods.

In other action, the council also received petitions from residents of West Robinson, West Wood, Sheridan and Sherman streets requesting the city pave their streets. The council agreed to look into the matter, but felt it would be impossible to pave the streets until next spring.

Acting City Administrator Chuck Pease said the approximate cost of the paving would be $15,050. Of this amount, the residents will pay 65 percent or $9,883 and the city will pay $5,267 or 35 percent of the cost.

The cost will be divided among all of the residents and payment can be spread out over five years. Pease said 50

Homecoming Celebration Super Despite Damp Weather

By FRAN MARTIN

Neither rain nor snow nor gale winds could dampen the spirits of the homecoming crowd at Kipke Field Friday night as the Charlevoix Rayers, playing a fine defensive game, stopped the St. Ignace Saints by a score of 12-8.

The weather even cleared at halftime when Homecoming Queen Julie Wimmer and her court were introduced and Queen Julie received her crown from the 1975 Queen, Sue Kane, who came from her studies at Michigan Tech for the event. Queen Julie was presented with a bouquet of roses and a game football from the Co-Captains, Matt Doan and Lee Begrow. Members of her court are Maureen Cudd, Ginny Eby, Patty Fels and Rita Wasoski. Twins, Roger and Becky Smith, were crown and flower bearers.

Music for the program was by the Charlevoix Rayder Marching Band directed by Gary L. Stutzman.

Themes of the floats were taken from well known commercials. The sophomore float was a take of on the McDonald ad, "We Do It All For You", won first place; the Freshman class placed second with "Things Go Better with the Rayders" and Juniors "How Do You Spell Defeat?" placed third.

The Senior float, "Please Don't Squeeze the Rayders" was a casuality of the wind and the rain as it was being towed across the highway bridge over the Pine River Channel.

The storm reached its peak shortly before the parade started but, other than the high winds, had tapered off by game time.

The Homecoming Dance at the K-5 school was successful with a large crowd attending and enjoying the music for dancing by the "Star Flight" group from Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Homecoming festivities opened with a bonfire and Pep Rally at Kipke Field Thursday night. At that time, the name of the homecoming Queen was announced and the co-captains 'dubbed'.

The Homecoming events were planned by the Student Council. Ms. Gayle Kaczynski is the faculty advisor and Kay Currey the president.

Updated Service Directory Published

A little blue book, chock full of names, numbers and addresses telling it all about Charlevoix County, is currently circulating in the area.

But this book, unlike other books telling it all, is free to any social agencies at the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services. It is the Directory of Community Resources for Charlevoix County and was published by social services.

The directory, in its second year of publication, is a much improved edition, according to Richard Tillen, social services department director.

"We are very proud of this directory," Tillen said. "It is a big improvement over our last one. It is easier to read and easier to locate resources."

The directory lists from A to Z all of the agencies and organizations which have services people can tap into.

"This is a service directory," Tillen said. "We want people to know what services are provided for them in this county."

Suzanne Wickert, Social Service Special Services Coordinator, explained how difficult it was to print an up-to-date directory of this type.

"We are aware of the numerous changes that have taken place regarding contact people's names and telephone numbers since the directory went into print," Ms. Wickert siad. "But it is an impossibility to have a totally current directory. We hope everyone understand this situation and makes allowances for it."

Ms. Wickert also requested any agency listed in the directory that changes its telephone number, address or contact person inform the social services department so that appropriate additions and delitions can be made.

The department, with funding from the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and the Department of Health Education and Welfare, printed 600 copies of the directory.

DICK TILLEN and Suzanne Wickert of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services are looking over the recently updated Service Directory.

Charlevoix School District Enrollment Increased by 39 Students for 1976-77

The official fourth Friday count of enrollment in the Charlevoix Public Schools shows a total enrollment of 1807 students in the Kindergarten through the twelfth grade including those enrolled in Adult Education classes for high school completion and those from St. Mary's school participating in physical education classes.

This is an increase of 39 over the 1975 total of 1768.

A review of the figures below given by grades reveals that the major increase in the enrollment is at the high school level where 646 students are enrolled in a school planned for 472 students.

The enrollment taken on the fourth Friday of the school year throughout the state form the basis for allocation of State Aid monies.

Commission Completes Work on Proposed Charter

By PAULA HOLMES

It's almost ready.

After 16 months of hard study and more than 40 meetings by nine commissioners, the proposed new Charlevoix City Charter is ready for review by a charter consultant. Following the review and any legal changes which must be made, the proposed charter will be published and put to a vote of the city residents.

The current city charter, which is essentially the Fourth Class Cities Act with a few changes, has not been amended since 1920. Because of this and because the city has been growing and changing, a three-member Charter Committee recommended two years ago that a Charter Commission be elected to write a new charter under the Home Rule Act. The committee felt a charter update was in order.

And update the charter, the commission did. Many changes have been made in the proposed charter to allow the city to operate efficiently as the $3 million business it has become. But the changes were not made without many hours of study of resource materials, according to Richard Fochtman, commission chairman.

Before writing anything, the charter commission studied the charters of Traverse City, Boyne City, Scottsville, Mt. Pleasant, and Grand Rapids. They also read material sent to them by the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and the Michigan and National Municipal League. The commission also reviewed such materials as "Model City Charters," "A Guide for Charter Commissions," and "A Guide to Charter Drafting."

The nine commission members also listened to several guest speakers including: Richard Gorman, Petoskey City Manager; Thomas Garlock, Boyne City Clerk; Larry Savage, Traverse City Manager; Ida Heise, Charlevoix City Clerk; Robert Wexstaff, former Acting Charlevoix City Administrator; and Mayor Edward Hansen.

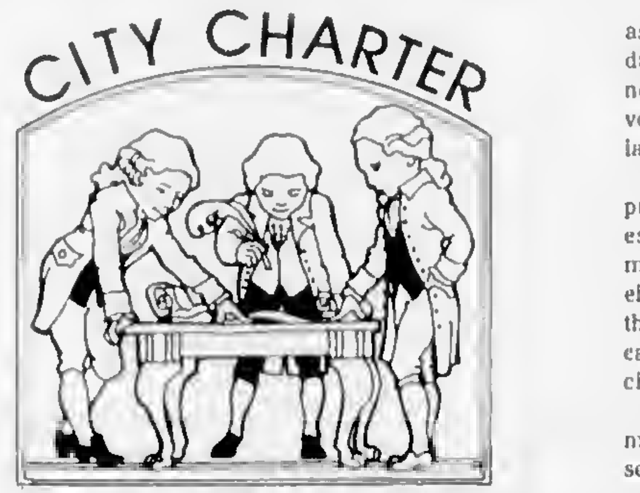
One major change made in the proposed city charter is a switch from the mayor-council form of city government to the council-city manager form.

"This was the first decision we made about the proposed charter," Fachtman explained. "It took the commission almost four months to study before we decided that this was the way we wanted to go."

The commissioners felt a switch to the council-manager form of government would lead to a more efficient operation of the city because under this government the city employees have only one boss, the city manager, who is responsible to the council. This form of government also leaves the council free to set city policy without interference from day-to-day operational concerns.

In the proposed city charter, all city residents will elect six nonpartisan members to council–two from each ward. The council members will be chosen during ward conventions by ward residents but they will be elected by all citizens.

The council will then elect one of its members to be mayor. The mayor will have no veto powers as is allowed under the present charter. A tie vote will constitute rejection of a proposal.



The city council will appoint the city manager, who will do all of the hiring and firing of city employees and officials including a foreman for the streets and waste water treatment departments, police chief, fire chief, city surveyor and city engineer.

A comptroller will also be hired by the city manager to act as the city's chief financial officer with the approval of the city council.

The city council will appoint the city assessor and the voters will elect the city clerk, whose sole function will be to assist the council with clerical duties. The city clerk can be nominated at ward conventions from the city at large.

Another major change in the proposed charter is the establishment of a three-members board to operate the electrical utitities. Presently the city administrator takes care of the utility as part of city operations.

"The commission decided to make the electricity utility separate because it would make the utility a more efficient operation. It is a $1 million business by itself," Fochtman said. "We also believe separate operation by an expert may result in lower utility rates."

Other changes in the proposed city charter include:

–Lowering the millage rate from a maximum of 20 mills to 15 mills.

–Requiring the city manager to prepare and present an annual budget and a five-year capital improvement program to provide some planning and coordination in major city construction.

–Changing the fiscal year to April 1-March 31 and requiring the city council to approve a budget before April 1. The change in fiscal year will give new council members, who will be elected in November, three months to study budget and approve it.

–Require the appointment of a five-members planning commission to prepared written recommendations about zoning requests. The city council will remain as the zoning board of appeals.

Public hearings will be held to discuss the proposed charter in depth once it reaches final form.

Planning Department Presents Mobile Home Study for County

By PEG OHLE

"What can the County Planning Commission recommend to local units of government regarding mobile homes?"

This is the question undertaken in a mobile home study recently prepared by Bill Mercer, county planner. The study is particularly relevant to Charlevoix County since 52 permits for mobile homes have been issued to Charlevoix County residents since the beginning of the year.

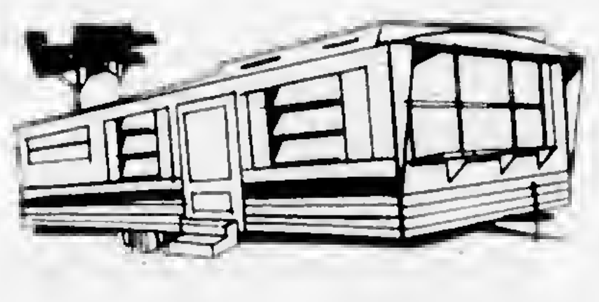
Mercer's study is divided into three sections: Historic Assessment, Legal Analysis, and Recommendations for Local Action.

He notes that for some time the public in general has held a negative opinion toward mobile homes, perhaps related to earlier "trailers" which were poorly designed and constructed. Also, it has been an accepted fact that the presence of mobile homes in a residential neighborhood results in a lowering of property values.

The lack of adequate storage facilities for yard goods and heating fuel, poor construction, susceptibility to wind damage, high mortality rates from fires, difficulty in obtaining insurance, fast depreciation in value, low taxes paid by mobile home dwellers, and local regulations regarding placement of mobile homes are some of the items considered under Historic Assessment.

The Legal Analysis section of the study covers several court decisions covering exclusion of mobile homes from low to medium density residential areas, from rural areas, and from entire townships or cities. Mercer notes that all townships in Charlevoix County allow mobile homes.

In a statement preliminary to recommendations, Mercer establishes three facts regarding mobile home regulation:



(1) The mobile home is a viable dwelling unit and must be treated as such. For this reason, a mobile unit may ot be excluded from an entire political unit.

(2) Attitudes surrounding mobile homes are mixed. Many view them as an important housing alternative, while an equal number consider them an economic albatross.

(3) The search continues for the best legal and aceeptable manner by which governmental units can control the location of mobde units.

In light of the above, Mercer recommends that the County Planning Commission consider the adoption and promulgation of the following policy guidelines:

(1) Township zoning ordinances should clearly establish that mobile homes are still "mobile" even though the wheels and undercarriage may have been removed. This would relieve the courts from having to define the meaning of mobile home pursuant to a particular zoning ordinance.

(2) Township zoning ordinances in Charlevoix County should adopt wording banning mobile home development in single family zone districts. This will mean that no mobile homes may be located in R-1 and, in some cases, R-2 zone districts. South Arm Township already covers this in its zoning ordinance. Most other townships avoid direct reference to banning mobile units, but do so nonetheless by using large square footage requirements. As most mobile units are 12 feet by 60 feet (720 square feet) and 14 feet by 70 feet (910 square feet), this indirect elimination is generally accomplished by using a minimum of 1,000 square feet or more.

(3) Mobile units (minimum size of 720 square feet) should be allowed in agricultural zone districts and steps taken to encourage the development of mobile home parks as an alternative to single lot location. Mobile home parks should follow a prescribed land use plan adopted through a cooperative township-county approach so they may be located to serve one or more townships. In this way the county plan could become a legal tool in supporting a township zoning program.

All townships not currently having a minimum floor space of 720 square feet in the Agriculture Zone District should be encouraged to adopt one. This would apply to Evangeline, Hayes, Hudson, Marion, South Arm and Wilson Townships since they all have limits below this level.

In conclusion, Mercer's study states, "The County Planning Commission should be working to find a method of integrating the mobile home into our society. It is here to stay as a housing alternative."

Commissioners Approve Millage Rates For 1976 Charlevoix County Tax Levy

By PEG OHLE

Millage rates for 1976 property taxes in all cities and townships in Charlevoix County were presented by the Equalization Department and approved by the Board of Commissioners last week.

Figures show that more tax money will be collected in the City of Charlevoix and surrounding townships in 1976 than in 1975, with the exception of Charlevoix Township. The increase is due to an increase in State Equalized Value (SEV).

Joan Blanchard, director of the Equalization Department, said that approximately $2.7 in SEV in personal property of business and industry was cut from local tax collection rolls in Charlevoix Township this year due to the Single Business Tax, which accounts for the smaller amount of taxes to be collected locally from that township.

The taxes on personal property which are now included in the Single Business Tax are paid directly to the State and are scheduled to be returned to local units of government.

The millage rate is based on one mill for each $1,000 of SEV. Taxes are figured by multiplying the millage rate by the SEV. If a piece of property has an SEV value of $20,000 and the millage rate is 25, taxes on the property would amount to $500.

However, it should be noted that the SEV is only one-half of actual value.

Some townships encompass more than one school district. Therefore, the taxes within the townships differ according to the school millage levied by each school district.

Millage figures and the amount of taxes to be collected in the City of Charlevoix and adjoining townships appear below, compared with last year's figures.

Mass Transit Needs More Than Lip Service

Mass transit seems to be a dirty word.

Not only has the Courier found that Charlevoix and Northern Michigan residents are not interested in using the mass transit system running from Mackinaw City to Boyne City and from Cheboygan to Charlevoix, but Market Opinion Research of Detroit has also come to the same conclusion for the entire state.

In a survey conducted by the research company eight months ago for the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation, only half of the people who wanted improved public transportation or mass transit were willing to support it with local tax dollars.

And the survey did not determine if the 50 percent of the people demanding that mass transit be operated in their area would actually use it. Many of the 1,000 people interviewed said gasoline prices would have to top $1 a gallon before they would climb aboard a bus to ride to work. These people resided in Detroit, its suburbs, outstate cities, outstate suburbs and rural areas.

The same attitude was exhibited right in our own city. Wolverinie Stages received enough letters and phone calls from area residents to warrant running a bus between Charlevoix and Cheboygan through Petoskey. However, once the bus began running to our beautiful city, no one rode it.

Sure the number of riders is steadily increasing, but the line is just now reaching the break even point after four months of operation. And that break even point includes a state subsidy of 44 cents a mile.

For a state where 89 percent of the workers arrive at their jobs by car, and for a state which houses the automobile capital of the world this response is not surprising. Unfortunately, we can't afford to keep this one-track (or four-tire) transportation idea in our heads.

Contrary to popular opinion, the day when gasoline prices top $1 a gallon is not that far away. Gas prices may reach 70 cents a gallon this winter and can only go up from there. It appears that mass transit is not an idea before its time--it is fast becoming a necessity.

So let's get behind our public transit system and give it support. Think about the times when you could actually use the system and then write either to Wolverine Stages or to the Bureau of Urban Transportation of the Department of State Highways and Transportation and suggest changes in the system to make it more usable.

We can afford to be wasteful for only so long. –PJH

Council Owes It To City Residents To Appoint Manager Soon

Charlevoix City Council cannot act soon enough on its decision of who will be the next city administrator.

While we appreciate the efforts of city assessor Chuck Pease to pinch hit after last summer's resignation of the acting city administrator, we feel the time is far overdue to fill the vacancy.

Residents have been nearly three years without a permanent city administrator. We hope Mayor Ed Hansen was accurate last week when he told the Courier that the selection of a new city head would take place within a week.

Hansen couldn't have been more correct when he said the new administrator would have to be flexible enough to change when it changes and who doesn't have one set away.

But at the same time, we must emphasize that the flexibility question will have to be a two-way street if the council expects its city administrator to be successful.

In last week's Courier, the Mayor also said council had to decide exactly what it wanted from the city administrator before it hired anyone.

We only hope that the some 96 candidates applying for the position have been doing the same with the council.

For too many years, Charlevoix City Council has been too involved in dealing with problems that should have been directly handled by the city administrator.

If a street light is out or a sewer is not functioning properly, we don't expect to hear city council deliberate over it during its meeting for several hours.

Council must remember that they are a policy making board and that they are hiring a city administrator to see the policy carried out in city operations.

We are encouraged that the city council has narrowed its candidates down to three and are looking forward to seeing the outcome of its hard work.

Sheriff's Dept Needs Change

To The Editor:

Reference is made towards the recent criticism letter of our Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department for their lack of concern for an out of state call by the people of Salem, Indiana. The undersigned has every reason to believe this was important enough to warrant an immediate investigation of this complaint. However if they handle this complaint like some others I definitely know about, it is doubtful anything will come of it.

Another important factor I am bringing to the attention of the people of this County is the fact that the Sheriff, his wife, his son and son-in-law are all now employed on his staff. If any more of his immediate family or relations are hired here, we may have to change the name from the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department to the Sumner's Sheriff's Department.

Several bad incidents occurred at our new jail during the past months which certainly reflect adversely on the Law Enforcement Agency there. Who is to blame? No one knows where the buck stops and none can care less. The morale is at a low ebb. Several express mixed emotions as to how the work should be accomplished. It is difficult for anyone to understand what is really wrong or how to cope with certain issues involved.

How much longer can this department continue as aforementioned unless we change the present leadership and bring the institution under a proper supervised and efficient and friendly atmosphere which, in my honest opinion, is long overdue.

Sincerely yours,
Joe Etienne
Deputy Sheriff
Charlevoix County

Letter to the Editor:

It is quite noticeable in this pre-election period that both county newspapers find it desirable to take cheap shots at any opposition to the legal rip-off presently in force in our county.

If these news editors respected the ethics of the profession and exercised the inherent responsibilities due the public by dissecting the issues for public understanding there undoubtedly would be little time remaining for slander of personalities. Thus eliminating the need for C.I.S. or any other informative bodies.

Registering the mentally retarded to vote on property tax matters and employing demagogery of the type prevalent of late whereby one age group of our people are reminded that it is possible for them to vote for increased taxes that somebody else must bear is a good case in point.

Our local editor points her finger at the C.I.S. suggesting that this group will bear watching. Good point. The public should be ever watchful of all forces having any bearing on the collective well being including all those attempting to convince us that their priority of values is the correct one for us to embrace. Yes, motives of the spokesmen for government, schools, newspapers and bankers all become suspect.

Past National Commander of American Legion, Harry Colmery put it best–"We need to be worried...too many people don't care for the rights of others...we seem to have lost the necessary responsibility of citizenship...government can't rise any higher than the understanding of its citizens."

Thank You
Oscar W. Ward

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

The folks who sponsored Proposal C–the taxation and spending ceiling on Michigan's Nov. 2 ballot–certainly lead charmed lives.

How else can you explain the fact that Milton Friedman of Chicago arrived in Michigan to promote Proposal C on the day he was awarded the Nobel Prize in economics?

If Mr. Friedman had come to Michigan on any other day, his visit probably would have gone unnoticed in the press. But he arrives, and presto! He is the Nobel Prize winner. Newsmen knock down his door demanding interviews. And of course Mr. Friedman had warm things to say about Proposal C.

He sees the taxation and spending proposal as a blow for personal freedom in a world of proliferating bureaucracy.

In fact, Mr. Friedman says Michigan's little Proposal C will have far more to do with whether the United States remains the country which maintains a free climate than who is elected president or who goes to Congress.

Remember, this is coming from a man who is one of the world's most prestigious economists.

I am surprised anyone in Chicago knew we in Michigan are voting to curtail taxation and spending. I am doubly surprised that a man of Mr. Friedman's professional stature has taken time out from his busy life to lend us a hand.

Of course, Proposal C has its enemies–plenty of them.

The school people, for example, are in a near panic. They are afraid that if the state puts a lid on spending, funds for schools will dry up. Which, of course, isn't true.

The proposal states simply that state government shall never tax us more than the 8.3 percent of total personal income that we are shipping to Lansing this year. If total personal income drops, so will our state taxes; if it increases, our taxes may jump.

What bothers me is that some lightweight lawmakers of the future might view the 8.3 percent as a target to shoot for, even though the state could get by on less.

In effect, Proposal C says state taxes will never hurt you any more than they did this year. The state will not be in a position to force you to cough up more and more year after year for this program or that program–regardless of its value to the citizenry.

If Proposal C fails, you can expect a continued proliferation of legislative programs and handouts which you are going to have to pay for with your hard-earned tax dollars.

Goodness knows the legislature has had long enough to put curbs on its appetite for tax dollars. But as governing bodies, the house and senate have shown little interest in the plight of citizens who are beset by inflation on one hand and high taxes on the other. Something has to be done to bring state spending under control. And Proposal C appears to be our last best hope.

Of course, Proposal C wouldn't leave Michigan high and dry in emergencies. If the governor deems it necessary – and the legislature approves by a two-thirds vote – Lansing could dig a little deeper into your pocket to meet specific emergencies.

Proposal C also prohibits the state from adopting or expanding programs on the local level without also supplying the funds to pay for them. In other words, Lansing can't tell you what to do without giving you the money to do it. Beautiful. Just beautiful.

Yes, proposal C will make the jobs of everyone connected with state government tougher than they already are. State officials must learn to say "no." They must learn to economize. They must find ways to provide government services for fewer dollars.

They must, in short, do what we in the private sector have been doing all along.

If you don't believe me, just ask Milton Friedman–Nobel Prize winner in economics.

You always hear about fashions' success stories.

But what about the losers? The fashions that came in and went out the same day? The hopes and dreams of designers that were shattered by the sound of 50 million women..laughing.

Some styles, for one reason or another, just don't make it. These are some of them.

Scratch and Smell T-Shirt. This should have been a smash. The principle was great: you scratched and voila...a scent was circulated that ran the gamut from perfume to pizza. Unfortunately, there were too many imposters. People scratched for status and stirred up only perspiration. This gave the official scratch-and-smell shirt a bad name...not to mention the smell.

The Gladiator Boots. Remember them? They were the polished leather boots that hit just above the knee. You could look stylish in them or sit down. You couldn't have both.

The Diaper Bikini would have been a real seller if wearers had been able to keep their weight down to under 8½ pounds.

Fanny Sweater: This is one of the many knit styles designed to fit a hanger and not the human body. The name was deceiving. It suggested that everyone who had a fanny should cover it with a sweater. In many instances, that's all the sweater covered and the sides and front were left wide open.

By actual count, there were only three women in the country who could actually button a fanny sweater. They were ill.

The Satin Pillow Stomach: I'm not making this up. A few years ago a manufacturer came out with a fake satin stomach that you tied around your waist for thin girls who wanted to look healthy.

I looked so healthy in it, two men on the bus hoisted me into their seats and another called the police who reported I was in the final stages of delivery.

The "fake" stomach now resides on the living room sofa.

This year, once again, we'll be looking over the nominees for the fashion losers. What will it be? The cigarette jeans for legs that don't need circulation? The jump suits for people who swear off liquids after 4 p.m. the night before? Or the tube dress for women who want to be mailed?

May I have the envelope, please?

If it Fitz

I'm one of them

"There came the day when Bernard Stroh was ready."

So he went out into the world and threw non-returnable beer bottles under bushes.

Not really. I'm just being a wise guy. It's an occupational disease.

Actually, Bernard Stroh was ready to brew beer. You've probably seen him starring in that TV commercial written by Charles Dickens.

Everything is very Old Country. Surrounded by wooden kegs and crushed hops, Bernard is pouring. The musty voice off camera explains that Bernard is learning from his father what his father learned from his father before him.

The idea is that the Stroh family has been brewing beer for so long, and selling so much of it, they must know what they are doing.

I'll buy that ("The dude says he's buying"). I've been a Stroh's fan all my life, and so was my father and his father before him.

But the other day I went to the store to buy some Stroh's and I was insulted. There were stickers all over the beer, warning everyone to beware of "them."

I am one of "them."

After all I've done for the Stroh family, that's a lousy way for them to talk about me. Everyone knows that half of the trouble in this world is caused by "them." And "they" are responsible for the other half.

To be fair, I should point out it isn't only Stroh's. The other breweries don't like me, either. Neither do the soft drink people. I am referred to snidely as "them" by most every company that sells bottled and canned refreshment in Michigan.

The beverage industry's message is that Joe Consumer shouldn't let "them" force him to pay more for beer and pop. This message is not only advertised in supermarkets. You can hear it on the radio all day long, and see it on TV.

Michigan will vote next month on banning throwaway bottles and cans. The vote has been forced by "them."

The beverage industry claims the ban would increase the cost of their products. They say it would also make innocent citizens humpbacked from carrying returnable bottles back to the store to retrieve their dime deposits.

So the throwaway moguls are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on an advertising blitz aimed at beating "them" and keeping the countryside littered.

Who is "them?" Besides me, it's all you other slobs.

According to a Penn State study, it takes 999,997 years for a glass bottle to decompose. Until then, they just pile up.

According to the throwaway boosters, only slobs die and leave their bottles behind them.

Non-slobs, after drinking a beer, eat the bottle. It's either that or live on Social Security for 999,932 years.

The beverage lobby doesn't deny that litter is a national disgrace, scarring the landscape and fouling the waters. But they say the answer is not to ban throwaways.

The answer, they insist, is to educate the slobs. Teach them how to live for 999,997 years, with their bottles and cans hidden.

Admittedly, life is a matter of degrees. Some slobs are bigger slobs than other slobs. But is there even one among you who has never slobbed at all? If so, let him eat the first throwaway.

So verily, when the anti-banners, in their lust for profits, say nasty things about "them," they are speaking nastily about all of us. And I resent it.

Just as I resent a Kleenex civilization which in only a few years has made such tremendous "progress" in waste, moving rapidly from Dixie cups and popsicle sticks to throwaway cigaret lighters and disposable douches.

Bernard Stroh and his father and his father before him probably sold beer in pails. If they had suggested that a pail be used only once, and then discarded, their customers would have looked askance. They also would have looked for a cousin Stroh who manufactured pails.

Slobs are made not born.

Meet Charlevoix

...Roy Fortin

Roy Fortin

Roy Fortin wears many hats. Besides being assistant high school principal, he is director of adult education programs, director of the disadvantaged program and he handles the General Education Development Testing Center activities. This week the Courier asked Fortin to put on his adult education director hat and explain the program.

COURIER: What is adult education?

FORTIN: Adult education is continuing education beyond what the adult received in high school. In Charlevoix we offer three types of adult education--high school completion courses, adult enrichment classes, which are hobby oriented, and vocational education courses such as welding and waste water treatment and water chemistry classes. I'd like to see us offer more courses in the vocational education area, and we are working on developing that part of the program.

COURIER: What types of courses are offered in the adult education classes?

FORTIN: In the high school completion section, we offer credit classes that will count toward a high school degree. Usually we offer one course that is required for a high school degree, such as U.S. history, U.S. government, English and math and we try to offer a course that is a skill builder such as typing, bookkeeping or shorthand. This way the students can take courses that will count toward their degree and they can learn a skill that can help them get a job. We also offer adult basic education courses for the mentally and physically handicapped members of our community. In the adult enrichment and vocational education sections we offer courses in areas that the community seems to be interested in.

COURIER: Who decides which courses are taught?

FORTIN: Usually I ask for an evaluation of each class at the end of the term. Included on the evaluation form is a question about what other courses the students would be interested in taking. Also I ask people in the community what courses they would like to see offered. This is the fourth year of the program and it's getting to be pretty well known. Often people will call me up and ask if a course can be offered. If we can get eight people or more to take the course we will offer it.

COURIER: What have been some of the more popular courses?

FORTIN: The most popular class has been the quilting class and that didn't start with us. It was offered at the elementary school by one of the teachers for the students. Then some of the parents got interested and they asked if it couldn't be taught as an adult education course. Some of the other popular classes have been basic photography and organic gardening. We no longer have a demand for these classes because former students have joined together to form clubs where they can pursue that interest.

COURIER: Who teaches the classes?

FORTIN: Because we are a North Central Association accredited school, our high school completion courses come under those guidelines, too. We must have certified teachers, who we get through the system, teach the high school completion courses. But as far as the enrichment courses go, anyone can teach those. We have had people who haven't even completed high school teaching classes. One year we had a man teaching an enrichment class one night and attending a high school completion class on the second night. We also have many people from the community who work as voluntary teacher aides. There is one group of ladies that has done it for several years and the Kiwanis Club helps as well as many high school students. They work with the students on a one-to-one basis.

COURIER: How many people are participating in the adult education program?

FORTIN: We have 37 taking the adult basic education and high school completion courses. However, that's not 37 different people. Some are taking two courses. We limit the enrollment in these courses to adults and we don't allow our high school students to take these courses. We feel the program is an alternative means of receiving a high school degree, not a supplemental means. In the enrichment classes we have 81 people taking beginning bridge, oil painting adult driver education and quilting. We allow any interested people to take these courses.

COURIER: Why does the school system offer adult education?

FORTIN: Adult education courses had been offered during the sixties and then it sort of died out due to lack of interest and for economic reasons. Our people began going to Petoskey for adult education classes and soon there was a demand for us to offer classes in this district. We feel adult education is a service to the community and that we are a service agency. If we can provide something to benefit the community, we'll do it. We operate a program on a break even basis and the fees that we charge are used to pay the teacher's salary and to cover materials for the course. We have also offered classes at the county jail. Last year we taught two semesters of high school completion courses at the jail. This year there is only one person at the jail, so we haven't set up any programs.

Ambulance Service May Be in Trouble Due to New Laws

By PEG OHLE

Volunteer and other small ambulance services such as that in Charlevoix may be in trouble if three bills now in the State House of Representatives are passed.

The problem was brought to light last week before the Board of Commissioners by Commissioner Don Meggison, a member of the Charlevoix ambulance team, who presented a resolution urging members of the House to reject the bills in their present form.

The resolution points out that while the bills are supposed to upgrade standards of ambulance operations on a state-wide basis, they would in reality place additional work on ambulance operators, hospitals and volunteer workers and place restrictions on operators which may force some small operators to go out of business.

The bills provide for the creation of an enlarged staff in the Department of Public Health, with initial funding to run at least $750,000 to $850,000. Among the restrictions put on operators and the operation of ambulances is the power of the Department of Public Health to impound or confiscate an ambulance without going to court.

By requiring ambulance drivers to pass an "Emergency Driver Training Course" the Department of Public Health would invade the field of driver training previously the domain of the State Department.

The resolution as passed by the Board of Commissioners states that the bills would "require hospitals and ambulance operations to provide more information reports and paper work in a field already over-burdened with forms and reports and provide powers to the Department of Public Health that allow seizure of property without due process of law which is contrary to our basic form of government and restrictions on ambulance operations which many low density populated areas may find impossible to meet, thus forcing them to cease operations."

The resolution further states that there are now adequate laws, rules and restrictions on ambulance operations already in effect to safeguard the public and provide for the upgrading of service.

Specifically, the resolution requests that the House of Representatives amend the bills to allow local governmental agencies exemptions from provisions of the bills since the County Board of Commissioners is best able to determine the local needs and because the county contributes to or bears the financial costs of ambulance operations.

The bills are SB 985, 986 and 987. They have already been passed by the Senate and will be considered by the House when it next convenes. Those wishing to state their opinions in the matter should contact their State Representative.

Nobody likes higher gas bills. Including us.

This winter, the prices we must pay our suppliers for Natural Gas are going up. These price increases to us will mean higher prices to you. That's as much a concern for us as it is for you, because we're very much aware of the problem of paying higher gas bills.

How much are bills going up? If the weather is the same as it was last year, bills for most customers will be up an average of 30%. But of that 30% increase, Michigan Consolidated keeps nothing of the additional money you pay. No extra profit . . . nothing to meet increases in our other costs. Every penny will go toward the higher prices we'll have to pay for the Natural Gas we supply you.

We recognize that the reasons for these higher bills may be difficult for you to understand. But today it costs more than ever to find and produce Natural Gas. After investigating these costs, the Federal Power Commission, which establishes the price for all the gas that comes into Michigan, authorized producers to begin charging as much as 200% more for their gas at the well. In addition, the price for the gas we buy from Canada at prices set by the Canadian government is increasing significantly. But in the long run, we believe higher producer prices now will lead to more gas supplies being discovered and brought into production, and will help to insure the continuance of an adequate supply of gas for our homes, stores and places where we work.

We're telling you this now, so you can plan ahead for your higher bills. You can help to reduce your gas consumption and save money by insulating, dialing down and making sure your gas appliances are in top working order. Although it may not be possible to actually reduce your gas bills, you will be saving money by using less gas. You may also want to join our Budget Payment Plan and reduce your peak mid-winter bills by leveling out your remaining payments between now and next July.

Michigan Consolidated is dedicated to the task of keeping Natural Gas your best energy value and insuring that we maintain adequate supplies well into the future. We'll also continue to research and develop cost-saving programs that will be to your benefit. We do care about your tomorrow.

Lisa Fleischman Marries Mark Welke on Beaver Island

ST. JAMES, B.I. – After a wedding trip through northern Michigan, Mr and Mrs. Mark Welke, whose wedding was an event of Oct. 9 at Holy Cross Church, have returned here to make their home.

The bride is the former Lisa Fleischman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fleischman. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Welke.

The Rev. Alvin Yard, O.F.M., officiated at the nuptial Mass and single ring service in the presence of more than 175 guests at 5:00 p.m., Oct. 9. Mrs. Walter Wojan, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

Serving as her maid of honor was her sister, Laura Fleischman. Ann Welke, sister of the bridegroom, was her bridesmaid.

Carl Welke assisted his brother as best man. Another brother, Paul Welke, was groomsman.

A reception followed at Holy Cross Parish Hall.

The bridegroom is employed by Welke Aviation, Inc., of St. James, Beaver Island.

Consumer Council Pamphlet Explains Rules For Getting Out of Debt

Almost everyone is a debtor or a creditor at some time. For those of us who are on the red side, the Michigan Consumers Council has come out with a new brochure outlining suggestions for getting in the black.

The brochure, "What To Do When You Can't Pay Your Bills," gives practical detailed advice to consumers who are swamped with debts.

"Getting into debt is usually painless. Getting out probably won't be, but it is not impossible," the brochure advises.

The pamphlet then offers some basic methods of getting out of debt. They range from how to contact the creditors to how to file bankruptcy. The brochure also includes tips on mortgage payments, utility bills and budget planning.

"It's easy today to get into debt," Linda Joy, executive director of the consumers council. "That's why we've designed a brochure for consumers who feel on the brink of pushing the panic button. It offers a step-by-step action plan to regain financial control.

For free copies of the brochure, write to the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, Lansig, Mich. 48933.

United Methodist Women Sponsor Christmas Bazaar Luncheon Oct. 28

The United Methodist Women will sponsor a Salad-Casserole luncheon and Christmas bazaar at Harmony Hall, the church dining room on Thursday, Oct. 28.

A wide variety of Christmas gift items will be found at the bazaar.

The luncheon will offer several hot dishes as well as a wide choice of salad plus rolls and a choice of beverage. The luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

In an earlier story, it was reported that the luncheon would be held Friday, Oct. 29. This is incorrect.

Jeeps for Use In Chx County

Two war-time jeeps for government use in Charlevoix County have been obtained through the efforts of the Department of Civil Defense.

One jeep will be used by the City of East Jordan and the other by the County Sheriff's Department.

Commissioner Ralph Richardson told the Board of Commissioners that the Sheriff's jeep will be used to pull the marine inspection boats and also to cover areas that would be impassable for other vehicles.

CHARLES ELZINGA presents Tom Wieland with the Farmer of the Week award. Wieland was chosen for the honor by the Farm Bureau Insurance Group and the Michigan Farm Radio Network.

Wieland Named Farmer of Week

A Charlevoix farmer, Tom Wieland, was recently named Farmer of the Week by the Michigan Farm Bureau Insurance Group and the Michigan Farm Radio Network.

Wieland, who operates Wieland Dairy Farms, has been in business more than 28 years. In addition to his herd of milk cows he also farms 1,050 acres including 410 acres of corn, 300 acres of alfalfa and 25 acres of wheat.

Wieland is president of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau, vice chairman of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, Traverse City local, and member of the Advisory Council to the Michigan State University extension department among many other activities.

The purpose behind the farmer of the week award is to recognize a Michigan farmer for outstanding agricultural contributions to industry.

Recipients are selected on the basis of the quality of their farming operation and their contribution to the agricultural community.

Community Chest Supports Local Social Organizations

Helping people help others is the goal of the Charlevoix Community Chest. Each year the chest embarks on a fund-raising campaign aimed at collecting funds for the support of local agencies serving Charlevoix residents.

This year the community chest has set a goal of $19,000 for its campaign in an effort to aid 14 local organizations providing vital services to the community.

With your help, the community chest will reach its goal and the organizations will be able to continue their services. Donations should be sent to: Elaine Martin, treasurer, Charlevoix Community Chest, First State Bank, Charlevoix, Mich., 49720.

The following is a list of the agencies and a brief description of their services.

SALVATION ARMY

"Heart to God; Hand to Man," has been the motto of the Salvation Army since it landed in the United States in 1880. In Charlevoix, the group follows this motto by helping residents through its Service Unit Committee, providing emergency welfare orders including groceries, rent, fuel, clothing and transportation. The Salvation Army also conducts children's programs and organizes senior citizens clubs in addition to helping those handicapped either mentally, morally, physically, socially or spiritually.

CHARLEVOIX CITY RECREATION DEPARTMENT AND MT. McSAUBA

With the help of the Community Chest, the Charlevoix Recreation Department has been able to hold flag football, track and field, T-ball, peanut league, ice hockey, fifth and sixth grade basketball tournaments and swimming lessons without a direct cost to the taxpayer. This year the department has also assumed the operation of Mt. McSauba Ski Club and held a day camp at the recreation area. The department hopes to continue and expand these services with help from the Community Chest.

BERGMANN CENTER

Bergmann Center is a work-activity center providing a work setting and a work experience for 22 mentally and/or physically handicapped adults from Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim counties. As a part of the program, the center provides social and recreational activities for its clients including Christmas and Hallowe'en parties, a trip to the Special Olympics and establishing a Boy Scout troop.

GIRL SCOUTS

Over 100 girls ranging from the six-year-old Brownie to the teenage Cadette, participate in the Girl Scout program. The program, through the voluntary efforts of women and men leaders, provide girls with a chance to learn new skills and make new friends. Thanks to the financial support received through the Community Chest, Girl Scouting can be within the pocketbook of any girl in the area.

BOY SCOUTS

A sure sign of quality in any program is growth. Six new Boy Scout units were started in the Charlevoix area last year increasing total membership to 200 youth and 60 adults. The local council must depend on support from the Community Chest in order to continue the strong program it runs through voluntary leadership.

DAC COUNSELING CENTER

One of the major goals of the DAC Counseling Center is the prevention of drug misuse and abuse through helping teenagers and adults cope with their environment, understand themselves and by providing them with accurate drug information. The center's philosophy is to help people help themselves.

Residents Organize Forces To Support Throwaway Ban

Charlevoix County residents are marshalling their forces for the battle against throwaway bottles.

On Nov. 2, voters will be asked to decide on State Proposal A, which is a proposed law to prohibit the use of nonreturnable bottles and cans for soft drinks and beer. The law will require refundable cash deposits for soft drink and beer containers and it will provide penalties for violation of the law.

At the request of Harold Smith, a Charlevoix resident, members of the Northern Michigan Committee to Help Abolish Throwaways came to a special meeting to help county residents organize a campaign in support of State Proposal A.

"Polls have shown that 73 percent of the people in the State of Michigan are in favor of banning throwaways," Art Curtis, a member of the committee from Cheboygan, said. "So we don't have to convince people to support the proposal, what we have to do is maximize the positive vote."

Curtis said that more elections are lost because people who support an issue forget to vote.

"We have to make sure that people are aware that the issue is on the ballot, and that they remember to vote," he said.

Curtis said there were many things the group could do such as organize a door-to-door distribution of literature, set up telephone committees to remind people to vote, and speak at service club meetings.

"I'm sure that everyone here belongs to at least two groups that they could speak to about the issue," Curtis said.

Tom Wieland, a participant at the meeting, volunteered to speak to the local Farm Bureau group about the issue. Wieland said farmers had a lot to gain from the bottle ban.

"One day last spring my son and I picked up five bushels of bottles and cans from along the ditch and in our hay field," he said. "But we're not only finding the bottles along the roadside but one-half mile into the field, too.

"What we will save in damaged equipment and lost crops will more than make up for the deposit on the bottles," he said.

Wieland also said that the cost of the throwaway container exceeded the deposit on bottles.

"Those gallon milk jugs with the nice little handle cost 16 cents apiece," Wieland said.

The Charlevoix residents will be meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the First State Bank community room to finish organizing their campaign. For more information contact Harold Smith at 547-2908.

Legion, V.F.W. Dinner to Honor Senior Citizen Veterans and Spouses

Senior Citizens of the Charlevoix area are invited to attend a dinner in their honor at the American Legion post home at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Hosting the event which will open with a happy hour at 5:30 p.m. and conclude with dancing to live music following the 6:30 p.m. dinner are the V.F.W. and the American Legion. The spouses of the veterans will also be guests at the event.

A spokesman for the groups emphasized that Senior Citizens in the city and the surrounding townships are invited. The invitation is not limited to those who are members of an organized group but is directed to all senior citizens in the Charlevoix area.

Anyone requiring transportation is asked to call the usual number.

Middle, High School, Church Choirs to Participate In Concert at Congregational Church Oct. 31

Plans for a choral concert to be presented at the First Congregational Church at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31, has been announced.

Participating in the late afternoon concert that will feature both secular and sacred music will be the choirs from the Charlevoix High School and the Charlevoix Middle School directed by Steve Stargardt and the Senior Choir of the church. An invitation has been extended to members of other choirs in the area and to persons who might like to join in singing.

Among the numbers to be sung by the church choir will be the spiritual "Jesus Walk this Lonesome Valley" with Gerald Staublin as soloist. The men of the choir will sing "I'm Going Out to Clean the Pasture Spring" based on Robert Frost's poem of the same name.

The massed choirs will join in singing three numbers.

A social hour and refreshments will follow the concerts.

Dick Tillen Presents Report on Grandvue

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility in East Jordan provided 19,711 days of patient care during the first nine months of the year.

In a report to the County Board of Commissioners, Richard Tillen, Director of the County Department of Social Services further revealed that total expenditures for the period was $540,350.04 and total revenue was $538,564.96.

Revenue was derived from Medicare in the amount of $22,147.18; from Medicaid in the amount of $345,127.20; and from private patients in the amount of $171,323.58.

Grandvue has 73 approved beds. During the nine months it admitted 37 new patients, 17 patients were discharged and 21 patients expired. The facility averaged 98.5 percent occupancy.

The average cost of meals served–76,114 of them–was $1.06.

County Commissioners Help with Litter Project

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners voted last week to help a group of young people in their project to pick up litter.

The County will provide trash bags for the Trash Bash to be conducted by the East Jordan Missionary Youth Fellowship on Saturday, Oct. 23. The young people will concentrate their efforts in and around the City of East Jordan.

Each participant will seek sponsors "by the bag" for all trash collected. The money they raise will go to church missions.

Wind, Rain Dampened Floats, But Not Spirits

THE SENIOR float was a casualty to the wind and rain and all that was left by half time were some signs carried around the field. The theme of their float was, "Please Don't Squeeze the Rayders."

"THINGS GO BETTER WITH RAYDERS" was the theme of the Freshmen float which took second place in the contest. Things would have gone better with a little less rain Friday night, too.

HOW DO THE SAINTS SPELL DEFEAT

THE JUNIOR float, "How Do The Saints Spell Defeat" took third place in the Homecoming Float Contest.

County Board Names People to Commissions

By PEG OHLE

Several County Commission appointments were made by the County Board of Commissioners last week.

Donald Graham of East Jordan was re-appointed to a six-year term on the County Road Commission. He is presently serving as chairman. Other members of the Road Commission are William Korthase, Jr. of Boyne City and Robert Mousseau of Charlevoix.

Thomas Wieland of Norwood Township and Arnold Hudson of Melrose Township were re-appointed to the County Planning Commission. Jack Sevenski of Hudson Township was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Planning Commission created by the resignation of Dale Carpenter.

Three members whose terms are expired were re-appointed to the Parks and Recreation Commission: Ed Rebman of Boyne City, Ralph Richardson of Ironton and Herbert Griffin of East Jordan.

William Grauel of East Jordan was re-appointed to the County Library Board.

Martin Paul of Boyne City was re-appointed to both the Act 258 (Mental Health) Board and the County Commission on Aging.

Newman J. Studer of Boyne City was re-appointed to the Office of Veterans' Affairs.

TRICK OR TREAT

For busy mothers finding time to make your little hobgoblins look authentic on "Trick or Treat" night can be a problem. However you can design clever Holloween costumes without spending a lot of money and with little time investment.

An ordinary bedsheet can be wrapped to look like a Greek toga. A pillowcase can be made into many different costumes. Just cut out head and arm holes. Then you can paint any design on the case (snowman, skeleton, etc.).

A box can be used to make different costumes. Again, cut out holes for the head and arms. Cover the box with aluminum foil. Make a pointed cap out of the foil and your child can be the tin woodsman from the "Wizard of Oz".

The box could be painted to look like a television set. Paint the dials and buttons. For the picture, cut out a photo from a magazine and glue it on the box. The child could wear a hat with "antenna" sticking out.

A pirate's costume is easy to put together. Dye an old shirt a gaudy color. Tuck the bottom of the youngster's pants into a pair of tall boots. Wrap a sash around the child's waist and a scarf around the head.

For a Robin Hood costume dress the trick-or-treater in a pair of green tights and an old dress dyed green. Tie a red sash around the waist. Make a "Robin Hood" hat out of felt and put a long feather in it.

If you want to make a costume from scratch, sew together old scraps of material and make a peasant skirt. Or you can buy muslin or material from the remnant table to make an inexpensive outfit.

Sometimes children's pajamas come with tiger, cat or other designs already on them. The PJs could be used as a Holloween costume and later on as sleeping apparel.

But before you begin making the costume, ask the youngsters what they'd like to be. They may have some clever ideas and will really enjoy being involved in designing their own costumes.

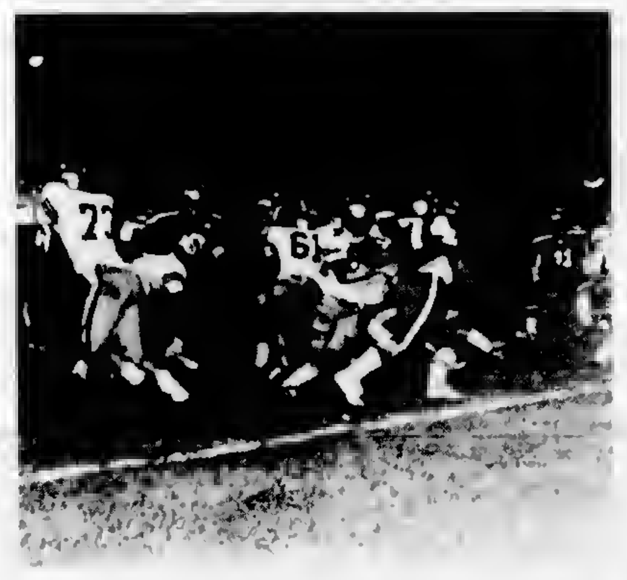
RAYDER TOM JONES stops Saints quarterback Kevin Litzner after a short gain.

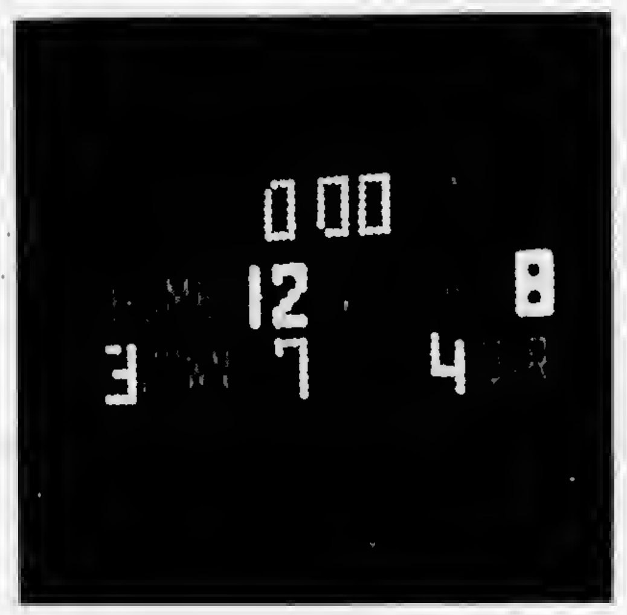
Homecoming Spells Rayder Victory

TRAINER Greg Grubaugh, Assistant Coach Plas Presnel and other team members cheer as they see victory within their grasp.

CONRAD KLOOSTER kicks from his own end zone as the Saint's Jeff Therrian and Rick Martin attempt to block the punt.

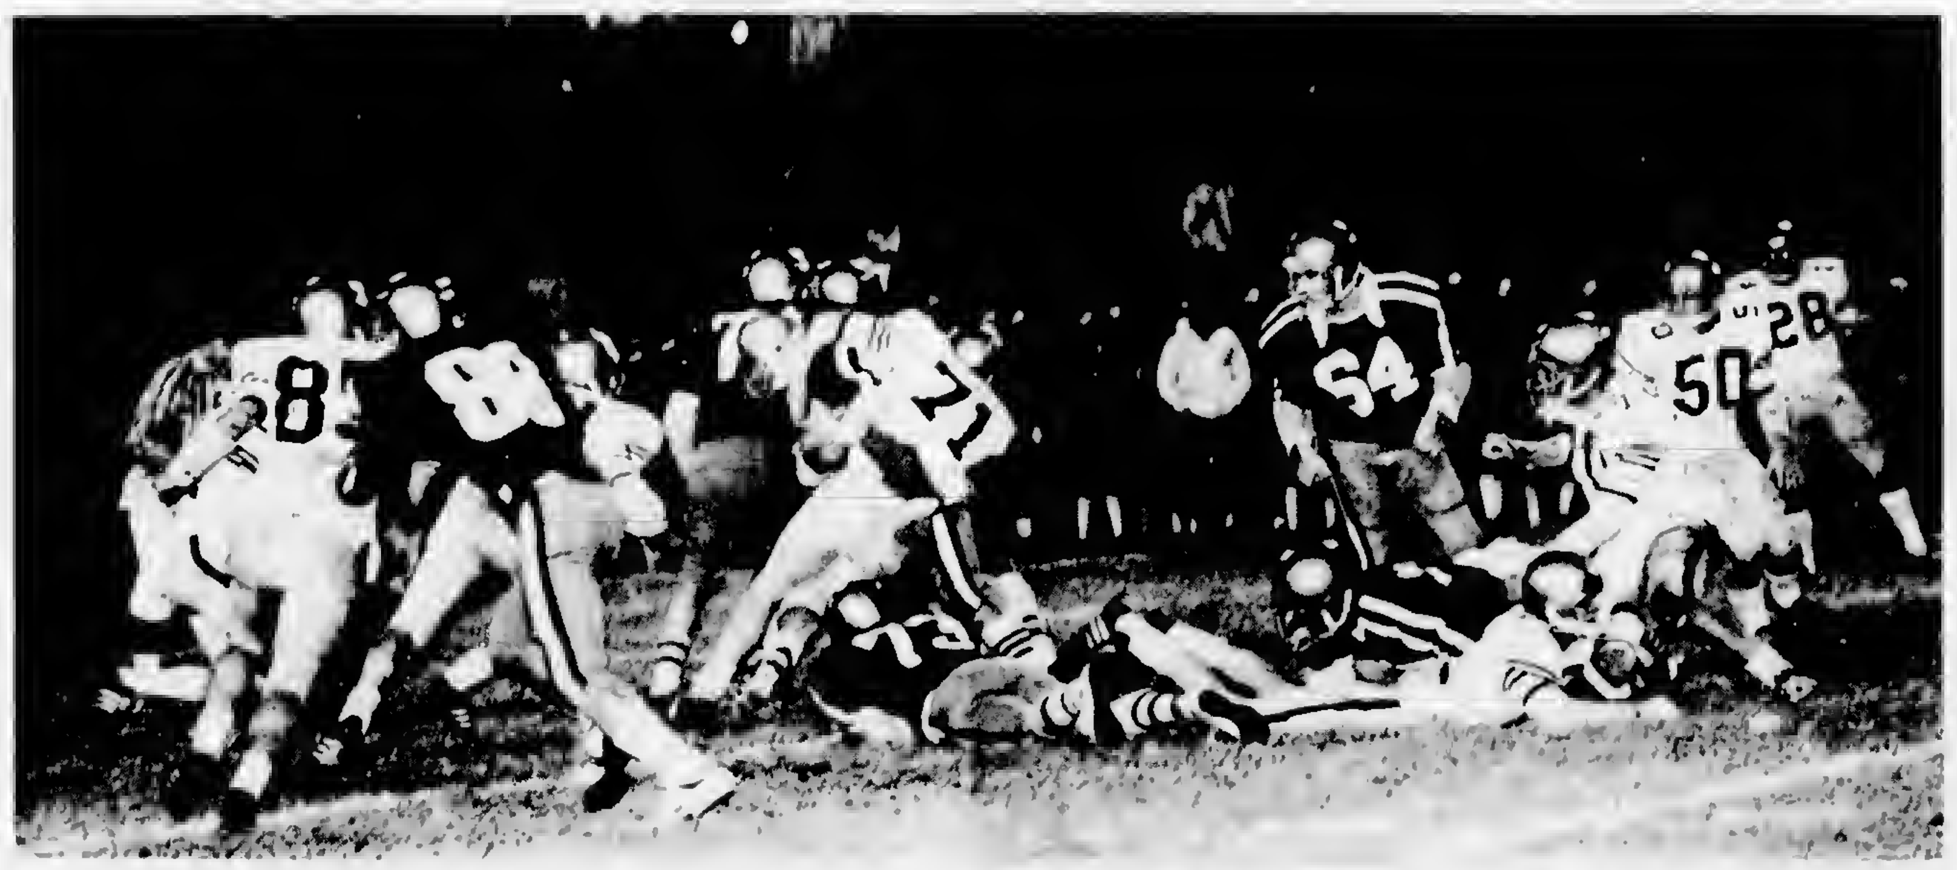


RAYDER Tom Jones struggles to get at Saints halfback Charles Kalbfleish. The Saints Rod Powers holds on to insure that Jones doesn't get into the play. The ref missed this action.



THE SCOREBOARD sums it up for the Rayders 1976 Homecoming game.

THE RAYDER'S Ed Mann was just one leg away from returning a second quarter kickoff for 95 yards. Saving the touchdown for the Saints was Charles Kalbfleish.



SAINTS DEFENSIVE lineman Mike Pemble stops Ed Mann in the third quarter as the Saints throttled the Rayders offense in the second half.

Early Lead Sparks Rayder Win

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

The Charlevoix Rayders struck early in the first quarter then threw up a tenacious defensive wall in defeating the St. Ignace Saints, 12-8, Friday night.

The homecoming victory, played in sub-freezing temperatures and gusty winds, brought Charlevoix's Michigan Huron Shores Conference record to 2 and 1 and 3 and 2 overall. It was the Saints first loss in the conference and second of six contests this year.

With temperatures hovering near the freezing mark at game time and a raw gusty wind battering directly into the hometown stands, it was not a night for the faint-hearted football fan.

Yet, at the opening kickoff, the stands were three-quarters full. Less hardy fans watched from cars completely surrounding the fence and more affluent fans from several campers.

The Saints football team was not alone in their invasion of Kipke Field as around 100 Saints fans journeyed downstate to cheer them on.

The Rayders got off to what appeared a poor start as they were penalized five yards before the game got underway. The referees, apparently feeling that an 8 p.m. start was just exactly that, charged Charlevoix five yards for delay of the game as the Marching Rayders were caught on the field at that hour.

The Saints Charles Kalbfleish returned Matt Doan's opening kick off to his own 20-yard line.

Tom Jones, Joe Left, Doan and Chris Cinnamon then quickly dispelled any questions regarding whether the week layoff of the Rayders would have any effect on their defensive play.

Jones, a 230-pound junior, slammed the Saints Clark Cryderman for a yard loss. Fullback Pat Cronan was thrown for another loss as Left broke into the Saints backfield. It then became quarterback Kevin Litzner's turn to feel the Rayder defense as he ran into Doan and Cinnamon.

Jim Elzinga brought the chilled crowd to its feet on the subsequent punt as he took the ball at the 49-yard line and returned it to the Saints 25 yard line.

A half minute later, Charlevoix was on the scoreboard as Ed Mann broke over the right side, moved against the flow of the defensive backfield and scored.

The extra point try by Conrad Klooster was missed as the ball sailed between the uprights but below the cruss bar.

Time expired on the clock was 2:28.

Doan's kick off rolled by the Saints receiver into the end zone giving the Saints the first down on the 20.

Litzner, still testing the middle of the Rayder defensive line, was dropped for a loss by David Tollas and Cinnamon.

Cryderman, the Saints leading scorer and ground gainer, couldn't find the handle on the ball on the next down and fumbled with Elzinga coming up with the ball on the Saints 30.

A personal foul on the Saints moved the ball down to the 15. Quarterback Brian Williams handed off to Mann on three successive plays for a total gain of six yards. On fourth and five, Mann again took the ball, broke over his right tackle and moved unmolested into the end zone. Tackle Barry Potter, Cinnamon and Doan completely blew the left defensive line completely out of the play.

The conversion try again was missed as the ball was fumbled on the snap from center, although kicker Klooster attempted to run with the ball. Charlevoix's second score came with 6:52 remaining on the clock in the first quarter.

Cronan returned the kick off back to the mid-field stripe. He got the Saints a first down on the next play as Cinnamon and Greg Krueger stopped him at the Rayders 40.

The Rayder defense again stiffened and the Saints punted tu the 22.

Mann got a first down for the Rayders and Williams threw his first pass of the game, which fell incomplete, before Klooster dropped back to punt the ball away.

St. Ignace wasn't any more successful on their series as the Rayder defense led by Potter and Jones continued to play touch. The quarter ended as the Saints punted.

After forcing Charlevoix to punt again, the Saints finally got their offense in gear, thanks to the running of Bill Campbell and Cryderman with a penalty thrown in by the officials.

With Cryderman doing most of the damage, The Saints moved the ball to the Rayder 10. A holding penalty temporarily halted the Saints drive, but Cryderman brought the ball right back inside the 10. A fine open field tackle by Scott Boss prevented a touchdown.

Facing a fourth down after an incomplete pass, the Saints called on their money-man, Cryderman. Jones and Cinnamon broke the bank as they threw him for a two yard loss, stopping the Saints drive.

After Chappuies brought the ball uut to the 17, Mann got a first down at his own 22. Saints defensive lineman Rod Powers, obviously having watched Jones in action, then took over and stopped Mann and Williams on three successive plays into the line.

St. Ignace finally hit pay dirt on their next series following Klooster's punt.

Taking a hand off from Litzner, Cryderman tight roped his way down the side line, shaking off several tackles, to score on a 48 yard romp.

Disdaining the single point conversion, the Saints sent Cryderman over his right tackle for the two extra points, making the score 12-8.

Half time statistics found both clubs close in ground rushing as the Saints gained slightly over 100 yards and the Rayders slightly under 100. Both teams were dead even in completed passes - none. Saints' quarterback Litzner tried three and Williams tried two.

During the second half, the Rayders could not mount an effective drive as the Saints obviously looking for Mann, bottled up the Charlevoix offensive.

Defensively, the Rayders bent several times but held firm as the Saints threatened throughout the third and fourth quarters.

Williams saved one possible touchdown as he stopped Campbell on the Rayder 15. The Saints were stoped on fuur plays, turning the ball over on downs.

The Saints came roaring back several minutes later as Litzner returned Klooster's punt to the Rayder 25. Cronan was able to get the Saints down to the 10, but the Rayder defense would not yield further yardage, again taking over on downs.

The Rayders, held to a very short yardage in the second half, maintained their record of allowing only one touchdown per game. Next Friday, they journey to Boyne City while St. Ignace will take on undefeated Cheboygan. Both contests are Michigan Huron Shores conference games.

Basketball Team Posts Two Victories

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix girls basketball team posted two impressive victories last week, a 63-42 win over Gaylord on Tuesday and a 32-28 win over St. Ignace on Thursday.

This week will find the Rayderettes at Petoskey on Tuesday and at Boyne City Thursday.

In the game with Gaylord, Maureen Cudd poured in 30 points to pace the scoring as the locals led 13-8; 31-22 and 43-32 by quarters. Marge Manley had 14 for Gaylord.

The Charlevoix JV's had an equally impressive victory, leading Gaylord 6-0; 20-2 and 30-6 before taking the game by a score of 36-8. Sherrie Selissen had 10 points for the victors. Shiela Parkinson had three for Gaylord.

In the game with St. Ignace on Thursday, Charlevoix, after leading the visitors 11-4 at the quarter, found themselves trailing 16-15 at halftime and 22-21 going into the last period. However, the return of Cudd to the line-up after participating in the Homecoming Pep Rally as a member of the Queen's court gave the local quintet the lift it needed as they went on to win 32-28.

The scoring was well scattered with Terri Novotny, Teri Hufford and Cudd scoring six points each. Gail Powell had five. Sandy Hodge played a key role in the victory stealing the ball numerous times Coach Toni Felter said. Leila Luepnitz had eight points for St. Ignace.

Paced by Selissen with 19 points, the Charlevoix JV's defeated the visitors 37-10 in a game that saw Charlevoix ahead 11-2; 23-6 and 35-8 by quarters. Lori Gustafson had eight points for St. Ignace.

JV Football Team Downs Undefeated St. Ignace Saints

The Charlevoix Rayder JV's defeated the previously undefeated St. Ignace Saints by a 16-0 score.

In the game played at St. Ignace, the young Rayders were in control all the way, allowing the Saints inside their 30 yard line only twice.

Charlevoix's major scoring drive came in the second quarter when Barney Way went 32 yards around end to score. The conversion attempt failed.

With two minutes remaining in the half, Way passed six yards to Pat Schmidt for the Rayders' second TD of the game.

The Rayders added an additional two points on a safety in the third period.

Coach Hal Evans credits the defensive squad for the victory. He said Craig Boss, Doug Buday, Dennis Whitley and Mike Keller did outstanding jobs in keeping the Saints offensive team in control.

Charlevoix JV's will host Boyne City at Kipke field Thursday.

Harriers Take Four-Way Meet

The Charlevoix Rayder harriers chalked up another win last week, this time in Boyne City where they topped a field of four with a score of 39 points.

Alanson, with a score of 46, came in second followed by Mancelona with 64 and Boyne City with 65.

A participant from each of the three schools shattered the old course record of 16:55. Whitney of Alanson had a top time of 15:34; Dirkson of Mancelona was second with a time of 15:38; Charlevoix's Wally Drenth came in third with a time of 15:56 and Askins of Boyne City was fourth with a 16:39.

For Charlevoix, Mark Russel placed seventh with a 17:24; Jeff Drenth, eighth with a 17:37; Ron Hilton, ninth with a 17:51 and Nate Klooster, twelfth with an 18:10.

Coach Pete Spieles credited the team's depth for the victory.

The meet was a dual meet for the Michigan-Huron Shores league members, Charlevoix and Boyne City, but a quadrangular for competitive purposes.

Flag Football

Inclement weather forced the cancellation of flag football games last Saturday.

Games scheduled for last Saturday will now be played this week. They are: 9 a.m. Dolphins vs. Steelers; 10:15 a.m., Cowboys vs. Rams; 11:30 a.m. Patriots vs Cowboys; 12:45 p.m. Bucaneers vs Rams; 2 p.m., Vikings vs Bears.

SI-TEX MODEL HE 31A
COMBINATION RECORDER/FLASHER

Twelve range settings. Adjustable White Line. Variable paper speed. Hooded LED Flasher. Extra set of deeper, "quick change" depth scales. And much more.

The SI-TEX HE 31A Combination Recorder/Flasher has more going for it than any other fish Finder under $1,000.

The SI-TEX HE 31A goes down to 720 feet (or 1,440 feet if you use the deeper scale). The flasher has two scales: 0 to 60 ft. and 0 to 120 ft. The HE 31A has 100 watts of power which means you have plenty of power to register fish.

The SI-TEX HE 31A: a rugged, powerful fishing machine built for day-in/day-out use. You'll get your money's worth...catch after catch after catch!

$750.00

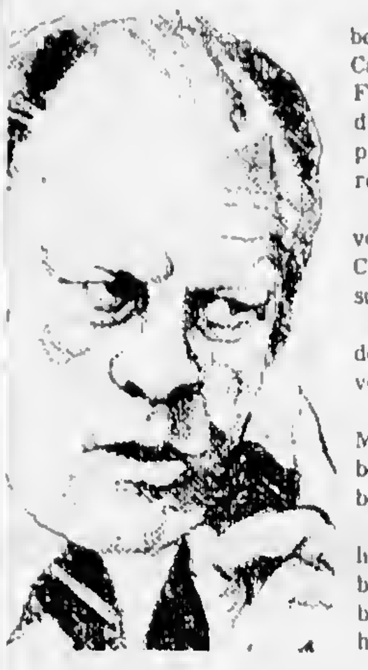
Ford, Carter Debates Aren't Helping Charlevoix Voters Make Up Minds



The Presidential Debates between Challenger Jimmy Carter and President Gerald Ford have created even more debate among reporters, politicians and Charlevoix residents.

To find out how Charlevoix voters rated the debates, the Courier conducted a mini-survey this week.

The survey found that the debates had not helped many voters choose a candidate.

"It's still a toss up for me," Mike Webb said. "And I've been watching the debates because I wasn't decided yet.

"I kind of like Ford because he is the incumbent and because he is from Michigan, but I like Carter, too, because he is new and has new ideas," Webb explained.

"Maybe the third debate will decide it for me," he said.

The Charlevoix resident said he had found the debates very interesting and not boring at all.

"I am amazed at how both candidates can stand up there with no notes at all and remember things from years back and from current events," Webb said. "I sure can't see myself in their place with all those people firing questions at me."

Mrs. George Willis also said the debates had not helped her decide on a candidate.

"After listening to the debates, I think one is as good as another," she said.

"Sometimes I think one of them has won and sometimes I think the other one has," she continued. "I guess I just haven't decided yet."

Mrs. Charles Stevens said the debates haven't helped her choose a candidate because she had decided on her preference before the debates were held.

"But I think the debates have been quite even," Mrs. Stevens said. "I don't see much difference in the candidates during the debates.

"It's really hard to tell," she said.

The last two debates haven't helped Tom Spooner make up his mind either. He, like Mrs. Stevens, knew who he was voting for before the debates were televised.

THREE FIFTH GRADERS were awarded checks for outstanding posters they created advertising the Charlevoix Commmunity Chest fund drive. Presenting the checks is Mercedes Mathers, art teacher, to Geoff Reynolds, first place; Colleen Bartley, second place, and Patrick Mitchell, third place. All of the posters drawn for the contest will be on display at the First State Bank.

Rayder Golfers Capture Class C Region Title Again

The Charlevoix Rayder Golf Team repeated as Class C Regional golf champs, topping 11 teams in competition at Interlochen Friday.

The Rayders were the defending champions.

The team, coached by Barry Anderson, will travel to the State Class C meet in Lowell on Saturday.

The Charlevoix team posted a score of 325 followed by Benzie Central with 334; Reed City, 336; Shelby, 345; Roscommon, 347; Traverse City, St. Francis, 349; Hart, 362; Elk Rapids, 366; Kalkaska, 368; Houghton Lake, 376; Boyne City, 408.

The top three teams in regional competition will advance to the state finals.

Mike Custer and Pat Paul with like scores of 80 were co-medalists for Charlevoix. Bob Ranger carded an 81 and Art Ranger an 84.

Doug Server of Kalkaska was medalist for the regional meet with a 79.

The Charlevoix Rayders are among three teams from the immediate area that have advanced to competition on the state level, Harbor Springs in Class D and Petoskey in Class B.

Golf Team Second

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team, coached by Barry Anderson, came in second behind Petoskey in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet held Oct. 11 at the Gaylord Country Club.

The Rayders had a team total of 332, three points behind the first place Northmen.

Randy Marquardt of Petoskey was a medalist for the meet with a score of 74.

Mark Custer had the top score for the Rayders, a 78. Other team members and their scores follow: Pat Paul, 79; Art Ranger, 88, and Bob Ranger, 87.

Petoskey's winning score was 329. The others were: Gaylord, 351; Cheboygan, 359; Boyne City, 375 and St. Ignace, 379.

Wally Drenth Places Third In Sault Ste. Marie Invitational

Charlevoix's Wally Drenth placed third with a time of 16:20 in the Soo Invitational Cross Country meet recently.

John Whitney of Alanson took first place with a time of 6:11 as he shattered the old record of 16:19.

Charlevoix had a total of 637 points among the 20 schools that participated. Alpena won the event followed by Traverse City, Rudyard and Petoskey.

Mark Russell finished 15th among the 185 participants.

After participating in the Michigan-Huron Shores conference meet at Petoskey Tuesday, the harriers will travel to Elk Rapids

LEGAL NOTICE OF ABSOLUTE ABANDONMENT AND DISCONTINUANCE OF A PORTION OF THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HIGHWAY KNOWN AS "REDDING ROAD"

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at a meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, held on the 13th day of October, 1976, the following Resolution absolutely abandoning and discontinuing a portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as "Redding Road" was duly made, seconded and adopted, said Resolution being as follows:

WHEREAS, a Petition has been filed with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, Michigan, asking for the absolute abandonment and discontinuance of the following portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known and described as Redding Road, situate and being in the Township of Peoine, Charlevoix County, Michigan, having a centerline described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point on the East-West ¼ line of Section 8, T. 38N., R. 10W., said point being 430 feet West of the Center ¼ post of said Section 8; thence Southerly and Southwesterly to a point on the west line of said Section 8, said point being 425 feet north of the Southwest corner of said Section 8; and

WHEREAS, an adequate alternative route is available to the traveling public; and

WHEREAS, after full hearing thereon, and this Board being fully advised in the premises, this Board has determined that it is advisable to absolutely abandon and discontinue the said part of said road as herein described for the purposes set forth in said Petition and for the best interest of the public,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, that the portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as Redding Road, as herein described, be abandoned and discontinued as of October 13, 1976, as a county road, and cease to be part of the county road system, and that said Board determines it to be the best interest of the public that said highway so abandoned and discontinued should be, the same is hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued;

That the notice of this determination be given by the Clerk of the Commission to the proper highway authorities and the Peaine Township officials and be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in said county, once each week for three consecutive weeks.

That pursuant of the provisions of Act 46 of Public Acts of 1963, as amended, being M.S.A. 9.118, this portion of the county road shall be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a county road.

people would have to be laid off and to meet their unemployment costs another 1.9 people would have to go and another .5 person would have to go to cover that unemployment bill," they said.

The men pointed out that local residents only pay 35 percent of the total tax bill with industry, utilities and commercial business paying 33 percent and people who do not live here year 'round pay 32 percent of the tax bill.

"If the mill reduction is approved all of us will benefit from lower taxes, but the people who live here will also lose vital services," they said.

to 60 percent of the residents on the streets must sign the petitions before the paving is approved.

The city council also entered a contract with the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation for the replacement of its street signs. According to a survey conducted by the highway department, 94 percent of the regulatory signs in Charlevoix need to be replaced because they are in poor condition, or because they lack the proper reflecting materials.

The survey also noted the need for stop, yield, speed limit and no parking signs on city streets.

Alderman Jeannine Wallace expressed concern over losing the wooden street name markers, if the council entered the sign program with the state.

"I think we need wooden signs in Charlevoix," Mrs. Wallace said. "I know they are more expense to keep up, but sometimes good things cost more."

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids will be received by Ed Rebman, Secretary of the Charlevoix County Parks and Recreation Commission at his office in the Federal Building in Boyne City, Michigan until 4:00 P.M. Tuesday, November 9, 1976 for the construction of a Managers House at Whiting Park.

Obituary

LOUISA WALKER

Word has been received of the death of a former Charlevoix resident, Louisa M. Walker at the Clark Memorial Home in Grand Rapids where she had been a resident for several years.

Prior to her retirement, she had been a language professor at Western Michigan University for many years.

She was very interested in Indian folklore and had published several Indian folklore and children's books.

She left an endowment to the Greensky Methodist church.

She leaves no survivors.

She was the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Quinton Walker. Her brothers, Quinton, Jr., and John, also preceded her in death.

DENA VEENSTRA

ELLSWORTH -- Funeral services for Mrs. Jacob (Dena) Veenstra, 78, who died Oct. 12 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Friday at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church. The Rev. Harry J. Weidenaar officiated. Interment was in the Atwood cemetery.

Born in the Netherlands May 5, 1898, the former Dena VanderHeide came to Atwood with her parents in 1898. She was married to Mr. Veenstra May 5, 1923. They always made their home on a farm near Atwood. She was a member of the Atwood Christian Reformed Church and its Ladies Aid.

She is survived by her husband; four sons, the Rev. Paul of Ogilvie, Minn., Jacob, Jr., Miner (Jim) and Andrew, all of Atwood; five daughters, Mrs. Richard (Jennie) VandeKieft of Lowell, Mrs. Corwin (Minnie) Slothaak of Hamilton, Mrs. Frank (Gezina) Meekhof of Grandville, Mrs. Darwin (Wilma) Penfold and Mrs. Thomas (Flora) Wynsma, both of Atwood; 36 grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren and a brother, James VanderHeide of Atwood.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Veenstra contribute in her name to the Ebenezer Christian School or the Atwood Christian Reformed church.

MARY KLOOSTER

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Klooster, 89, who died Saturday at her home in Marion township, were held Monday at the Community Reformed church of Charlevoix. The Rev. Albert F. Mansen of Forest Grove, former pastor of the church, officiated. Interment was in Barnard cemetery.

The former Mary Potter was born in Antrim county Jan. 4, 1887. On April 1, 1908, she was married to Albert Klooster at Atwood. They always made their home in Marion township. Mr. Klooster preceded her in death in 1952. She was a member of the Community Reformed church.

She is survived by two daughters, Jennie and Grace, both of Charlevoix; four sons, Jacob, Hiram, John and James, all of Charlevoix; 15 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren and two brothers, Henry and Richard, both of Charlevoix.

The Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

Charter

State Attorney General's Office and to the Governor for approval.

Clock said the review by the state would be cursory and that he would prefer that a municipal attorney also review the proposed charter.

Following approval by the attorney general, the Charter Commission will then have the charter published in the Charlevoix Courier for study by all city residents. The Charter Commission is also planning to hold public meetings on the proposed charter in each ward, Clock said.

The commission is also preparing a summary of each chapter in the charter for review by the common council and other interested people. Clock said the commission hopes to complete the summaries in the next few weeks.

The Charter Commission is proposing to put the charter up to vote during the February primary, Clock said.

Alderman Jeannine Wallace and Mayor Ed Hansen questioned whether there would be enough time to educate city residents about the proposed charter before the primary. Clock said there would be enough time to thoroughly discuss the charter.

from schools or any other department and shuffle them as they saw fit. The end result, he said, would be a greater load on the taxpayer. He advised a 'no' vote on the proposal.

The board also set the date of the annual budget hearing for Thursday, Oct. 28. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The proposed budget for the 1976-77 school year will be reviewed.

The meeting has been set at this time so residents of the school district may attend and hear the budget explained in depth.

Lasater Receives Threats

Threatening and obscene telephone calls have now entered the battle for sheriff of Charlevoix County that has raged since George T. Lasater, the challenger, defeated Incumbent Sheriff Philo E. Sumner, in the August Primary Election. Lasater, Republican party nominee, is now being opposed by Sumner who has entered the race as a sticker candidate.

As the election nears, allegations have been flying between the two camps. According to Lasater, the most recent attacks have been via the telephone and have included a call taken by Lasater himself, a second one taken by his wife and a third one to a friend in which not only Lasater but his family was threatened. There were also obscene telephone calls.

Lasater said late Monday that his chief concern is for his children who are six, seven and 10 years of age.

In addition, Lasater said his mailbox was destroyed. "It was a deliberate act. Someone pulled into the yard, lined up with the mailbox and ran into it".

After hearing the threats on himself and his family, Lasater has informed the proper authorities.

In addition to threats on his life, Lasater has been threatened with arrest by Willis Peters, a member of the C.I.S. who is also actively involved in the Re-Elect Sumner Committee. He bases his threat of arrest on the grounds that he (Lasater) has already announced the name of his undersheriff (Byron Stockwell) if he is elected. Peters contends that naming his undersheriff is contrary to statute and that he (Peters) plans to file charges against Lasater prior to the election.

of government.

"I really don't know what is going to happen," he continued.

Under the county budget cuts Waldner proposes the elimination of the county planning department, building code administration and a reduction of the equalization department and district court.

He also proposed the elimination of the Northwest Economic Development and Planning Commission contribution and Tax Allocation Board.

Other reductions were suggested for the contingency fund, county prosecuting attorney's office, jail and probate court, as well as with insurance and bonds.

Waldner was unable to explain what specific items would be eliminated with his proposed cuts for each county office.

Under schools, Waldner is recommending cost cuts be made with reduction of principals' salaries, reduction of audit costs, insurance costs, negotiation costs with a six to eight percent across the board reduction in teacher salaries with the next negotiation. He added that legal services cost cuts are necessary and that transportation and maintenance should also be looked closely at.

"The possibilities are almost endless," he said in his document.

Overpopulation: Fact or Fiction?

By PAULA HOLMES

Mildred Jefferson, M.D.

TRAVERSE CITY--To control population growth or not to control its growth was the question during a debate at the Michigan Citizens for Life third annual convention last weekend.

Debating the issue were Mildred Jefferson, from Boston, Mass. national president of Right to Life; and John Tanton of Petoskey, national president of Zero Population Growth. (ZPG).

Tanton, an onthalmologist at Burns Clinic, said he first became interested in population control because of his concern for the land and his desire to preserve some of our natural resources.

"My interest in population control took root in my early days on the farm," Tanton explained. "I came out of that experience with a great appreciation for the land, its natural landscaping and the other animals that I shared creation with.

"As I grew older I began to wonder why it was so hard to set land aside. for the enjoyment of all and I concluded that there must be ties between the size of the population and the ability to preserve land," the doctor said.

The ZPG president pointed out that overpopulation leads to a greater demand on physically-limited resources, creates unemployment which may lead to an increase in crime, and just generally taxes our entire governmental system.

"The major cost that we will pay for overpopulation will not be in our standard of living," Tanton siad. "But will fall in the area of personal liberty.

"As our population grows we will see more competition for resources and space and for a say in our government," he continued. "And as there is more competition we will see more need for government interference in basic things we took for granted before."

Dr. Jefferson, n general surgeon in Boston, said she became interested in population control following the 1972 Population Commission report. The surgeon said the report did not represent the views of all the citizens.

"The tragedy is that this country has been set along a population course that has been opproved by its people," Dr. Jefferson said referring to the report.

The Right to Life president claimed the birth rate has been dropping and that there has been on overall decline in the fertility index of the country due to voluntary sterilizations, sterilization due to increase incidences of venereal disease and due to birth control chemicals.

"We are headed for an unexpected deline in population which could result in an economic decline und depression which would make the one we are in now look like a boon," she said.

"We are headed for a situation where we won't have the population to deal with the things we will have to deol with," she said.

"In a nation like ours with 57 people per mile, we are not an overpopulated nation," she said.

"And even if our population does outgrow our land we can take over Canada," she said following the debate. "They are only living in one-third or less of their country."

Dr. Jefferson said it was not the number of people, but their attitudes that made them wasteful of our natural resources.

"A family with more than four children does not waste," she said. "It is more careful with its resources.

"And a large family of four, six, eight or even thirteen can even save energy," she said. "With all those bodies they don't need as much heat."

Dr. Jefferson, who is childless, said larger families also fostered more caring, concerned people.

"It is not from large families that you get the attitudes that are like the selfish ones of our overfed, smaller families," she said.

She urged citizens to continue to write to their representatives to find out how population policies were being made and to fight against population over control.

In rebuttal, Tanton urged the citizens to think about population and overcrowding and to investigate the situation for themselves.

"We do live in a limited system and we can't look at it as if we cun go on growing forever," he said. "And it is someting we must take precautions about now.

"If we wait until everyone on the street agrees that we are overcrowded it will be too late," he said.

John Tanton, M.D.

Boyne City Man Pleads Guilty

In a surprise move Monday, Willie Thomas, 55, Boyne City appeared before Circuit Judge Martin Breighner to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the Aug. 13 shooting death of Joseph R. Martin, 34, Boyne City and Lansing.

Thomas was scheduled to go on trial Wednesday before Judge Breighner on a second degree murder charge in the shooting of Martin during a drinking bout at the Thomas home. Thomas was charged with second degree murder following a preliminary hearing Aug. 23.

During the preliminary hearing, Jerry Lee Morris, 35, East Jordan, related how he and Martin, who had been drinking together for several hours, went to the Thomas home and continued to drink. Morris told how Martin had verbally abused Thomas, how he (Morris) had tried to get Martin to leave the Thomas home and how Thomas had shot Martin with a 12 gauge shotgun.

Thomas had been held in the Charlevoix County Jail since the shooting. His $5,000 bond was continued. He is scheduled to appear before Judge Breighner on Dec. 20 for sentencing.

Thomas was represented in court by his court-appointed attorney, Richard M. Pajtas.

Roy Hays, Charlevoix County Prosecutor, said Monday the maximum penalty for manslaughter is 15 years.

Willis Peters Resigns From CIS Position

Willis (Bill) Peters, a member of the so-called Citizens Information Service (CIS) resigned as co-chairman of the organization last week.

Peters said he was leaving his position in the group and active political life for at least one year in order to devote more time to his family and small farm.

"I've still got kids at home that I should spend time with," Peters explained. "And I've got a small farm that's getting all run over with weeds because I've spent so much time on these other things."

Besides being active in sponsoring County Proposal B, which proposes to reduce the allocoted millage from 15 to 12 mills, Peters also ran an unsuccessful campaign to win the Republican nomination for District 2 County Commission seat. Peters was defeated in

STATE PROPOSAL C

I've been told some of our Charlevoix school teachers are wearing buttons "Vote No on State Proposal C." This should wake up the voters. It's obvious the MEA is spending thousands to defeat the limit on state personal income taxes. Why? You'd better vote yes on State Proposal C so you won't find out. A taxpayer.

Courier Honored For Editorial Page

The Charlevoix Courier recently received national honorable mention for Best Editorial Page in its class in the 1976 National Better Newspaper Contest sponsored by the National Newspaper Association.

The Courier was one of more than 4,000 entries from 47 states and Guam to participate in the competition. The State of Michigan was second in the number of entries made in the contest with 271 newspapers from the state participating in the contest.

Earlier this year, the Courier was named best in the state for its size in the 1978 Michigan Press Association Weekly Newspaper Contest. The paper also received a first place award in the News Reporting section of the contest.

The newspaper also received the School Bell Award from the Michigan Education Association and was named a Blue Ribbon Newspaper by the Nationol Editorial Foundation this year.

Other local newspapers receiving awards in the National Newspaper Association contest included the Petoskey News-Review, which received an honorable mention for newspaper promotion, and the Antrim County News, which received an honorable mention for environmental service.

County Proposes 9% Increase In 1977 Budget Recomendation

The proposed 1977 Charlevoix County budget, just released, is up 9.1 percent over the 1976 budget.

The budget calls for expenditures of $1,598,660 from revenues derived from several sources, including property taxes which will provide $877,835 in revenue.

The taxes are based on a rate of 4.7 mills on county property on which the State has put an Equalized Valuation (SEV) of $186,773,375. This is the same millage rate on which last year's county taxes were based, but the SEV has risen $4,493,552 in the last year.

Dollarwise, the largest increases in expenditures are indicated for the Judicial Department, General County Government, Welfare, and Public Safety. Expenditures for the Board of Commissioners remain the same. Expenditures for the Health Department are down slightly.

A public hearing on the budget is scheduled for this Wednesday evening, November 27, at 8 p.m. in the Courthouse Annex.

Budgeted revenue and expenditures by departments for 1977 compared with 1976 are listed below.

Chief Mol Urges Safety

Trick or Treat Night Set for Sunday

HALLOWEEN
OCTOBER 31

Little (and big) goblins and witchea will be knocking at your door next Sunday.

The Charlevoix Common Council decided at a recent meeting to designate Oct. 31 as the officioi "Trick or Treat" night for Chorlevoix children.

Police Chief Jack Mol said no definite hours had been set for trick or treating, but he suggested small children out after dark be escorted by an adult member of their families. Mol also cautioned drivers who will be on the streets Hallowe'en night to be extra careful and to watch for smoll monsters, witches and fairies who might dart out into the street.

"Hallowe'en safety is an awareness thing," Mol explained. "Everyone has to be a little bit more careful on that night."

The police chief said he did not expect much in the way of malicious behovior on Hallowe'en, either.

Council Still Looking For New Administrator

Charlevoix is still without a permanent city administrator.

The man the common council expected to hire last Thursday decided not to take the job, according to Mayor Edward Hansen. The mayor said the council would now review some of the other applications and make a new choice.

"We had what I would call five or six finalists that we were considering," Mayor Hansen snid. "It's just that the one that we had pretty much settled on changed his mind.

Read About Candidates Inside

Charlevoix County voters will be picking candidates for 21 offices and six judicial positions in the upcoming General Election. They will also be voting on four county and four state proposals next Tuesday.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday and absentee ballots will be available until Saturday. Sample ballots for people who would like to study them before the election are ovoilable ot the county clerk's office and at the Charlevoix Courier.

Also, to help voters learn more about the candidates and the issues, pages 6, 7 and 8 in this edition of the Courier have been devoted entirely to Campaign '76 stories.

The Courier will also print the election results next week, which means it will be published one day late.

Elaine Belfy Gets Post In State Eastern Star

Elaine Belfy

Mrs. Chester E. (Elaine) Belfy, a member of the Charlevoix Chopter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star, has been appointed to the Membership Committee of the Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Michigan.

In the position she will be serving under the 1976-77 Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Charles Martz of Birmingham, and Worthy Grand Patron, Donald Barns of Otisville, who were installed at the closing of the 110th session of the Grand Chapter held recently in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Belfy became a member of the Charlevoix chapter in January 1955. She is a past matron, having served in all the elective uffices and is presently serving as secretary. She has also served as District Marshall and District Soloist.

Association with the organization is nothing new to Mrs. Belfy. Her great-grandmother had been worthy matron of the Williamston chapter and her grandparents were the first worthy patron and associate matron of the Kelwinning chapter in Detroit.

Mrs. Belfy is a native of Lansing and a graduate of Michigan State University. She taught Physical Education at the School for the Blind in Lansing. Since her marriage, she was vision technician for the Michigan State Health Department No. 3 and, more recently, taught the Mentally Handicapped in the Charlevoix school district.

The Grand family will visit the Charlevoix Chapter in June.

Extension Club Holds Party for Hayes Kids

Children of Hayes Township will be guests at a Hallowe'en party to be held at the Maple Grove Grange Hall on Saturday evening. Hosts to the party to be held from 7 until 9 p.m. will be the Too Few Extension club.

The children are asked to come in costumes. Prizes will be offered for the best costumes in the various age groups. A full evening of entertainment has been planned and children of all ages are encouraged to attend.

At the same meeting at which the party was planned, plans were also made for a pre-Thanksgiving bake sale to be held at Oleson's.

A report on the recent Extension Club regional Rally Day held at Schuss Mountain earlier this month was given. It was also announced that Mrs. Marie Fineout of Cheboygan had been awarded the bicentennial quilt.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl Price at 9 a.m. Nov. 17.

Local Eastern Star Group Installs Officers for New Year

The Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual public installation of officers at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The officers who were elected and appointed last week and who are being installed at that time are:

Auxiliary officers named are Mr. Wood, American flag bearer; Walter Hufford, Christian flag bearer; Russell Lewis, O.E.S. flag bearer and Mrs. Wayne Carter, candlebearer.

Mrs. Carter is the retirtng worthy matron and Mr. Hufford, the retiring worthy patron.

The installing staff will be Mrs. E. James Hiller, installing officer; Mrs. Frank Novotny, installing chaploin; Mrs. Grubaugh, installing marshal and Mrs. Charles Bellinger, installing organist. Vincent Chew will be the guest soloist.

Members and friends are invited to attend the installation ceremony.

Mrs. Ingalls is chairman of the decorating committee. Refreshments will be served by the Past Matrons Club headed by Mrs. Ronald Geer.

CBers Form Northwestern REACT To Help Local Police, Good Buddy

With the increased use of Citizen Band radios in the area, a new F.C.C. approved group affiliated with an organization that spans the U.S. and Conada has been formed in Charlevoix.

It is known as the Northwestern R.E.A.C.T. (Radio Emergency Citizens Team) No. 3433. Still in the growing stage, the team's chief purpose for the present is to monitor Emergency Citizen's Channel 9, which is, as the name implies, the channel on which emergency messages are put on the air by CBers and relay the messages to the proper agencies.

The team's officers are: Greg Seese, president; Rick Baker, vice president; Linda Seese, secretary, and William Seese, treasurer.

According to Baker, Northwestern REACT is a small group of only 10 members at the present time. The membership, however, is open to anyone with a Citizen's Band radio who would like to become involved in something worthwhile. "There are many services a REACT team can offer to assist others. This is what our prime purpose is. If you're interested in making your CB radio work for you, we'd like you to join us" Baker continued.

The only requirement to be a team member is to have a CB radio, either a base or mobile unit, and have an F.C.C. license, Class D.

He gave as examples of assistance that of receiving a report from a CB operator who might come upon a highway accident, someone stranded along the highway and relaying an emergency message for an individual among other services.

The next meeting of Northwestern REACT No. 3433 will be held at the William Seese home on M-66 on Nov. 17. Anyone wishing more information about the team and its goals may call any of the officers.

Ruppe Swings Through Area on Campaign Tour

U.S. Rep. Phillip Ruppe stopped in Charlevoix briefly this week during a campaign swing through the 11th District.

Ruppe spoke with Charlevoix High School students and then briefly addressed the senior citizens attending lunch at the high school.

During his visit, Ruppe discussed his record as Congressman for this district. He pointed out that his district had received $1.46 for every $1 paid to the federal government. This is quite a bit above the average for the state which received the worst return in the country on its tax dollars.

Michigon averages 65 cents returned from the federal government for every $1 paid in.

Ruppe credited this achievement not only to the fact that the district has an outstanding Congressman, but because district officials are capable grantsmen.

Ruppe also said if he was relected he would work to secure more jobs for the Northern Michigan area through providing some sort of incentive to private business for expansion purposes.

"I feel we should offer tax credits to businesses willing to expand and develop in areas of high unemployment," Ruppe said. "We should also offer the tax credits to new businesses willing to locate in these areas."

Ruppe said the tox credit would not be offered to businesses muving from one area to another, but only to those expanding or developing in the state.

The congressman also said he would support a catastrophic health care bill which would assure citizens of money to provide adequate health care for extreme coses.

Ruppe said he would also support a crime control bill, although he had no specific suggestions to make about the composition of such legislation. The Congressman said he would have to study the area more thoroughly before making any definite suggestions.

He also took a stand on the state proposals facing voters this Nov. 2. Ruppe said he would probably vote no on Proposal A, which would ban throwaway bottles.

"I think the return to bottle deposits could cause some people in my district along the Wisconsin border to lose business," Ruppe said. "I think people will just go to Wisconsin to buy their beer and pop instead of bothering with the deposits.

"They may also then try to turn in the bottles for the deposit money and that will create more problems for the store owners," he pointed out.

The representative said he would also vote no on Proposals C and D, which would change the method of levying state taxes. Ruppe said he would support Proposal B which allows 18-year-olds to run for uffice.

"If they wont to run for office and can get elected, why not let them," he said.

He also spoke about County Proposal D, which is an advisory vote about developing nuclear waste dump sites in Northern Michigan. Ruppe said the vote opinions about locations of dump sites, but he added that the vote would not be binding.

He said, however, that he and Rep. Bob Carr had introduced legislation which would give the state veto power over any decision on the location of a dump site in the state.

Community Chest Helps Social Agencies Help People Learn to Help Themselves

The Charlevoix Community Chest funds programs for 14 agencies in this area. Last week the Courier listed six of the agencies and their programs. The following discusses the remaining eight agencies.

CAMP DAGGETT

For 50 years Camp Daggett has been operated on the shores of Walloon Lake for the benefit and enjoyment of orea children. The program includes hiking, archery, canoeing, campouts, craft work, nature study, sailing fishing, boating, swimming instruction and mony other outdoor activities. With the help of the Community Chest, Camp Daggett can provide these opportunities at minimal expense.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN PLANNED PARENTHOOD

In 1975, Planned Parenthood provided over 1,000 individual counseling sessions to people seeking help. The one-to-one counseling sessions covered topics ranging from unwanted confidential and anonymous medical care to women seeking contraceptive counseling, sex education information and V.D. and pregnancy testing at its Birth Control Clinic.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY CHAPTER OF THE RED CROSS

One of the cooperative local programs of the Red Cross is the Blood Program. Through the blood program, the Red Cross is the largest collector, processor and distributor of blood from voluntary donors, providing approximately 40 percent of the nations' total blood requirements. The Red Cross also provides emergency-oriented services in times of disaster and services to members of the Armed Forces and veterans and their families.

BIG BROTHERS BIG SISTERS

Big Brothers / Big Sisters is an organization dedicated to helping the youth in our community aged 7 to 17 who come from one-parent or troubled homes and who need the friendship, affection guidance and advice of a mature man or woman. A Little Brother / Little Sister may be a young girl or boy in difficulty with the law, emotionally deprived, having problems in school, or just unhappy and in need of a regular adult companion.

CHARLEVOIX HOUSE

Charlevoix House is a group home for mentally impaired adults. The objective of the home is to provide training to increase semi-independent living skills for the six residents. Programming for the residents is both formal and informal and a family atmosphere is emphasized to insure comfortable normalization.

CHARLEVOIX HOSPITAL

Charlevoix Hospital requests assistance from the Charlevoix Community Chest to provide financial help in health care expenses. There is a considerable number of area families and individuals who do not have any way to pay for some of their health care. They are not old enough to qualify for Medicare, they do not meet the requirements for Medicaid assistance and they cannot afford to purchase or have health conditions which cannot be covered by other insurance programs.

CHARLEVOIX COMMUNITY NURSES EMERGENCY FUND

This fund helps people who need one-time assistance for medical care which is not covered by any other insurance or fund in the area. The service is generally used for emergency care situations.

ELBERT KAISER, plant manager of Medusa Corporation, presented Jan Raecke of the Charlevoix Community Chest, with a $1,725 check toward the community chest goal of $19,000. Medusa was the first corporation to contribute to the fund drive this year.

Hearings Scheduled On Tax Revisions

A public hearing on the Single Business Tax will be held in Gaylord the week of Dec. 12 by the Governor's Single Business Tax Advisory Task Force.

The task force is seeking public comment on revisions which may be made in the law.

"A number of revisions have been suggested to us by the public, the business community, legislotors and members of the task force," Lt. Gov. James Damman, who heads the task force, said. "At our public hearings we want comments and views on these specific suggestions to help us in preporing our final recommendations.

Damman said examples of topics that may be discussed at the public hearings ore: the treatment of low profit and small businesses and the inclusion or interest and payroll taxes in the tax base.

The lieutenont governor also expressed concern over the inadequate response of the business community to the survey questionnaires sent out by the task force. Only 12 percent of the 4,000 questionnaires have been returned.

A specific date for the public hearing and the meeting location will be announced at a loter date.

First American Submarine, 'Turtle', Constructed, Tested 200 Years Ago

WASHINGTON--Although the United States Navy didn't get its first submarine until 1900, America's submarine service legitimately could celebrate its Bicentennial this year.

History's first attack by a submarine upon an enemy warship was on September 6, 1776, when an American submersible tried to sink the flagship of a British fleet.

The operation beneath the waters of New York Harbor had been personolly apprnved by General George Washington. It almost succeeded, the Natitnal Geographic Society says.

The one-man sub was on egg-shaped craft named Turtle. Unable tn sink the 64-gun HMS Eagle, the pioneer submarine made its escape--pursued by an English longboat whose crew may have been more curious than hostile.

Men had experimented with submarines for centuries, from diving bells tn a weighted, leather-covered rowboat.

But Turtle's designer, David Bushnell, was ahead of his time. He outfitted his primitive vessel with a conning tower, snorkel breathing device, screw propellers for vertical and horizontal propulsion, ballast tank, and a depth gauge of his own invention.

Turtle's instruments--the depth gauge and a compass--were illuminated by cold light from piecesd of phosphoresent wood.

Bushnell developed his submarine in Connecticut in 1775. Its oaken hull, made in two halves ond fitted together, was only seven feet tall and six feet in diameter. Its sole occupant, perched on a sort of bicycle seat, had to be a one-man band to maneuver the novel vessel.

The narrow end of the wooden egg was its keel, weighted with lead ballast to give it stability. With his foot, the crewman could turn a valve to flood the tank below him to submerge, shutting the valve when he attained negative buoyancy.

To surface, he worked "twn brass forcing pumps"; to eject water from the tank. Underwater, vigorously cranking a handle directly in front of the operator turned a screw-type propeller that pulled the submarine forward nr pushed it backward.

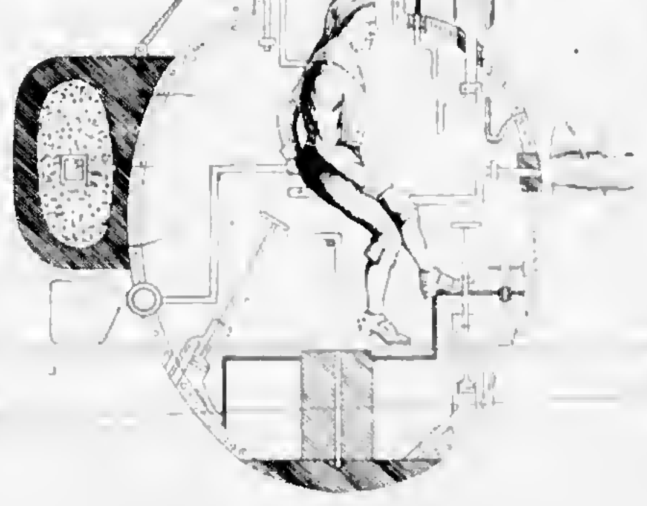
A second crank overhead turned a similar screw that would raise or lower the vessel's operating depth. Lacking a third hand, the crewman steered by holding the tiller in the crook of his arm.

Still another overhead crank was fastened to a metal rod that could be raised or lowered several inches. At the end of this rod was a bit that could be detached after it had been screwed into the hull of the unsuspecting target.

A cask with 150 pounds of powder and a timing device was attached to the bit by a line. The submariner was to release this "torpedo" ond pull away to safety before the explosion.

Sgt. Ezra Lee did everything right, but the copper sheathing ploced on the hull of the British ship-of-the-line as protection ogainst teredo worms was too tough for his auger.

With dawn, Lee had to withdraw.



Council Rescinds Vote On Building Taxiway

A taxiway that Charlevoix Common Council had agreed to build at the Charlevoix City Airport three weeks ago will no longer be built.

Mayor Ed Hansen said at a recent council meeting that upon further study after awarding a bid to Manthei Development Corporation for the construction of the taxiway, it was discovered that the $4,537 figure that council based the bid awarding on wns incorrect.

In addition to the $4,537 for the construction of the taxiway, the Manthei bid also included another $1,100 for the stripping, leveling and grading of the area from the new hangar to runway 26 in preparation for the construction of the taxiway.

In a unanimous vote, the council rescinded its original motion Monday night and then unanimously voted to deny the bid.

Absentee Ballots Available Until Saturday Afternoon

Voters wishing to cast absentee ballots in next Tuesday's General Election may secure them between now and Saturdny, October 30, at 2 p.m. on the City Clerk's office.

Although Saturday is the last day ballots may be taken from the Clerk's office, absentee ballots may be vnted in his office on Monday, November 1, until 2 p.m.

All absentee ballots must be returned to the Clerk's office by 4 p.m. on election day.

City Clerk Lyle King states that all people over 60 are permitted to vote by absentee ballot, as are those who are too ill or handicapped to go to the polls and those who will be out of town on election day.

Those residing outside the City limits may secure absentee ballots form their Township Clerk.

County Can't Stand Cut, Stick With Proposal A

There's no choice as far as we are concerned between county ballot Proposal A and B. We're behind Proposal A.

Voters are being asked in next week's election to decide whether they prefer the present tax limitation of 15 mills for local government (Proposal A) or cut the limitation to 12 mills (Proposal B).

For the person who is tired of taxes and the high cost of living, it would seem logical to limit the county, township and school governments limited to 12 mills.

We can understand how taxpayers are frustrated over what they think is government waste and overspending, especially during a national election year when that is the theme of may political campaigns.

However when one talks specifically about local operations within Charlevoix County, we don't think overspending is the case.

If Proposal B passes, the county would have to operate on 1 mill less than it has been, the local schools on 2.40 mills less than they have been, and the Intermediate School District on .10 mills less than it has been.

The only unit of government that would realize an increase in revenue would be the local township, who would receive .50 mills more for operational costs.

We don't feel the local units of government can afford these kinds of reductions.

We don't feel the county can afford to operate with less revenue and be expected to maintain the level of service residents have come to expect.

More than the services, we are concerned about the quality of local education for our children with a reduction in school revenue.

Townships who desire more revenue are able to decide that matter on their own. Some townships have already voted to increase the revenues they need on a township-by-township basis. Those townships who do not need the revenue don't have to have more taxes as it now stands.

Charlevoix County has made great strides in improving the quality of life in Northern Michigan, we would hate to see it set back 10 years for lack of revenue. We support Proposal A.

Support Proposal C

We urge you to support County Proposal C, which is seeking the levying of one mill for the next three years to construct a Residential Care addition to Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

For years in this country as well as in this county, adequate health care for senior citizens has not been available. Many senior citizens have had to pay exorbitant prices for hospital care when all they needed was the supervisory care of a special unit in a medical care facility.

Others, unable to afford the hospital care and unable to get supervisory care, have gone without any type of care at risk of great bodily harm to themselves.

Why have the senior citizens been forced into this deplorable situation? Because the facilities have not been available, Proposal C seeks to change all this.

The Proposal is an action of last resort. For the last four years the county commissioners have attempted to get federal funding for the medical care facility addition, but they have been unsuccessful.

If, through some miracle, the federal government does decide to fund the expansion, and Proposal C is approved, the commissioners simply will not levy the mill,

How can we lose? –PJH

Save Our Natural Resources

This state is truly blessed with an abundance of natural resources, not the least of which is the Great Lakes.

We are surrounded by five of the largest bodies of fresh water in the entire world. And now the federal government through the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) is seeking to place a potential pollutant near one of the greatest resources we have.

ERDA would like to place a nuclear waste disposal site in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

We don't know very much about nuclear waste and what happens to it when it is buried in the ground. So why take a chance of polluting one of the greatest sources of freshwater ih the world?

For these reasons we urge you to vote no on County Proposal D. Proposal D is an advisory vote asking citizens if they think a nuclear waste dump should be located in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

No one will be bound by the results of this vote, but we feel the residents of Northern Michigan should make themselves heard. In this case we can't afford not to make our wishes known. –PJH

Support Proposal B Urges Mrs. Stroud

TO THE VOTERS OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY:

In the last ten years the State Equalized Valuation of Charlevoix County has more than tripled. At a tax reform meeting in Gaylord recently Allison Green, State Treasurer, stated that while counties can do little if anything to hold down assessments they can reduce the millage. For years every commissioner has said that if he could do anything to reduce taxes he would do it, but now when there is an opportunity to hold the line on taxes suddenly almost every commissioner claims they need every penny and he is against any reduction.

In 1975 the S.E.V. was $182,279,783. In 1976 it is $197,973,375 (including 10.2 million inventory), an increase of 8.8 percent. The tax on the inventory will not be collected locally but it will be returned to the County and schools by the state so must be included in the total.

Based on our school district's combined school millage of 27.45, the 1975 school tax was slightly over 5 million dollars. The 1976 combined millage rate is 26.85. Under the 12 mill limitation there will be a reduction of 2.4 mills in the school millage, making the 1976 combined rate 24.45. When this is applied to the 1976 S.E.V. it produces $4,840,449; a reduction of only $163,130, for the entire county, or less than 3.26 percent below the 1975 combined school tax. These figures must be adjusted according to the different millages in other school districts, and they include debt retirement but the overall picture is clear.

For the schools to claim they will have to lay off a great number of teachers is ridiculous. It would make as much sense to say that if a family of ten had their income cut ten percent they would drown one of the children. The county will get a larger proportionate reduction, but they also have more places to cut expenses. Court house employees now work a 35 hour week. One job in 8 could be eliminated by shifting to a 40 hour week. In any work force there is always some attrition. Instead of discharging any one a policy of not replacing those who leave could be initiated.

As for unemployment compensation, if lay offs were necessary I believe there are reserves for this and claims would not be paid out of current income. A person is only eligible for unemployment compensation if his earnings are less than his benefits would amount to. The work could be spread so there would be few if any claims. Revenue sharing is only partly based on tax effort. It will not be affected to the extent the opponents claim.

I do not believe that this reduction will cause the chaos the opponents claim it will, but if it should it would help influence the state to change the method of school financing. Income per capita in our area is about ½ that in Southern Michigan, but our property is assessed higher.

In 1973 the New Jersey State Supreme Court ruled that financing schools through local property taxes was unconstitutional, California had already ruled the same way in the Serrano case. Similar cases have been filed in more than 20 other states. We cannot effect changes without some turmoil. Maybe the 12 mills should be spread a little different, but to turn down the proposition for this reason would be to throw the baby out with the bath water. If school financing can be separated from property tax the state would have no reason to be involved in county assessing and we would be better off. Vote "YES" on Proposal "B" and "NO" on Proposal "A"

Lou Hollow Suggests Vote No on Proposal B

Dear Paula and Ken:

A recent issue of the Charlevoix Courier carried a news article in which a group identified as the C.I.S. attempted to give creditability to information being supplied the voters. This concerned the recently defeated Charlevoix Public Schools $3.1 million bond issue. They (the C.I.S.) stated on radio and in the newspapers that they had verified the interest costs with "a bank vice-president".

To those of us more intimately involved with interest rates, bond issues and other financial matters, there was an obvious misuse of simple statistical information, hopefully unintentioned. The opponents to the bond issue simply, but erroneously took $3.1 million multiplied by 6 percent times 25 years. No consideration was given to periodic bond payments or redemptions. This kind of mathematics is akin to mortgaging your home and only paying interest payments. You would still owe, the mortgaged amount twenty-five years later. Quite simply put, it's just not the accepted method of financing.

As an interested resident, businessman and taxpayer, I am seriously concerned with the potential damage that can occur through misunderstanding the issues. The taxpayer's concern for the financial health of his and her community is good and proper and we should probe the issues and our representatives but it should be with an objectivity that is occasionally lacking. Media coverage continues to go to the "exception".

We are now faced with an attempt to restrict the allocated millage to 12.0 mills as opposed to the present 15.0 mills. (I could easily imagine what would happen if I arbitrarily reduced employees incomes 25 percent without cause). The time for action is during budget hearings at all levels and during the election of public representatives. If we want less service-road-police protection-fire protection-court maintenance–education–and planning to have the services when we need them, then we should tell our representatives.

I cannot imagine any one wanting mediocrity when we call for fire protection, seek policy protection, travel our roads winter and summer, seek the court's assistance, or send our children, our neighbors children or our grandchildren into a world commanding their preparation. It's like a parachutist with a parachute that's almost good enough.

In closing I would like to paraphrase a prominent jurist U.S. Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis "The greatest dangers lurk in the insidious encroachment of men of zeal and well-meaning but without understanding."

Sincerely,
Louis J. Hollow

Clockwise

Certainly historians will record as one of the most frightening events of the 20th Century the demise of Mrs. Mao Tse-tung.

Although details are still sketchy in the western world, the prospect of 800 million Chinese turning as one against Mrs. Mao is downright shattering.

Here she is in her twilight years, the new widow of the man who molded the New China, held up publicly to scorn and ridicule within days of Mao's death.

Billboards denounce Chiang Ching as a radical. Epithets are hurled at her in newspapers and on radio.

Finally, with Mao's body hardly cold, comes word that his widow and her three political cronies have been "liquidated."

Although there is some confusion as to what the Chinese mean by that particular euphemism, there is little doubt that Mrs. Mao's days are numbered, if they have not already ended.

Aside from the propaganda campaign against Mrs. Mao in the media, she also was the target of carefully orchestrated protest demonstrations in China's most populous cities. Of course they were organized by, or at least approved by, Hua Kuo-feng, Mao's successor as chairman.

The frightening thing about this massive outpouring of Chinese hatred is not that it was directed against the widow of the beloved Mao but that a nation of 800 million should stand so unanimously behind anything so basically rotten as the public stoning of a hero's widow, regardless of her politics.

The campaign against Mrs. Mao comes at a bad time for the western world. Since the Nixon and Ford visits to China we were beginning to appreciate the miracles worked by Mao and his deputy, Chou En-Lai, in the last quarter century. They had done a superlative job of moving the Chinese peasant out of the stone ages into the modern world.

But apparently such changes are not possible in the communist sphere without a tremendous sacrifice of freedom. How else can you explain that no voices of protest were raised within China to the murderous campaign against Mrs. Mao?

The regimentation that allowed Mao to remake China is the same regimentation that was used to turn all China against his widow after his death.

Eight hundred million souls have been computerized to react savagely when Peking pushes the button, working a travesty on the human spirit.

BETWEEN now and next Tuesday, you can expect to be literally bombarded with urgent supplications from total strangers to get out and vote. Every political advertisement will stress the importance of voting. You'll probably receive flyers encouraging you to vote. The airwaves will be filled with it. Vote! Vote! Vote!

You will be told that voting is not only a privilege but an obligation.

You also will be told that voting is not only an obligation but a privilege.

The loudest voices will tell you they don't care how you vote, just as long as you vote.

And it's all a lot of hooey.

If you haven't taken the time to study the candidates and bone up on the issues, it might be a good idea for you to stay home from the polls next Tuesday. Is it really fair that your uneducated vote should count as much as the opinion of your next door neighbor who eats, drinks and breathes politics? Probably not.

But there is still time to make amends. You have a week left to read up on the candidates and scrutinize the issues. Stop at your local campaign headquarters to see what the pro's have to offer. Button-hole your neighbor and try to pick a fight.

When you go to the polls next Tuesday, vote with conviction, not out of intimidation or a dismal sense of duty.

You owe it to Mrs. Mao, if no one else.

Erma Lists Hints For Chaperone

At some time in a parent's life, he or she will be asked to chaperone something at the school.

Chaperoning is basically a depressing job. It is the moment most people have been dreading . . . the day you traverse the gap from swinging to swingee.

I do not like chaperoning for other reasons. It is not my idea of fun to sit and watch someone doing what I would be doing if I didn't have to sit there and tell them not to do it.

As the wife of an educator, I have had my share of supervising dances, trips, proms and social affairs. It would be selfish of me not to share my expertise.

1. One of the primary duties of a chaperone is to find the party. Obviously you cannot chaperone if you have no one to chap. We have found the best way to find the hidden location of a party is to follow a car full of kids with your lights out.

2. Proms often have two punch bowls. One is a blend of 15 fruits that make your face break out as you pour it. The other will put a little fun in your life, quicken your footsteps and make the evening bearable. Unfortunately, the chaperones are not told about this bowl.

3. Be sure of your authority. When you walk into the parking lot and discover three hoods who do not attend your school, but who are ripping off a car and have a tire iron in their hands, make sure you have a better threat than, "You know, this makes you ineligible for the Robert Frost awards in the spring."

4. Be aware of the fact that music at proms and parties could make you sterile. The art of conversation is reduced to lipreading and pantomime. As an experiment, I once repeated a single sentence for the entire evening, "Is there somewhere I can go to scratch my teeth?" Everyone pretended to hear what I was saying. Thirty-five people said they were pleased to meet me too. Eight said, "It's too much work for you. Come to our place." and one said, "Thank you. My mother made it."

5. It is not as difficult knowing when the party is over as you might think. There are little things . . . like you are humming and tapping your foot and the band is gone . . . your eyes no longer smart from Clearasil, and you realize that from habit you shouted, "Is there somewhere I can go to scratch my teeth?" and the English teacher sniffed and said, "I'd say you got the wrong punch bowl."

Editor:

This letter is in reference to the many untrue rumors that have been passed around during this campaign for Sheriff of Charlevoix County.

I feel the citizens should have a choice for their Sheriff without rumors to cloud the issues. Therefore I would like to set the record straight.

Rumor: Resigning after one year in office.

Truth: No one who knows how much effort I have put forth in the campaign would believe a ridiculous rumor like this.

Rumor 2: That I will be a part time sheriff, teaching half the day.

Truth: Totally untrue.

Rumor 3: That I will dismiss all employees of the department.

Truth: Most employees of the department are protected by the union. Granted, there will be some changes made for the betterment of the department, but it will be within the proper procedure.

Rumor 4: That I will be taking Sumner's retirement away from him.

Truth: After 10 years with the county an employee is "locked in" for retirement or therefore Sumner WILL NOT lose his retirement.

Rumor 5: That I will not live in the County Jail.

Truth: I will be residing at the living quarters provided at the jail. I will not be moving my family over until my three children finish out the school year.

If any citizen has a question about a rumor, please call me personally at 582-9208 so I can set the record straight.

Meet Charlevoix

...The Great Pumpkin

People still laugh when you mention the "Great Pumpkin" to them. They seem to think the old orange creature is a joking matter.

But, those of us who believe in his Hallowe'en night visits know better.

Through some special arrangements, the Courier was able to have an exclusive pre-Hallowe'en interview with the "Great Pumpkin."

COURIER: When can the residents of Charlevoix expect to find you?

GREAT PUMPKIN: Each year on Hallowe'en night, I rise out of the pumpkin patch that I think is the most sincere and fly through the air with a pack of toys for all the little children I think have been good throughout the world.

COURIER: How could you possibly know what houses have good children?

GREAT PUMPKIN: Actually, I make that decision two different ways.

COURIER: How's that?

GREAT PUMPKIN: First, I check to see who has taken the time to write me during the pre-Hallowe'en season and tell me what kinds of things they would like to have.

COURIER: How do they get in touch with you?

GREAT PUMPKIN: It's not that difficult. All they have to do is write a letter and address it to me and it will get to me. I really don't have a particular pumpkin patch address. It depends on the weather and what part of the world had the best pumpkin growth during the year. I like the warm climates and generally spend my time in the sun and fun south of the border. The Postal Service is pretty good about forwarding my letters.

COURIER: What is one supposed to tell the Great Pumpkin?

GREAT PUMPKIN: I really can't reveal that kind of information to you. All true believers know what kind of things I like to read, that's why they are believers.

COURIER: Is that why poor Linus of Peanuts never sees you?

GREAT PUMPKIN: Linus has the right idea and I look forward to his letters, but I'm still not convinced that he is a true believer. I know that each year Linus scans the skies looking for me and tells all of his friends to wait until next year. I think I'm just waiting to see how far he gets with Lucy, Charlie Brown and Snoopy. They think Linus is crazy and I'm interested in seeing what Linus eventually comes up with to make them believers. I noticed last year, that Sally waited with Linus for a visit, so I think he is making progress.

COURIER: You mentioned earlier there are two ways you judge whether or not children have been good. The first, you said, was whether or not children write to you. What is the second way?

GREAT PUMPKIN: The second way is simple. Instead of wearing costumes and going out and "trick or treating", true believers wait in their pumpkin patches to see if I will visit them. It's a matter of principle you know. I think children have to make some sacrifices if they expect to get toys from me. It's too easy to go around and collect candy. I want their gifts to mean something.

COURIER: How does someone know when you arrive? What do you look like?

GREAT PUMPKIN: True believers of the Great Pumpkin always know when I'm in the neighborhood. They know what I look like. Only those who believe in the Great Pumpkin can identify me. I really can't tell you what I look like because I've never seen myself.

COURIER: Is there anyone in town who we could ask, to find out what you look like?

GREAT PUMPKIN: No Comment.

COURIER: What do you mean by saying, "no comment." That's the kind of junk we have to put up with when we interview other people, don't tell us you're going to pull the same thing on us.

GREAT PUMPKIN: I don't mean to sound so harsh. What I meant to say was that I really can't tell you. Being a true believer of the Great Pumpkin is a personal and private matter that really doesn't lend itself to public disclosure.

COURIER: Well, then how do we find you?

GREAT PUMPKIN: I guess you'll have to do what I suggested and see what happens.

COURIER: That seems like a lot of trouble and bother.

GREAT PUMPKIN: It's a matter of personal preference. It's whatever you feel is important in life. I obviously know what I'm worth. I guess it's up to you whether or not you feel it is worth while.

COURIER: Happy Halloween.

The Great Pumpkin

Paula Holmes... ...Speaking Her Mind

When I first moved to this area just over two and one-half years ago to take a job at the Petoskey News-Review, I became acquainted with a little girl named Tiffany.

I never met this Pellston native personally, but I got to know her through the pages of the News-Review, which ran a story about the child.

She was a darling little girl in the way that only a two-year-old child can be. Judging from her picture she had golden blonde hair and two beautiful blue eyes. And it was because of her eyes that Tiffany was in the paper.

One sunny summer afternoon, while on a picnic with her family, Tiffany became thirsty. She walked over to a large throwaway pop bottle sitting underneath a shade tree to get a drink. Just as she picked up the bottle, it exploded in her face, leaving shreds of glass lodged in one of her eyes.

She was rushed to the hospital and doctors tried gallantly to save her eye, but they could not. The force of the exploding bottle had sent the glass piercing through her eye and removing her sight forever.

People have asked me how I stand on State Proposal A, the bottle ban bill. I am going to vote yes on Proposal A on Nov. 2. I am going to vote yes for all the Tiffanys in this state, and there are more than 500 of them, who have been injured by an exploding throwaway bottle.

You see, because the bottles are disposable, they are made out of a thinner, cheaper glass to keep the cost down. Sometimes these bottles have flaws in them and sometimes the weaker glass just cannot stand the pressure exerted by the carbonated soft drink or alcoholic beverage placed in it and they explode.

You may have been in a supermarket and heard the loud bang of one of these bottles exploding on the shelf. Fortunately for you, the bottle did not explode in your face. But it could have.

Sure, I am against litter and I have heard what havoc bottles can raise in farmers' fields. And I do think that Proposal A will help clean up and beautify Northern Michigan just as it has helped Oregon.

I also believe that Proposal A can help us save energy and resources in a time when we have to start being aware of what we waste.

But I am voting for Proposal A to prevent any more Tiffanys. In my opinion, if we can prevent just one child from going through the rest of his or her life with partial sight due to the explosion of an inferior, wasteful product, it will be worth all the time spent lugging bottles back and forth to the supermarket.

Proposal A or B -- How Much Millage Needed?

By PEG OHLE

While Charlevoix County voters will be choosing federal, state, county and local officials at next week's general election, they will also be making another decision that could possibly affect their daily lives more than any office holder they elect.

That decision is the adoption of either Proposal A or Proposal B.

Proposal A calls for retaining the present tax limitation of 15 mills for operating the County of Charlevoix and the townships and school districts within the county.

Proposal B would cut the millage limitation to 12 mills for the same purposes.

Proposal A would establish the 15 mills for a period of two years, or until altered by the voters. Proposal B would establish the 12 mills for an indefinite period, or until altered by the voters.

Both proposals set a fixed millage for county operation, for township operation, and for school operation. Presently, the 15 mills is allocated to each operation by the Tax Allocation Board.

Proposal A calls for the distribution of 15 mills on the basis of 4.70 mills for county operation, 9.10 mills for local school operation, .20 mills for Intermediate School District operation, and 1 mill for township operation.

Proposal B calls for the distribution of 12 mills on the basis of 3.70 mills for county operation, 6.70 mills for local school operation, .10 mills for Intermediate School District operation, and 1.50 mills for township operation.

This means that if Proposal B passes, the county would have to operate on 1 mill less than it has been, the local schools on 2.40 mills less than they have been, and the Intermediate School District on .10 mills less than it has been. On the other hand, the townships would receive .50 mills more for operational costs.

What would this lower operational millage mean to the county and the schools? What services now being rendered by both bodies would have to be cut or discontinued to operate within the lower budgets such as millage cut would require?

County Commissioner Ralph Richardson, proponent of Proposal A, speaking for himself, and Karl Waldner of Boyne City, proponent of Proposal B, have each come up with their own ideas of how the cost of county government would have to be cut if Proposal B passes.

Richardson has approached the subject with experience gained by serving on the County Commission and knowledge of state-mandated services which cannot be cut. Waldner admits that his proposed cuts were not thoroughly researched.

Richardson has made note of the fact that the three mill cut would not only result in collecting less money locally but would cut or nullify grants from federal and state sources which are based on local tax collections. For instance, revenue sharing, which accounts for over $200,000 of this year's county operating revenue, would be cut by approximately one-third if the millage rate is lowered to 12.

Also, many specific county activities are partially funded by federal and state monies, so if the local share is not appropriated, the county automatically loses the additional funding. Examples of this are the department of civil defense (one-half federally funded), marine safety (three-fourths state funded), and snowmobile safety (three-fourths state funded).

Based on the county's 1976 budget, Richardson says that the following services would have to be cut in the event Proposal B passes:

FIRST ROUND: Appeals court, $3,500; cooperative extension service, $19,740; planning commission, $32,890; tax allocation board, $3,200; animal control officer and dog pound, $17,086; civil defense, $6,075; marine safety, $18,222; snowmobile safety, $3,934; Region 10 detectives, $18,809; office of services to the aging, $7,984; library board, $1,050; parks and recreation (including Whiting Park), $17,500; advertising (to promote tourist Industry), $2,800; contingency fund (wipe out completely and rebuild), $63,200; operation of Ironton Ferry, $11,650; Northwest Economic Development Corporation (through which was funneled over $70,000 for the Commission on Aging), $4,885; capital outlay account, $18,963. TOTAL, $238,922.

SECOND ROUND: Drain commissioner, $1,885; salary of one person in equalization department who does nothing but work on tax rolls for townships. (work would go back to townships); $10,000; tax roll computer service provided to townships, $15,000 (need only $2,000 worth of service to handle county's delinquent tax billing); office of veterans' affairs (everything but funds for burials of veterans); $5,181; probation department of district court, $12,000; three deputies from sheriff's department (sheriff's department must operate jail, transport prisoners to and from court, and serve civil and criminal papers but are not required to patrol or investigate crimes), $30,900. TOTAL, $74,066.

THIRD ROUND: One person from county clerk's office, $10,000; one person from equalization department, $10,000; one person from office of register of deeds; $10,000; one person from treasurer's office, $10,000. TOTAL, $40,000.

The total amount of these three rounds of cuts would be $352,988 and would eliminate 25½ county employees, including a part-time sheriff on Beaver Island, whose job, according to union contract, would have to be eliminated before any other member of the sheriff's department could be dismissed.

Richardson estimates that on the basis of the 1976 budget, three-mill cut (one mill for the county) would amount to $259,331. He would suggest putting the difference between his proposed budget cuts and monies collected into a contingency and unemployment insurance fund.

Richardson says that authorities have told him that in cases of such mass layoffs, employers should figure on paying 44 cents in unemployment benefits for every dollar of salary formerly paid the laid off worker. If no other source of unemployment benefit funds is available, it would become necessary to lay off more employees to have the money to pay benefits to the first group laid off, for instance, an additional 12 to pay for the original 25, etc.

Waldner's Figures

Karl Waldner believes that the county could easily operate on 12 mills and the cost of county government cut by one mill. His ideas on how to do this are presented in a written document as follows:

Eliminate county planning department, $31,750; eliminate building code administration, $34,875; reduce equalization department, $63,330; reduce district court, $24,550; eliminate Northwest Economic Development Commission, $5,097; eliminate tax allocation board, $2,540; reduce contingency fund, $21,000; reduce prosecuting attorney, $11,721; reduce jail costs, $10,810; reduce probate court, $9,432; reduce insurance and bonds, $7,175. TOTAL, $222,280.

This according to Waldner, is the amount (based on the county's 1976 budget) that would have to be cut. It is the total of the reduction of millage from 4.7 to 3.7 and $40,000 he estimates will be the amount lost through "less state aid, etc."

Waldner further states that "the process can be easily accomplished by an indefinite number of variations of the theme, eliminate and reduce." He says he makes the suggestions for cuts based on "some eight years of watchdogging county government. The first four on the list are those rated by us as major to minor menaces to county citizens as they presently function or misfunction."

Waldner, who has long been critical of Charlevoix County government, makes further uncomplimentary remarks in announcing how he would handle budget cuts:

"Over the last few years, county commissioners have been involved in a hectic but quiet program of channeling the surplus property tax monies into existing county departments. They've increased staffs and salaries. They have, and are using, every available State and Federal legal device to create new departments; such as the CETA Public Program Administration Office, the Building Code Administration which collects fees for their services and permits despite the fact that these are already paid for by property taxes. The Register of Deeds Office does the same, as do the county courts. As departments increase in size they seem to reduce their so-called services. Civil Defense has become a potentially deadly mockery..."

Charlevoix School District

Superintendent James McKimmy of the Charlevoix School District points out that even if the 12 mills limitation passes, the 2.4 mill cut will not become effective until the 1977-1978 school year. For that reason, the administration has not come out with any dollar figures on services that might have to be cut.

Based on anticipated 1977-1978 tax collections, the millage cut would amount to $185,760 in the Charlevoix School District.

Vincent Olach, school district business manager, says that by state law if the district is forced to operate on a deficit basis, extra-curricular activities must be eliminated before academic cuts are made.

McKimmy, at a recent meeting, noted that extra-curricular activities such as sports account for only about $29,000 of the budget. Further cuts would have to come from reduction in personnel, eliminating 18 to 18 positions, in laying off as many as 24 teachers or approximately one-third of the faculty. If all the cuts were to come out of classroom personnel, it would mean an increase in classroom size to approximately 39 students.

Also, employees working in the school district under the federally funded Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) would have to be laid off before other employees could be cut from the staff, so losing funds gained from CETA would, in many instances, mean the double loss of personnel.

Figures show that the Charlevoix School District operates on 24.45 mills revenue, compared to the average state revenue of 26.95 mills.

McKimmy has stated that he believes a county-wide vote is not representative of an individual school district within the county.

"We would probably go back to the voters in our school district for another vote if the millage cut passes," he said.

Waldner Comments

Karl Waldner has not made specific recommendations for cutting the Charlevoix School District budget. However, in his written statement he noted what he calls "Some corollary facts":

"Charevoix County school districts officials have built small power kingdoms, living off public trust stretched to the limit at all times. They constantly maneuver for more state and federal funds, for more voted operational millage, and an ever greater portion of the allocated property tax money. Their budgets are always fat. The officials themselves are arrogant and arbitrarily demanding more often than not. To them we sacrifice our children. Yet, more often than believed, and despite the system itself, some teachers manage to practice the gentle and respected art of educating kids.

"The Charlevoix County school districts official defense against a citizen/-taxpayers/voters, CIS successful reduction to 12 mills of the property tax concentrates on intimidation tactics; they also use scare tactics; casual veiled threats to curtail athletics, bands, and extra-curricular activities. Also frequently mentioned by officials are the loss of accreditation, and that old chestnut of lowering educational quality. All of which, if given a moments reasonable thought, are plainly crude nonsense. They have nothing to do with what really happens in the classrooms."

Proposal C Creates Funds for Care Addition

By PEG OHLE

Proposal C, which will be voted upon by Charlevoix County residents next week, calls for the levying of one mill for the next three years for a Residential Care addition to Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

Taxes so levied would go into a sinking fund for the building, with construction of the building to start at the end of the second year.

For the last four years, the County Board of Commissioners and the County Department of Social Services have been working together toward a means of supplying Supervised Residential Care (SRC) within the County.

Several applications for federal funds for the purpose have been turned down. One application is still being processed, but because of the criteria surrounding the granting of these funds, county officials feel that the chance of receiving them is very slight. However, if federal funds are approved and Proposal C passes, the millage will not be levied.

Richard Tillen, Director of Social Services, defines SRC as a level of care that is somewhere between basic nursing and Adult Foster Care (AFC).

He states that people who require SRC run the gamut from someone who is mentally alert, but incontinent, to people who have complete control of their bodily functions but are mentally confused and disoriented. "Between these two extremes is a spectrum of people who are paying the high cost of hospital or nursing care and don't need it, and also those persons who are living alone, but should not be," he says.

Katherine Boss, Director of Nursing at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, is in accord with Tillen when she states, "All of us who are working close to the health care program realize the tremendous need for additional extended care beds." She cites the following example of a patient who would have been an appropriate admission to an SRC unit:

"We had a case of an elderly gentleman who was unable to stay at home alone. He was slightly confused at times. He had no family and was ineligible for AFC. This patient was kept in the hospital for two months waiting for a bed in an extended care facility. The insurance company refused payment after a limited number of days. The hospital had to absorb the loss of revenue.

"In cases like this, it is easy to see why health costs continue to rise," Mrs. Boss concludes. "The cost of staying in a hospital is approximately $100 a day, the cost of staying at Grandvue is approximately $30 a day, as opposed to the approximately $9 a day cost of staying in an SRC unit."

Hilda Watkins, Administrator of Grandvue Medical Care Facility, shares Mrs. Boss' opinion about reducing the cost of health care if an SRC unit were available. Mrs. Watkins states that the problem she is constantly faced with is "having people discharged from the facility and returned to their home before they are ready to cope with the demands of daily living.

"Their medical condition becomes unstable and they end up back in the hospital, only to be transferred back to Grandvue if there is an available bed. It is a vicious circle."

Mrs. Watkins goes on to say that often there is a waiting list at Grandvue, and the availability of SRC would relieve some of the pressures for nursing beds.

Clyde Cunningham, Chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, says that the passage of the sinking fund proposal would save the county money as opposed to a bond issue.

"If we have to go to a bond issue, it could end up costing the county twice as much to build an SCR unit. With a sinking fund, one mill will be levied for the next three years. At the end of that time, we will have enough money to build the SRC unit. If Proposal C is defeated and we have to go to a bond issue, then the cost of the unit will be spread out over a minimum period of 10 years, and we will have to pay about seven and a half percent interest over that length of time. Comparing the two, it would be a savings to the county if we went with the sinking fund, Cunningham added.

Advisory Nuke Vote Important to Area

Early in the summer the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) announced that Alpena would be a logical site for nuclear waste disposal because of its salt deposits.

After loud protests from the east side of the state, it was then announced that Manistee had also been chosen as a proposed site for the nuclear dump. After even more protests the administration announced there was a potential of 20 dump sites in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

Since then ERDA has assured Gov. William Milliken that he will be able to veto the selection of any site over any site chosen as a possible dump for nuclear waste if it does not meet the criteria.

Rep. Phillip Ruppe, of Houghton, and Rep. Robert Carr of East Lansing, have also introduced legislation in Congress to give the Michigan State Legislature the final veto over any site selected by ERDA.

In order to give Charlevoix County residents a chance to voice their opinions about the location of a nuclear waste disposal site, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners approved the placement of County Proposal D on the ballot, which is an advisory vote on the location of a nuclear dump site in this area.

The Proposal asks voters if they think a nuclear waste disposal site should be located in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

"Michigan is a land of sand and water," Commissioner Martin Paul said explaining why he proposed that the issue be placed on the ballot. "And there is no guarantee that the nuclear material would be kept from leaking into the lakes and our water supply.

"In my mind that was reason enough to put the issue on the ballot," Paul continued.

Paul said that three other counties in the area had also put the issue on their county ballots. These counties include: Alpena, Presque Isle and Cheboygan.

Paul stressed that the vote is advisory in nature, but he added that it would express the people's feelings to the legislature in a clear manner.

Sheriff's Race Hotly Contested in County

Sheriff

The Sheriff is head of the county police departments and as such has all the responsibilities of managing personnel, securing finances and developing programs in pursuit of certain goals and objectives. The Sheriff serves as an officer of the courts, in which capacity he has several duties, including maintaining order at the session of Circuit Court, serving and executing court orders, and seeing that they are carried out. The Sheriff is charged with enforcing state statutes. The Sheriff is required to cooperate with the Department of Natural Resources in the enforcement of laws regulating marine safety and snowmobile registration and use. Another major responsibility of the Sheriff is the administration and operation of the County Jail. The salary is $14,000 a year.

Only one name is listed on the ballot for the position of Charlevoix County Sheriff

George Lasater earned that distinction after defeating two opponents in the hard fought August primary.

Lasater, currently chief probation officer for the 90th District Court, defeated Incumbent Philo Sumner and Challenger Robert Neff. Sumner has decided to run as a sticker candidate in the General Election, however.

Lasater said if he is elected sheriff he will work toward developing and providing new services for county residents.

"Most citizens look upon a law enforcement agency as being a agency that apprehends criminals," Lasater said. "Granted that is a prime responsibility we have, but that only takes 20 percent of our time. The remainder of the time must be spent towards providing a service to the citizens of the county."

Lasater said the areas he would work on include: reorganizing the Animal Control Officer Division, establishing a female certified officer to work on setting up a Youth Division and also to investigate sex motivated crimes where women and children are the victims. This officer would be on loan to local police departments.

Lasater would also establish a sheriff's auxiliary, establish a sheriff's substation or an in-resident duputy for the east end of the county, utilize citizens band radio operators and organizations to assist the department in emergencies and work to increase cooperation between all police agences.

The sheriff candidate said all of these services could be provided within the present budget or even on a lower budget.

Incumbent Sumner rests on his experience as his qualifications for the position of sheriff. He has been Charlevoix County Sheriff for 10 years and has worked in law enforcement for 27 years.

He has taken special training at Sheriff's school, in corrections and as a jailer specialist. He stressed the value of on-the-job experience as opposed to book learning.

Only Eight Seats Opposed for Commissioners

County Commissioners

County Commissioners are elected from single-member county commissioners districts in the county. There are 15 in Charlevoix County. The districts must be approximately equal in population. Commissioners are elected for two years. The salary is $1,680 a year for monthly meetings.

Eight contests will face voters in the Charlevoix County Commission races. Another seven commissioners will be elected and re-elected without any opposition.

In the immediate area, there will be two contests for the commissioner's seat in Districts 3 and 14. The other six contests will be in Districts 1, 5, 8, 9, 11, and 12.

In the other local Districts 2, 13 and 15 there will be no contests.

Lining up for the race in District 3, which covers Charlevoix and Hayes townships, will be Democrat Leroy Haertter of Hayes Township and Republican John Haggard of Charlevoix Township.

Haertter, 55, is a general contractor and has lived in the area for 10 years. He is a high school graduate and has attended business college.

Haggard, 35, is a plumbing and heating contractor. A life-long resident of the area, he holds a business administration degree from Ferris State College. Haggard has previously served as a member and chairman of the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

In District 14, composed of residents in Charlevoix's second ward, Incumbent Oscar Ward, Democrat, will be opposed by a newcomer to the political scene, Marianne Thomure.

Ward, 57, is self-employed and has lived in the area for 48 years. He is seeking his second term in office.

Ms. Thomure, 45, works at King's and has lived in the area for six years. The Republican candidate holds a bachelor's degree in music education.

In other local districts, Clyde Cunningham will be running unopposed in District 2, which includes Marion, Norwood, St. James, and Peaine townships. Cunningham, currently chairman of the board of commissioners, has served as justice in Marion Township and as township supervisor for three consecutive years.

The 55-year-old Republican has lived in the area all his life and is employed as a farmer and machinery dealer. He was opposed in the primary by Willis Peters, former co-chairman of the Citizens Information Service (CIS).

In District 13, Ward II in Charlevoix, Donald Meggison will also be running unopposed. Meggison, 52, is the incumbent commissioner. He is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and life-long resident of the area.

Meggison, a mechanic, was challenged in the primary by Ralph McRae, but survived the test.

I. Lee Moreland, 48, will also be running unopposed in the final local race. Moreland, incumbent Republican commissioner for District 15, Ward III of Charlevoix. He was challenged in the primary by Theodore Browe, but his long record of public service held him in good stead.

Moreland, who is also the business manager for the county board, served as a city alderman from 1956 to 1960, and has been a county commissioner since 1965. He also served on the Charlevoix Planning Commission from 1965 to 1967.

In other contests, Incumbent Republican Delbert Ingalls will meet Democrat Robert Christensen in District 1; Incumbent Republican Ralph Richardson will oppose Democrat challenger Karl Waldner in District 5; Incumbent Democrat Richard McKinnon will be opposed by Republican Thora Kotowich in District 8; Keith Annear, Republican, and Pat Betz, a Democrat, will vie for the District 9 commission seat; Incumbent Rudolph Florenski will be opposed by Oral Sutliff in District 11; and Democrat James Goebel will run against Republican John Kujawski in District 12.

Running unopposed in other commission districts will be: Incumbent Republican Ira Davis in District 4; Republican Larry Mathews in District 6; Incumbent Democrat Ralph Harmon in District 7; and Incumbent Democrat Martin Paul in District 10.

Three Vie for Drain Commissioner Position

Drain Commissioner

The principal duty of the County Drain Commissioner is the administration of virtually all aspects of the establishment and maintenance of drainage facilities in the County. However, he does not have formal or legal powers to initiate action in the resolution of drainage problems. Instead, projects and programs of the County Drain Commissioner come in response to petitions signed by citizens or communities seeking the resolution of drainage problems. The Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner also serves on the Parks & Recreation Commission. The salary is $2,860 a year.

Three candidates are vying for the position of Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner. David Nachazel is running on the Democratic ticket against Clayton Healey on the Republican ticket.

A third man, Ronald Geer is running as a sticker candidate. Geer was defeated in the August primary by Healey.

Nachazel, 37, is a land surveyor and has lived in the area for 28 years. He attended Fullerton State and the Graduate Accounting School in San Diego, Calif.

Nachazel says it is important for the person that holds the drain commissioners office to have complete knowledge of the county's drain problems. He feels his experience as a surveyor qualifies him for the position.

Nachazel has worked for various engineering companies in California from 1959-66, studying and practicing land surveying. From 1966 to 1973, he worked for Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Company until moving to Lansing to work for a commercial contractor as field superintendent. He is presently employed by DeYoung Surveying of

Seven Townships Have Officer Races

By FRAN MARTIN

Votes on local issues in three of Charlevoix County's 15 townships and contests for township officers in seven of the 15 units can be counted on to bring out the voters in the forthcoming Nov. 2 General Election.

In St. James township on Beaver Island, the voters will be asked to renew a 4.0 mill tax levy to be used for operational purposes and a 2.0 mill levy for the airport for a five-year period. The present millage does not expire until 1977 but the township board is asking for its renewal at this time in order to save the expense of a special election according to Ms. Vivian Visscher, township clerk. Peaine township, the second township on the island, held its millage vote during the primary election. Both townships own and operate the island's airport.

In Evangeline township north of Boyne City, voters will be asked to renew a .5 (one-half) mill tax levy for fire prevention. Like the Beaver Island millage, it, too, expires in 1977 but is being held at this time to save the cost of a special election for this purpose. The .5 mill levy will be for five years to underwrite the cost of fire protection by the Boyne City Fire Department, according to Ms. Leslie Boe, township clerk, who plans to vacate the office at the end of this year.

The third local issue will be on the ballot in Melrose township at Walloon Lake where the voters are being asked for permission to utilize $6,000 in the township's Fire Protection fund to purchase a monitoring system for use by members of the township fire department according to Mrs. Mary Erb, township clerk. The proposal means the use of existing funds.

In the races for township offices, the contest between veteran incumbent supervisor, Lee Sneathen, Jr., a Democrat, and Ronald D. Stoneham, Sr., heads the lists in this area.

In Melrose township where the community of Walloon Lake is located, incumbent supervisor, Roger L. Srigley, is being opposed by Harry Griffin who is giving up his position as Commissioner of District 6 (Melrose and Chandler townships) to seek election as top officer in the township. Srigley, who has served the township for several years, is a Democrat. Griffin is a Republican. A second contest in the township has Jack J. Trarop (D) opposing Blake Kreple (R) for trustee.

In Hudson township, one of the most easterly townships, Ronald A. Czinski, incumbent supervisor and a Democrat, will be opposed by Alfred T. Webb, a Republican.

The fourth contest for supervisor where the incumbent, Harvey E. Crozier, Jr., a Democrat is being opposed by Robert Herrmann, Republican, is in Wilson Township.

There are also three contests for the offices of township clerk. Boyne Valley township where Boyne Falls is located has two contests for local offices, clerk and treasurer. In the first, Nancy Dunham, incumbent Democrat, will be opposed by Louise Magee for the office of township clerk. Joan Glem, a Democrat, and Meta Denise, a Republican, are candidates for the office of township treasurer being vacated by Josephine Wojiechowski who is not seeking re-election.

In Bay township where Paul H. Chamberlain was not a candidate for the office of township clerk, Betty T. Beyer (D) and Margaret E. Smith (R) are candidates for the vacancy.

In Evangeline township where Ms. Leslie Boe is not seeking re-election as township clerk, Linda J. Fry (D) and Elizabeth E. Houser (R) are seeking election to the office.

Voters in Norwood township will find a sticker candidate on their ballot. She is Mrs. Bertha Parsons who is a candidate for the office of township clerk

Mrs. Wasoski Opposes Rabach for Clerk Seat

County Clerk

The County Clerk is assigned a wide variety of tasks and, by law, is given an official position in several branches of county government. The Charlevoix County Clerk is presently serving as secretary to the County Board of Commissioners, members of the Board of Canvassers, member of the Board of Election Commissioners, member of the Special Elections Scheduling Committee, member of the County Tax Allocation Board, and member of the County Plat Board. The salary is $11,615 a year.

Incumbent Republican Clarence Rabach will meet Challenger Lois Wasoski in the race for Charlevoix County Clerk.

Mrs. Wasoski, 42, presently serves as the Charlevoix County Veterans Counselor. She has lived in this area for nine years and is seeking her first public office in this race.

She is a high school graduate and has had advance coursework in business administration and secretarial training.

Clarence Rabach

Rabach, 58, has been a county resident for 37 years and has served as county clerk for eight years.

The clerk enjoys public office and says his past experience in business dealing with the public and previous experience with the County Board of Supervisors qualifies him for the job.

He has also served as Charlevoix Township Supervisor from 1955-68, treasurer of the Northwest Michigan Economic Development Commission from 1967-73 and served on the Governor's Committee of Health Study.

Lois Wasoski

Mary Feindt Seeks Return As Surveyor

Running unopposed for the office of County Surveyor is Mary Feindt.

Mrs. Feindt, 60, is a registered land surveyor and title abstractor. She also holds a bachelor's degree from Albion College, a bachelor of science degree in Geodesy and Surveying from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in engineering from the University of Michigan.

All of these credits along with her experience qualify her for the position of county surveyor, Mrs. Feindt says. She has been county surveyor since 1942.

Mary Feindt

M. Waldner Challenges Geneit for Deeds Job

Register of Deeds

The office of Register of Deeds serves as a depository for land and property records and, in effect, serves to protect the integrity of land and property transactions and ownership. The main duty of the Register of Deeds is to record and file land titles and related documents that affect land and property (including some personal property) ownership. He also has several other duties related to recording property titles and other important papers, one of which is the collection of the property transfer tax. Another function is the operation of an obstracting office for the purpose of making and selling abstracts of title (the complete history of the ownership and reloted transactions of a parcel of land). The salary is $11,615 a year.

One of the youngest candidates running for office in Charlevoix County is Matthew Waldner, 20, who will face Republican Incumbent Grover Geneit in the Register of Deeds race.

Democrat Waldner, is a host and cashier at the Boyne Mountain Lodge and graduated from Boyne City High School. Young Waldner says he is qualified for the position because of past experience of being president of the high school student council and serving as representative to the council.

He also feels he could bring a fresh viewpoint to the office backed by a record of courtesy, accuracy, availability in school, the service and his present job.

Geneit, 59, has served as register of deeds for 23 years. He is a life-long county resident and a high school gruduate.

Grover Geneit

Geneit feels that his experience in the office makes him well qualified to continue holding his job. He had held no previous political position when elected to his current office.

Matthew Waldner

Anah Potter Unopposed For Treasurer's Position

County Treasurer

The County Treasurer is charged with the responsibdity to receive all county monies "from whatever source derived" but has little legally based discretionary authority regarding management of the runds. The Treasurer is instructed by law to make no payments of except on an order of the Board of Commissioners signed by the Clerk and the Board chairman. The Treasurer also is required by law to deposit funds only in banks designated by the Board of Commissioners. The Charlevoix County Treasurer is serving as a member of the Board of Election Commissioners, member of the County Tax Allocation Board, and member of the County Plat Board. The salary is $11,615 a year.

Anah Potter is unopposed in the election of Charlevoix County Treasurer.

Mrs. Potter, 52, is presently the county treasurer and has served in that position for 11 years.

She has attended business school and had 16 years experience in business before becoming treasurer. She has been a resident of this county for 32 years.

She would like to continue in her current position because she enjoys working with the public and she enjoys the treasurer's duties.

Anah Potter

Philip Ruppe

Francis Brouillette

Brouilette versus Rep. Ruppe, Again

U.S. Representative

The U.S. Rep. is elected from districts apportioned according to population. Must be at least 25 years old, a citizen of the United States for seven years, a resident of the state from which elected. Term: two years. Salary: $42,500 plus expenses allowances.

Squaring off for the battle over who will represent the 11th Congressional District in Washington, D.C. are Francis Brouillette, Democratic Challenger, and Philip Ruppe, Republican incumbent.

Ruppe and Brouillette are old foes havng run against each other two years ago.

Broudiette, 44, is an attorney and Prosecuting attorney for Dickinson County in the Upper Peninsula, where he has been a life-long resident. He graduated from Kingsford High School and Marquette University.

The candidate has said his 16 years as Prosecuting Attorney have given him the experience and understanding of local problems that qualify him for the position. He has expressed concern over the high unemployment rates in the area and other social problems which he feels Washington neglects.

He has served as Dickinson County Democratic Chairman from 1966-70, 11th Congressional District Treasurer, 1970-74, Dickinson County Prosecuting Attorney, 1960-76, and Iron Mountain City Attorney, 1958-60.

Ruppe, 49, has served as 11th District Congressman for 10 years. He is a lifetime resident of Houghton in the Upper Peninsula and hold's a bachelor of arts degree from Yale University.

The Congressman stands on his 10 years as a representative as his qualification for the job. He presently serves as ranking minority member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee and ranking member of the mines and Mining Subcommittee of the House Interior Committee.

The representative said if re-elected he would push for enactment of his Balanced Economic Development bill to help create new jobs in the region and increase investment in the area. He would also strive to maintain the environmental integrity of the area.

Drain

Charlevoix.

Healey, 60, is a life-long resident of the area and farmer.

He says he is qualified for the office because of his experience and involvement with the new Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control Act, which has led to an interest in county drainage problems.

Healey has served 28 years on the Charlevoix Soil and Water Conservation District Board.

Geer, 43, is the incumbent drain commissioner. He has lived in the county all his life and is a high school graduate with additional training in land use.

The sticker candidate stands on his three and one-half years experience as deputy drain commissioner and one term as commissioner as his qualifications for the position. He previously served on the Charlevoix Township zoning board and board of appeals.

First Bulb Burned 40 Hours

After more than a year of experimentation, a dim light finally glowed in Thomas Edison's Menlo Park (New Jersey) Laboratory on October 21, 1879. Beginning on that date, the world's first incandescent light bulb burned for some 40 hours with Edison and his staff an attentive audience. The laboratory where it all happened, as well as other structures from the Menlo Park Compound, are today among the historic buildings at Greenfield Village. In 1929, 50 years after the momentous event, Edison returned to the laboratory to re-enact his experiments for the Golden Jubilee of Light and dedication of the Village and adjacent Henry Ford Museum.

LOCAL REALTOR HONORED

Realtor Eugene S. Steele of Charlevoix, Michigan was honored as his local Board Realtor-of-the-Year as the Association's Fall Quarterly meetings.

This award was presented at a banquet in honor of the 35 local recipients, held at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn and was attended by over 400 Realtors and Realtor-Associates across the state. The award signifies outstanding accomplishments in educational achievements in the real estate field, exceptional business and community service as well as attendance at the local, state and national Realtor activities.

The 18,000 plus Realtor and Realtor-Associate members of the Michigan Association of Realtors pledge themselves, through a strict code of ethics, to protect the individual right of real estate ownership.

Hayes Won Position In August Primary

Prosecuting Attorney

The principal responsibility of the Prosecuting Attorney is to see to it that justice is done in regard to criminal activity. He authorizes and carries out legal proceedings against persons charged with violations of the law. He is the chief law enforcement officer of the county. Another major responsibility is to act as the lawyer or legal counsel for the County Board and agencies of County government. He is called upon to give legal opinions and interpret the law regarding a wide variety of legal questions raised by County Board members and County agencies including those of the County Road Commission. The Prosecuting Attorney is also responsible for participating in the appointment of people to fill vacancies in the other elected county offices -- Sheriff, Register of Deeds, and Treasurer, The salary is $22,000 a year.

Running for the position of Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney is Roy Hayes.

Hayes, 36, was appointed to fill the prosecuting attorney position created when Harvey Varnum retired. He has lived in the area nine months.

Unopposed in his bid for the position, Hayes did his undergraduate work at the University of Notre Dame and earned his juris doctorates degree at the University of Detroit.

He has had seven years experience as a fulltime assistant prosecuting attorney in Wayne County and has also served as director, Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force for five years, and Field Director for the American Bar Association Crime Control Project.

This experience has placed him in a position of facing almost every legal and judgmental position a prosecuting attorney deals with and has prepared him to hold the job, Hayes said.

Miss Herschede, Ed Swanson Married at Belevedere Casino

Arrangements of greens, mum plants and lighted candelabra banked before the fireplace at the Belvedere Casino formed the setting Saturday for the wedding of Elizabeth Deborah Herschede and Edward Guy Swanson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Z. Herschede of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Swanson of Charlevoix.

Magistrate Marilyn Blauman officiated at the single ring service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. Aloysious Breeze, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the processional, "Trumpets Volentaire" and accompanied the soloist, Gail Powell, who sang "Follow Me", "Wedding Song" and "I Love You So".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she wore a white full length handknit gown made by Mrs Fritz Allard fashioned by Mrs. Fritz Allard fashioned with cap sleeves, scooped neckline and fitted bodice and accented with crocheted lace. Her cathedral length veil of handmade Belgium lace was brought from Belgium for her by her mother. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored dried flowers in fall shades in an Italian silver filigree holder passed down for four generations of brides.

Alison Herschede was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Holly Herschede of Columbus, Ohio, sister of the bride, Nancy Dyksterhouse, Evelyn Peters, Jean Swanson, sister of the bridegroom, all of Charlevoix and Mrs. Thomas Davis of Grand Rapids, sister of the bridegroom. Each bridesmaid made her gown, a velvet skirt and qiana knit blouse. Two wore gold skirts and yellow blouses, two olive green skirts and light green blouses, two burgundy skirts and peach blouses and one a brown skirt and beige blouse. They carried baskets of dried flowers in multi-colored fall shades.

Christine Davis of Grand Rapids, niece of the bridegroom, wearing a brown skirt and beige blouse was flower girl. She carried a basket of dried flowers similar to the attendants. Adam and Hanz Wegner of Grand Rapids, nephews of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Fritz Allard assisted the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Joseph Powell and Larry Swanson, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Charlevoix, Clayton Walker of Arlington Heights, Ill., Quinton Walker of Fort Campbell, Ky., Thomas Davis of Grand Rapids, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joseph Etienne of Hemlock.

Mrs. Herschede chose an oliva green and coral print chiffon gown for her doughter's wedding. Mrs. Swanson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a turquoise polyester gown and chiffon cape.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed at the Belvedere Casino with music for dancing by the Larry Wojcik band. Joni Herschede, aunt of the bride, and Lorrain Warner cut the cake and Virginia Marme tended the guest book.

After a wedding trip to the Turks and Caicos Islands in the Caribbean, the couple will be at home at Route 1, Charlevoix, in three weeks.

The bridegroom is employed at Freedman Artcraft.

Wedding guests were present from Ohio, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, Iowa, Wisconsin and many Michigan cities.

A rehearsal dinner at the American Legion Post Home Friday evening was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Swanson.

Mary Browe Weds Alfred Corp Here

Mary Browe and Alfred J. Corp exchanged their wedding vows at a double ring ceremony solemnized at St. Mary's church Saturday afternoon, Oct. 16.

Arrangements of varigated mums graced the altar for the service at which the Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated in the presence of 125 guests.

Mrs. Kathleen Sluyter, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Browe and Mrs. Jane Corp.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of white polyester satin for her wedding. Fashioned with an empire bodice, the gown featured a high neckline and long sleeves. It was worn with a hooded lace cape bound with satin that terminated in a chapel length train. Her bridal bouquet was of white daisy mums and red roses.

Mrs. Stanley F. Smith was matron of honor and Mrs. Daniel Lester, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Borths, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore identical empire gowns of mint green polyester satin and matching picture hats. Each carried a single red rose tied with matching ribbon.

Melissa Browe, wearing a similar mint green gown and carrying a basket of mums, was flower girl. Jeffrey Smith was ringbearer.

Clayton Sarasin assisted the bridegroom as best man. Daniel Lester and Robert Borths were groomsmen and Raymond Browe, brother of the bride, and Randy Lanterman seated the guests.

Mrs. Browe selected a winter white gown and matching lace jacket for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Corp, mother of the bridegroom, wore a deep blue gown.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the V.F.W. Post Home.

After a wedding trip to the Upper Peninsula, the couple will make their home at 407½ E. Dixon ave.

Wedding guests were present from several Michigan cities and Wisconsin.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Smith Friday evening.

Engaged

Bell-Bearss

Linda Bell

Mr. and Mrs. Manley J. Bell of New Lothrop have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda R., to Steven J. Bearss of Charlevoix.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Bearss of Charlevoix.

Both the bride-elect and her fiance are second year students at John Wesley College in Owosso.

The wedding will be an event of Dec. 4 in New Lothrop.

Historical Society to Discuss Barnard at Next Meeting

The community of Barnard will be the subject of the next meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society, to be held Tuesday, November 2, in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

A panel of local historians is gathering data on this rural area southwest of Charlevoix which was settled by farmers mainly of English ancestry.

At the turn of the century, the Barnard community had a church, school, post office and Grange Hall. Today, only the Methodist Church remains with an active congregation.

All who are interested in the history of this area are invited to attend the meeting. Reminiscences of historical interest by those present will be especially welcomed.

Vet Income Card Must Be Returned by New Year

Veterans checks arriving Nov. 1 will contain something a little extra.

Lois Wasoski, Charlevoix County Veterans Counselor, said all veterans, widows, dependent children and dependent parents will receive an income questionnaire card with their checks next month. These cards must be completed and returned before Jan. 1 or the checks will be discontinued.

Anyone with questions about the card should contact Mrs. Wasoski on Mondays or Tuesdays at 547-9365.

125 Senior Citizens Enjoy Dinner-Dance

The Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226 and the Charlevoix V.F.W. post No. 1153 honored Charlevoix's Senior Citizens Thursday at a social hour, dinner and dance at the American Legion Home. Attending were more than 125 Senior Citizens and approximately 40 members of the veterans groups.

Following the dinner, the guests and their hosts danced to the music of Ike Parsons one-man band.

James Willis, Jr., welcomed the guests and spoke briefly before introducing Joseph Kortan who represented the V.F.W. post and those who prepared the dinner, Benjamin Gill, Norman Ramsdale, Robert Muma and Harvey Cole. Other members of the veteran's groups and their auxiliaries served the dinner.

Prizes were awarded to the oldest senior citizens present. They were Frank Supernaw and Mrs. George Priest.

Dental Health Program Slated at Elementary

Charlevoix Elementary School children may soon have brighter, healthier teeth thanks to the Charlevoix Lions Club and dedicated area dentists and elementary school teachers.

At the urging of Dentist Dr. Dave Strawbridge, the Lions Club has agreed to fund a Dental Health Care Program designed for all of the elementary school children. Dr. Strawbridge had set up a pilot dental health program for first graders last year with federal funds, but the funds have run out.

"Through the program we will instruct all of the children in the proper use of the toothbrush and dental floss," Strawbridge said explaining the program.

"We have made great strides in the area of preventive denistry," he continued. "And we feel that if we can explain to the children how to brush properly and develop oral hygiene as a habit that we can dramatically reduce the incidence of dental disease."

The dentist said the program will involve mostly teachers and parents as instructors.

"We don't want to interrupt the routine in the classroom," he explained. "Sure it's great when an outsider such as a dentist comes into the classroom, but we have found that the children don't learn as much as they would from their teacher."

Strawbridge said special workshops would be held to instruct the teachers and parent aides on the proper methods of brushing and using dental floss so that they can teach the children.

Each child will be provided with a toothbrush, dental floss, a mirror and disclosing tablets, which will show them the areas of their teeth they mibht be missing as they brush.

The first week of the program will be spent teaching the children how to brush their teeth and the second week will be spent teaching them how to use dental floss. The rest of the three-month program will be spent practicing the techniques, Strawbridge said.

Char-Em Offering Class In Parent-Child Relations

It's hard to be a parent. And somedays it seems like nothing you can say to your children will sink in.

To help parents develop a more effective interaction with their children, Gerry Brindel, school social worker, and Mike Brunett, school psychologist with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, are offering "I Care" Parent Group classes.

The four, two-hour Monday night sessions, beginning Nov. 1, cover the techniques parents can use to improve communications and discuss how to foster a good relationship with children, Brindel said.

A variety of materials are used in the course, which involves lectures, role playing and video tape presentations. The textbook for the class is the Parent Effectiveness Training (PET) handbook.

The course is open to anyone interested in improving his or her relationship with children. For more information contact 547-9947.

77 Youth Complete Course in Hunter Safety Arts

Seventy-seven prospective young nimrods completed the Hunters Safety course offered recently by the Charlevoix Police Department.

The students ranged in age from 11 to 16 years.

The course is a concentrated one that includes safe handling of a firearm, first aid, survival if lost, hunter courtesy, obligation to the land owner, how license funds are utilized and a brief history of firearms.

Enrollment and completion of the course is necessary before the student can obtain a license. A youngster may obtain a hunting license at the age of 12 years but must be accompanied by an adult until he or she is 17 years of age.

The course was taught by Robert Tripp of the Charlevoix Police Department. Chief of Police Jack R. Mol was also present at the classes which were offered in three sessions.

Time Change Set for Sun

Did you ever wish there were more hours in the day?

Well, Sunday you'll get your wish as Michigan residents turn back the clock one hour in a mass switch from Daylight Saving to Eastern Standard Time. The switch will take place at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Michigan voters decided to continue on a pattern of switching back and forth between times because of the safety hazards year around Daylight Savings Time creates in early morning hours for school children. However, because of the switch it is difficult to rememberr which way to turn the clock.

Readers are reminded of the phrase, "Fall back and spring forward."

AGE MEANS NOTHING if you like to dance and dance they did at the dinner and dance honoring Charlevoix's Senior Citizens hosted by the American Legion and the V.F.W. Thursday night.

Community Cabaret Sponsors Masquerade

Gypsies, goblins and ghosts will be invading Charlevoix Thursday night to participate in the Community Cabaret Masquerade Party at Bourke's Steak and Stein.

The cabaret will feature live entertainment with the rock group "Hot Sauce" from Boyne City playing from 9:30 p.m. until closing. Local talent will also be provided by Todd Kleppe and Terry Thompson, who will play accoustical guitars. The men are part of a group that is currently forming in Petoskey.

Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded during the cabaret, Camilla Cherry, area cabaret director, said. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bourke will judge the costumes. Prizes will be provided by WVOY, WJML and Bourke's Steak & Stein.

"The people who have been working to set up the cabaret are going all out on their costumes," Ms. Cherry said. "And we hope that everyone will join in the fun and wear a costume."

The masquerade party will be the second cabaret of the season. Ms. Cherry said Charlevoix cabarets will be held on Thursday evenings throughout the season.

"We had a great turnout at our first cabaret," the area director said. "I hope that we can continue to gain support from the community."

Ms. Cherry urges anyone with suggestions for live entertainment for the cabarets or with other ideas for improving the cabarets to contact her.

MSU Sponsors Workshop On Genetic Counseling

Genetic Counseling: Aid to Quality of Life is the theme of a one-day conference for professional nurses and nursing students which the Michigan State University School of Nursing will offer at the Chalet Inn in Gaylord on Friday, November 5.

The conference, designed especially for nurses in maternal and child care and community health settings, will deal with heredity and genetic abnormalities, diagnostic techniques and patient referral.

Presenters will be Mary Horan, assistant professor, MSU School of Nursing, and Professor James Higgins and Instructor Sharon Koehler, both of the MSU Department of Human Development.

The program will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m.

Loan Rates Set For 1977 Crops

The 1977 loan rates for wheat, feed grains and soybeans have been set by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The rates are also immediately applicable to the 1976 crops.

The national average loan rate per bushel has been raised from $1.50 to $2.25 for wheat and from $1.25 to $1.50 for corn. The soybean loan rate remained the same. Loan rates per bushel for other feed grains are increased proportionately based on the feed value of corn as follows: sorghum, $1.19 to $1.43; barley, $1.02 to $1.22; oats, 60 cents to 72 cents; rye, $1 to $1.20.

Farmers wishing to secure loans or adjust present loans at the new rates for 1976 wheat and feed grains can do so by going to their local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service or Agricultural Service Center office.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES OCTOBER 4, 1978 8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present; Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the September 20, 1976 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The Shade Tree Commission made their report that 200 trees were trimmed last year, and that 260 trees were planted along City streets and 500 trees were planted in the nursery for future plantings.

The Commission presented a budget of $9,000.00 for 1977 to be used for the maintenance of trees and an additional $9,600.00 for the acquisition of new oak trees to replace the ones which died last summer due to the severe dry conditions.

A Resolution designating a street administrator for the City was offered by Alderman Plumm and he moved for its adoption. The adoption was supported by Alderman Wallace.

RESOLUTION FOR DESIGNATION OF (STREET) ADMINISTRATOR

WHEREAS, Section 13 (e) of Act 51, Public Acts of 1951 provides that each incorporated city and village to which funds are returned under the provisions of this section, that "the responsibility for all street improvement, maintenance and traffic operation work shall be coordinated by a single administrator to be designated by the governing body who shall be responsible for and shall represent the municipality in all transactions with the State Highway Commission pursuant to the provisions of this Act."

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that this Honorable body designate Charles Pease as the single (Street) administrator for the City of Charlevoix in all transactions with the State Highway Commission as provided in Section 13 of the Act.

The Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

A Resolution disapproving a new entertainment permit along with a dance permit for the Grey Gables Inn was offered for its adoption and moved for its disapproval by Alderman Wallace. Motion was supported by Alderman Plumm.

RESOLUTION

THAT the request from David R. Phillips for a new Entertainment Permit to be held in conjunction with 1976 12 Months Resort E-Hotel licensed business with Dance Permit, located at 308 Belvedere Avenue, Charlevoix, Michigan, Charlevoix County be considered for DISAPPROVAL.

It is the consensus of this legislative body that the application be not recommended for issuance.

The Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Ordinance No. 366 was offered by Alderman Plumm and moved for its adoption, Motion was supported by Alderman Wood.

ORDINANCE NO. 366

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

That the compensation for the offices of City Clerk and City Treasurer, effective upon commencement of term of office on the second Monday of April, 1977, be as follows;

City Clerk $10,711.00 per year
150.00 per year
plus $7.50 for attending 26 council meetings
City Treasurer $9,732.00 per year

IT IS FURTHER ORDAINED that the compensation for Mayor and Members of City Council established by council Resolution of April 5, 1978, be and the same hereby is ratified and confirmed.

The Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Council discussed the installation of a jet fuel tank and pump for the airport, to be installed by Rennie Oil Company at no cost to the City.

The Council discussed blacking out the back side of the lights along the channel to prevent shining in windows of the houses on Pine River Lane, approval is to be requested from the Corps of Engineers.

A Resolution was offered by Alderman Wood and moved for its adoption.

Motion was supported by Alderman Wallace.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the City of Charlevoix that we construct a taxiway from the new hangar to the end of runway 26.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix accept the low bid from Manthei Development Company of $4,537.00 to strip, level, grade and gravel 8" deep and compact same.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the taxiway be 50 feet wide and 910 feet in length running from the new hangar and at the east end of runway 26.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the funds are to come from the Airport Capital Improvement Fund.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: Alderman Whitley. Absent: None.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wallace and supported by Alderman Erber that an advisory vote on the Bells Bay Road control not be on the ballot in November. In as much as the question effects property outside the City and the vote would amount to campaigning in a polling place according to the State Election Commission. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $173,291.47 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Morris that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Whitley, Erber, Wallace, Plumm, and Wood. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned.

Cowboys Sweep Junior, Senior League Titles

By FRAN MARTIN

It was a lucky week for the Cowboys in the Flag football league at Charlevoix as the Cowboys of the Senior league defeated the Patriots by a score of 26-6 ta take the league title.

At the same time, the Cowboys of the Junior league edged the Rams 12-0 to win the Junior league title.

In other games Saturday which marked the end of the season the Rams defeated the Bucaneers 20-7 and the Bears edged the Vikings 14-13 in the Senior league and the Steelers and the Dolphins played to a 7-7 tie in the Junior league.

Cowboys 26 Patriots 6

- Tied with a 4-4 record until Saturday's game, the Cowboys swamped the Patriots by a 26-6 score to take the title.

Jeff Daylong passed 15 yards to Ross Carey in the first period and 10 yards to Todd Daylong in the first period; handed off to Keith Comer who went one yard to score and passed 33 yards to Mike Zednicek in the third period to roll up the winning margin. Todd Daylong and Jeff Daylong scored one conversion each.

The Patriots' single TD was a 40 yard kick off return by Craig Klooster in the first period.

Rams 20 Bucaneers 7

Two pass-plays and a pass interception gave the Rams their decisive win over the Bucs after a scoreless first period. Gary Drury found the range in the second period and passed 15 yards to Todd Edger for the first scoring play and, as the second half got underway, pitched the ball 20 yards to Bill Herriman for the TD.

A pass interception by Mark Beaudoin who romped eight yards to score concluded the scoring. Drury and Edger each scored conversion points.

Bears 14 Vikings 13

A safety in the first period by Tim Louiselle turned out to be the victory margin far the Bears as they edged the Vikings by one point.

The Vikings gat on the board in the second period on a 15 yard pass play from Steve Bellows tu Batdorff only to have the Bears counter with a 33 yard pass play from Mark Morgan to Louiselle later in the period.

As the second half got underway, Morgan scored from one yard out to give the Bears a 14-6 lead. The Vikings, however, battled back with a pass interception by Jeff Greene who rambled 30 yards to score. Bellows added the conversion point as the game ended 14-13.

Cawboys 12 Rams 0

The Cowboys shut out the Rams by a score of 12-0 to take the Junior League title after Tim LaBlance scored twice on runs and two yards, respectively, in the second and fourth periods.

Dolphins 7 Steelers 7

It was a defensive game all the way as the Dolphins and the Steelers battled to a 7-7 tie with both TD's coming in the final period.

The Steelers got on the board first with a twa yard plunge by Chris Putman with Thad Morgan scoring the conversion point.

With 14 seconds remaining, the Dolphins blocked a Steeler punt and Dave Milligan fell on the ball in the end zone for the team's single TD. Milligan then scored the conversion at the final gun to knot the score.

As the season closed out, Dwight Boss, city recreation director, expressed his appreciation to the coaches of both league and the referees, Charlie Taylor, Jim O'Neill and Curt Thompson for their part in making the program a success. The coaches are Jiggs Whitley and Paul Parrish of the Dolphins, Dwight Detraz of the Cowboys, Dan Wells and Jay Stevens of the Steelers and Scott Swanson and Mitch Martin of the Rams in the Junior league and Doug Hawley and Don Potter of the Rams, Don Trimper of the Patriots, Curt Ayres of the Cowboys, Ed Buday and Frank Muma of the Vikings, Tom Louiselle and Charlie Morris of the Bears and Dennis Youngdyke of the Bucs in the Senior league.

Without the efforts of these people there would not have been a flag football program Boss said in conclusion.

THE COWBOYS of the Senior league wrapped up the 1976 flag football title in the final game of the season with a 26-6 over the Patriots. The championship team roster follows: front row (l to 4) Keith Comer, Jim Boggs, Brian Carson, Bob Bourke, Scott Kelly, Todd Daylong. Back row: Eric Daylong, Paul Hoffman, Jeff Daylong, Mike Zednicek, Ross Carey, Jim Buchanan, Brenden Raney. Kurt Ayers is the team coach.

Drenth 1st at Conference

Wally Drenth, Charlevoix Rayder harrier, took top individual honors in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference Cross Country meet at Petoskey last week.

His team, however, came in second behind the Petoskey Northmen who repeated as league champions. The Northmen had 42 points to win the meet; Charlevoix had 49; St. Ignace, 64; Gaylord, 95; Boyne City, 100 and Grayling, 158.

Drenth, who had set a new course record at Petoskey three weeks ago, trimmed 28 seconds from the record set at that time to cover the course in 16:07. His former record was 18:35.

Team-mate Mark Russell came in fourth with a time of 16:47, followed by Jeff Drenth who came in 11th; Ron Hilton, 14th; Nate Klooster, 19th; Gene Morrison, 29th and Brad Snizik, 38th.

In the JV meet held in conjunction with the conference event, Charlevoix's Mike Crowder, a freshman, took individual honors with a time of 19:05. Charlevoix finished third.

The top 10 finishers in the league meet named to the Michigan-Huron Shores All Conference team. Drenth, with his record time, thus became a member of the team.

Charlevoix Golfers Lead Adrian to Victory

Two Charlevoix golfers have helped lead the Adrian College golf team to a 4 and 2 record.

Brothers Randy and Chuck Faust chipped in to help the Bulldog linkers with average season scores of 79 and 81 that brought the team victory over Calvin, Hope, Olivet and Kalamazoo colleges.

The 1976 team record is much improved over last year's 2 and 4 record. Coach Tony Riehl attributes the improvement to team dedication and good weather which has allowed the team to practice every day.

Randy is a junior elementary education major and Chuck is a sophomore business major at Adrian College.

Other leading golfers on the team include: Ted Durdel who averaged 75 strokes per meet and Team Captain Jim Coison had an 80-shot average.

Young Harriers Place Well At Invitational

The Charlevoix entries in the Petoskey Invitational Frosh-Soph Cross Country meet held recently at Petoskey placed sixth among 12 schools entered.

Charlevoix's Mark Russell placed third behind entries from Traverse City and Petoskey. Jeff Drenth came in eighth.

Other members of the six-man team were Steve Mielke, Ed Engstrom, Lee DeMitchell and Mike Crowder.

Coach Pete Spieles said that nine of the 12 entries had teams in the meet. The others had individual entires.

Rayders Down Ramblers, Move into 1st Place

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

BOYNE CITY - The Charlevoix Rayders, stymied on the ground, used the pass to white-wash the Boyne City Ramblers Friday night, 22-0.

The win, coupled with the loss by Cheboygan to St. Ignace, moved the Rayders into a first place tie in the Michigan Huron Shores Conference. Charlevoix, Cheboygan, St. Ignace and Petoskey all have identical 3-1 conference records. The Rayders are 4 and 2 on the season.

The Rayders started the game against the Ramblers much as they did in their last two outings, with Ed Mann reeling off large chucks of yardage. Unlike the other games, the Rayders did not score on their initial possession as the Rambler defense stiffened forcing a punt.

Coach Don Carey started the same defense that has limited opponents to 4.3 points per game. The front four were Barry Potter, Gary Probert, Chris Cinnamon and Thomas Jones. The linebackers and defensive back field consisted of Scott Boss, Matt Doan, Bud Klooster, Pat Klooster, Joe Left and Brian Williams.

Rombler coach Paul Pfahler started Tom Jodway at quarterback, and backs Bill Seals, Scrappy Moore and Tom Dressel. Moore, the regular quarterback, was still smarting from injuries suffered in the Ramblers last two games.

The Ramblers, receiving Bud Kloosters punt on their 23, moved the ball out to near the mid-field stripe on runs by Scrappy Moore and a pass from Jodway to Tom Beyer. The drive fizzled at that point and Moore punted into the Rayder end zone as Jim Elzinga let the ball roll.

The Rayders took over on their own 20 and moved out to the 50 behind the running of Ed Mann and a penalty on the Ramblers. Mann, veering over his right tackle, ripped off 25 yards to the Rambler 25 where Pat Anzell knocked him out of bounds.

Brian Williams arched a pass to Mann who got to the 10. A face mask penalty against Boyne City moved the ball half the distance to the goal line. Two plays gained nothing as the first quarter ended with the Rayders on the five-yard line.

The Rayders scored on the first play of the second quarter as Williams hit Mott Doan in the corner of the end zone a six-yard passing touchdown.

The Ramblers were charged with offsides on the point conversion and Coach Carey decided to go for the two point conversion. Mann got the two points on a run and Charlevoix led 8-0.

Neither team was able to sustain any scoring drives during the rest of the first half. Scott Boss stopped one Rambler drive late in the half as he intercepted a Jodway pass near midfield.

The Ramblers received the second half kick off and were able to move out to midfield before a holding penalty moved them back to their own 35.

Pat Klooster then intercepted a Jodway pass at the Rambler 45 and rambled down the sideline into the endzone for a touchdown. Again, Charlevoix went for the two point conversion with Mann running over his left tackle. Charlevoix's 16th point came with 3:18 gone in the third quarter.

Boyne City's break of the ball game came in the third quarter when Tom Beyer intercepted a Williams pass on the Rayder 45. Mann stopped the 6'5" senior on the 30.

A personal foul against the Rayders moved the ball down to the 15, the closest the Ramblers were to come to the Rayder goal line.

The chilly weather started to take its toll on cold hands as Jodway fumbled the pass from center and Tom Jones recovered on the 27.

Whether the next Rayder series was a reward for recovering the fumble or a preview of next year is difficult to tell. But Tom Jones moved into the Rayder backfield for two plays. On the one play he carried, he failed to gain any yardage, but some lineman felt his 230 pounds as Jones charged into the line.

Early in the fourth quarter, The Ramblers ran out of downs on the Rayder 29. The passing of Williams and the running of Mann and Guy Carter moved the Rayders down inside the Rambler 40. Tom Beyer killed this drive as he picked off his second interception of the day on his own 18.

Later in tho qunrter, Matt Doan returned the favor and intercepted Jodway's pass at midfield. Carter got a first down as he ran to the 16 with less than a minute remaining in the game.

At this point, Coach Carey started to pull his starters. Jim Alger moved into the quarterback slot and Grey Loper moved into the center position. Carter struggled to the seven as the scoreboard clock ticked down to 28 seconds.

Doan, who played an outstanding game on both defense and offense, then beat his man as Alger lofted a soft pass into the end zone for Charlevoix's final points. The attempt for the extra point was no good as the Rayders were charged with an off side.

The final few seconds of the game were spent at midfield as Jodway's final pass fell incomplete.

Jones, who should be a definite selection for all conference honors, received a standing ovation from the visiting Rayder fans as Mike Whitley replaced him in the final stages of the game.

Next week, the Rayders will take on Petoskey and the final game of the season will be against Gaylord at Gaylord.

Down Boyne City, Lose to Petoskey

Girls Split With Boyne City, Petoskey

The Charlevoix Girls basketball team split its games for the week, defeating Boyne City 50-32 in a game played on the Rambler floor Thursday and losing to Petoskey by a score of 42-30 earlier in the week.

This week will see Charlevoix at Cheboygan Tuesday, Petoskey here on Thursday and Charlevoix at St. Ignace on Nov. 2.

In the game at Boyne City, Charlevoix jumped to a 14-5 first period lead and continued to lead 27-13 at halftime and 37-20 at the three-quarter mark before coasting to victory with the entire team seeing action.

Maurene Cudd accounted for 14 and Kay Curey for 13 of the team's points. Laurie Gunderson had seven for Boyne City.

The Charlevoix JV squad came through with a 37-30 win. After an 8-8 first period tie, Charlevoix pulled away for a 20-10 halftime lead which was increased to 28-14 going into the final quarter Chris Lehman had 12 and Lisa Flower 10 points for the victors. Penny Grenow had 14 for Boyne City.

Charlevoix didn't fare as well at Petoskey where they trailed 16-7, 24-17 and 33-27 by quarters before dropping tthe game. Curry had eight points for Charlevoix. Russell had 16 for Petoskey.

The Petoskey JV's also won over Charlevoix by a score of 25-21. Petoskey led 10-4; 17-6 and 21-12 by quarters before taking the game. Jackie Paul of Charlevoix and Mary Titcombe of Petoskey shared scoring honors with 13 points each.

Allow No Rushing or Passing First Downs

JV Shuts Out Junior Ramblers

The Charlevoix JV football team will be defending its 5-0-1 standing when they travel to Petoskey Thursday to take on the young Petoskey Northmen.

In action at Boyne City Thursday, the young Rayders, coached by Hal Evans, defeated the Boyne City JV squad by a score of 14-0

Played on a cold, windy night with rain or snow falling most of the time, the game was a strong defensive battle for the Rayders who allowed the young Ramblers no first downs on passing or rushing. Boyne City had only three first downs in the game, all on penolties.

In the second period, Charlevoix got on the score board with a six-yard scamper by Kevin Kratt following a 60-yard drive that saw yardage ground out with rushing gains of four or five yards.

Kratt repeated early in the final period on a 20- yard run following an 80-yard march.

Boyne City offered no serious threat throughout the game.

Local Man to Ref North-South Game

When the North-South football game is played at the Pontiac stadium on Dec. 18, fans will see a familiar official among those wearing the familiar black and white striped shirts.

He will be Ron Winter, a former Kalkaska athlete who is now on the faculty at Western Michigan University and who was named as a Big Ten official earlier this year. The North-South game, being played in the north for the first time, is one of his first major assignments.

Winter was graduoted from the Kalkaska high school in 1964 and from Michigan State University in 1969. He received his Master's degree a year later and joined the faculty at Western Michigan University where he organized th Intramural program. He is presently Assistant Professor in the Physical Education Department.

Officiating is nothing new to Winter who has been serving in this capacity at the high school level since entering college and, more recently, in the Mid-American Conference.

Winter is married to the former Barbara Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence tt. Smith. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Winter of Kalkaska.

LEGAL NOTICE OF ABSOLUTE ABANDONMENT AND DISCONTINUANCE OF A PORTION OF THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HIGHWAY KNOWN AS "REDDING ROAD"

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at a meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, held on the 13th day of October, 1976, the following Resolution absolutely abandoning and discontinuing a portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as "Redding Road" was duly made, seconded and adopted, said Resolution being as follows:

WHEREAS, a Petition has been filed with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, Michigan, asking for the absolute abandonment and discontinuance of the following portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known and described as Redding Road, situate and being in the Township of Peaine, Charlevoix County, Michigan, having a centerline described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point on the East-West ¼ line of Section 8, T. 38N., R. 10W., said point being 430 feet West of the Center ¼ post of said Section 8; thence Southerly and Southwesterly to a point on the west line of said Section 8, said point being 425 feet north of the Southwest corner of said Section 8; and

WHEREAS, an adequate alternative route is available to the traveling public; and

WHEREAS, after full hearing thereon, and this Board being fully advised in the premises, this Board has determined that it is advisable to absolutely abandon and discontinue the said part of said road as herein described for the purposes set forth in said Petition and for the best interest of the public,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, that the portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as Redding Road, as herein described, be abandoned and discontinued as of October 13, 1976, as a county road, and cease to be part of the county road system, and that said Board determines it to be the best interest of the public that said highway so abandoned and discontinued should be, the same in hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued;

That the notice of this determination be given by the Clerk of the Commission to the proper highway authorities and the Peaine Township officials and be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in said county, once each week for three consecutive weeks.

That pursuant of the provisions of Act 46 of Public Acts of 1963, as amended, being M.S.A. 9.118, this portion of the county road shall be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a county road.

Dated: October 13, 1976

his bid by Incumbent Clyde Cunningham.

Peters said he was resigning from the CIS before the election so that people could not accuse him of resigning because of the outcome of the Proposal B vote. Peters said he was confident that Proposal B would pass, however.

Peters' resignation cuts the membership of the CIS by about 33 percent and leaves Co-chairman Karl Waldner with total responsibility for running the organization.

"His (Peters) decision to resign was a personal one that he made," Waldner said in commenting about the resignation.

In a new release about his resignation Peters listed several accomplishments of the CIS under this co-chairmanship including: defeat of county-wide zoning in 1974, stopping the Indian Memorial National Park in the Fisherman Island area, and stopping an illegal special election

Obituary

Nina Reynolds

Funeral services for Mrs. Nina E. Reynolds, 94, who died Wednesday at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient since January 1968, were held Friday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

The former Nina E. MacNeill was born in Charlevoix July 1, 1882. She was married to Olin Reynolds at Charlevoix in 1907. Mr. Reynolds died in 1918 during the flu epidemic of World War I. She was a member of the United Methodist church.

Surviving are a son, Keith, of Charlevoix; four grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Leone Herron of Dretoit.

LAURA MILLER

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura A. Miller, 85, who died Saturday at Little Traverse Hospital where she had been a patient for 16 days, were held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Raymond H. Giffin officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix July 14, 1891, the former Laura Ann Bassett was married to Miley Miller Dec. 21, 1910. They always resided here except for a brief time spent in Northport. Mr. Miller preceded her in death in 1949.

She is survived by three sons, Robert D., David H. and Willis J., all of Charlevoix; four daughters, Mrs. Helen Pintarich, Mrs. Oscar (Dorothy) Ward, Mrs. Virginia Nendorf and Mrs. Marilyn Duplessis, also of Charlevoix; seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Maurine Hagel

News of the death of a former resident, Mrs. Lee (Maurine) Hagel, 79, in Houston, Tex., on Oct. 10 has been received by friends here.

Funeral services were held at Houston. Interment was at the Pence Temple at Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Hagel resided here in the early 1940's when her husbnad, the late Rev. Lee Hagel, was pastor at the First Methodist church. In recent years she had lived in Houston with her daughter, Mrs. Eddis Lalty. She is also survived by a second daughter, Eileen.

Harrier Rank Changed by Rules

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team has been given second place instead of third in the Elk Rapids Invitational last Thursday.

However, Coach Pete Spieles was informed Monday that a check of the rules gave Charlevoix second place. He explained that the official drops to the fifth man and retallies the points.

LET FAITH INSURE THE WISE SELECTION OF OUR LEADERS

One of the most precious rights inherent in our God-given heritage of freedom is the election of our officers whose job it will be to guide our destinies for another prescribed period of our history; taking into account our social and economic problems within as well as the turbulent world developments without. We must decide the entire direction in which we will move, and this requires a great deal of study, reflection and willingness to listen impartially to both sides, to inform ourselves of the issues involved & to divest ourselves of all prejudice and preconceived ideas. Your attendance at the Church of your choice can be of great help at this crucial moment of decision; giving you the wisdom, patience and impartiality that are so essential for the task.

> "When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn." — Proverbs 29:2

> If liberty and equality...are chiefly to be found in democracy, they will be best attained when all persons alike share in the government to the utmost. — Aristotle

Lasater Soundly Defeats Sumner

Rabach Wins, Geneit Leads, Healey Wins

Charlevoix County residents have elected a new sheriff.

Republican Nominee George Lasater soundly defeated Incumbent Sheriff Philo Sumner in the hotly contested race. Sumner's hopes for a write-in victory dimmed as vote totals showed a clear win for Lasater.

Lasater is currently the chief probation officer for the 90th District Court. Sumner has served as county sheriff for 10 years and has worked in law enforcement for 27 years.

Vote totals were not complete at press time due to the large voter turn out, the large number of issues and the large number of races. However, in other county officer races, Clarence Rabach held the lead over Lois Wasoski for the County Clerk's office; Grover Geneit had a definite lead over Matthew Waldner in the race for County Register of Deeds; and Republican Nominee Clayton Healey held the lead over Incumbent Ron Geer in the County Drain Commissioner race.

Three other county offices were unopposed and the incumbents were re-elected. Anah Potter was returned to her position as County Treasurer; Mary Feindt was returned to the County Surveyor position and Roy Hayes will maintain his position as County Prosecuting Attorney.

In the county commission races locally Oscar Ward squeaked by Marianne Thomure. Incumbent Ward, commissioner for District 14, defeated Mrs. Thomure by a mere six votes. This race was the closest one in the county.

In other local races, John Haggard also narrowly defeated Leroy Haertter.

In other commission seat races, Incumbent Republican Delbert Ingalls defeated Democrat Robert Christensen in District 1; Incumbent Ralph Richardson defeated Democrat Challenger Karl Waldner in District 5; Oral Sutliff defeated Incumbent Rudolph Florenski in District 11; and Republican John Kujawski defeated James Goebel for the District 12 seat.

Other races were still undecided at press time.

Decisions on the county proposals at press time showed County Proposal A, which dealt with the 15-mill tax allocation limitation, as approved by the reporting townships and cities.

All of the townships and cities approved the measure, however, many were by narrow margins.

County Proposal B, which would have cut the total allocated millage by three mills to a total of 12 mills, was defeated by a wide margin by all the reporting townships and cities.

County Proposal C, which would have established a sinking fund for construction of an addition to the Grandvue Medical Care Facility, was leading by a narrow margin at press time.

And County Proposal D, which asked area voters if they would like to see a nuclear waste dump site established in the Northern Michigan area, was soundly defeated by the widest margin of the election. However, several hundred votes were cast approving the location of a dump site for nuclear wastes.

Refund Checks In the Mail to Consumers Users

By PAULA HOLMES

Checks ranging in amounts from 1 cent to $200,000 were in the mail Monday for Consumers Power Company customers.

The checks are part of a refund program ordered by an Ingham County Circuit Court judge following loss of an appeal by Consumers of a rate order issued by the State Public Service Commission in 1969.

Residential, commercial and industrial energy users who are listed in the company's records for 1970 and 1971 are eligible for a refund, Richard G. Dahlquist, area manager, said.

More than 985,000 checks were mailed to customers living at the same address they did during the two-year period. Applications for refunds have also been sent to current customers, who may have been living at another address during that period, Dahlquist said.

The company is also attempting to locate all customers who may have moved out of the state or who may have died who have refunds coming to them.

Dahlquist said customers or former customers or relatives of deceased customers who have not received a refund check by Nov. 8 should write to Consumers Power Company, Drawer D. Jackson, Mich. 49204, to request a refund application. Applications may also be picked up at any company office.

"When we're all done, we will have mailed out 2.5 million checks," Dahlqulst said.

"It took more than 46 billion, 800 million mathematical calculations with computers figure out all of the refunds," he continued. "We could have never done it if we didn't have the computer."

Dahlquist said checks should average between $10 and $15 for homeowners. However, he did think checks would be a little higher in the northern district because most of the customers were electricity users as opposed to gas and electricity users, which would have a lower heating cost.

The checks will include the refund plus interest. The money has been held in escrow since the appeal was filed, Dahlqusit said.

The area manager said an entire new department had been set up to get the refunds sent out and to process all of the applications for refunds. He estimated it would cost the company about $2 million. The cost is being borne by the stockholders and not the customers, Dahlquist said.

Council Working On City Manager

Charlevoix Common Council is still looking for a city administrator.

Mayor Ed Hansen said that he had contacted some of the applicants by phone to discuss the job with them by phone. However, no definite action has been taken.

Council did meet in executive session Monday night to discuss city administrator candidates.

Hansen said he could not know when a new administrator would be hired.

"I'm reluctant to give a day or time because we don't know what the candidates will say," the mayor explained. "I think we should wait until we have a written agreement before we say anything."

The council had planned on hiring one of the applicants for the job two weeks ago. However, the candidate turned down the offer. The second choice candidate also turned down the offer for the position.

Ruppe Re-elected, Ostling Wins Again

U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe was returned to his Congressional seat by the 11th District voters Monday night.

Charlevoix County voters, in their Republican tradition, gave Ruppe a clear victory over his Democratic foe Francis Brouillette. It was Brouillette's second try for the seat. The candidate did not fair as well during this election as in the 1974 election for the seat.

Ruppe will begin his sixth term in office as U.S. Representative. He has served 10 years in this capacity.

In other Legislative races, Incumbent Ralph Ostling defeated Dean Welch in his bid for the state 103rd District seat. Ostling will begin a third term in the seat.

Democratic Challenger Leona Stillwell gave Incumbent E. Dan Stevens a run for his money and at press time was trailing by only one vote.

Hockey, Ice Rink, Mt. McSauba Ski Area Occupy Common Council at Meeting

By PAULA HOLMES

The Charlevoix ice skating and hockey rinks may have a new, temporary location this winter.

The Charlevoix Common Council agreed to pursue negotiations with the school district to locate the rink on school property at the corner of May and Carpenter streets.

Alderman Joe Morris said the rinks would probably be located on the school property this year only while a site in the Mt. McSauba recreation area is prepared for next year.

The council has applied for Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds, but the funds will come from the 1977 budget of the organization and can not be used on city recreation projects this year. Council has applied for $17,500 from the bureau which will be matched with city funds and labor.

The council also discussed the operation of the Mt. McSauba Ski area for the coming season. Dwight "Ike" Boss, city recreation director told council he has had one student working on the area repairing the damage due to vandalism this summer.

Boss said he was still looking for a manager to run the hill during the winter.

Boss said he expected to expand the hours of operation of the ski area to all day Saturday and all evening, Sundays and at least two evenings a week. The recreation director also said the Charlevoix High School Ski Team has agreed to act as ski patrol and to man the observation booths this winter in exchange for use of the hill for practice and for meets.

Boss and Morris said they believed the ski hill could be run at a break even point this winter without increasing the rates.

Council also agreed to hold a public hearing Nov. 29 on a rezoning request from William Fochtman. Fochtman would like to rezone property at 111 Michigan St. from residential to commercial. The car dealer said the property would be used for the expansion of the Charlevoix Oil Company.

The car dealer said the property would be used for the expansion of the Charlevoix Oil Company. However, no building would be constructed on the property. It would be used for parking only and display of new and used cars.

In other business the council discussed setting a policy on the transfer to city electric service in unincorporated areas, but no action was taken.

Council also discussed retaining the wooden street signs. The aldermen had agreed earlier to participate in a state funded signing program in the city. Now they have decided to participate in the program except for the street marker portion of it.

The council is going to look into having the Bergmnnn Center maintain and construct the current wooden signs.

Council also paid $51,713.39 in bills.

Township Races Decided by Voters

By FRAN MARTIN

With the votes coming into Charlevoix County headquarters on election night, the county clerk's office, at a snail's pace only a few of the township results had been tallied at 3:30 a.m.

In Boyne Valley where there were two contests on the ballot, incumbent Nancy Dunham (D) was unseated by Louise Magee (R) for the office of township clerk by a vote of 253 to 177. A second Republican, Meta DeNise, won over Joan Giem (D) for the office of township treasurer. The margin was 260 to 156.

In Bay township, Margaret E. Smith (R) was elected to the office of township clerk by a vote of 148 to 138 over Betty T. Beyer (D) in the only contest on the township ballot. Ms. Smith will succeed Paul Chamberlain in the office. He was not a candidate for re-election.

In Wilson township, Harvey E. Crozier, Jr., (D) will continue as supervisor after defeating Republican contender, Robert Herrmann, 186 to 165.

Though there were three local issues on the ballot in three townships in Charlevoix county, the results of only one was available at 4 a.m. Wednesday.

This is the results of the election in St. James township where the voters approved a 4.0 mill levy for five years for operational purposes and a 2.0 mill levy for the same length of time to support the island airport.

The 4.0 mill issue was approved by a vote of 66 to 49 and the proposal to increase the tax limitation by 4.0 mills for five years by a vote of 67 to 50 votes.

City Manager

WHY do we have to go outside of the city to find a new city manager?

The City Council seems to feel that they should go outside of the city to hire a new city manager, why?, we have qualified persons right here in our own city that know the city like the back of their hand and understand the needs of the city be it electrical needs for a good back-up power system for the north side of town, a five township sewer extension program or update the present water system which is not adequate for our present day requirements, storm and sanitary sewer separation is to be done to meet requirements and there are many other needs for the city that an outsider does not have any idea of what is needed and would require a great deal of time and city money to learn.

The Council spent hundreds of dollars of the taxpayers money already to bring people here for interviews on food, lodging and transportation to and from many cities and towns throughout the country.

These things are just a few reasons that I think it is a bad thing to do when we have people right here, WHY???

Corps of Volunteers Set Up More Than 1,600 Conferences

By FRAN MARTIN

The first Parent-Teacher conferences of the 1976-77 school year are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 10-11-12. Appointments for the conferences, some 1,726, will be mailed to homes in the Charlevoix school district this week according to Roy M. Fortin, assistant high school principal, who is in charge of scheduling.

This includes 670 conferences in the K-5 school; 452 in the middle school and 604 in the high school.

Fortin said that efforts were made to honor the times and teachers parents asked to meet with. However, there were times when a second choice had to be substituted. Overall, however, he felt that most parents were able to see the teacher at the time they requested.

The conferences will be held from 6:30 -9:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 10 and 11 and from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 12. There will be no school on Friday because of the conferences.

He went on to say there were some people who will be receiving telephone calls because they were unable to attend conferences.

Fortin said the job of scheduling the appointments is no easy task and could not have been accomplished without a corps of volunteers headed by Fay Alger. A good many of these people have been working on scheduling since conferences were initiated and give their time and effort proceding each conference. "Without these volunteers, the conferences wouldn't be possible and would not operate as smoothly as they do." Fortin said in commending the volunteers for their services.

The list includes Cathy Krueger, Velma Powell, Doris Johnson, Carolyn Klooster, Pauline Young, Margaret Julliert, Ann Hanna, Pauline Austin, Janet Buchanan, Rita Dohm, Loretta Hodge, Eloise Klooster, Kate Smith, Ann Landon, Carole Novotny, Bonnie Kele, Pat Pence, Joyce Duke, Jackie Klooster.

Others were Judy Wins, Bev Boss, Marine Drenth, Ceil Doan, LaAnn McKimmy, Nancy Fowler, Jane Lieberman, Joan Buday, Phyllis Hilton, Bonnie Hicks, Elaine Avery, Ann Hufford, Ardeth Wieland, Kathy Tillen, Mary Ann Cudd.

All volunteers have children at some level in the schools, Fortin said.

DORIS JOHNSON sifts through a file box as she attempts to match up parents and teachers for their conferences, Cathy Krueger, Carolyn Klooster and Velma Powell sift through teacher's schedules for parent conferences.

Getting Vote Tally Results to People Complicated Task for Elections Officials

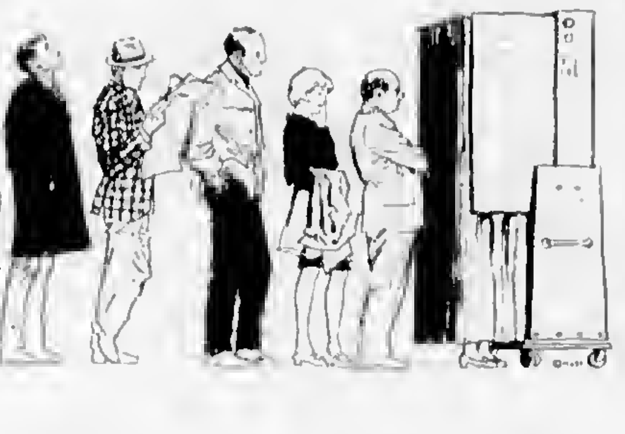
By PEG OIILE

It wasn't many hours after the polls closed last night before we knew the results of the presidential race. The miracles of computers and radio and television made that possible.

We all know that election news once traveled much more slowly, witness the stories of it arriving in the backwoods of early America by horseback two months after election day.

But there is at least one instance of the news traveling too fast – in 1948, when Thomas Dewey was pronounced the winner over Harry Truman. When all the results were in, Truman had won the race.

This morning we knew pretty well who had won all local, state, national and judicial races. However, before actual election results can be determined, every vote cast must be counted. That is the work of the men and women who make up the local election inspection boards. Most of them worked well into this morning's early hours before they were done.



After the polls closed last night at 8 p.m. they started tabulating the individual votes, either from paper ballots or voting machines, in several record books. One set of records stayed with the township or city clerk and two came to Charlevoix, one set for the County Clerk and one set for the Judge of Probate.

These records were turned over to the Board of County Canvassers, who, this afternoon, began going over them to check for accuracy and make sure all rules and regulations had been followed.

If and when discrepancies are found, the Board may summon the persons having ballot boxes and records to present them to the Board. The Board may open ballot boxes and take books or papers bearing on the court and returns of election inspectors. The Board may correct obvious mathematical errors made by inspectors.

Also, the Board may summon the inspectors before them and require them to count ballots they have failed to count, require them to correct reeturns when the Board judges, after examining the returns, poll book and tally sheet, the returns made appear to be incorrect or incomplete. If necessary, this may involve a physical examination of the ballots by the election inspectors.

Further, the Board may examine voting machines when it appears to them there is a discrepancy in the returns of any election district. The Board may open the counter compartment of the machine and re-canvass the vote cast thereon. Before making a re-canvass, the Board shall notify the clerk who has custody of the machine, in writing, of the time and place the re-canvass will be made.

The Board of Canvassers must complete its work within 14 days after the election. When it is finished it must be reported to the Secretary of State, within 24 hours.

Then, at the County level, the election returns are official.

County Commissioners Adopt 1977 Budget With Nine Percent Increase, Two Object

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Commissioners, at a special meeting held last Wednesday, approved the $1,598,660 budget for the county that was outlined in detail in the Oct. 27 issue of the Charlevoix Courier.

At the same meeting, the board approved the salary schedule for elective and appointive officers.

The budget in the amount of $1,598,660 represents an increase of 9.21 percent over the 1975 budget of $1,463,829 or $134,731. The budget was adopted by a vote of 12 ayes, two nays (Oscar Ward and Rudolph Florenski) with one member (Don Meggison) absent.

The salary schedule was adopted by the same margin, 12 ayes, two nays (Ward and Florenski) and one absent.

Prior to its adoption, Lee Moerland, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, went through the budget gor the benefit of the commissioners and the four people who attended the hearing, explaining each line item and the percentage of increase each represents.

Major source of revenue for the budget is property taxes in the amount of $877,835 which represents 54.91 percent of the total revenue. This, however, is down 3.5 percent from 1975, Moerland said. The total revenue is $1,598,660 and includes $235,300 in Revenue Sharing (Federal), $110,000 Revenue Sharing (State), $97,825 CETA reimbursements (Federal) and $48,250, Small Business Tax (State) among other sources.

Major increase came under the heading of Judicial where the increase was 38 percent. This was due to the increase from $21,662 to $31,290 in the Circuit Court and Court Reporter category; $66,040 from $54,904, District Court; $42,358 from $22,115, Friend of the Court, resulting from the re-organization of the office to make it more efficient; $38,431 from $29,436, and Probate Court. These increases were due mainly to increased work loads in all the courts, Moerland said.

The Welfare category showed a 24 percent increase due to a 14 percent increase in the Child Care costs ($40,000) because of the increased number of children being cared for by public funds; 14 percent in the amount allowed for Office of Service of the Aging ($7,984) and a 35 percent increase for the Social Services Fund ($95,000). Until now, this department has been utilizing funds that had built up over a period of years. However, at the close-out of the 1976 budget the reserve will be down to nothing so the increase was necessary, not so much because the expenses of the department have increased at a rapid pace but because all reserves are now gone.

The libraries section showed a 60 percent increase but this was because $1,000 was added for the law library. The total allocation is $3,050.

The Public Safety section showed an 8.65 percent increase but this was due to increased services and the section relating to advertising contingency, retirement, insurance, Ironton Ferry, Social Security and unemployment showed 9.64 increase due to increases in the costs of many of the line items such as insurance.

The legislative (Board of Commissioners) remained the same; general county government, 1.09 percent; health, 1.83 and recreation the same.

The salary schedule for elected and appointed officers showed a 5 percent increase. Fringe benefits, however, remain to be determined and will add to the overall increase.

The figures as approved show $2,561 as the county's share of the District Probate Judge's salary (Emmet county shares in this and the major portion is paid by the state); County Clerk, Treasurer and Register of Deeds and Abstractor, $12,200 each; Prosecutor, $23,100 (This will mark the second year the county has had a full-time prosecutor; Equalization director, $13,400; County planner, $15,200; Sheriff, $14,700; Under-sheriff, $13,650; Civil Defense director, $5,160 (60 percent of salary with the remainder being paid by Civil Defense); Building Code official, $11,860; Drain Commissioner, $3,050 (no fees).

Per diem and other fees remained the same as in the past and mileage at 15 cents per mile.

Board Approves $2.2 Million Budget Including 7.5% Increase for 1976-77

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education adopted a $2,206,704 budget at its annual budget meeting held Thursday at the high school study hall.

The proposed budget, as it was adopted, represents a 7.5 per cent increase over the 1975-76 audited budget of $2,039,300.

As it was being approved by the board of education, Supt. James A. McKimmy warned that the state, as it did last year, may not come through with its State Aid as anticipated. During the 1975-76 the state reniged on $42,000 due the school district. This is part of the $60,000 the district has lost in the past three years, McKimmy said.

In presenting the budget, McKimmy said it was compiled and approved with confidence that State Aid would be forthcoming. However, he said he had no assurance that the state would live up to its commitment.

Revenue to support the budget will come from a number of courses. Local sources will be made up mainly of property taxes or $1,884,697 which are by far, the major portion of the $1,911,589 in local revenue.

State sources will bring in $218,807. Of this amount, $32,400 will be for membership; $97,000 for transportation; $22,000, Type A Special Education; $6,000, court placed students; $2,500, Transportation Voc. Ed. and $24,000, Voc. Ed Added costs or a total of $183,900 as compared to $105,143, actual revenue. The latter amount would have been increased by $42,000 had the state met its obligation. Another $30,000 for Voc. Ed Disadvantaged plus $4,330 for driver education and $377 in Swamp Tax make up the total from state sources.

From Federal sources will come $8,018 (children of services families), $57,500 from CETA funds and $7,600 Title IV Indian Educatian which is earmarked for a specific purpose for a total of $71,118 and from incoming transfers, $5,200.

A breakdown of the expenditures shows that $419,889 is budgeted for instruction in the Elementary School compared to $404,684 last year; $345,521 ($346,152) Insturction, Middle School; $602,098 ($554,697), Instruction, High School; $58,537 ($46,521), Instruction, Special Education; $12,624 ($10,564), summer school; $3,831 ($5,819), adult education; $88,944 ($82,182), administration; $4,752 ($5,819), health services; $144,785 ($133,826), transportation; $282,719 ($249,509), plant operation and maintenance; $208,933 ($175,751), fixed charges; $21,087 ($15,428), capital outlay; $7,600 ($,736), Community services; $5,250 ($3,895), outgoing transfers.

Under transportation, one of the major issues is the amount allowed for the replacement of buses, $35,739, compared to $26,627 spent last year and gas, oil and grease, $20,500 budgeted, up from $17,151.

The cost of plant operation and maintenance is budgeted for $282,719 compared to $249,509. Major increases are in the costs of custodial salaries, $119,670 compared to $104,005 last year; $17,099 ($13,631), salary maintenance; heating fuel, $43,171 ($34,165); utilities; electric, $38,099 ($35,944); water and sewage, $4,000 ($3,223) and custodial supplies, $15,000 ($11,919).

Fixed charges also showed an increase, from $175,751 to $208,933. This is due to costs over which there is no control such as retirement, workmen's compensation, unemployment and various insurances.

Only funds allowed under capital outlay is for furniture and equipment to replace old furniture and equipment no longer usable.

At the same time the 1976-77 budget was approved, the Title I and Library budgets received the OK of the board. The Title I budget is in the amount of $59,248 and the library budget is $38,855.

The only people attending the budget hearing were Nelson Green, the instructor, and members of his Adult Education U.S. Government class and two representatives of the news media.

At the meeting which followed, McKimmy was authorized by the board to sign the applications and assurances for the Public Works Act or 1978 application to improve and renovate the high school and the middle school.

A lengthy discussion regarding the building needs at the middle and high schools followed. The possibility of a study committee, the engaging of a survey consultant and the means that might be employed to get the message to the residents of the school district were discussed.

An alternate plan for upgrading the middle school compiled by Vincent Chew, middle school principal, was presented to the board and discussed by no action taken.

Monday, Nov. 15 was set as the date of the next meeting.

State Arts Council Conducting Survey Of Local Artists

The Michigan Council for the Arts is attempting to develop an inventory of individual artists, arts organizations and institutions throughout the state. They are working closely with the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan on the project.

In the first phase of the project, the groups are mailing questionnaires to individual artists, Approximately 25,000 individual artists have been identified and should receive questionnaires during October and Nobvemher.

If an artist doesn't receive a questionnaire by the first week in November and would like to participate in the survey, they should contact Tina Beyer, Room 3114, Institute for Social Research, Ann Arbor, Mich., 48106, and request a survey.

No Objections Raised Against 170-foot Pier

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Neither the Army Corps of Engineers, nor the DNR Water Resources Commission received any complaints or comments from concerned citizens abuut the Dow pier.

Harley Burris, DNR Conservation Officer, wrote his report on the pier saying "actually environmental improvement is expected," when the new dock is built.

Burris explained that an existing dock is "very poorly designed."

The new dock which will extend 40 feet further into the lake than its predecessor, is to be "L" shaped, according to Burris. A 70-foot-long leg of the "L" will angle 20 degrees outside exact parallel with the shore, angling towards the Lake.

The dock is described as a "crib pier", in the public notice. "The cribs will be constructed of three-eighths-inch interlocking steel sheet piles, 19 feet long and filled with about 150 cubic yards of stone from the existing crib pier and 350 cubic yards of sand from the waterway."

The public notice said that dredging to a 6 foot uniform depth will provide the 350 cubic yards of sand required plus additional dredged materials which would be disposed on "an upland disposal site."

Burris said the pier will berth a private yacht.

In giving the nod to the project Burris pointed oot that both the old and new piers have a bridged hole, about 8 by 10 feet running through them which allows circulation and prevents stagnation of the water.

Dow indicated he was nonplussed by the interest in his dock and the bureaucratic requirements which precede the granting of a permit.

The corps of engineers will not issue a final permit to Dow until it receives analyses of the project from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Federal Fish and Wildlife Bureau, as well as the DNR.

When all these reports are in the corps of engineers will decide if an "Environmental Impact Statement" is a further necessity.

"The indications are there are no problems environmentally with this project," Davy said.

A proposed private pier, which will extend some 170 feet into Lake Charlevoix, has been assessed as more of an environmental asset than detriment, by a local Department of Natural Resources Official.

Herbert H. Dow, of Midland, who purchased Nathan Cummings Lake Charlevoix retreat The Anchorage two years ago, recently applied to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for the required permit to "construct a crib pier and to dredge and fill in Lake Charlevoix," according to a public notice published in the Sept. 24 Petoskey News-Review.

The purpose of the notice was to publicize Dow's intent that anyone opposed or wishing to comment on the project could do so within a 30-day time limit.

The public notice and subsequent analyses of Dow's proposed pier by other agencies are an example of the scrutiny with which projects affecting the environment are faced, according to DNR spokesman.

Maybe the Presidency Could Stand Revamping

Now that all of the campaign hub huh has subsided and we have selected who will be our President for the next years, it is time to look closely at the Presidency to determine if our present system is effective.

Can we honestly expect our President to accomplish the goals of domestic and foreign policy in a mere four years? Is it realistic to expect any sort of program to be well under way and showing the effects of good planning and management, when the President has to spend at least one-quarter of his time campaigning to get re-elected so that he can finish what he has started?

Perhaps the public should consider changing the President's term to a one-time only six-year venture. This way the President can concentrate on accomplishing the goals that he said he would accomplish during his campaign. Also he won't be interrupted in his duties by an often lengthy and grueling campaign battle.

A six-year term would be about equal to the amount of time the President spends implementing programs under the present two, four-year terms that are allowed. And we only have to have that lee time when a President learns his duties once during every six years. Whereas, under the current system it is possible to elect a new President every four years and valuble time is lost getting used to the job.

The world situation as well as the economic and social situation in our country are getting too complicated to continue having programs interrupted every few years while a Presidential campaign is held, or while a new candidate learns the ropes of his office. A more effective Presidency with solid programs could be seen under a six-year term system.

Think about it. –PJH

Study the Proposed Charter Before Making a Decision

The proposed charter for Charlevoix is finally completed. After almost two years of studying and writing, the commissioners have completed their assigned project and are currently having it reviewed by special municipal attorneys for any illegalities.

Within the next month or so, summaries of the charter will be prepared and distributed to the public in preparation for a February vote on the proposal. Meetings will also be held in each of the three wards in an attempt to inform citizens about the changes proposed in the new charter.

The Courier urges city residents to take the time to thoroughly study the new charter and learn what it is all about. We further urge the public not to shut their minds to the ideas presented in the new charter just because they are complicated and different from the present charter, which is merely the Fourth Class Cities Act with a few amendments.

The charter commissioners spent months pouring over other charters and books written on the subject before writing the proposed charter. They had good reasons for deciding to change the things they did. Take the time to learn what the commissioner's reasoning was behind each change before making up your mind.

Charlevoix has grown and the times have changed since the first charter was adopted. It's time for the charter to change, too.

Become informed before you decide what may be best for Charlevoix. That's what the charter commissioners did.

Celebrate Christmas at Home, Shop in Charlevoix

Recently more than $170,000 was sent to area residents in the form of Christmas Club Checks. More money was saved in these programs last year than ever before.

Charlevoix residents should be applauded for their planning and their determination to be prepared for this time of the year when budget can often become overextended.

But we hasten to remind these residents that their paychecks in many cases were the result of other Charlevoix area residents purchasing items at local stores or buying items that were manufactured locally. Working together we have managed to support each other and make it possible for all of us to put a little away.

The Courier also urges Charlevoix residents to shop at home this Christmas and to take pride in their business community by supporting it during this all important season just as they havo throughout the year.

Working together we can make this a Merry Christmas for all. –PJH

Letters to the editor

Shoo, Flu!

Dear Editor:

In May of 1918 my family moved from Charlevoix to St. Clair Shores south of Mt. Clemens. We were there little more than a year, but much happened in that time, and we were more aware of the war, since student cadets from Selfridge Field buzzed the housetops with their biplanes. We children were disappointed in tan-colored Lake St. Clair after blue Lake Michigan, but worse was yet to come. In a few month the 1918 influenza struck us.

I was oldest of five children, and I'm sure three of us caught the flu, perhaps all of us, and my mother, also. My father did not contract the disease and was our nurse, spooning gruel and broth between our fevered lips. Doctors were not to be had, though Dad did find one to attend us when we were well over the hump.

I must've had a thing about the Titanic. The wallpaper of my bedroom had a design of rather large medallions, and when my delirium was at its height over and over I saw framed in each medallion the Titanic rear majestically on its stern and slide beneath the waves. Also there was an axis through the center of my bed; first it would tilt to the head, then to the foot.

So, with the new threat, and being a senior citizen, I say "Bring on your shots." I'll make tracks and be first in line.

Ellsworth 'Other Side' Explained by Resident

Dear Editor:

The recall of four local School Board members has been much publicized—from the viewpoint of its supporters. I now feel it is time to present the other side.

The following is the "other side." I am requesting that it be given due attention.

The local Ellsworth group calling themselves "Committee for Better Education" is led by Cheri Holley who sued her own school in 1974 to delay building of the new school which taxpayers had voted upon, thereby increasing its cost. Recently the self-appointed "Committee" led a campaign to block passage of additional millage, thereby tying the Board's hands financially while the "Committee" continues to criticize them for ineffectiveness. The campaign included sending out a boxholder containing much misconstrued information, trying to prove no need for added millage.

The "Committee's" latest attack against better education has been its attempt to recall four Board members in an election scheduled for Dec. 6. The Board is composed of local responsible business-persons who have each given at least a day's work per week (or 416 hours per year) of their time to School Board business.

It is difficult for the conservative citizens of Ellsworth to understand how this self-appointed "Committee" expects better education at a cheaper price during inflationary times, or how they expect to achieve it by harrassing the local elected Board of Education.

Perhaps some of the "Committee's" hostility stems from the fact that some of its members were unsuccessful in their attempts to be elected to the Board. Some of the "Committee" represent large property owners who do not wish to pay higher taxes for education. However, the rest of the local citizens would be grateful if this "Committee" would try to change the existing tax laws if they feel they are unfair, rather than making nonspecific charges against Board members who are doing their best.

Thank you,
Celia M. Hastings

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

There is something in the makeup of most Americans that keeps urging them to kick over the traces, but I suppose we come by it naturally. The very fact that a person calls himself an American means that, with few exceptions, he has inherited rebellious blood from someone.

But sometimes I think we change things that would be better left unchanged. It's called change for the sake of change.

I would bike to know how much money the auto industry has squandered in the past two generations changing the appearance of its automobiles every 12 months—not to make them better but to make them different. I don't think Henry Ford should have stopped with the Model T, but I certainly feel there could have been fewer changes between the Model T and the Thunderbird.

What really bothers me is that after 76 years on the drawing board, the American automobile is still an imperfect machine, with new components designed and built each year for the various models.

Although we have the technology to turn out a machine that would run 10 years without a grease job, our vehicles have gained little in reliability, thanks to our reckless pursuit of the new and the different.

All of which is by way of introduction to a growing conviction that delegates to the recent Episcopalian Convention in Minneapolis would have done better to stay home. Never have so many important traces been kicked over in so short a time. And these are traces that don't have a thing to do with bucket seats or engine torque.

The change which won most of the ink in the newspapers had to do with the ordination of women as priests. The change was a product of the women's liberation movement, and frankly I was rather surprised that the bishops didn't give the whole idea short shrift in Minneapolis.

I do know many local Episcopalian women think ordination of their sisters is ridiculous, if for no other reason than they would find it difficult to call a woman "father." Maleness traditionally has been an intrinsic part of the priest's leadership role in the church and family. Women simply cannot assume the same qualities at the stroke of a pen, regardless of what the bishops say.

It's like expecting a man to do the "tassle twirl" at a burlesque show.

The bishops also approved a new prayer book for Episcopalians, relegating the beloved and beautiful 1928 prayer book to the trash heap. The change isn't permanent yet, but it will be by 1980.

In case you haven't heard, a liturgical commission has had Episcopalians on the ropes for five years now with various proposals designed to sharpen up the sometimes archaic—but always beautiful—language of the old Book of Common Prayer.

First came the Green Book whose authors had a knack for going right to the heart of a well-turned phrase and laying it low with a volley of mundane, prosy verbiage.

Next came a missile widely known as "The Zebra Book" because of its striped cover. Instead of "My cup runneth over" in the 23rd Psalm, you'll find such uninspired translations as "My cup is full"—which really doesn't mean the same thing.

Now the final version—The Blue Book—is on the market. It is sometimes called the "Son of Zebra" by the irreverent and is so fat some churches will have to install new missile racks.

Probably the most annoying feature of all the trial prayer books is that they have been printed only in soft cover and make little impression on unruly boys when they are swatted with one during the sermon.

And they call this Progress?

Erma Bombeck

I have found that whenever a man wants to strike back at a woman for her boredom with football, he will say, "You don't understand the game."

I understand the game. I also understand that football games last longer than some marriages.

I understand that if I have to sit through four more months of announcing news bulletins during the commercial ("PAPER TRAINING DOG 10 – MOM 0" "KIDS BEST SHOES RAINED OUT," "MOTHER-IN-LAW LAST DRAFT CHOICE SIGNS ON FOR WEEKEND") I'll go crazy.

There's only one way I know to fight back and that's on my turf. After watching four games in a row last Sunday, my husband groped his way out to the dinner table.

"Where's dinner?" he grumbled.

"Hi there, fans in the stands," I said speaking into the spatula. "We've got an exciting evening planned for you tonight, but first let's hear from our man in the freezer.

"This is Frank Sirloin here, and this is the big one we've been looking for. Erma Microwave is looking for her first winning streak in 5,356 tries and tonight it's Frozen Hamburger vs. Leftovers."

"Will you just put the food on the table?" he sighed.

"When we talked to Erma earlier, the game plan was to go outside, she's decided to go for a man-on-man situation. We'll ask her about how she expects to pick up any more yardage with the leftovers, but first we'll go to the bench where she'll fill us in on some of the injuries."

"That's cute," said my husband. "Now can we eat?"

"You may remember the string beans that received two incomplete passes at the last meal, and a package of buns that was lateraled and picked up by the dog in yesterday's luncheon scrimmage. Starting today will be the George Blanda of the team, Cottage Cheese, which may retire after today's encounter. There'll be more on injuries, but now we're getting a signal to go out on the field where 148 cheerleaders are spelling relief – that's R-O-L-A-I-D-S."

"I get the drift," he grumbled. "The meal is getting cold."

"Don't be ridiculous," I said, grabbing the plate out of his hand. "you've only had it passed under your nose once. Next time-around is in slow motion, then instant replay, then stop action, now camera three so you can see it from the bottom...then later on the six O'clock news, and two hours from now, it will be shown again on Leftover Greats of the Century, but now ...ooops, the casserole fell to the floor. Sorry, gang, the fumble was sloppy, but it's only the first in four..."

It could cost me the marriage, but it was worth it.

If it Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

It bowl-ed her over

There's one good thing about TV commercials. If it weren't for them, I couldn't tell you some fascinating things, such as how strangely my wife reacted to what happened to our granddaughter in the bathroom.

It used to be considered poor taste to converse publicly about bathroom plumbing and foul odors. But now the TV hucksters have put movie stars in toilet bowls and strange smells in bright lights.

It is now acceptable to speak loudly on street corners about bowel movements and sanitary napkins. It can't be impolite if they do it every day on TV while you're eating dinner.

Thanks to television, this nation is more aware of its armpits than its scruples. The gross national product would be doubled, and unemployment cut in half, if Lever Bros. discovered two more places on the human body requiring daily dollops of deodorant.

You've seen the TV fellow who wants to have a few words with you about diarrhea. Which brings us to three-year-old Melissa, my granddaughter. That's what she had.

She also had an accident. OK? She's just a little girl.

Melissa didn't want such an awful thing to happen again. So, until her health improved, she figured the smartest move was to spend most of her time sitting on the john.

Much to the distress of my wife, Melissa lives three hours away, in Houghton Lake. Grandma Pat thinks her grandchildren should live in her lap. Otherwise they will surely be abused by an unappreciative world which has already demonstrated its ignorance by not sending three wise men and several shepherds to hark around the hospital when the three darlings were born.

There is only one poor substitute to fill the void when Grandma and kids are not exchanging visits. Their parents must photograph them constantly and mail snapshots daily.

So it came to pass that Grandma received a photo of what happened to Melissa during her bathroom vigil. She fell sound asleep on the toilet. In fact she slipped most of the way into the bowl and only her elbows kept her head above the seat.

It was maybe the funniest photo ever snapped. I laughed and laughed at it. My son also laughed.

But my wife cried. She bawled. She said, "Look at that poor little darling." And she sobbed.

My son didn't understand how she could cry about such a funny thing. I told him he simply didn't understand women, especially his mother. And I was reminded of the weirdest experience with female tears.

A while back, Pat's friend Anne had a sore throat. And it made Pat cry.

Honest, I do not make these things up.

Anne sounded like a screen door being opened for the first time in 50 years. Pat told Anne she couldn't converse with her at any length because Anne's scratchy voice made Pat's eyes water.

This incredible empathy didn't surprise Pat. It's no wonder. She cries when she sees searchlight beams sweep across the sky because she knows a gas station is having a grand opening and she is touched by the meaningfulness of the occasion.

I have heard tales of husbands having sympathy pains when their wives were giving birth, but I have never actually met a man who has experienced this phenomenon. Myself, I didn't feel a thing until days later when I found out what Blue Cross didn't cover.

Therefore, I remained dubious about Jack gigging when Jill is choked. But it can happen between consenting adults as long as they are both female. I know, because I saw Pat drip tears at the sound of Anne's sore voice.

I told this story to my son, hoping it would help him to understand why his mother cried about Melissa fell asleep on the john.

"You mean Melissa's diarrhea is the same as Anne's sore throat?" he asked.

"We couldn't even talk about this if it weren't for TV commercials," I said.

Onward and Upward.

Meet Charlevoix

...Janis Dietrich

Janis Dietrich of Iroaton has been active in party politics most of her life. Two weeks the Courier talked with her about her political activities and philosophies.

COURIER: Do you have a family?

DIETRICH: Yes, my husband, Bill, and I have two daughters. Heather is five and Heidi is two.

COURIER: Do you also have a job?

DIETRICH: I teach reading half days in Ellsworth under the Title I program.

COURIER: What political office do you hold now?

DIETRICH: I'm vice-chairman of the Chorlevoix County Democratic party and also coordinator for Don Riegle's campaign in Charlevoix County.

COURIE: How did you become interested in politics?

DIETRICH: My mother was always interested in politics. There were seven of us children and we used to go with her when she was working on political matters, just as my children do now. I studied political science at Central Michigan University and worked in Billie Fornum's Congressional office in Washington, D.C.

COURIER: Why is it important for women to participate in politics?

DIETRICH: It is bnportant that EVERYBODY participate. The issues pertain to everybody. There are no women's issues or men's issues.

COURIER: How do you feel about the low percentage of people who vote?

DIETRICH: It is very unfortunate. Even if people don't feel strongly on national issues, they should at least participate in local issues. They should also know their local and county representatives and who to contact when they need help. They should read the newspapers and the minutes of the Board of Commissioners and School Board meetings.

COURIER: What about political parties?

DIETRICH: Everyone should join and be active in one. If people feel they have no choice in the General Election, they should be asked "Where were you at Primary time?"

COURIER: What else can people do?

DIETRICH: They should state their views. You would be surprised what can be accomplished just by letting your views be known.

COURIER: How can people become informed?

DIETRICH: As I said before by reading. By reading all possible literature on all subjects—even that endorsing candidates. Then you can make up your own mind. Participation is important but it must be informed participation.

COURIER: Is the Democratic Party very active in Charlevoix County?

DIETRICH: Yes, and it is becoming more so. When we moved up here, there was no county Democratic Party at all. Our first organization was a Democratic women's group for the purpose of studying issues.

COURIER: Do women have a special or different role in politics?

DIETRICH: Traditionally, women have done the lowly but necessary jobs in politics—telephoning, stamp-licking, canvassing—but the men are the ones who were elected to office. A recent survey on elective office-holders in Michigan shows that 4.8 percent of the congressional delegation are women; 4.1 percent of the state legislature are women; .6 percent of the state courts are women; 15.6 percent of the state education boards are women; 9.8 percent of the local boards of education are women; 5.6 percent of the county commissioners are women; and 1.5 percent of mayors or council presidents are women.

COURIER: How can this be remedied?

DIETRICH: By women actively seeking public office. They can be as informed and as capable.

COURIER: Will you carry on your political work after the election?

DIETRICH: Yes, even in non-election years there is work to be done.

COURIER: Does your husband also participate in political matters?

DIETRICH: He's not actively interested but he is supportive of what I do.

Kiwanis Holds Kids Day At Elementary

It smelled just like a circus at the Charlevoix Elementary School recently—at least the roasted peanut part of a circus.

Wednesday was Kiwanis Kids Day at the elementary school and four members of the club, Howard Brumm, Roy Fortin, Patrick Hawley and Clarence Odmark, passed out peanuts to the children during brief presentations about the organization.

The club members explained to the children that Kiwanis Club does a lot to support activities for children such as Camp Daggett, Camp Royal for handicapped children, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and The Charlevoix Recreation Department T-ball league.

The men also told the children that most of the money for these projects is made from the annual maple syrup sales. They asked the children to help them in preventing any vandalism or spoiling of the sap during collection time. The children were also invited to take part in the fun by riding on the sap wagon and helping to collect the liquid for the syrup.

PAT HAWLEY explains the role of the Kiwanis Club to some elementary school students during Kiwanis Kids Day.

Local Post Offices Will Begin Distributing Food Stamps to County Recipients on Nov. 8

By PEG OHLE

People receiving Food Stamps will be going to their local post offices to get them starting Nov. 8.

Previously, the County Department of Social Services distributed the stamps. Now it will be responsible only fur taking applications and certifying recipients.

Charlevoix County Postmaster Wayne Chellis says that, although he was alerted about two months ago that the change would take place, he will not have full information about how the new system will work until he attends a meeting in Boyne City this week.

The Food Stamp program is sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the change in distribution is nationwide.

The program enables low-income households to buy more food of greatery variety. Participants pay a sum of money based on their family size and net monthly income, then receive food stamps of a greater value than the amount paid which they can spend like money at authorized food stores.

To qualify for Food Stamps, households must meet certain eligibility standards, such as being unemployed, working only part time, working at very low wages, on public welfare, and living on Social Security or small pensions.

While the formula by which Social Services figures eligibility for Food Stamps is complicated, a leaflet prepared by the State Department of Social Services indicates that people in certain size house-holds with certain monthly incomes MAY be eligible as follows:

One person household with monthly net income of $245; two persons household with monthly net income of $322; three person household with monthly net income of 433; four person household with monthly net income of $553; five person household with monthly net income of $660; six person household with monthly net income of $787; seven person household with monthly net income of $873; eight person household with monthly net income of $993; nine person household with monthly net income of $1,120; ten person household with monthly net income of $1,247; 11 person household with monthly net income of $1,1374; and 12 person household with monthly net income of $1,501.

The USDA reports that in June of this year, nearly 677,000 Michigan residents were participating in the Food Stamp program. The local Social Services Department reports that presently approximately 1,300 persons in 323 Charlevoix County families are participating in the program.

Each Food Stamp has a face value for which it will be accepted by food stores but the amount each participant pays for the stamp depends upon his financial situation. USDA says that in June the average difference in Michigan was $17.91 per person. This means that a family of 10 could possibly save $179 a month by buying food stamps.

Food Stamps account for the greatest part of the Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) program operated by the USDA, accounting for $114 million of the $214 million FNS funds expended in Michigan last year.

Other FNS programs are the National School Lunch and School Breakfast programs, Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), Special Milk Program, Child Care program, Summer Food Service program, Nonfood Assistance Program and Food Donation program.

At the end of the last school year, about 791,000 Michigan children were participating in the National School Lunch program at 2,768 schools. School breakfasts were being served in 113 schools to more than 11,200 children. Federal expenditures for child nutrition programs in Michigan were in the neighborhood of $65 million.

WIC programs operations in Michigan resulted in the expenditures of about $5.5 million in the last fiscal year. WIC provides specified nutritious food supplements to pregnant and lactating women, and to children up to five years of age who are determined to be "nutritional risks" because of inadequate nutrition and inadequate income.

Boyne City Woman Fills Life with Art

By PAULA HOLMES

Her face glows when she talks about it and her speech becomes animated and lively. Her blue eyes shine like sapphires and even her white-blonde hair takes on a new sheen.

For Allis McLain, art is her life and she definitely comes to life when she talks about the subject.

Mrs. McLain, currently a Boyne City resident, spent 33 years teaching art at the Chicago Art Institute and before that studied for 16 years at the Institute herself and at the University of Chicago.

"When I was six years old, my father put me in the art institute for classes," Mrs. McLain recalled. "It seemed that anything I could get ahold of I would use to paint or draw

"That's true of all children," the former teacher explained. "If they're not laughed at when they're young, their talents will bloom.

"But what happens much too much is that they are laughed at and then the children close right up," she sighed. "They're very sensitive."

Mrs. McLain said she has taught students of all ages. Most of her career was spent training teachers to teach art. But, she likes to work with the younger students best.

"I worked as an associate professor for two years at a state normal college right after I graduated from college," she explained. "Almost all of my students were older than me and they were so set in their ways that it was hard to get them to see things.

"In high school and at younger ages they are more flexible and that's when you have room for good teaching," the artist said.

And good teaching means being sensitive to the child's ideas and satisfying their curiosity. It also means exposing them to as many different forms of art as possible until they find one that they like, according to Mrs. McLain.

But, Mrs. McLain's teaching days are behind her now. And she is busy settling into an area that was once only her summer home.

"The thing I miss most about teaching is the students," she said a little wistfully. "I had taught for so long that some of the students I had, I had also taught their parents.

"They treated me like a member of the family."

Mrs. McLain said she has been asked to teach some classes in this area, but she has decided not to do it. Instead, she is busy as the Crooked Tree Arts Council historian, and as the designer of posters to advertise bazaars and sales for many clubs and organizations in the area. She also worked on designing a Bicentennial float this year.

And, oh yes, she does find time to paint, too.

"The northern area inspires me to paint," she confided. "In fact, one of these days I am going to paint a place I ran across in the woods.

"It's simply beautiful," she smiled.

The artist said she prefers to work with oil paints and that she likes doing portraits, although she is often inspired to do landscapes, street scenes and nature studies. She doesn't like the abstract or modern art at all.

"The purpose of art is to communicate," she explained. "Modern art doesn't communicate. They're only pleasing themselves.

"And it's a waste of time to paint if you can't communicate," the artist continued. "If the painting doesn't communicate and it can't stir up memories, then the viewer is bored and turns off your work."

E. Wright, co-chairman of the bazaar and bake sale. The bake sale will have both yeast and quick breads, cookies galore and other goodies she added.

Mrs. Kenneth Sheffer will serve as hostess in the dining room which is in charge of Mrs. Cass Russell. Mrs. Howard Campbell and Mrs. James Austin head the kitchen committee; Mrs. Leroy McMillan the decorating committee; Mrs. Percy Durance, tickets; Mrs. Herbert Boss, advertising and Mrs. Clarence Murray, the clean-up committee.

Garden Club to Study Culture, Use of Herbs at Nov. 9 Meeting

The culture and use of herbs will be the subject of the program to be presented at the Tuesday, Nov. 9, meeting of the Charlevoix Garden Club to be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Bleha, Pa-Ba-Shan Lane.

The program to be presented by Marlene C. Caczatt, Extension Home Economist for Michigan State University through the Cooperative Extension Service in Charlevoix, Antrim and Kalkaska counties, will include historical briefs of herbs and spices, planting a window sill herb garden and cooking with a preservation of herbs and spices.

The meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Dennis Joy is co-hostess.

Free Diabetes Testing At Charlevoix Hospital

Free testing for diabetes will be held at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Nov. 10 and 11.

The American Diabetes Association–Michigan Affiliate is sponsoring the testing in celebration of Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 7-13.

The free testing is limited to those area reisdents 18 years or older, who have not previously been diagnosed as diabetics. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

To assure an accurate test, participants are urged to eat a big meal which is heavy in starches and sugars approximately two hours before having the test.

A suggested breakfast is fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, buttered toast with jam and coffee or tea. If the test will be taken after lunch, it is suggested participants eat a bowl of soup, a sandwich, cake or pie for dessert and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute period and nothing else except water should be drunk or eaten before the test.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is the leading cause of new blindness and a major cause of heart attack and kidney failure. It is estimated that 200,000 people in Michigan are diabetic and don't know it.

People who run a high risk of developing diabetes are those over 40 years old, overweight, and relative to a diabetic or the mother of a child weighing 9 pounds or more at birth. However, anyone, at any age, can become diabetic.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, loss of weight, itching, tiring easily, blurring vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches. The disease can be present without symptoms, too.

Hospital Guild to Hold Pre-Christmas Sale

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital will sponsor its annual pre-Christmas gift sale at the Showcase in the hospital lobby on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 8 and 9 according to Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman and Mrs. William Fochtman, co-chairmen of the event.

The sale offers a wide variety of inexpensive and unusual gift items for every member of the family as well as for friends according to Mrs. Freedman. "While we have many items that make ideal gifts, we have scads of what might be considered 'stocking stuffers'....interesting, hard to find gifts that will win you a reputation as a clever shopper" Mrs. Freedman added.

The shopper will find everything from animals, stuffed, that is, to zaay, fun items and, in between, all types of costume jewelry, note paper, key rings, miniature garden tools, many ideas for baby gifts, just to name a few.

"It's been just like Christmas just opening the packing cartons. So you can imagine what fun it will be to shop," Mrs. Fochtman chimed in.

The Show Case where the "Shop Early for Christmas" sale will be held is located in the lobby at the Charlevoix. It is operated year-around by the Hospital Guild as a fund-raising project. All profits realized from the project are turned back into the support of the hospital through the purchase of equipment, supporting nursing scholarship and services to the patients through tray favors on special holidays, decorating the hospital for the holidays, supplying layettes for indigent mothers and supplying daily newspapers and a wide choice of magazines for the patients to name a few.

Mrs. William Squire of Boyne City is presently serving as president of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

"IT'S JUST LIKE CHRISTMAS...just opening the cartons" was how Mrs. William Fochiman and Mrs. Gordon Friedman described the chore of preparing for the annual "Shop Early for Christmas" sale to be sponsored by the Women's Guild of tho Charlevoix Area Hospital at the Showcase in the lobby of the hospital Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 8 and 9. They are shown here looking over a few of the many items to be offered at the sale in the hospital lobby.

Former Charlevoix Priest Instituted at St. George's

The institution of the Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston, vicar of Christ Episcopal Church here until August, as Rector of St. George's Episcopal Church in Belleville, Ill., recently was witnessed by 17 members of the local church who made the trip to Belleville for the event.

The Rt. Rev. Albert Hillestad, Bishop of the Belleville Area, installed the Rev. Mr. Johnston in his new position.

Several of those attending participated in the impressive ceremony. Richard Vanderstelt, a former resident now living in Grayling, read the Epistle; Fred Edwards of East Jordan sang with the large St. George's choir and Mary and William Horton, children of the Howard Horton's, were attendants to the bishop.

Those attending from Christ Church were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Johnston and son, Eric, for dinner on Friday evening; guests at a dance hosted by the members of St. George's parish on Saturday evening during which Earl Taube entertained with his magic act and on Sunday had brunch at the Officers' Club at Scott Air Force Base.

Attending from the Charlevoix church were Mr. and Mrs. Edwards of East Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckstrom of Torch Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Taube and son Tom, Mrs. James W. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Horton and children, Michael, William and Mary and Mr. and Mrs. Vanderstelt and children, Anne and Andy, now of Grayling.

East Jordan Congregation Attends Two-Day Faith Seminar in Holt

Jehovah's Witnesses from the East Jordan congregation attended a two-day Christian seminar on October 30 and 31 at Holt, Mich. They joined an estimated 1,400 delegates from all of Northern Michigan. As they convened at the Jehovah's Witnesses Assembly Hall.

The theme of the seminar was "Rendering 'Sacred Service With Your Power of Reason.'" (Romans 12:1,2) on Sunday morning newly dedicated ones were baptized.

Mr. John Casino from the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York delivered the keynote address on Sunday at 2:00 p.m. entitled, "Keep Seeking God's Kingdom." The talk was based on Jesus' Sermon on the Mount recorded in the Bible.

Adrian College Admissions Rep To Visit High School Nov. 10

Insulate!

Nobody likes higher Gas bills, including us at Michigan Consolidated. But because the cost of Gas we buy from our suppliers has gone up, your Gas bills will be higher this winter than they were last year.

So it makes sense to stretch each dollar's worth of Gas just as far as possible, and to keep your Gas bills as low as you can. One way to do this is by insulating your home.

Once again, Michigan Consolidated is offering a low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program designed to conserve Natural Gas and save you money.

Since the program's introduction nearly three years ago, more than 115,000 of our customers have installed ceiling insulation, and have cut their home heating costs by as much as 17% each year. Based on current Gas prices, this means you may be able to reduce your own heating costs by as much as $75.00 from what they might be without insulation, starting right this winter.

If you do the job yourself, you should be able to buy insulation for a home with 650 sq. ft. of attic space for about $125.00. That means you'll probably save enough Gas to pay for the material in less than two years. Our free Do-It-Yourself Insulation Handbook tells you how. Pick one up at any of our customer business offices or any participating retail outlet. Or call or write, and we'll mail you a copy.

If you'd rather not do the job yourself, one of our participating insulation subcontractors can. The cost? About $250.00 for homes with less than 1000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. You can pay 20% down and pay the balance without interest over your next three Gas bills. Or you can make extended payments at an interest rate of 1% per month on the unpaid balance (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%).

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program? We'd like to help you cut your heating costs, and we'll both be working to save our country's valuable Natural Gas supplies. We do care about your tomorrow

Mann Runs Rayders to Petoskey Defeat

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

Senior halfback Ed Mann's first quarter 90-yard kickoff return and final period 94-yard touchdown romp powered the Charlevoix Rayders to a 28-15 victory over the Petoskey Northmen Friday at Kipke Field.

The victory maintained the Rayders first place tie in the Michigan Huran Shores Conference with Cheboygan and St. Ignace, all with 4-1 records. The Northmen loss virtually killed any hopes for Petoskey to share in the conference title.

Coach Don Carey's Rayders received the apening kickoff and quickly moved into Petoskey territory on Ed Mann and Greg Krueger's running and a Brian Williams to Neil Dziedzic completed pass.

Petoskey's Mike Doctor put a stap to the Rayder's initial scoring drive as he intercepted a Williams pass to intended receiver Matt Doan on the Northmen 28-yard line.

The Rayder defense, which had yielded only 27 points all season, was quickly put to the test as the Northmen methodically moved down the field. Fullback Mark Hoch and halfback Mike Doctor got successive first downs as the Northmen moved across the midfield stripe.

A Bob Johns pass to Doctor gained another first down in the Rayder 30 with Gary Probert making the stop. Four yards by Hoch and six by Doctor maved the Northmen closer to the Rayder goal. After Tom Jones had stopped Doctor for na gain, Scott Boss recovered a fumble at the Rayder 14.

The Rayders returned the turnover favor four plays later when Tom Robbins picked aff a Williams pass at the Rayder 27 and scampered unmolested into the end zone for a touchdown.

On the attempted point after canversion, the Narthmen were charged with illegal procedure. The extra five yards proved no problem for Doctor as he split the uprights to give Petoskey a 7-0 lead as stunned Rayder fans muttered silently at the quick turn of events.

Within half a minute the silence was shattered as Ed Mann, making his final appearance before the hometown fans, took Doctor's kickoff at the Rayder 10 and ran straight up the middle of the field for a 90-yard touchdown. He added two more points on the conversion to give the Rayders an 8-7 lead which they never relinquished.

For Mann, the kickoff return had to some degree pay for the punishment he has received from defensive linemen and linebackers during the season. As the major offensive thrust for the Rayders during most of the year, Mann has received considerable attention from the defensive.

The Northmen got another jolt a couple of minutes later when Matt Doan picked up a fumbled handoff at Petoskey's 43-yard line and rambled into the end zone for a touchdown. Again Mann added the two points on the conversion to give the Rayders a 16-7 lead with 43 seconds remaining in the first quorter.

Unable to move against the fired up Rayder defense, the Northmen's Mike Ball punted to the mid-field stripe.

With the Rayder offensive line apening up the holes, Mann and Krueger moved the ball down to the Petoskey 29-yard line. Jim Alger replaced Brian Williams at quarterback for the Rayders during this drive. According to team officials, Williams had received a severe blow to the head and was benched by the team doctor as a precautionary measure.

The Rayder drive fizzled out on the Northmen 22 and the ball was turned over on downs.

The Rayder defense again proved tough with Pat Klooster, Jones, Chris Cinnamon and Doan making tackles. Ball punted to the Rayder 44 yard line.

With momentum on their side, the Rayders used nine plays ta up the score to 22-7. Alger capped the drive with a 12 yard scoring pass to Scott Boss. A two point conversion try by Mann was stopped short of the goal. The Rayder score came with 2:22 remaining in the first half.

In addition ta falling further behind, the Northmen faced another prablem as their premier runner Mike Doctor was injured early in the Rayder's scoring drive. Although Doctor did return to the game late in the fourth quarter in a defensive role, he did not carry the ball the rest of the game.

With time running out in the first half, Johns filled the air with passes in an attempt to narrow the scoring gap but could not connect for the big one.

Neither team was able to put together a sustained drive during the third period.

Eric Swenor gave the Northmen fans in attendance a chance to cheer when he intercepted an Alger pass at the Rayder 25. As the quarter ended, Jones stopped Mark Buday at the 12. The Northmen were not able to get any closer as twa passes fell incomplete in the end zone.

Taking control of the ball on downs, Charlevoix was moved back to the 6-yard line an a clipping penalty. Two plays gained little yardage. On the next play, Ed Mann again brought the capacity crowd to its collective feet as he broke over the middle and ran 94 yards for a touchdown, leaving tacklers in his dust. A two point conversion try by Guy Carter was stopped, leaving the score at 28-7.

Mark Buday quickly moved the Northmen into scoring territory as he brought Doan's kickoff back to the Rayder 34 where Mike Whitley made the tackle.

On a fourth and 10 play, a screen pass from Johns to Buday moved the ball dawn to the Rayder 10. Hoch was stopped at the 4 by Cinnamon. Swenor lost four as Jones broke through the line for the tackle. Cinnomon then sacked Johns on the 15 bringing up a fourth down. A pass ta Swenor at the five was incomplete and Charlevoix toak over on downs.

Johns connected with Robbins several plays later on a pass to make the score 28-13. Needing points, the Northmen went for the two points, with Johns hitting Swenor in the corner of the end zone for the conversion.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Northmen tried an on-side kick and succeeded. But the Northmen's hopes of getting back into the ball game was squashed several plays later when Gary Probert intercepted a fluttering pass thrown by Robbins.

Charlevalx finished the game with 12 first downs, gaining 9 on the ground, two in the air and the other thanks to the referees. Petoskey had nine first downs, five on the ground and the rest through the air.

Stymied in putting together any ground attack, the Northmen attempted 23 passes with seven completions. Johns had three aerials intercepted. Charlevoix on the ather hand attempted only seven passes and completed three. Two Rayder passes were intercepted, one for a touchdown.

The Rayders recovered both of the Northmen fumbles, one for a touchdown. The Rayders fumbled once but recovered it.

Thanks to his 94-yard fourth quarter jaunt, Mann finished the game with 157 total yards in 21 carries. Krueger carried 15 times for 57 yards.

Doctor, before his injury, carried seven times for a total of 27 yards. Fullback Hoch gained 41 yards on 12 attempts.

Charlevoix finished the game with a total yardage of 271 yards on 52 offensive plays. Petoskey had 60 offensive plays during the game with a tatal yardage of 244 yards.

Friday, the Rayders will be traveling to Gaylord for their final game af the season. The Northmen will be taking on the Saints of St. Ignace and for the first time this season will probably be receiving the support of the Rayder fans.

Charlevoix's junior tackle Tom Jones, a definite candidate for All-State honors, has had 29 unassisted tackles in seven games this season. Additional, he has assisted in 75 other tackles and recovered three fumbles.

Three Players Out Due to Illness

JV Ties in Tough Battle

The Charlevoix JV's, minus three regulars, played Petoskey to a 6-6 tie on the Narthmen's field Thursday night.

The JV's will conclude their season Thursday when they host Gaylord at Kipke field.

The young Rayders met Petoskey Thursday without regulars Craig Boss who had the flu, Kevin Kratt wha was out with the chicken pox and regular quarterback, Barney Way, wha was on the injured list.

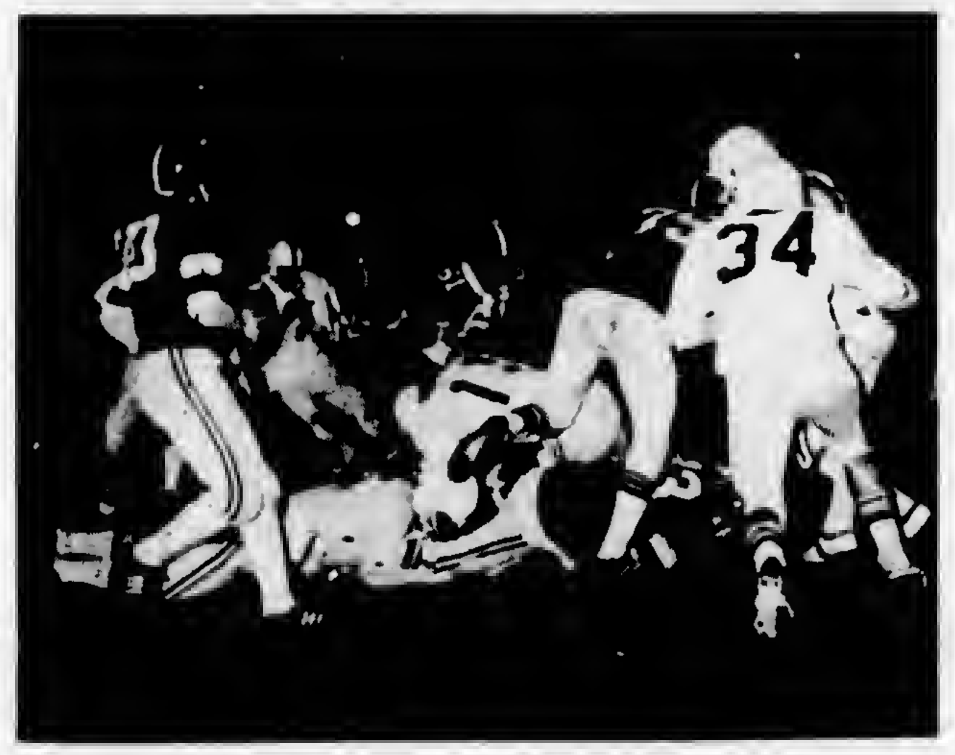
The Rayders jumped to an early lead in their meeting with the Northmen, taking the kick-off and marching 70 yards with Mark Keller going in from the three. The conversion was missed and the score remained at 6-0 until the second half.

Midway in the third period, Petoskey made its offensive move, scoring on a double reverse with Jim Cousens going 50 yards.

The remainder of the game was a strong defensive battle all the way.

Coach Hal Evans again said the defensive squad saved the game for the Rayders. However, he also had high praise for the offense as well, stating it was a well played game by both squads. He named Jerry Sladek for his defensive work; Doug Buday who doubled as guard, fullback and linebacker and Gilbert Noirot who quarterbacked the team in the absence of Woy.

Charlevoix presently has a five win-no loss-two tie record. Their last opponent, Gaylord, has lost only one game.



THE JVs taught a hard bat 'e against Petoskey Thursday, but couldn't get past the tie.

Girls Lose in 2 Squeakers

It was a bad week for the Charlevoix girls' basketball team as they lost to Petoskey Thursday night by a scare of 48-40 and to Cheboygan by a score of 42-41 earlier in the week in a triple overtime.

This week the Rayder squad will be on the road playing at St. Ignace on Tuesday and at Gaylord on Thursday.

In their game with Petoskey Charlevoix trailed most of the way, as the home team led 8-6, 24-13 and 36-32 at the three quarter mork after Charlevoix managed to knot the score briefly in the third period.

Sandra Hodge was top scorer for Charlevoix with 17 points. Kathy Sladek had 11 and Maureen Cudd 10 for Charlevoix. Carrie Russell had 15 points for Petoskey.

The Charlevoix JV's took their game 31-20. The game was played to a 2-2 first period tie and a 9-9 tie at halftime before Charlevoix moved into a 19-15 lead going into the final period. Chris Lehman paced the Charlevoix scoring with 16 points. Maureen Titcombe and Sheila Athearn had six points each for Petoskey.

In their game with Cheboygan, Charlevoix trailed 12-8 at the first period before tying Cheboygan 20-20 at halftime; 30-30 at three-quarter mark and 34-34 at the end of the regulation game. In the first overtime neither team scared and in the second each team scored a bucket apiece before Cheboygan outscored Charlevoix 6-3 in the third overtime.

Maureen Cudd had 14, Kay Currey 12 and Kathy Sladek 10 for Charlevoix. Sue Elenbaas had 22 for Cheboygan.

In the JV game, Charlevoix trailed 10-6; 14-10 and 20-18 by quarters before going ahead in the final period for the 28-25 win. Sherrie Selissen paced the game with 11 points. Margaretha Vigne had 7 for Cheboygan.

Freshmen Dumped by Petoskey 22-0

The Charlevoix Freshman football team dropped last week's game to Petoskey by a score of 22-0.

This week the frosh eleven will host Boyne City here at 3:30 p.m. in their final game of the season on Wednesday.

In last week's game, the young Rayders were held scoreless by a strong Petoskey squad that scored on a 10 yard run by Clark Hewitt in the first period; a 47 yard run by Moses Cooper and a 40 yard run by Hewitt after recovering a Rayder fumble. Dave Burek and Cooper each scored two-points conversions.

Coach Charlie Bentley said the team played a fine defensive game in the second half but were unable to generate an offensive attack. He commended Jack Cross, Kirk Heckendorn and Phil Morrison for their performances on defense.

RESOLUTION - EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE

Moved by Commissioner Meggison and supported by Commissioner Richardson that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, the Michigan Senate Bill 985, 986 and 987 and passed them on to the House for consideration and approval in the 1976 fall session, snd

WHEREAS, the initial impressions of the bills would seem to be of benefit to the citizens of the State, yet under careful study the bills place restrictions on ambulance operations that may force volunteer-supported and private ambulances to cease operations, being unable to meet the provisions of the bills, and

WHEREAS, the bills would create a greatly enlarged bureaucratic staff in the Department of Health and requires hospitals and ambulance operations to provide more information reports and paper work in a field slready over burdened with forms and reports, and

WHEREAS, the bills provide powers to the Department of Public Health that allow seizure of property without due process of law which is contrary to our basic form of government and restrictions on ambulance operations which many law density populated areas may find impossible to meet, thus forcing them to cease operations, and

WHEREAS, there are adequate laws, rules and restrictions on ambulance operations already in effect to safeguard the public and provide for the upgrading of service.

THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners that they be put on record as being opposed to SB 985, 986 and 987 as presently written, and further, that said Board urges the House of Representatives to reject said bills unleas provisions are written into the bills allowing local governmental agencies exemptions from the provisions of said bills, by a majority vote of the County Board of Commissioners, on the basis of fact that the County Board of Commissioners are best able to determine the local needs and further that the Counties contribute to or bear the financial costs of ambulance operations.

Respectfully submitted by: Commissioners Meggison, Harmon, Milstein and Richardson.

VOTE: Yeas, 15. Nays, none. Resolution Carried.

Commissioner McKinnon reported on the "Trash Bash" going to be held by the Youth Group in East Jordan. They expressed their thanks for the rubbish bags furnished by the County.

Moved by Commissioner Moerland and supported by Commissioner Davis to recess the hearing on the budget to 8:00 P.M. on October 27, 1976. Motion Carried.

The Board recessed until 2:30 P.M. for Committee work.

RESOLUTION - GRANDVUE - ENGINEER STUDY

Moved by Commissioner Moerland and supported by Commissioner Davis that the following resolution be adopted:

Attached, your Ways and Means Committee presents the statement of Arthur A. Ranger, Engineer, in the amount of $1,000.00 for services rendered per minutes of September 8, 1976, Grandvue Expansion Study.

This committee recommends remittance of said amount. Funds charged to Grandvue Capital Account - Public Improvement Fund.

Respectfully submitted by: Commissioners Moerland, Davis and Griffin.

VOTE: Yeas, 15. Nays, none. Resolution Carried.

RESOLUTION - FUEL OIL BIDS

Moved by Commissioner Meggison and supported by Commissioner Richardson that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, the County of Charlevoix advertised for bids for No. 2 Fuel Oil for the County Building for the 1976-77 season, and

WHEREAS, bids were received from Petoskey Oil of 39¢, Total Leonard of 38.8¢, Way Oil of 35¢ and East Jordan Co-Op of 38.5¢.

WHEREAS, all bidders indicated that the price will vary in accordance with the regulations of the F.E.O.

However, the lowest price quoted at time of bid opening being Way Oil at .35¢ per gallon.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Purchase of fuel oil for the County Building be from Way Oil.

Respectfully submitted by: Commissioners Meggison, Milstein, Richardson and Harmon.

VOTE: Yeas, 15. Nays, none. Resolution Carried.

LEGAL NOTICE OF ABSOLUTE ABANDONMENT AND DISCONTINUANCE OF A PORTION OF THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HIGHWAY KNOWN AS "REDDING ROAD"

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at a meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, held on the 13th day of October, 1976, the following Resolution absolutely abandoning and discontinuing a portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as "Redding Road" was duly made, seconded and adopted, said Resolution being as follows:

WHEREAS, a Petition has been filed with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, Michigan, asking for the absolute abandonment and discontinuance of the following portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known and described as Redding Road, situate and being in the Township of Peaine, Charlevoix County, Michigan, having a centerline described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point on the East-West ¼ line of Section 8, T. 38N., R. 10W., said point being 430 feet West of the Center ¼ post of said Section 8; thence Southerly and Southwesterly to a point on the west line of said Section 8, said point being 425 feet north of the Southwest corner of said Section 8; and

WHEREAS, an adequate alternative route is available to the traveling public; and

WHEREAS, after full hearing thereon, and this Board being fully advised in the premises, this Board has determined that it is advisable to absolutely abandon and discontinue the said part of said road as herein described for the purposes set forth in said Petition and for the best interest of the public,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, that the portion of the Charlevoix County Highway known as Redding Road, as herein described, be abandoned and discontinued as of October 13, 1976, as a county road, and cease to be part of the county road system, and that said Board determines it to be the best interest of the public that said highway so abandoned and discontinued should be, the same is hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued;

That the notice of this determination be given by the Clerk of the Commission to the proper highway authorities and the Peaine Township officials and be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulated in said county, once each week for three consecutive weeks.

That pursuant of the provisions of Act 46 of Public Acts of 1963, as amended, being M.S.A. 9.118, this portion of the county road shall be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a county road.

Dated: October 13, 1976

Obituary

VEE T. KALEC

Funeral services for Mrs. James G. (Vee T.) Kalec, of Nokomis, Fla., sister of Delbert R. Terrill, were held Oct. 22 at the Ewing Funeral Home in Venice, Fla. Interment was at Arlington Cemetery, Va., where her husband, the late Col. Kalec, is buried.

Mrs. Kalec died at her home in Nokomis Oct. 20.

Born at Lyonsville, Pa., she had resided in Nokomis for the past 20 years. Col. Kalec preceded her in death in September 1974.

Mrs. Kalec operated the Bridge Studio in Venice for many years. She was a member of the Venice-Nokomis Presbyterian church, Venice Venice Little Theatre, Venice-Nokomis Area Art League and the O.A.R.

She is survived by a stepson, Don J. of Chicago and two brothers, Melvin R. Terrill of Sarasota, Fla., and D.H. Terrill of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Terrill have returned from Nokomis after attending the service.

JOSEPH ALLARD

News of the death of a former local resident, Joseph E. Allard, 77, in Grand Rapids Sunday, Oct. 24.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at St. Dominic's church with interment in Resurrection cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix, Mr. Allard had lived in Grand Rapids for many years and, until his retirement, was employed at the Grand Rapids Press.

He is survived by his wife, Antonia; two sisters, Mrs. Harry (Margaret) Hodges and Mrs. Henry (Eileen) Polderdyk, both of Grand Rapids and a sister-in-law, Mrs. A.M. (Barbara) Allard of Charlevoix.

IT WAS Haunting Hour at the Charlevoix Elementary School Friday afternoon, complete with a program in the gym.

THE WINNERS OF THE Ski and Shore Pumpkin Carving Contest were: front row, Meg Fowler, fifth place; Dave Milligan, first place; second row, Carl Dhaseller, second place; Becky Parker, third place; and Cindy Engler, sixth place.

THE SECOND cast for "Scaredy Cat" another play presented by Mrs. Chew's class consisted of: Tom Graf, Melinda Morgan, Dawn Gennett, Cheryl Aull, Lara Thomas, Mike Johnson, Shawn Purvis, Andy Brumm, Eric Green, and Susan Annis.

Two Harriers Place For State Meet

Two members of the Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team qualified for participation in the state meet at Sturgis Saturday as their team came in fourth among 17 teams competing in the Class C regional meet at Elk Rapids Saturday.

Coach Pete Spieles said Wolly Orenth came in second behind first place Randy Parrish of Clare, a member of the regional winning team. Mark Hussell placed 21st to qualify for the Class C state meet.

Clare took first in the meet with 45 points followed by Shephard with 87; Benzie Central with 96 and Charlevoix with 152 points. Traverse City St. Francis placed 9th; Elk Rapids, 10th; Boyne City, 13th and Grayling, 15th.

100% WOOD - EACH LOG BURNS 1 HOUR

- PACKAGE OF THREE LOGS -

EXPLANATION
In all wood fireplace logs there are no binding agents like wax or glue and as a result for the log to hold its shape wood particles must be formed together under tremendous pressure. The result is an extremely dense log that will not burn nearly as readily as cordwood. LOTHLORIEN LOGS are the EXCEPTION because of the "oxygen tunnel" which allows oxygen within the center of the log enabling it to burn from the INSIDE OUT as well as the outside in. That's what makes Lothlorien Logs different & NO better burning than all other 100% wood fireplace logs on the market.

GOD'S WONDERS ARE REVEALED, NOT HIDDEN, BY AN ECLIPSE

An eclipse of the sun or moon, be it partial, total or whatever, is an exciting celestial event to most people in the part of the world where it will be visible. No matter how many of them we have already seen, they always promise a spectacular new behind-the-scenes look at the mechanics of the universe, right from our terrestrial vantage point, free and available to all. Much of our knowledge of the heavens has come as a result of these alignments of the sun, moon and earth, and they provide an even greater insight into the magnitude of God's creation. So look to the sky, enjoy the show, and on your return to earth go to the Church of your choice, where you will learn how you and this magnificent world you live in came into being.

Grandparents Enjoy Day at School

For most people Thursday was just another day of the week last week.

But at Charlevoix Elementary School, it was the third annual Grandparents Day and the excitement among the students was at a peak exceeded only on Christmas.

"We had a lot of excited children here today," one teacher confided as she passed by in the hall.

Grandparents Day gives the senior citizens a chance to visit their offspring in a school setting. Most grandparents come to school to have lunch with the children, but they are also encouraged to attend classes and go on tours of the building, guided by their young relatives, Principal Ralph Raymer explained.

"There's really nothing exotic about Grandparents Day," the principal said explaining the program. "We just consider it part of our regular schedule."

Raymer said the special day was started three years ago as a way to include grandparents in school activities.

"Grandparents are often the last ones you think of being involved with children at school," the principal said. "And often they're just as interested if not more interested than the parents in how the children are doing.

"I think grandparents should be a part of the school," he continued. "It's their tax dollar at work, too."

Many grandparents agreed with Raymer.

"I think Grandparents Day is a wonderful idea," Wanda Hill said. "This is the second time I've been here."

It was the second time for Mrs. Glenn Crain of Charlevoix, too.

"I think this is fun," said the grandmother of four elementary school children. "It's the most fun I've had for a long time. I even took the day off work so I could be here."

She said she had visited first, second and third grade classes and was on her way to lunch. She planned to visit kindergarten following that.

It was also a second visit for Mrs. Edward Denny of Ellsworth.

"I think everyone enjoys this day," Mrs. Denny said.

"The grandparents as well as the students.

"My granddaughter was sick yesterday, but she came to school today so that I could come," the grandmother smiled. "She told me she didn't feel too well today, but she wanted me to come to school."

Some grandparents come from long distances to take part in the special day. Mr. and Mrs. Graham Terry came from Almont, Mich., to take part in the festivities–and to share lunch with granddaughter Krista – in the cafeteria.

"We look at it as a way to get people involved with school who usually don't have a chance to," Ardeth Welland, Charlevoix Board of Education member, said.

THESE CHILDREN sang their hearts out while two grandmothers looked on.

East Jordan Students Learn About World

By PEG OILE

Students at the East Jordan Middle School celebrated International Week last Thursday with an International Ball, complete with costumes of people from around the world, an international dinner menu, and polka music.

Prizes were awarded for the best costumes, with John Testa, dressed as a Bush Boy, winning first place. Second place prizes were awarded to Mike Cihak, Kim Prebble, Maude Hanson, and Brad Mayhew. Third place prizes went to Ruth Trojanek and Laura Beavais. The costumes were judged by Mayor Virginia Giacomelli, Rotary Club President Paul Michael, Dr. David Pray, and Barbara Cihak.

The international dinner menu consisted of Mexican tacos, Italian pizza, German chocolate cake, Japanese karate punch, Chinese fortune cookies, and Holland holiday pop. The East Jordan Rotary club donated $50 to help pay expenses.

Linda Spence and Emil Mdovich furnished live Serbian and Polish polka music.

Two students, Randy Morris and Linda Detlaff, were awarded prizes for their International Week posters.

On Friday, two high school exchange students presented slide programs on their native countries: Steve Cala, East Jordan student from Sydney, Australia and Mike Plata, Charlevoix students from Bud-Schwartau, West Germany.

Eleanore Sadowski, East Jordan Middle School Social Studies teacher, was in charge of the program.

More on City Manager

In answer to the Courier's Hot Line contributor of Nov. 3rd regarding our City Council's aversion to retain a local city manager, many persons are of the opinion that the true reason is simply small-town jealousy and personal prejudice. They forced the recent administrator's resignation in spite of the fact that he was doing a good job for the taxpayers. Even though he had saved the city thousands of dollars in purchasing supplies due to previous purchasing experience in industry and had required quality workmanship from contractors doing business with the city. Even though he had the electrical experience in industry to oversee the city's electrical work plus further experience to handle the business administration of the city he was forced by the council to resign. From this situation the voting public can only infer that the council members sought office to serve special financial interests inimical to the taxpayer's welfare as well as their own individual grudges and jealousies and have no apparent interest in the economic welfare of the Charlevoix citizens.

MORE ON DRIVER'S ED CAB

In the Courier of Nov. 4th, in the Hotline there was reference made to a Driver's Education car parked by a fire hydrant at the football game at Charlevoix High School. The car was not one used by the Charlevoix Public Schools and Driver's Education. This is Vane Smith, the high school principal.

Racial Slurs

I have been prompted to contact Hotline by a turn in national events known as the racial slur. This has caused me to review what I have been saying to people over the past 10 years. Starting with two weeks ago, I called some girls in an office a bunch of ninnies because of some trifle. Further reflection indicates this term derives from the word "pickaninny", used in the southern United States to describe negro children. As everyone knows pickaninny is an Americanization of the Spanish piquenan nina, meaning small child. To be on the safe side, however, to avoid being referred to as a racist, I have now taken to calling people with whom I wish to create offense, as turkeys. The turkeys haven't organized yet into any lobby before Congress, but I'm keeping my fingers crossed as Thanksgiving approaches.

Seniors Ripped Off

I am a senior citizen and I know this complaint won't do much good.

I have been using propane gas for 10 years and when the price rose so much a couple years back. There was so much beseeching to save energy I had the place insulated. Now, I use just under 600 gal. a year, and have to pay 45.9 cents a gal. If I had used 600 gal. I would only have to pay 35.9 cents a gal. In other words, I could have bought 601 gal. for $217, but by saving and using less gas, 575 gal. cost me $264.50, about $50 more. What a rip-off for someone who has never received .05 cents worth of welfare, stamps, etc. I am 75 years old, and I guess we just don't have any lobbyists or politicians that care for us, in other words, save energy and be penalized.

Baadsbell

With so many beautiful tributes to our Bicentennial this year in this State, Charlevoix was among the privileged few to hear the Michigan Bicentennial Band in our picturesque East Park recently. It was a memorable concert marred only by the lack of an overhead on our fine bandshell. The visiting musical director and moderator pointed out this lack and it should have made us local folk feel a little remiss in never finishing this project begun many years ago. Possibly, our active Band Boosters Club, together with whole-hearted cooperation of Charlevoix citizenry, can come up with a project to finish this before another concert year. Our City Band deserves this after their loyal weekly endeavor every summer!

SCHOOL BOND

I have yet seen the day that when anyone but rich bankers gained anything when money had to be borrowed for anything. If our school district would ask for building funds by taxation for public building purposes for the future, thereby eliminating interest to pay. I'm positive many more people would vote yes. I know you say the structures are needed now. Have you got them? No. If three, four, five years ago, money for future building had been voted, today we could look forward in two or three years to new construction. So what have we now? Nothing. Money collected and placed on interest instead of the other way around makes sense. But not the other way as the majority of the voters keep pointing out.

Passage of 15 Mill Proposal Buoys Officials

By PEG OILE

Passage of the 15 mill county tax levy has left county and school officials breathing a sigh of relief and with a feeling they have the backing of the community in carrying on their duties.

Clyde Cunningham, chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, said, "I am happy about it. It is a vote of confidence in the Board of Commissioners and the schools. However, we will have to do something about the way property valuation keeps going up. We'll have to find another way to finance schools. Also, the government keeps adding to the County's responsibilities and that costs money."

James McKimmy, superintendent of the Charlevoix schools told the Courier, "I was pleased with the efforts of the volunteer committee, headed by Dr. (Reed) Freidinger and Tom Bickersteth, and others who worked with them. We appreciate the support. People recognize the need for good schools. Everybody is concerned with taxes, but knows there must be reasonable ways of taxation. With the new fixed millage we will be able to plan without having to wait for allocation. It will give us a better grasp of the factors in planning our budget. The people, by their vote, showed they recognized the need for continuity in operation."

Bill Mercer, county planner, said: "It indicates support for the quality and quantity of services residents of the county are receiving. The people showed they supported their elected county commissioners and school boards. They thought about the question before they voted for it."

Richard Tillen, director of the Department of Social Services, talked about Grandvue: "If the 15 mills had not passed, we probably would not have had enough money to operate Grandvue the way we have. Since it did pass, and Proposal C (a sinking fund to build a supervised residential unit at Grandvue) also passed, in two years we can start building the new unit. We need it now but look forward to its completion."

Clarence Rabach, county clerk, explained why he is happy with the outcome: "One thing that wasn't brought out about the millage is that the federal government is trying to get local governments to solve more of their own problems, which is costing local government more as shown in the increased budgets. County government will continue to absorb more and more government operation. If they don't, the state will do it themselves on mandated programs and charge us for it."

Clyde Cunningham – "a vote of confidence"

James McKimmy – "appreciate the support"

Bill Mercer – "they thought about the question"

Clarence Rabach – "counties are being forced to solve own problems"

Lyle King Resigns From Clerk Job

Lyle S. King, who has served as City Clerk here for the past 14 months, resigned at noon Friday giving as the explanation for his sudden move as "personal reasons."

Charles Pease, acting city administrator, would make no further explanation when questioned Monday except to say "no comment".

Later in the day, Mayor Edward P. Hansen who was asked about the resignation, which came as a surprise to all but the official family (the Mayor and City Council), would shed no light on the resignation stating only that "I can't say anymore at this time".

King was appointed to the post in September 1975 and, in the General Election in April of this year, was elected to the position. He was named to succeed Mrs. Ida Heise who had served in the office for 10 years prior to her resignation in September 1975.

When contacted at his home this morning, the former clerk again said the reasons for his resignation were personal.

About his sudden departure, King said:

"Oh it was (sudden), but the reasons were personal. I will probably be going out west or something."

County Use Will Stay the Same

State to Cut Amount of Salt Used to De-ice Trunklines

Roads are going to be slicker than ever this winter.

The State Highway Commission has decided to cut down on the amount of salt used on state roadways for economic and environmental reasons.

"There will be a 10 percent reduction in the amount of salt that is used on state highways," Will Nichols, foreman for the Charlevoix County Road Commission, said. "This is the fourth year that the amount has been cut."

Nichols said the state policy does not affect the county road commission.

"We will keep the amount of salt that we use pretty much the same as last year," the foreman said.

The plowing of county roads will also be pretty much the same as last year.

"We will keep the roads open in the daytime," Nichols said. "We won't be plowing very much at night.

"However, we will continue to plow people out in case of emergency, just like we have always done," he said. "We will always get people plowed out when they need to be."

Nichols said the cost of salt has increased about 13 percent this year. This has put the pinch on the Department of State Highways and Transportation which contracts with 62 counties, including Charlevoix County, for the maintenance of state highways.

The Charlevoix County Road Commission maintains such state trucklines as U.S. 31 and 131 and M-66.

According to state highway department officials, highway maintenance forces will begin snow removal operations as soon and as fast as in previous years and will continue to salt or sand hills, curves and intersections. General salt applications during storms, however, will be reduced especially on highways with low traffic volumes.

Under the highway commission's bare-pavement policy, all 9,400 miles of state highways will be kept plowed and passable during snow storms. But, highways having average daily traffic volumes of less than 3,500 vehicles will not be kept entirely bare if it snows in the late afternoon or evening.

Highways with more than 3,500 vehicles traveling them in a day will be kept bare 24 hours a day.

The cost of snow and ice removal on state highways was $17.1 million last year. This compared with an average of $13.4 million for the last five years.

The big increase was attributed to rising costs, a severe winter and the most severe ice storm ever.

Planning Body Redefines Role

Commission Plans to Make Changes

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission decided to apply the tools of its trade to itself at a recent meeting and attempt to set up a plan of action.

After completing regular business, the commissioners hashed over the role of the planning commission and the role it should be taking for more than two hours, County Planner William Mercer said.

Out of the brainstorming session came 35 concrete suggestions for action, Mercer said.

One of the chief complaints raised by the commissioners about the planning body was that it had fallen into a passive role. The commissioners felt they should become more active in enforcing zoning laws and in implementing planning principles, Mercer said.

One of the commissioners suggested that the planning body should take on the role of a "professional complainer," Mercer said. In this position, the planning commissioners would become more active in contacting townships about particular zoning problems and making sure that either something was done about the problem or that zoning was enacted to cover the problem area.

The commissioners felt they should even go so far as to embarrass the townships into zoning action, Mercer said.

In addition to becoming "professional complainers" about zoning, the commissioners also agreed they should become educators of county residents about the value and benefits of planning and zoning.

To accomplish this goal, the planning commissioners decided their own meetings needed an overhaul. Instead of always meeting in the Commissioners Room in the County Annex, the commission decided it should alternate its meeting sites every month, meeting in a different part of the county each time.

The form of the meeting will also be remodeled, Mercer said. The commissioners will attempt to finish their regular business in a pre-meeting meeting and then will spend the rest of the session in a concentrated educational effort discussing zoning and planning with the various township residents.

Slides, cassettes and written materials will be used to supplement the planning commissioners' discussions of land use development, Mercer said.

The planning commissioners also felt they should improve their relationship with the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, the county planner explained. The group felt in addition to working out its own goals, that it should discuss with the county commissioners the goals that board would like to see the planners accomplish.

The planning commissioners also felt their liaison with the county commissioners, Oscar Ward, should work with them more in conveying their ideas and in helping them explain their problems.

In other business at the recent meeting, the planners elected new officers. Walter Thorsen was re-elected chairman with Dennis Jason elected vice chairman and Edward Rebman secretary.

The planning commissioners also endorsed a $535,000 grant application for a construction project at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The commissioners also approved an amendment to the Melrose Township Zoning Ordinance and recommended that it be adopted by the township.

Swine Flu Clinics To Start Here On Nov. 14, Three Clinics Slated

Three public clinics for swine flu shots will be held in Charlevoix County in the next few weeks.

The first two clinics will be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 14 at the Charlevoix Elementary School and the Boyne City Elementary School cafeteria.

Clinics will also be held in Gaylord, Bellaire, Petoskey and Pellston on this date.

The third clinic will be held in the county from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 21, at the East Jordan Elementary School gymnasium. Clinics will also be held in Gaylord and Petoskey on this day.

Another clinic will be held on Sunday, Dec. 5, in Bellaire.

All of the clinics will be run under the direction of District Health Department 3 officials with the aid of volunteer nurses and doctors from throughout the area.

The clinics are free of charge and open to all residents.

Chronically ill children between the ages of 3 and 17 can obtain their first flu shot at the public clinics if they have a slip from their doctor requesting it.

Senior citizens planning to get their flu shot at the senior citizen center, should call the center for more information on scheduling.

Winter's Here--First Snowplow Out

The first snowplow of the year was spotted on the Boyne City Road Thursday morning.

Although there was no snow accumulation in the City of Charlevoix, the eastern counties and cities did receive between two and three inches of accumulation on the roads, making them slippery and difficult to negotiate.

"What you saw were a few blades," Charlevoix County Road Commission Foreman Will Nichols explained. "We were out early in the morning clearing the roads."

Nichols said the snow removal was the first of this season but it was by no means a record first.

"We've been out earlier than this in other years," he chuckled. "Usually Hudson and Chandler townships and others in that area get quite a bit of snow and we get out and remove it and then the next thing you know, it melts and we're all out in our shirt sleeves."

Apparently that's what happened this year, too. No snow could be found later in the afternoon.

High School Students Audition for Band

Twelve instrumentalists of the Charlevoix High School Symphony Band were in Gaylord Monday to audition for a chair in the MSBOA District II Honors Band according to Gary L. Stutzman, their director.

Young musicians from 45 school bands in District II north of a line from Traverse City to Alpena will be competing for a spot in the Honors Band which will be limited to less than 100 members, Stutzman explained. Each student competing is asked to play an etude and scales from Proficiency I. A panel of judges will be present to select the top young musicians.

Competing from Charlevoix were: clarinet, Joan Cook; flute, Laura Dziedzic; baritone saxophone, Donna Jones; trumpet, Kay Currey, Beth Begrow, Kris Fiedler, Geoff Nelson and Jean Lenhart; tuba, Greg Loper; French horn, Jeff Thuss; trombone, Kevin Kroll and percussion, Jeff Wellman.

The Honors Band will present its annual concert on Sunday, Dec. 5, at a site to be announced later. The students named to the Honors Band will gather on Saturday, Dec. 4, for sectional rehearsals directed by area band directors before appearing before Norman Dietz of Central Michigan University who will direct the Honors Band.

Music Department to Present First Band, Choral Concert

The Charlevoix High School Music Department will present its first concert of the present school year at the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 15, Gary L. Stutzman, who heads the department, has announced.

Appearing in the concert will be the Rayder Marching Band which has concluded its 1976 marching season; the 76-piece Concert Band composed of ninth and tenth grade students, both directed by Stutzman and the 35-member High School Choir directed by Steve Stargardt.

The 96-piece Marching Band will feature selections played during the recent marching season, Stutzman said. Among them will be the Theme from "Godspell", "Slaughter on 10th Avenue" along with other popular and traditional selections.

The Concert Band will be playing standard marches and popular selections it has been working on this fall Stutzman said, adding that this is a comparatively new organization which will be making its first public appearance. This organization is a training group for the symphony band.

The high school choir which has grown this year to include 35 members will present a varied program that will include such numbers as "Oh Praise Ye, The Lord", "Let Me Be the One", "Happy Together", a folk song, "The River is Wide" and a novelty number, "Pick a Little, Talk a Little" from the popular "Music Man".

The concert will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. There will be no charge but a free will offering will be accepted.

Questions Still Surround Fitzgerald Sinking

By TOM DAMMANN

"The Legend lives on from the Chippewa on down
of the big lake they called
Git-che Gumee.

"The lake, it is said never gives up her dead,
when the skies of November turn gloomy."

So begins the ballad, "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald", written and recorded by the Canadian composer-folk singer Gordon Lightfoot.

In the classic tradition, it honors the memory of 29 seamen who went some 500 feet to the bottom of Lake Superior aboard the freighter Edmund Fitzgerald in a tempest one year ago Wednesday, Nov. 10.

Mr. Lightfoot's record is presently the number one single in the nation on the lists compiled by trade journals, while the men it memorializes still lie in the twisted wreckage of the 729-foot steamer.

The Fitzgerald was bound from Superior, Wis., for Cleveland, Ohio, with about 26,000 tons of taconite pellets (iron ore) when disaster took her.

The Coast Guard unsuccessfully began a search and rescue operation, using air and surface craft, along the Canadian shore of eastern Lake Superior. On Nov. 12, Ninth District Headquarters in Cleveland, which covers the entire Great Lakes system, ordered a marine board of inquiry, whose report will not be released until early next year.

But already evidence seeping from the hearings the Board of Inquiry has conducted seems to substantiate what a Charlevoix man, retired Coast Guard Lt. Joseph Etienne said shortly after the disaster.

"Maybe there were hairline cracks in the hull, which suddenly ruptured," Etienne said then. "The captain also said the ship was listing, so if the hairline cracks ruptured and she flooded, she'd capsize and nobody could get out."

Apparently that is what happened. The Fitzgerald probably suffered bottom damage when she crossed a shallow shoal off Caribou Island some three hours before she reached the entrance of Whitefish Bay about 15 miles north of the Soo Locks, where she sank pounded by 30-foot waves driven by hurricane force winds clocked up to 90 miles an hour.

Last May, the Coast Guard sent a controlled underwater recovery vehicle, known as CUBV III, down to the wreck to take photographs and gather other data, which showed that the ship had broken in two with its stern now upside down.

Early in October, Retired Coast Guard Vice Admiral Paul E. Trimble, president of the Cleveland, Ohio, based Lake Carrier's Association, addressed the 50th Annual Propeller Club Convention and 1976 American Merchant Marine Conference in San Diego, Calif. He stated that "available data points more and more to bottom damage on the shoals near Caribou Island, in eastern Lake Superior as the start of the chain of events that led to the sinking of the Fitzgerald.

He disclosed that Capt. Jessie Cooper of the freighter Arthur M. Anderson, which had been following the Fitzgerald all that day "reported to his home office that he plotted the Fitzgerald through the shoal area described as 'six fathom (36 feet) shoals.' This shoal is in Canadian waters and was last sounded in 1915. At the request of the Coast Guard Board of Inquiry, Canada has resurveyed the area. Initial soundings reports reveal depths as shallow as 30 feet and also that the shoal is more extensive than shown on navigation charts.

"It was snowing, visibility was poor, wind was gusting to 80 miles per hour so the master could not have known his position accurately. It is thus fairly conclusive what happened to the Fitzgerald," Trimble reported to the convention.

The skipper of the Fitzgerald also radioed Capt. Cooper that he had begun listing and was taking on water. This all happened about 3½ hours before the ship sank while scurrying for shelter, Admiral Trimble said in a telephone interview.

Admiral Trimble speculated the Fitzgerald, which drew 27 feet, very probably hit bottom in the valley of a wave, which could have gone unnoticed in the din of the storm. He said the disaster has served to renew attention to ways and means for improving safety measures for ships operating on the Great Lakes in winter.

"For one thing, a skipper must know when he is in trouble," Admiral Trimble said. "We must develop a computerized hull monitoring system with an appropriate pilot house readout to interpret hull actions in all weather situations. If serious trouble develops, the master will be forewarned and can alert his crew, as well as broadcast his status."

He stressed the need for better weather reporting on the Great Lakes.

Meanwhile, Gordan Lightfoot's "Edmund Fitzgerald" is being played on radios across the nation, calling attention to more people than ever before the hazards encountered by sailors on the Great Lakes.

Lightfoot recently announced he will share his success by giving $10,000 toward the establishment of a scholarship fund in honor of two cadets of the Great Lakes Maritime Academy in Traverse City who were among the 29 men who went down with the Fitzgerald a year ago.

On Wednesday, all flags will fly at half mast at the Academy in memory of the two students Tom Bentsen, 26, of St. Joseph, Mich., and David Wiss, 19, of Canoga Park, Calif.

They are now, as the song concludes, part of the legend:

"Of the big lake they called
Git-che Gummee.
Superior, they said
Never gives up her dead
When the gales of November
Come early."

Carl D. Bradley Sunk in Charlevoix In Weather Conditions Like Fitzgerald

By PAULA HOLMES

On another fierce November night, in weather conditions similar to the ones that forced the Edmund Fitzgerald under, the Carl D. Bradley sank off of Boulder Reef between Gull and High islands near White Shoals Light Station in Lake Michigan.

The sinking of the 615-foot limestone carrier on Nov. 18, 1958, was the largest marine disaster in this area in recent times. Only two men of a crew of 35 sailors survived the shipwreck. The tragedy hit this area doubly hard because most of the crew members were from Rogers City and had friends and relatives in the Charlevoix area.

Joe Etienne, now a Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputy, was group commander for the U.S. Coast Guard aboard the Sundew during the rescue.

"The conditions were the same for the Bradley as for the Fitzgerald," Etienne recalled. "The wind was the same, blowing between 60 and 85 miles per hour and the waves were identical.

"Perhaps the crewmen on the Fitzgerald were in the same situation as those on the Bradley," the former Coastguardsman continued. "The crewmen on the Bradley heard a thump and then the ship began to sink as it split in half.

"You know, it only takes 20 seconds to put on a lifejacket, open a door and jump overside," he said. "The Bradley went down so fast, only 20 men were able to do that.

"With the Fitzgerald, we have evidence that no one was able to get their life jackets on in time," Etienne said.

"The only difference that I can see between the two is that the Bradley was caught in a storm and the Fitzgerald left in one," he said.

Bradley recalled the long evening spent searching for survivors of the shipwreck. He said the Sundew went out immediately following a Mayday call from the freighter and searched the waters. But gale-like winds and rough seas made it impossible for the cutter and other Coast Guard vessels to get near the wreck.

The cutter was back out on the job during the early morning hours, however, and it was then, 14 hours later, that the two survivors Elmer Fleming and Frank Mays were found straddling a life raft.

"The men had ice in their hair and on their life jackets when they were picked up," Etienne said describing the scene. "They had spent the night sliding on and off of the raft because of the tremendous waves.

"But I think that was what saved their lives," the sailor said. 'Because they had to keep moving in order to stay on the raft and that kept them from freezing to death.

"They suffered tremendous physical and mental anguish," he continued. "It was a terrible ordeal and they survived through something that I had never heard of anyone surveying from."

Etienne said he doubted if any of the crew members from the Fitzgerald would have survived even if they had gotten their life jackets on.

"You know how cold and fierce Lake Michigan gets," he said. "Well, Lake Superior is the same way, only colder.

"There would have had to be extraordinary circumstances for anyone to survive in those conditions," he theorized.

Why do ships continue to sail in November, knowing that they may fall into the same situation as the Bradley and the Fitzgerald?

"I don't know why," Etienne said. "Every captain is different and has his own reasons."

The former Coastguardsman said it had been shown statistically that November is always a bad month for carriers on the Great Lakes. Most of the ships have sunk during November and most of the deaths have occurred during November.

"You know, once a man has sailed for very many years, he feels that he has conquered all the elements and can weather every storm," the sailor said. "They begin to feel that no storm could be any worse than the last one he sailed in and that he can handle anything.

"Also there's a sense of pride," he continued. "If you can get that one last load of iron ore in, it increases your tonnage for the year, and that's quite a feather in your cap.

"And maybe you can go for one more load," he exclaimed.

Etienne said he hoped the investigation of the Fitzgerald sinking would result in some concrete improvements in communication systems to prevent further disasters.

"If ships are going to continue to sail under any circumstances and in any conditions, our only hope is to make major changes in communications," he said.

New Charlevoix Postmaster Appointed, Joseph Schwartzfisher Takes Over Duties

It was a pleasantly surprised and pleased Joseph Schwartzfisher who took over as Charlevoix Postmaster Saturday.

"I was told at 9 a.m. Friday that I would have the job," Schwartzfisher explained while sitting at his new desk Saturday. "It all happened quite fast."

The new postmaster said he had applied for the job along with two other people several months ago, but just received the results of his application.

Schwartzfisher said he is looking forward to his new duties and explained that the job was basically nothing new to him.

"A Superintendent at the Petoskey Post Office, I took over the postmaster's duties whenever he was gone," he explained. "So I am familiar with the job."

Schwartzfisher started his career with the postal service 19 years ago as a sub-clerk. He then advanced to a clerk position and then to a rural carrier position before becoming supervisor six years ago. All of his experience has been at the Petoskey Post Office.

The new postmaster said any changes that might be made at the Charlevoix Post Office would be gradual.

"As it stands now, things will proceed as is and then if I see anything that can be improved, those changes will be made," Schwartzfisher explained. "I just started the job, and I have to have time to get to know the operation before anything is changed.

"I am going to do the best I can to serve the community and to do a good job for the postal service and the community," the new postmaster explained.

"I request the cooperation and understanding of the community," he said.

Schwartzfisher and his wife, Louise, have four children—Linda, a student at Michigan State University; William, a student at North Central Michigan College; Andrew, a high school student; and James, an elementary school student. The family lives in Resort Township.

Schwartzfisher, said Wayne Chellis, who has been officer in charge since Postmaster Rex Davis left in March, will take over Schwartzfisher's job at the Petoskey Post Office.

Sports Boosters Sponsor Comedy Basketball Game

A comedy basketball game between the Harlem Diplomats and the Charlevoix Faculty scheduled for Tuesday at the high school gymnasium will launch the 1976-77 basketball season in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Sports Boosters will sponsor the special event which will bring to the Charlevoix gym a lot of fun and foolishness as the Diplomats set the tone of the game with their "Sweet Georgia Brown" routine under special black lights plus some football, baseball and razzle dazzle with the officials.

Recount In Commissioner's Race

Marianne Thomure, who last week lost the race for County Commissioner from the 14th District (2nd Ward of the City of Charlevoix) by six votes to incumbent Oscar Ward, has asked for a recount.

Ward received 322 votes to Mrs. Thomure's 316. Of Ward's votes, 222 were cast on the voting machine and 100 were paper absentee ballots. Mrs. Thomure's votes were 201 on the machine and 115 absentee ballots.

Mrs. Thomure's request was addressed to the Board of Election Commissioners and the Board of County Canvassers.

Editorials/Opinions

Don't Stop With Voting, Be Part of Government

The elections are over and once again Charlevoix County voters have decided who will represent them for the next few years.

And county residents turned out in force to voice their choice and to exercise their rights as citizens of the Democratic country we say we are.

But our responsibility as citizens does not stop at the voting booth. Now that we have elected our new officials we should not desert them.

We should continue to show the same enthusiastic support for our new and re-elected officials in their daily activities that we showed them during the election. It is hard for our elected officials to properly represent us if we don't let them know what we are thinking.

We urge you to take an active part in government at the township, city and county levels as well as at the state and national level. Don't wait for an election year to find out what your representative has been doing. Keep track of him or her and let the elected official know when you think something should be done or when you disagree with something that has been done.

We take pride in the fact that the government of this country is of the people, for the people and by the people. But if the people--and that's we voters--don't participate in government, it's hard for government to act in our interest.

Politicians Should Work To Find Needed Jobs

Jobs. That's an all important word these days.

And jobs and unemployment seems to be the center of citizens' concerns as well as the center of campaign rhetoric this fall.

Just last week, a car manufacturing plant in Pontiac was besieged by more than 5,000 people attempting to apply for a job. The factory had not even advertised that it would have openings. A notice was merely placed on the employees' bulletin board that applications were being taken.

People interested in working at the plant began lining up to be interviewed for the positions as much as 12 hours before the supposed interviews were to take place.

The unemployment problem is not just in Pontiac and not just in Michigan, although our state seemed to be harder hit than many others. It is everywhere and the problem is getting worse.

Politicians on the national, state and local level are urged to take note of what may soon grow into an uncontrollable situation. Jobs are needed and they are needed now. People can not wait one year to 18 months for Congress or State Legislatures to decide that something must be done. And they may not wait.

The people have done their part and elected officials they feel will represent them and act on their concerns. Hopefully, they will not be disappointed.

Politicians are urged to act swiftly on programs such as the one suggested by U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe before the elections, which would set up tax incentives for businesses encouraging them to expand or to set up additional plants in areas where unemployment is high, or to approve programs which President-elect Jimmy Carter has proposed to alleviate the unemployment situation.

Also taxes, such as the new Single Business Tax, which discourage the small businessmen or which may even force him out of business must be immediately corrected. We have waited almost a year now for changes and still they have not come.

Jobs. We need them now.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was sent to High School Principal Vane Smith who wanted to share the kind words with the entire school district.

Vane Smith, Principal
Charlevoix High School
Charlevoix, MI 49720

Dear Vane:

Just a word to let you know about that my wife and I enjoyed ourselves at the football game at your place last Friday.

We were pleased to see high school football as it is intended to be played. The crowds were good and the teams played with enthusiasm and desire.

The students and the communities showed the results of good leadership of the school personnel.

Post Office Blues

To the Editor:

The United States Postal Service was made a quasi-government corporation in 1970. The law which established this corporation gave it authority to unionize the same as private industry, with one exception--the right to strike.

The National Labor Agreement, which started immediately with the corporate structure, has provisions which are above and beyond anything in the private sector, such as no-layoff. Also, when labor disagrees with management's decisions, management cannot act. The decisions must go to arbitration, etc.

THE POSTAL SERVICE IS RESPONSIBLE TO NO ONE FOR ITS EXPENDITURES. ANY DEFICIT MUST BE PAID BY THE TAXPAYERS.

The salary structures which the U.S. Postal Service set for itself for management and labor have a ceiling of $63,000.++ A large number of management officers receive salaries which far exceed those of Senators and Congressmen. The Post Office labor force receives salaries which far exceed those for government employees. PRIOR TO THE FORMATION OF THE POSTAL CORPORATION, THESE WERE COMPARABLE.

Overstaffing and idle hours in the Postal Service is now a way of life. The law requires eight hours work for eight hours' pay in other agencies.

The union contract which the Postal Service negotiates with itself supersedes the law of our land. The financial problems in the Postal Service have been created because of this labor agreement. EXCESSIVE INCREASE IN POSTAGE HAS CAUSED A DECREASE IN MAIL VOLUME. Many of the major users are now finding alternate means in lieu of paying this price. The no-layoff provision in the contract leaves a fixed number work force with a decrease in mail volume. POSTAL EMPLOYEES RECEIVE HIGH PAY FOR DOING NOTHING. Unless the attrition rate equals the workload decreases, the imbalance between the manhours and the workload will continue. The no-layoff clause does not permit management to reduce the work force to correct the imbalance. An effective work measurement system has been eliminated, and each office is permitted to set its own work standards which supports this type of imbalance. EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY IN THE OPERATION OF THE POSTAL SERVICE UNDER THIS LABOR AGREEMENT ARE IMPOSSIBLE.

The upper management of the Postal Service has committed various acts to shield this truth from the public. Hearings before the subcommittee of the Congress when properly reviewed

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

Sunday afternoon I was standing at the kitchen counter preparing one of my culinary specialties--chicken stuffing--with four-year-old Danny perched on a stool nearby.

"There, that's the last of the dry ingredients," I said, crumpling several leaves of sage into the dried bread, celery and chopped onion. "Now for the liquid."

"What's liquid?" Danny asked between sips of buttermilk.

"Well, liquid is anything that runs when you pour it," I answered. "Like water or buttermilk."

"Or bicycles or motorcycles," Danny chimed in.

I was sure he was just being a wise guy, playing round with that terribly mystifying word "to run," but there was a genuine question in his voice. I decided to play along with the questioner.

"Or like candidates who run for public office, or like noses that run when you have a cold. Or like the refrigerator that still runs even though it stands in one place."

"There's lots of different ways you can run," Danny conceded and I agreed. Then I suddenly felt sorry for the little guy. Although his vocabulary is very fine for a four-year-old, most of the intricacies of the English language still lie ahead for him.

Why do we use "GH" for a sound that is obviously "F."

Why all that business about the "I's" and the "E's" before "C's"--when the sound always comes out the same?

Why isn't "ain't" a good word to use? It's a word, isn't it, just like all the others?

Why shouldn't you use prepositions to end sentences?

And, by the way, what is a preposition?

What's wrong with splitting infinitives and letting your participles dangle?

Why do you spell liquid with a "Q" when there is obviously a big "K" right in the middle of it--"licKwood?"

Although I have a few years on Danny, English remains one of the world's most mystifying languages with its many inconsistancies and seemingly arbitrary rules governing spelling and sentence construction. Certainly it would be a very difficult language to learn unless you were born into it.

Old George B. Shaw, a master of English prose, was quick to point out its absurdities. He said the word "FISH", under current standards of pronunciation, could be spelled just as properly "GHOTI." "GH", of course, is the "F" sound from "rough"; "O" is the "I" sound from "WOMEN": the "TI" is "SH" sound from "POSITION."

But in his four score years as a master of the language, G.B.S. was unable to effect any changes. I am afraid Danny is just going to have to learn English, "as she is spoke."

I don't like to jump on a fellow during his first week as president-elect, but it apparently hasn't taken Jimmy Carter very long to fall into the pitfalls of the famous.

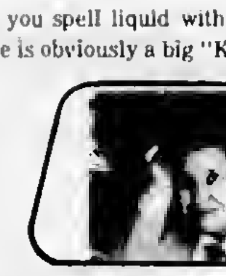
The last vote had hardly been counted when Carter and kinfolk took off by presidential jet for the Georgia coast where they are guests as the posh resort home of Smith Bagley, an heir to the R.J. Reynolds tobacco fortune.

Apparently Carter already has forgotten that Jerry Ford's defeat can be laid, at least in part, to the favors he accepted from big steel interests, including golfing weekends at swanky resorts.

The first time legislation crosses Carter's desk that could be detrimental to tobacco interests, I wonder what the new president will do?

Oh, it's a tough job, I know. Are you supposed to forsake your friends and relatives and turn your back on all kinds of nice favors just because you live in the White House?

Maybe so.



Erma Bombeck

My son never fails to amaze me. At age 21, he has come up with a new way to break his neck. It's called a skateboard.

Frankly, I'm tired. I've dedicated my entire life to keeping that kid whole and at a time of my life when I should be eating chocolate sandwiches and getting up at the crack of noon, I'm a bundle of nerves.

It started with the two-wheel bicycle. As I ran along beside him, clutching his sweater with one hand and the bicycle seat with the other, I yelled, "You could kill yourself on this thing." Sure enough, my housecoat caught in the spokes and I almost made a wheel out of myself.

The pogo stick was worse. As he sprung about the house, his head inches from the ceiling, I tried to shield him from falling into a lamp and he lost his balance...pinning me between the floor and his body, causing me severe pain.

When he wanted a horse, I tried t warn him that I just wasn't up to it, but did he listen? He did not. As I led the beast around by the reins, I was repaid for my vigilance by being stomped on by a 1500-pound horse.

"We are not going out for football," I told him the summer of his 15th year. "What do you mean what has that got to do with me? I'm your mother. If you want to kill your mother, I can't stop you, but every Mother's Day...mark my word...you're going to feel just terrible." (I carry with me today a trick knee suffered when I ran onto the playing field with an extra mouthpiece to protect $1500 worth of braces.)

It never ended. He jumped off the high board at the pool just to give me stomach cramps and just when I thought I had myself under control, he came home with his learner's permit to drive. (The only boy I know who was given a ticket for going 25 mph...in reverse.)

I thought all of it was behind me until the other night when he was leaving the house with this little board with the wheels under his arm.

"Where are you going?" I asked.

"Trying to find an empty swimming pool, a hill, or a paved ditch. Then I am going to balance myself on this little board up the side of it until I fall off."

I climbed on the skateboard, clutched him around the waist and closed my eyes. "Why don't you like your mother?" I whimpered.

The 'Guts of Autumn'

If you went hunting, and you stepped into a pile of cow guts, bones and stale sweet rolls, would you say you stepped in some garbage?

I don't know what kind of sweet rolls. Maybe Sara Lee. But don't be frivolous. That is serious.

The garbage question could become a matter of debate in a $300 million lawsuit. It touches upon the integrity of the outdoor sportsman.

Essentially, I am pondering the difference between a hunter's gun and his table scraps. When a hunter is preparing for a safari, should he pack cow guts along with his telescopic sight?

It was about a year ago that I first became aware of the relationship between garbage and hunting. It was demonstrated on that now infamous CBS-TV show "The Guns of Autumn," which made hunters look as brave and adventurous as your Aunt Minnie with a fly swatter.

One sequence showed hunters sneaking up on bears feeding at a garbage dump and shooting them dead. This was a dangerous deed requiring the same skill and bravery displayed by the man who turns on the gas at the dog pound.

Hunters everywhere were outraged by the TV show. They claimed CBS had shown the world a distorted picture, portraying all the worst things hunters do, and none of the marvelous things, such as protecting the world from rampaging pheasants.

Michigan hunters were especially upset because the garbage dump killings were filmed in their state. The Michigan United Conservation Clubs sued CBS for $3 million on behalf of the state's 1 million hunters. The case is pending.

As a nonhunter, I was encouraged by the angry hunters' retorts to CBS. They said no decent hunter would hang around dumps, shooting hungry bears attracted to the spot by the fragrant allure of garbage.

Certainly there are a few slob hunters who should wear a butcher's apron. But every sport has some unnecessarily cruel players. I once knew a baseball player who, after hitting a home run, would slide into the pitcher's mound.

It would be extremely unfair to judge all hunters by those few who shoot bears in the rear ends while their snouts are buried in 2-week-old potato salad.

That's what all the real hunters, the true sportsmen, said. CBS even gave them a second TV show upon which to air their righteous defense. And outdoor writers filled sports pages with indignant protestations of innocence.

And I believed them. If I had been a bear, I would have moved out of my den and into a garbage dump. Verily, only 1 hunter in 3 million would stoop to using garbage to lure a bear to his death.

That's a lot better odds than Goldilocks faced in her quest for porridge.

But then I read about Mrs. Paul Payne, a member of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club. She recently killed a bear in Colorado with a bow and arrow.

Mrs. Payne told a reporter she shot the bear from a distance of seven yards, almost enough for a first down. She also had to shoot down 10 feet because she was up in a tree when the bear stopped below to eat.

Eat what? A mixture of cow guts, bones and sweet rolls.

It may sound like garbage to you, but it was bait to Mrs. Payne. She put it out for bear, the same way fishermen use minnows.

It almost didn't work. When the huge bear first appeared, Mrs. Payne was slow in firing. It was her first bear hunt, and she thought the bear would dine right there, but instead he grabbed a hunk of gut and ran back into the brush.

Fortunately, the bear had a big appetite. 15 minutes later, he was back for more guts and sweet rolls. This time Mrs. Payne got him between 2 ribs and into his lungs.

Before he died, the bear crawled 70 yards, almost far enough for a touchdown.

Remembering the CBS garbage dump you might think sportsmen everywhere would be angered by this baited kill. Wrong, dummy. Sportsmen everywhere are lauding Mrs. Payne. She is, in fact, going into the record book.

Her bear's skull measures 19 and 4/16 inches, which would make it the second or third largest black bear ever killed in the United States by a woman archer. But that's tentative.

Final measurements can't be made until next month when skull shrinkage will determine Mrs. Payne's exact standing in the records.

Before final honors are bestowed, it will probably also be necessary to evaluate Mrs. Payne's hunting equipment. I wonder if she is keeping the cow guts, bones and sweet rolls in her freezer? Casserole a la Dumpo.

Meet Charlevoix

...Nancy Taylor

Nancy Taylor is in her third year of teaching at the Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery School. This week she talks with the Courier about the goals of the Nursery School and how it operates.

COURIER: How many classes do you have in the school?

TAYLOR: We have two, two-day morning sessions and one, two-day and one, three-day afternoon session. I teach the afternoon sessions and Dorothy Miller teaches the morning sessions.

COURIER: How many students altogether?

TAYLOR: There are 17 in each session, for a total of 68.

COURIER: Who is eligible to attend the school.

TAYLOR: Children who are three, four and five years old. They must be three by the first of December and be toilet trained.

COURIER: How is the school financed?

TAYLOR: In two ways, by parents who pay tuition and through Title I, a government funded program similar to Head Start for children who meet certain requirements of need. We have 15 Title I children.

COURIER: Why is the school called "cooperative"?

TAYLOR: Because parents are required to work at the school one session a month and to work on committees and attend meetings. We now have two dads who work with us and would welcome more. The children love them.

COURIER: Do you have any openings at this time?

TAYLOR: No, we're filled up and have a waiting list. However, we may be able to take a five-year-old or two in January. Parents wishing to put their children on the waiting list or who want further information about the school should call Jean Rowe at 547-9774.

COURIER: Where does the Nursery School meet?

TAYLOR: In the Elementary School. However, we do not use any of the Elementary School's supplies or its janitorial services. We have our own equipment which we've accumulated over the seven years the school has been in existence. We've bought it, had it donated or made it. Many of the local businesses have given us such things as wood, plastic, and paper. Everyone in town has been very cooperative.

COURIER: What do you hope to be able to accomplish with a Nursery School child during the course of a year?

TAYLOR: We try to make him feel he is super special--glad of what he can do and willing to try other things without fear of failure. We try to make him able to get along with others and to express his feelings positively without negative reactions such as hitting. We try to show him learning is fun and school is fun. We help him realize he can be away from mom for two and a half hours without panic. We try to make him ready for learning at school, physically, mentally and socially ready.

COURIER: How do you go about that?

TAYLOR: We start with socialization--getting along with others--and continue that all year. We work on sensory perceptions, smelling, tasting and feeling. We do a lot of cooking. We work on interactions among the children and getting them to ask adults for help. We play games. We make all kinds of things. We work with colors. We do finger painting. We use macaroni to teach shapes--this will help them later in learning letters of the alphabet. While we don't teach the alphabet or numbers as such, the children learn to count and recognize letters through games and songs and finger plays. We use the gym ten minutes a day. We stress re-enforcement by letting the parents know what we will be doing in school so they can do the same thing at home. In this way, school is part of the family. It is important because the whole family gets involved. Education shouldn't be just school. Some people have the misconception that Nursery School is permissive. It isn't. We have a rule that children "can't do a don't".

COURIER: You take a lot of field trips, don't you?

TAYLOR: Yes. The whole community has been helpful in this respect. We have gone to dentists' offices, the hospital, maple syrup shack, a gas station, a horse farm to see the young colts, an apple orchard, the Sundew, the fish hatchery--almost any place that would be of interest to young children. We go in car pools so the parents get involved, too.

COURIER: Do people go to school to talk to the children?

TAYLOR: Yes. For instance, a member of the police department talked to them about Hallowe'en safety. He brought his police car and the children climbed through it, blew the siren and had a great time.

COURIER: The Nursery School used to meet in the basement of the library, didn't it?

TAYLOR: Yes, but it's much better having it in the Elementary School. We are right next to the kindergarten rooms where the children will be going soon. They can see their friends who have "graduated" from Nursery School. They get the feeling of going to school. It is also good for the parents because they get to see what school is all about.

COURIER: What kind of meetings do you have for parents?

TAYLOR: Among others, we have enrichment meetings. Recently we had a guest speaker, Linda Masser, from Lincoln who talked about physical fitness and how it affects learning.

COURIER: Do Nursery School teachers have to be certified?

TAYLOR: Yes, both Dorothy Miller and I are certified but we're still going to school in Traverse City for further classes. The school itself is licensed by the State and inspected by the Health Department and Social Services, among others. We belong to several Nursery School organizations, among them the Northern Michigan Council of Co-op Nurseries. We share ideas with each other.

COURIER: Where did Nursery Schools start?

TAYLOR: They started in Europe and spread gradually to the United States, especially on college campuses where they served as training grounds for student teachers. In the early days, Nursery School teachers were psychiatrists, nurses and social workers.

COURIER: Do you have children of your own?

TAYLOR: Yes, Charlie and I have a daughter, Karen, who is 13 and a son, Steve, who is 12. They are both in the Middle School.

COURIER: Did they go to Nursery School?

TAYLOR: No, but I wish they had. It would have helped a lot to make their early school years easier.

will clearly identify the fabrications. How can Congress or the President ignore this when conduct of a similar nature in the Executive Branch of the government brought about the removal of the President of this Nation.

The investigative arm of the Congress, known as the General Accounting Office, has presented reports and testimony which are absolute fabrications. Documents proving these fabrications are in the hands of Congress. For Congress to use these reports while in the process of preparing legislation for laws to govern this Nation is a damnable act. The need to refer this to the Justice Department for an in-depth probe is of the utmost importance if our government and the nation's business is to function properly. The Board of Governors, the Postmaster, the entire upper management of the United States Postal Service should be held responsible and accountable for the multi-billion dollar waste which they and they alone are responsible for.

I invite everyone interested in an efficient U.S. Postal Service to write their Congressman and make their views known.

++The only limit on U.S. Postal Service salary is that no employee can make over $63,000. The total subsidy for the current fiscal year is 1.5 billion, plus an estimated deficit of 1.4 billion, representing a total amount the taxpayers have to shell out annually, plus the price of stamps.

Save up to $75 in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

Nobody likes higher Gas bills, including us at Michigan Consolidated. But because the cost of Gas we buy from our suppliers has gone up your Gas bills will be higher this winter than they were last year.

So it makes sense to stretch each dollar's worth of Gas just as far as possible, and to keep your Gas bills as low as you can. One way to do this is by insulating your home.

Once again, Michigan Consolidated is offering a low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program designed to conserve Natural Gas and save you money.

Since the program's introduction nearly three years ago, more than 115,000 of our customers have installed ceiling insulation, and have cut their home heating costs by as much as 17% each year. Based on current Gas prices, this means you may be able to reduce your own heating costs by as much as $75.00 from what they might be without insulation, starting right this winter.

If you do the job yourself, you should be able to buy insulation for a home with 650 sq. ft. of attic space for about $125.00. That means you'll probably save enough Gas to pay for the material in less than two years. Our free Do-It-Yourself Insulation Handbook tells you how. Pick one up at any of our customer business offices or any participating retail outlet. Or call or write, and we'll mail you a copy.

If you'd rather not do the job yourself, one of our participating insulation subcontractors can. The cost? About $250.00 for homes with less than 1000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. You can pay 20% down and pay the balance without interest over your next three Gas bills. Or you can make extended payments at an interest rate of 1% per month on the unpaid balance (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%).

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program? We'd like to help you cut your heating costs and we'll both be working to save our country's valuable Natural Gas supplies.

We do care about your tomorrow.

Former Resident Named Distinguished Employee

By FRAN MARTIN

A former Charlevoix resident, Ritchie T. Davis, a lieutenant in the Michigan State Police, was among the six persons to receive the Governor's Award for Distinguished Public Employees recently.

Davis, along with the other winners, will be presented a signed plaque by Governor Milliken on Wednesday, Nov. 10, to commemorate the event.

The annual competition, created in 1969 by Governor Milliken, is to recognize career public employees who make a superior contribution in the service of the taxpayer.

Annually three state and three local government employees are selected on the basis of such characteristics as diligence, sustained superior performances, accomplishment, ingenuity, efficiency, integrity and devotion to the principles of public service according to Robert E. Pickup, chairman of the Governor's Award Commission.

Davis' career with the Michigan State Police began in July, 1963. The following year he was cited for lifesaving when he administered artificial resuscitation to a 19-year-old injured motorist.

He was selected as an instructor in the Michigan State Police Training Academy in December, 1965. During that time he organized and developed a continuing educational program including first aid services, driver training instruction and educational seminars. In 1967, he was assigned to the Personnel Division of the Michigan State Police where he rose to his present rank of lieutenant and Assistant Commander of the Personnel Division.

He has done extensive work in the Police Recruiting Division where he has been a guest lecturer at the Michigan State Police Training Academy and the Michigan State University Criminal Justice School. He has also conducted several seminars on safety and driver training.

A native of Charlevoix, Davis is the son of Mrs. R.T. Davis now of Haslett and the late Mr. Davis. He resided here until the family moved to Tecumseh when Davis was in Junior High. He is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and has a degree in Criminal Justice from Michigan State University. He is married to the former Sandra Biederman of Tecumseh. They have four children and make their home in Williamston.

Gail, Rod Stebbins Write Home About Sailing Trip

The following letter was received by Joyce and George Duke from Rod and Gail Stebbins about their sailing trip south.

The Stebbins are the managers of the Irish Boat Shop in Charlevoix and Stebbins has been on the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Yacht Club since the club opened. The Dukes thought other Charlevoix residents might be interested in the following note.

Joyce and George,

Thought of you guys a couple of days ago and for a couple of reasons.

First of all we were thinking of the CYC Hallowe'en Party and how we wished we could be with you all. Hope the party was a success and with no casualties!

Also—a couple of days ago we met on the waterway a young man cruising south in his Dufour 27 sailboat. His name was Tony Stapelton who claimed that his family used to own a home in Charlevoix. From his description we guessed it was the home you now occupy. Is that possible?

Our cruise has been great in spite of less than ideal weather. The continuous weather broadcast has just reported that October 1976 was the coldest October in recorded history in Charleston, S.C., where we should be day after tomorrow!

We're in the great migration South! Some 10,000 plus boats cruise South down the waterway each year, so we're in plenty of company. We now are some 2,600 miles out from Charlevoix.

Hey! Cruising south in thermal underwear is not what we had in mind last August when we left. We're seeing beautiful country—best seen by water. You should make this trip sometime.

Best wishes,
Rod and Gail

Poster Contest On Snowmobile Safety Slated

A snowmobile safety poster contest has been announced by the Michigan Association of Recreation Snowmobilers (MARS).

The contest, open to all Michigan children between the ages of 11 and 16, will feature a grand prize of a Ski-Doo Olympique snowmobile.

MARS was formed last summer to promote snowmobile safety and to work with local snowmobile clubs on a statewide basis in developing more groomed trails through legislation.

All posters must pertain to snowmobile safety on the road. The posters may be submitted on any material, in black and white or color, with a minimum poster size of 8 by 10 inches. The name, age, address and name of snowmobile club or school should be placed on the back of the poster.

All entries must be postmarked prior to Jan. 10, 1977. Send entries to: MARS, P.O. Box 1034, Grand Rapids, Mich., 49501.

Posters will be judged in three age groups—11-12, 13-14 and 15-16 — with prizes awarded in each group. The snowmobile will be awarded to the best poster submitted regardless of age.

Diabetes Testing On Nov. 12

The Charlevoix Area Hospital will give screening blood tests for diabetes this Friday, November 12, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. An incorrect date was given in last week's Courier.

The tests are part of National Diabetes Week, which is being celebrated November 7 to 13, and are conducted in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association and the Michigan Affiliate, Inc. at no cost to the public.

Persons taking the tests should not eat for at least an hour before the tests. The testing procedure will take approximately 30 minutes.

MAYNARD NEWTON, chairperson of the Little Traverse Conservancy gives Mrs. Woodbury Ransom a membership card to the conservancy. The Ransoms donated 80 acres to the land conservancy last week.

Ransoms Donate Land to Conservancy

Eighty acres of rolling terrain overlooking Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan were preserved for posterity this week.

The Woodbury Ransoms of the Belvedere Club and Chicago, donated the acreage and their guest cottage to the Little Traverse Conservancy.

The Conservancy is a four-year-old nonprofit organization dedicated to protecting the quality of the area through the preservation of land in Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Mackinac counties.

The organization, founded by a group of Emmet County environmentalists, has grown to approximately 55 members and has so far preserved four parcels of land or about 140 acres for general public benefit and use.

The only other parcel in Charlevoix County is a four-acre parcel, Clipperview, in Norwood Township. The remaining parcels are in Emmet County. The Conservancy also holds a two-year lease on an 102-acre parcel in Emmet County.

"We've always used this place as a guest cottage," Mrs. Ransom explained about the house and land. "But this last summer we only had one guest for one week the whole time. We decided that if we weren't going to use it any more than that, we should give the land to the Conservancy."

The cottage, which is fashioned after Japanese architecture, was constructed after Mrs. Ransom and her son visited Japan. It is her son's estate which is supporting the newly-organized Chip Ransom Counseling Center in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Ransom explained that a portion of the 80 acres had always been maintained as a public picnic ground.

"When we first built here, people came to us and asked us not to fence off the area that had always been a picnic site," she said. "We had thought about fencing the area, but decided not to after that."

The land will continue to be open to the public for picnic use under the Conservancy, too, Maynard Newton, chairperson of the organization, said.

"Part of the deed restriction requires that the area be maintained for picnickers," Newton said. "And we will do that."

Newton said the Conservancy is also looking for a married couple to live in the guest cottage and act as caretakers for the building and the picnic grounds. He said any couple interested in the job should contact him or John Fischer in Harbor Springs.

The Conservancy will maintain land with any type of deed restriction specifying use for hiking trails or picnic areas, but it prefers to receive vacant land in its natural state, because those lands are less subject to public abuse, Newton said.

"You won't mind if I come out to visit from time to time and look at the view will you?" Mrs. Ransom asked as she prepared to leave the cottage for the last time.

"Oh no," Newton said. "Be our guest."

THE COTTAGE on the Ransom property imitates Japanese architecture with its pagoda style roof and bridge pathway from the porch.

Date for Mothers March Set Jan 24-26

The 1977 Charlevoix County March of Dimes Campaign will open with the annual Mother's March, Jan. 24, 25 and 26.

The March of Dimes directors also appointed chairpeople during a recent meeting. Appointed were: Janet Ready, Charlevoix chairperson and case work consultant; Dorothy Porter, school liaison and county information director; Linda Wojan, publicity; and Barbara Terry, liaison with the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Other chairpeople appointed were: Vicki Voisin, Charlevoix campaign; the Child Study Club, Boyne City campaign; Sue Wodzinski and Janet McKinnon, East Jordan campaign and Vera Wojan, Beaver Island campaign. Roger Rozema will continue as treasurer.

The March of Dimes collected $5,277.62 in the county last year. Of that amount, $3,000 was spent locally with the rest of the funds used to help national programs.

Mrs. Ready said $500 was disbursed directly to five county residents who requested medical assistance.

Checks for $1,000 and $1,500 were presented to the Charlevoix Area Hospital for the purchase of a fetal monitor and for a radiant heat warmer for use in the obstetrical department.

Another $150 was used to help send Mary Terryberry, R.N. at the Charlevoix hospital to a neonotology clinic in Kalamazoo.

In addition to the financial assistance, Mrs. Ready said the March of Dimes has offered films, literature, and speakers to the hospital and schools throughout the county.

The organization also provided films used in the childbirth program sponsored by the Hospital Women's Guild.

March of Dimes also is purchasing all the films and materials used by William Mosher, M.D., in a series of six modules entitled "The First Six Hours of Life," that is now being presented to the obstetrical staff at the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

First Cub Scout Pack II Meeting Draws 86 Cubs, Webelo Scouts, 20 Leaders at School

Cub Scout Pack II composed of 11 dens and two Webelo groups got off to an excellent start under the guidance of Terry Salmonson as Cub Master and held its first pack meeting at the K-5 school gymnasium recently.

Eighty-six Cub and Webelo Scouts attended. There are still some openings for youngsters who might still like to join the Cubs. Assisting with the dens are 20 leaders.

John Gagnon is Cub Scout Committee chairman.

At the pack meeting, Den 9 was awarded the trophy presented by Cub Master Salmonson to the den showing the most achievement and merit points. A new winner will be named at each pack meeting.

Many awards for the Bobcat and Wolf badges as well as Gold and Silver Arrows and Webelo Badge recognitions for achievements earned were presented during the meeting.

Den 1 was in charge of the opening flag ceremony and Den 2 presented a skit.

Library notes

We wish we could be more charitable about the "How It Was", the new biography about Hemingway written by his wife Mary Welsh Hemingway. Perhaps a more appropriate title might have been "Life with Papa". Mary had to have been a woman of spirit and grit to put up with the off-again-on-again, stormy marriage, and her story would be worth hearing if she could tell it straight. But "How It Was" is merely a hodgepodge of fancy phrases and household hints. It is, sadly, about 500 pages of dull writing and 25 pages of table talk.

Another book which is not quite up to snuff is "Sleeping Murder", the last and final book published by Agatha Christie. Written many years ago, it is a fair Christie mystery but not one of her spectacular stories. In any case, it's the last of her books we will have and the world is a little gayer because of it.

Now for the good news. "Wednesday the Rabbi Got Wet" by Harry Kemelman is, we think, the best of this very funny author's novels. Rabbi David Small has become one of the most endearing sleuths in modern fiction. Anyone who has not yet become acquainted with Rabbi Small and Barnard's Crossing has a treat in store.

And more good news. The arrival of "Storm Warning", by Jack Higgins, the author of "The Eagle Has Landed" which has been such an enormous success, and which will soon be released as a major motion picture. His new book is about World War II. It is an original, exciting and suspenseful tale about a 3-masted sailing vessel which slipped out of a Brazilian port with a crew of 22 men and 5 nuns as passengers. The destination was German over 5,000 miles of storm-swept ocean barred by the overwhelming military might of American and British forces—both on sea and in the air. The reader will have to take it from there.

"The Nonsuch Lure" is a lovely book. Written by the distinguished Tudor biographer, Mary Luke, whose high sense of drama and gift for historical detective work has won her international acclaim. This, her first novel, begins in the modern era and moves back through pre-Revolutionary Virginia to Tudor times. The author has such a feeling and imagination for the old English houses and palaces, that we almost feel as though she, too, had been there.

Ellsworth

Mrs. Anne Osterbaan
Phone 588-2433

Now, that the "hub bub" is over, schools are in session, every one back to normal, big events are over and there is room for more local news, I will try and report the news of our village and community again.

The summer of 1976 will be quite a memory, some hot days, some cold days (went to bed with cold feet that first week and last week in August) Our gardens and field which started out with such a wonderful growth, languished during the dry spell and some crops were shortened, but we still have much to be thankful for.

Douglas Daining, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Daining is in the Little Traverse Hospital. He is recuperating from burns on both hands, which he received, when he fell and landed in a hot charcoal fire. The family were on a camping trip and little Doug was first taken to a Newberry Hospital and then to Little Traverse.

Leonard and Polly Alward Strange celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heeres. They have 5 children and 5 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. John Denny of Marion Center Road, Charlevoix won the beautiful hand quilted BiCentennial quilt raffled at the chicken Bar-be-cue at Ellsworth on August 21, 1976.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wassenaar of Rural Route Ellsworth, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Wesleyan Fellowship Hall on September 18, 1976. They have 3 children and 9 grandchildren. Mrs. Wassenaar was the former Josie DeYoung.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard VanderArk, Mr. and Mrs. James Rubingh, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. George Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. William Boss, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Drenth and Grace Klooster attended the Christian Reformed Churches retreat for Bible study and prayer at Cadillac recently.

Mrs. Cora VanAndel and her sister Effie Weidenaar and the latter's son Reynold Weidenaar of Grand Rapids were visitors with Hattie Kuiper and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kuiper.

Dr. and Mrs. Jerrian VanDellen, went to Detroit and with their son Ken and family, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary, which was September 10.

Maggie Reamsma and daughter Jennet were in Grand Rapids recently to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Rius. Maggie and Mrs. Rius are sisters. Anne Osterbaan accompanied the Reamsma's and visited with her sister Margie Osterbaan.

Grace Klooster has returned from a visit to her son Alex and family in Ann Arbor and her daughter Beverly in Grand Rapids. Beverly and her friend Trudi Huisman have just returned from a three week trip to the Netherlands.

Visitors at the home of Ronald and Darlene Smith and daughter Christy of Elk Rapids were Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster.

Pastor Marvin VanderVliet of the Christian Reformed Church will preach his farewell sermon on September 26, 1976. He has accepted the call of Cutlerville Hills, Grand Rapids to be their pastor. The local consistory has made a duo Rev. Gerald E. DeVries of Alto, Wisconsin and Daniel W. DeGroot of Calvin College Seminary. At Monday's, Sept. 20, congregational meeting the call was extended to Daniel W. DeGroot.

Mr. Confletti, Superintendent of the Ellsworth Community School reports that 321 pupils enrolled on September 8, 1976, this includes the kindergarten, who came in on Thursday morning. Mrs. Confletti says that there is a decrease in students from grades 7 through 9 and a slight increase in students in the high school. Mr. Ruis, Principal, reports 6 less teachers were hired on the teaching staff, due to the defeating of the millage proposition.

Mr. Krause, Superintendent of the Ebenezer Christian School, reports everything is well under control and most children are glad to be back in school. There are 68 students enrolled, 23 students in Miss Postma's room, 19 students, in Miss Pdbng's room and 26 students in Mr. Krause's room. This is an increase of 5 students over last year. There are 38 families represented this year with children coming from Ellsworth, Atwood, Pleasant Valley, Central Lake and East Jordan.

In lieu of the no sports decision, due to the failure of the millage proposal for the Ellsworth Community School, the members of the Sport Boosters' Club have decided to come to the rescue and have made a decision to help by raising money from different sources. One is to have a membership drive, cards will be printed and as their part to make money, the students will be canvassing the community for dues, which are $5 per couple and $2.50 for single ones. They will also be out for donations. The Club will be selling ads, the latter to be worked out. Mr. Si Doctor Jr., President, wants people to know everyone is welcome, who are interested in giving a boost. This means, also non-members. The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, September 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the "Gym."

Maude Patterson and her brother Ernest Best have returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peltier of Muskegon.

Marvin Wynsma was a patient at Little Traverse Hospital after surgery on an infected hand. He returned home on Sunday.

ST. MARY'S School students got a chance to learn by doing last week. The students went on a field trip to the Charlevoix County Humane Society to learn how the organization worked. It looks like the animals made more of an impression on the students.

Ironton

Mrs. Ross Alexander

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards are spending the winter in their home in Clearwater, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Fairbanks of Grand Rapids are the new owners of the Pauline Canfield home on Sweetbrier Lane. They are former Charlevoix residents having owned the Bake Shop and have owned and operated a Bake Shop in Grand Rapids several years. We welcome them back and in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Saunders and family have returned home after spending the last ten days visiting Floridas Disneyland and other interesting places.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Parsons are busy harvesting their cabbage crop and getting it ready for the Market.

Mrs. Glen Williams is visiting her daughter Linda and family in California for several weeks before going to her winter home near Punta Gorda, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Letts have returned to their home in Houston, Tex. after spending several weeks in their Sequanota home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison have returned from Pontiac and attending the Billy Graham Services.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Carson are building a new home on Fifth Street on the east side of M66 across from the Jiffy Market.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe have returned from taking a color tour through the Upper Peninsula and visiting friends in Ishpeming.

The Robert Winchesters of Charlevoix have purchased the Cook Cottage on Sweet Brier Lane. It is one of our Pioneer Homes of the furnace days and was moved from the north side at the foot of the hill on Fifth Street going toward the lake. When I first came to Ironton it was the home of Nelson Christensen and his sister, Mrs. Marie Blissett of Charlevoix.

Luck of the Draw Determines Which Tax Returns Receive Audit

For the average taxpayer living in Charlevoix County, what are the chances of his Federal income tax report getting a thorough checkup this year?

To some extent, the luck of the draw will decide. A certain proportion of all returns, taken at random, will be scanned. Others, because of arithmetical errors or because some entries seem to be out of line, will be selected by the Internal Revenue Service computers for further examination.

The auditors will have before them various guidelines. A principal one concerns the relationship of the itemized deductions listed to the amount of income reported. If the ratio seems to be unusually high, a more detailed check will be made.

For Charlevoix County taxpayers to know what is typical in the matter of deductions would be very helpful.

A study made by the Commerce Clearing House, authority on tax law, based upon national data supplied by the IRS, indicates just how much the deductions have amounted to in recent years at each income level.

In general, it shows, families throughout the country with earnings equal to the Charlevoix County average, have been listing deductions of $2,900 or approximately 24 percent of their income.

Among those with lower than average earnings, the deductions taken usually represent a relatively large proportion of their earnings. On the other hand, those in the higher brackets have smaller deductions on a percentage basis, although the dollar amount is greater.

The figures show that while local families at the $8,000 to $9,000 level will be having deductions of $2,520, if they conform with the average elsewhere, those in the $10,000 to $15,000 bracket will be listing approximately $2,920.

Of the $2,900 in deductions generally taken by families whose incomes equal the Charlevoix County average, $360 is for contributions, $1,047 for interest on loans, installment debt and the like, $1,058 for state and local taxes and $435 for medical and dental outlays.

The Commerce Clearing House cautions that the deduction figures are merely a guide to what most people have been listing and that proper records must be kept to support all claims.

EPA Establishes System For Reporting Poisonings

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has established a computerized pesticide poisoning reporting system to aid doctors and other health care workers in the identification of cases of pesticide poisoning.

The system outlines the symptoms of certain poisonings and recommends antidotes for the poison. It also indicates if there are any long term effects from continuous exposure to the pesticide.

Pesticide poisoning mimics a host of other symptoms, so the EPA suggests that people remember when they have been in contact with any type of pesticide. The EPA also urges citizens to report any symptoms to the health department so that it can be included in the data bank of the computer.

Jaycees, Farm Bureau Searching For Outstanding Young Farmer

The search is on for this year's Outstanding Young Farmer.

The Michigan Jaycees and Farm Bureau Insurance Group have teamed up for the second year in a row to honor farmers between the ages of 18 and 35 in communities throughout Michigan for their contributions to agriculture, conservation and the community.

The Jaycees have sponsored the program independently for 11 years. Nominations for the award are made by Jaycee chapters and individuals throughout the state. Entries are submitted to the local chapter or to the Michigan Jaycee Office in Lansing.

Chapters also select a local outstanding young farmer. Nominees must be farm operators who derive at least two-thirds of their income from farming.

Full information is available from the local Jaycee chapter.

Carelessness Cause of Most Hunting Accidents

By PAULA HOLMES

In a few days, the woods will be crawling with hunters as well as deer. And in a few days, newspapers, radio and television will be crawling with reports of hunting accidents and even deaths.

In the interest of helping area hunters come back alive, the Courier talked with Robert Tripp of the Charlevoix Police Department, about some safety tips for first time hunters and some reminders for the veterans.

Tripp, who has taught the Hunter Safety Certification classes for the city police department for 10 years, said carelessness was the cause of most accidents.

"There are so many things that happen in hunting accidents that can be attributed directly to carelessness," Tripp said shaking his head. "If people would only think before doing something.

"Guns and ammunition are not dangerous," the police officer said. "It's only when you add the third part, the human being, that they start becoming dangerous."

Tripp said Charlevoix County has been quite lucky during hunting season and very few accidents have happened in this area.

"We have a lot of hunters in this area, but most of them are local people," Tripp said. "They are familiar with the area and most of them have been hunting for a long time. This helps keep the accidents down."

However, the policeman did have a few hints for an accident-free hunting trip.

"The main thing hunters should remember is target identification," Tripp said. "Before shooting they should make sure they know what and where their target is."

Another part of target identification is knowing the kind of animal you're hunting, Tripp said.

"People will shoot cows for deer, they'll shoot elk for deer, and some of them will shoot anything, including man, for deer," the officer said. "Knowing the animal you're hunting will help cut down on accidents.

Another thing hunters should remember is to check their bullet line of flight, he continued.

"For example, do not shoot toward or across a roadway," Tripp cautioned. "There may be people in the area on the roadways."

The police officer also warned hunters not to shoot toward any kind of resident.

"Most people wouldn't shoot toward a home, but they shouldn't shoot toward empty buildings, either," Tripp said. "I have a friend who uses an old outhouse as his shelter and lookout spot during hunting season. If somebody ever shot through that building, he'd be dead."

The policeman also asked hunters to check their firearm and safety device daily. He also urged hunters to follow proper gun handling techniques.

He reminded hunters never to run with a loaded gun, never to traverse slippery areas with a loaded gun, never to climb a fence with a loaded gun, never to learn a loaded gun against a slippery surface and to always place a gun not in use back in its case.

Tripp also urged hunters to wear blaze orange or hunters orange colored clothing when out in the field.

"All other colored clothing, including red clothing, tend to look black at a distance," he said. "And you may be mistaken for a tree stump."

He also reminded hunters to dress warmly, which is especially important if the hunter should get lost.

"If you're dressed for winter weather, you have a better chance of surviving if you get lost," he said.

And finally, Tripp reminded hunters, gun powder and alcohol do not mix.

"Hunting is a privilege, not a right," Tripp warned. "And it is a privilege that must be protected."

Heart Attacks Cause Many Hunting Deaths

Carelessness may cause most of the hunting accidents, but another factor contributes to many of the hunting deaths--heart attack.

About 850,000 individuals throughout the country die of a heart attack each year. Many of them are hunters. The following is a list of things for hunters with heart problems and other hunters, too, to remember:

First, don't hunt alone, Alert others to what trails you might follow or whether you'll range along a summit or a specific ridge.

Investigate the availability of game wardens, forest rangers or state police. Their services may be needed for emergency treatment.

Dress warmly, with clothes and boots that are water repellent and wind resistant.

The simple act of hiking through the woods or across rough terrain exerts physical stress upon the heart. This is particularly true in cold weather with freezing or near freezing temperatures.

The body reacts to cold by constricting its small arteries, through which blood passes away from the heart to various parts of the body. This natural response, called peripheral-vaso constriction, reduces loss of body heat and when it takes place, the heart must work harder to pump blood through the narrowed arteries. Its load is further increased because the arteries which feed the heart itself are constricted as well. Additional stress occurs when the blood pressure rises, which sometimes happens in cold weather, or when the person exercises. Because of this special precautions must be taken to dress warmly.

The symptoms of a heart attack are:

Prolonged, heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest, behind the breastbone.

Pain which may spread to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw.

Pain or discomfort accompanied by sweating, nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath may also occur.

Symptoms may subside and then return.

If you're hunting and your partner, or another sportsman, has these symptoms, try to neutralize the person by having him lie down and making him as warm and comfortable as possible. Get help immediately. If you pre-planned your trip, you know the location of the nearest forest rangers, police or conservation officers. One or more may be able to provide paramedic treatment.

Time is the key. Get the victim to a doctor or to a hospital as soon as possible. Of the estimated 650,000 individuals who died from heart attacks each year, more than one-half die before reaching the hospital because they don't recognize the symptoms and don't know where to get help.

Hunting is a rewarding experience for hundreds of Americans. Help make it so for yourself by keeping in good physical condition. Don't forget that a heart attack can occur anytime, any place. Recognize its symptoms. Be ready to help save a life.

SECONDS AFTER Bob McNamara got this kick off, Chris Cinnamon (70) ran into the Blue Devil punter and was charged for roughing the kicker.

BLUE DEVIL quarterback Stewart Love (10) just got this pass off before Chris Cinnamon (70) and Barry Potter (75) buried him.

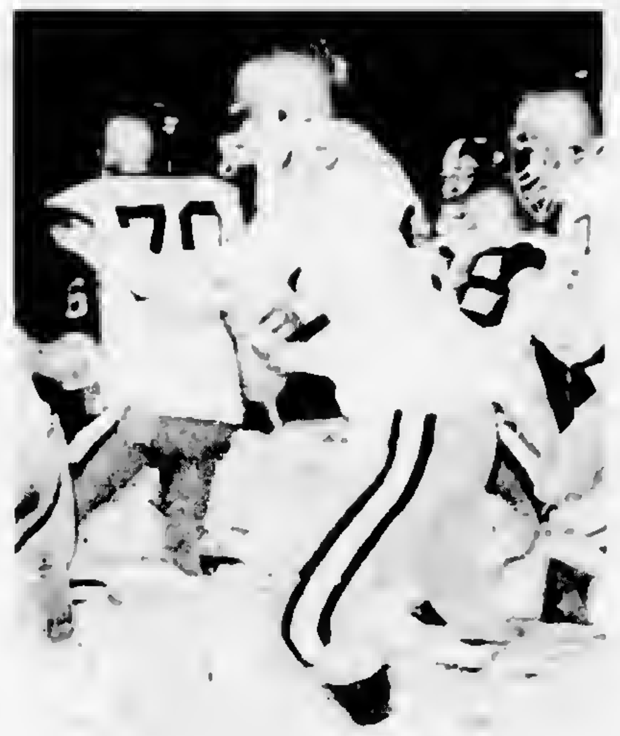
It's Definite--Rayders ARE Number 1

BLUE DEVIL halfback Bob McNamara found the Rayder defense as tough as ever as Chris Cinnamon (70), Greg Krueger (40), Barry Potter (75) and Matt Doan (80) make the stop. Gaylord's Marc Suinger (12) and Stewart Love (10) can only watch.

BRIAN WILLIAMS (30) picks up a couple of yards as Greg Krueger (40) and Dan Wiklanski (71) draw a bead on Blue Devil defensive back Bob McNamara.

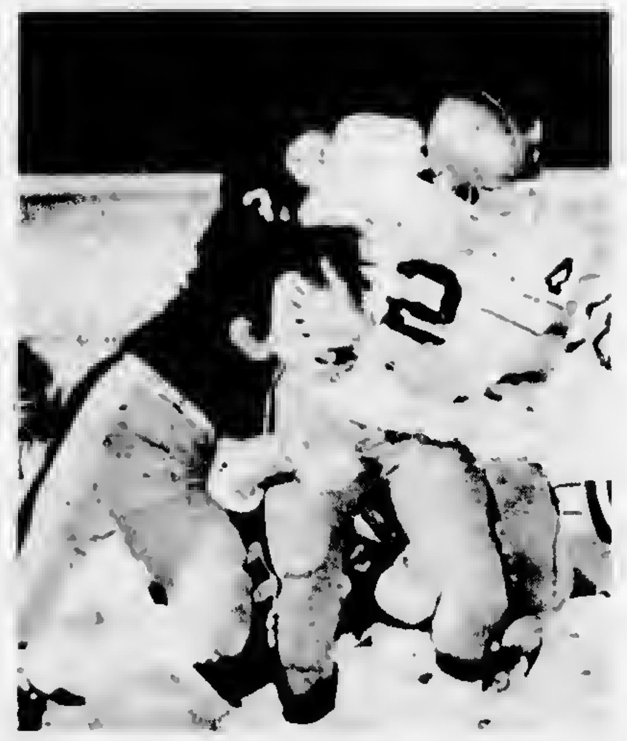
JIM ALGER (22) throws over the outstretched hands of a Blue Devil defender as Dan Wiklanski (71) and Barry Potter (75) provide protection.

ED MANN (42) makes his cut through a hole opened by the Rayder offensive line.



DAN WIKLANSKI (71), Chris Cinnamon (70) and Gary Probert (73) escort Ed Mann (42) downfield.

GREG KRUEGER (40) upped the score to 18-3 on this play. Blue Devil defensive back Russ Warner (38) was not fast enough to catch the Rayder fullback.



ED MANN (42) scored in this fourth period action to give the Rayders a 12-3 lead. Mann also scored in the early moments of the third period.

Snow Doesn't Stop Rayders, Nor Does Gaylord

By DICK ROSENCRANTS

GAYLORD–The Charlevoix Rayders, fighting a snow-covered field and aroused Gaylord defense, scored three second half touchdowns to post an 18-11 win over the Blue Devils last Friday.

Charlevoix's season finale victory gave Don Carey's Rayders a Michigan-Huron Shores Conference record of five wins and one loss and a share of the conference title with Cheboygan and St. Ignace.

Cheboygan white-washed Grayling, 23-0, and St. Ignace squeaked by Petoskey, 28-26, on Friday to end their seasons at 5-1 in the conference.

Friday's victory for the Rayders did not come easy as a three-inch snow cover on the Blue Devil field completely stymied the Charlevoix running game in the first half.

The Gaylord area had received four to eight inches of snow on Thursday, depending on who made the estimate. By game time on Friday evening, the snow had melted down to about three inches.

Gaylord school officials succeeded in cleaning off the yard lines but the rest of the field remained covered. Playing conditions were further worsened by a 32 degree temperature and wind of 15 to 20 miles per hour.

Neither team was able to move the ball in their initial possession, although the Blue Devils did get a break on Charlevoix's first punt.

Bud Klooster, who has done an outstanding job in handling the punting for the Rayders this season, was not able to handle a low snap from center and Gaylord took over on the Rayder 46.

With Bob McNamara carrying most of the running load, the Blue Devils moved down to the Rayder 23-yard line. Two successive incomplete passes from quarterback Stewart Love to McNamara ended the only scoring threat by either team in the first half.

The Rayders, in five possessions during the first half, were not able to move across the mid-field stripe offensively.

As in past games the offense sputtered, the Rayder defense rose to the occasion to hold their opponents in check.

With Tom Jones, Gary Probert, Joe Left, and Chris Cinnamon on the line and Bud Klooster, Greg Krueger and Scott Boss in the defensive backfield, the Blue Devils found the yardage hard to come by.

On the scoreboard the first half ended in a draw but for the fans of the Blue Devils the first half was a moral victory. Gaylord had only one victory to show for its efforts in conference play.

Visions of a possible upset were quickly dispelled in the early moments of the second half when Ed Mann ran for a 31-yard touchdown on the Rayders second play from scrimmage.

The try for a two point conversion was stopped and Charlevoix led, 6-0.

Gaylord came roaring back after receiving Matt Doan's kick-off and moved quickly into Rayder territory. Mixing up his players, Love moved the Blue Devils down to the Rayder eight-yard line. McNamara was not able to penetrate the Rayder defense on two running plays. Faced with a fourth and seven, head coach Jim Wilhite elected to try for a field goal which McNamara promptly produced making the score, 6-3.

After receiving the kick-off, Charlevoix put together a 12-play scoring drive, capped by Ed Mann's three-yard touchdown run earlier in the fourth quarter. Again, the try for a two point conversion was stopped and the Rayders lead increased to 12-3.

Charlevoix got on the scoreboard a couple of minutes later following the interception of a Love pass by Brian Williams.

Greg Krueger completed the scoring drive on a 40-yard burst up the middle. Again disdaining the extra point kick, the Rayders tried for the two point conversion via the run and for the third time, the Blue Devils defense stopped the try.

Two fumbles, both recovered by Gaylord, curtailed any further Rayder offensive action as the snow and cold wind started to take its toll on the hands. One of the trademarks of the Rayder offense during the season has been the lack of turnovers due to fumbles.

Gaylord, down 18-3 and with time running out, was not finished. Love hit McNamara at the 10-yard line and the junior do-everything Blue Devil scored his ninth point of the day.

With slightly over a half minute remaining, the Blue Devils lined up for the extra point with McNamara kicking. The try proved to be a fake as Love passed to Russ Warner in the end zone for the two points. Score – 18-11.

With everyone within shouting distance of the field expecting an on-side kick, the Blue Devils tried and succeeded in recovering the ball on the Rayder side of othe mid-field stripe.

The Blue Devils came within a whisker of upsetting the Rayders on the next play. After taking the ball from his center, Love stepped back and pitched back to McNamara. Listed as a halfback and quarterback on the Blue Devil roster, McNamara blew his chance to be the hero of the game when he overthrew end Don Kirt, who was standing all alone on the Rayder 15-yard line.

Bud Klooster ended the Blue Devils upset hopes two plays later when he intercepted his second pass of the day. The interception came as the gun sounded ending the game.

Gaining their first title, shared or outright, since the inception the M-HSC in 1968, the Rayders will be as tough defensively next year as they were during 1976.

Returning will be 230-pound junior Tom Jones, a definite All-State possibility. Also returning on the line will be Chris Cinnamon, Barry Potter, Dan Wiklanski, Joe Left, Neil Dziedzic, Woody Pearson, Mick Whitley, and Greg Loper - all juniors

The Rayder backfield and defensive backfield, will have Tim Alger, Pat Klooster, Jim Elzinga, Jeff Wellman, Greg Krueger, Guy Carter and Tom Left returning.

Coach Carey's biggest loss in 1977 will be Ed Mann, who if the conference selected an honors list would be first team. Also departing from the backfield will be Brian Williams, Ralph Munna, Lee Begrow, Bud Klooster, Scott Boss and Greg Chappules.

Other seniors suiting up for the last time were Bill Bellows, Dan Boss (starting center), David Tollas, Chris Passehl, Ed Bourke, Randal Bearss, Gary Probert (starting tackle), Matt Doan (starting end), Tom Fowler and Larry Bradley.)

Girls Have Bad Week, Lose to Saints, Devils

Last week was a bad one for the Charlevoix Girls Basketball team as they lost to St. Ignace by a score of 41-27 on Tuesday and were edged by Gaylord 35-34 on Thursday.

Charlevoix's next games will be with Boyne City here on Thursday when Parents Night will be observed and at Grayling the following Tuesday, Nov. 16, when the team closes out its regular schedule.

In the game at St. Ignace, the Saints jumped to a 10-8 first period lead and never lost it as they increased their advantage 22-17 at halftime and 35-25 going into the final period.

Sandy Hodge dumped in 15 points to pace Charlevoix. Judy St. Louise had 14 for the Saints.

Sherrie Sellssen and Chris Lehman scored 10 points each and Jackie Paul nine as the Charlevoix JV's won 37-19 after leading 8-6; 20-8 and 29-10 by quarters. Lisa Savard had six for St. Ignace.

In the game at Gaylord, Charlevoix led 8-6; 18-14 and 26-25 by quarters before falling victim to a strong Gaylord press in the final period to lose by a one-point margin.

Mona Manley with 18 points paced the victory for Gaylord. Kay Currey had 11 for Charlevoix which was playing without regular, Maureen Cudd, who was ill.

The Charlevoix JV's came through with a 33-23 win after leading 6-2; 12-11 and 20-19 by quarters. Sherrie Sebissen had 16 for the victors. Janelle Lickfield had eight for Gaylord.

Freedman, Tri-City, LaBlance, Hoskins, Co. State Win in First Basketball Games

By FRAN MARTIN

The B League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League opened its regular season last week with LaBlance Insurance edging Wojan Aluminum 48-43; Hoskins defeating Medusa 48-40; County State Bank taking AlRay Cottages 54-35; Freedman's defeating Klooster John Deere 62-56 and Tri-City Asphalt trouncing Bay Shore Steel 93-39.

The 10 teams in this league will play evey Monday and Wednesday night at the Middle School gym. (See Schedule).

In the LaBlance Insurance-Wojan Aluminum game, it was touch and go all the way as the lead changed several times. The teams played to an 8-8 tie before Wojan's went ahead 22-18 at halftime only to trail by one point, 31-30 going into the final quarter. LaBlance managed a six-point lead at the final gun.

Joe Beaudoin had 19 and Dave Novotny 13 points for the victors. Don Ward had 19 and Stan Martin 14 points for Wojan's.

The Hoskins-Medusa game was another tight game as Hoskins led 8-3 at the quarter but knotted the score 19-19 at halftime before going ahead by one point, 29-28, at the three-quarter mark. Hoskins outscored Medusa 19-12 in the final eight minutes for the 48-40 win. Pete Huskisson had 16 points for Hoskins. Paul Parrish came through with nine for Medusa.

Larry Skippergosh and Dave Jose scored 14 points each, Jerry Skippergosh 11 and Denny LaCroix 10 points as County State Bank headed AlRay Cottages 20-5; 35-11 and 48-17 by quarters for the victory. Dave Martinchek had 14 for the Cottagers.

Freedman Artcraft roared to an 18-4 first period lead; was ahead 32-22 at halftime and 46-32 at the third period before dumping Klooster John Deere 62-56.

Terry Blissett came through with 20 points, Steve Martinus 18 and Steve McClellan 12 points for the winners. Roger Gowell had 19 and Butch Wagner 16 for Big John.

Bay Shore Steel never had a chance as Tri-City Asphalt jumped 27-8 first period lead and kept increasing it to 41-16 at halftime and 71-39 going into the last period. Accounting for the lopsided victory were Butch Klooster with 28 points; Mike Crain with 23; Dave Norton with 20 and Ed Holm with 14 for Tri-City. Mike Green had 18 and Tom McDonough 11 for the Steelers.

For Adrian College

Randy Faust Takes 6th in Tourney

Randy Faust, a Charlevoix junior at Adrian College, finished sixth at the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) Tournament held recently at Marywood Country Club in Battle Creek.

Faust led the Adrian Bulldogs to a three-way tie in overall competition with Hope and Alma colleges for second place in the MIAA. The second place finish in the overall competition tied the 1976 golf team with the best placement of any Adrian College golf team in the MIAA. The last time the Bulldog linkers finished second was in 1971.

Faust shot a 78 during the tournament. Behind him was Ted Durdel who chipped in with an 80 and was selected for the All-American MIAA golf team. Chuck Faust, Randy's younger brother and a sophomore at the college, tallied 82, while Team Captain Jim Colson added an 83. Marty Fahlen and Dan Gorski added rounds of 87 and 97 to wins team score.

The tournament was cut to 18 holes from the scheduled 36 holes when snow cancelled Friday's action.

Frosh Close Season With Loss To Boyne City Ramblers Team

The Charlevoix Freshman football team closed out its season Wednesday night with an 8-6 loss to Boyne City.

The team concluded the season with a one win-five loss record.

In Wednesday's game, Boyne City jumped to an early lead, scoring from one yard out after gaining possession of the ball on the 15-yard line in the first quarter. The young Ramblers passed for the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

The Rayder defense then dug in and held the visitors scoreless for the remainder of the game.

The Rayder scoring opportunity came in the final period when Robert Russell got off a 50-yard pass to John Fiedorek who went in to score. The team failed on the conversion attempt and the score remained 8-6 as time ran out.

Coach Charlie Bartley had praise for the performances of Rod Anderson and Scott Morgan on defense and Anderson and Rod Stevens on defense.

Drenth Places Third Individually At State Class C Meet in Sturgis

Charlevoix Rayder harrier, Wally Drenth, placed third in the individual division of the Class C State Cross County meet at Sturgis Saturday according to his coach, Pete Spieles.

No times were made available following the meet but Spieles said Drenth will likely finish among the top harriers in the state in Class C.

Team-mate Mark Russell, a sophomore finished 50th among the 70 participants in the individual division.

Askins of Boyne City placed 19th in this division.

The results of the meet will be mailed to coaches this week.

Board Meets Wednesday For Business

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 10 in the Commissioners Room in the Courthouse Annex.

The agenda for the meeting appears to be conventional. The commissioners are expected to hear a report from the County Planning Commission, the treasurer and the various committees.

They are also expected to go over correspondence and communications followed by any old or new business the commissioners may wish to bring up.

Obituary

Mamie Gregory

Funeral services for Mrs. Edwin (Mamie) Gregory, 98, who died Saturday, Oct. 30 in Detroit where she had resided for the past year, were to be held at the Winchester Funeral Home here Wednesday. The Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix March 4, 1879, the former Mamie Weed was married to Edwin Gregory in Charlevoix. They made their home in Norwood township until the 1940's when they moved to Charlevoix. Mr. Gregory preceded her in death in 1951. She was a member of the United Methodist Church and a life member of the Barbard Grange.

She is survived by one brother, Odillon B. Weed of Detroit with whom she lived for the past year.

Dorothy Arms

Funeral services for a former local resident, Mrs. James Arms, 62, of Breckenridge, who died October 28, in Alma, were held Nov. 1 at the Miner-Gradley Chapel in Midland. The Rev. James Walker officiated. Interment was in Midland City Cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix Nov. 29, 1913, the former Dorothy L. Pearl was married to Philo Ostrum at Charlevoix. They made their home in Midland where Mrs. Ostrum was employed as a special diabetic cook at the Midland Hospital Center for 20 years. Mr. Ostrum preceded her in death in December 1956. The following year she went to California to live. In 1961 she was married to Mr. Arms. They returned to Michigan to make their home in Breckenridge in 1973.

She is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Steve (Suzanne) Gennett of Charlevoix, Mrs. Thor (Linda) Simengaard and Mrs. Robert (Shelly) Morgan, both of California; two sons, Richard Ostrum of Arizona and Theodore Ostrum of California; 22 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pearl of California; two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn LaCassella and Mrs. Joann Keck, both of California, and six brothers, Charles Biglow, Lloyd Biglow, Merle Biglow and Jack Pearl, all of California; Howard Fales of Grand Rapids and Frank Pearl of Idaho.

LOUISA SRIGLEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Daniel W. (Louisa A.) Srigley, 93, who died Saturday at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for six months, were held Monday evening at the Community Church of God. The Rev. William P. Seibert officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Chicago July 24, 1883, the former Louisa A. Sommer attended Moody Bible Institute and was employed as a nurse prior to her marriage to Mr. Srigley in Chicago in April 1919. They returned here to make their home on the east side of Susan Lake in Hayes township. Mr. Srigley preceded her in death in January 1950. She later moved into Charlevoix. She was a member of the Community Church of God.

She has no survivors.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Bargains Found at Defense Sales

WASHINGTON--What-a-yo give me for this helicopter, railroad tank car, calculator, ice-making machine? Do I hear 12? Do I hear 12,000? Sold to Americans.

Growing numbers of American bargain hunters are turning to the Defense Department for everything from false teeth to floating dry docks. The items are surplus and are sold by the Defense Supply Agency, which last year returned more than $135 million to the public coffers, the National Geographic Society reports.

Most of the choice items are snapped up by other government or state agencies before the public ever gets a shot at them. For instance, Health, Education and Welfare regularly screens DSA property lists looking for equipment such as tents or cots to pass on to approved recipients like schools or youth groups.

"Still, good bargains exist," says Richard G. Bruner one of the supply agency's executive directors. "Even when participating in a mailed sealed bid offer, the secret is first to inspect the property offered for sale.

"It can be disconcerting when a person arrives at the bid site only to find his newly acquired car or truck doesn't have a battery or ball bearings."

Information on auctions and bids can be obtained by writin: DOD Surplus Sales, P.O. Box 1370, Battle Creek, Michigan 49018.

Business never has been better, despite a few disgruntled customers. In the bite-the-bullet inflationary economy of the last few years, the Defense Department's auctions have soared in popularity.

A sale of machine tools in Terre Haute, Indiana, last year drew 1,000 people from all over the world and netted $6.5 million from 400 successful buyers.

To keep pace with the demand, two full-time auctioneers constantly are on the go. Besides the usual typewriters, calculators, furniture, and filing cabinets, they sometimesd put luxury items on the block. A fancy sports car recently sold for $1,700 at Ft. Belvoir near Washington, D.C. It had been used by the Army Criminal Investigation Division for detective work.

A sports car almost seems normal compared to some of the other items that occasionally come up for sale. Bones and meat trimmings, garbage, hay, fishing boats, and deadly phosgene gas all have found ready buyers.

The enterprising man who bought the phosgene sold it to large firms which need the gas to manufacture plastics. He used the empty cannisters to ship and store chlorine for water purification projects.

It's often hard for the Defense Department to sell supposedly popular items. The presidential yachts Tricia and Julie were on the market for more than a year before they went for bargain prices.

Grits--Southern Breakfast of Champions

With a Southerner winning that place at the head of the White House breakfast table, voters may find themselves split over an indigestible issue.

Grits: Love 'em or leave 'em on your plate. Are grits a delectable mainstay in leading the good (read Southern) life, or are they tasteless excess breakfast baggage?

So far, grits have not made any list of favorite foods officially ascribed to Jimmy Carter. But this could be a mere campaign oversight.

As one Southerner put it, "A Georgian facing the day without grits would be like a politician facing voters without a grin."

For unenlightened Northerners, true grits are a celebrated hot, bland, cereal made of ground hominy--hard corn kernels that have been hulled, washed, and dried, notes the National Geographic Society.

In 1975, Democrats, Republicans, and independents altogether ate 140,000,000 pounds of grits, or about .65 pounds each, mostly south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Grits, sometimes called the potato of the south, are best appreciated as one of those foods that go with something--like bacon and eggs or a slab of country-cured ham with red-eye gravy.

Today, grits may be far more Southern than Northern, but they are no less American. Hominy is from an Algonquin Indian word meaning something like corn that had to be skinned.

The Indians had to skin or hull the pebble-hard kernels of the native corn to make them edible. They passed on how to do this to the first colonists of Jamestown and Plymouth, who wrote down recipes like:

"Boil white wood-ashes in an iron kettle with plenty of water until the mixture is stout enough to float an egg. Drain it off the ashes. Place the shelled corn in the liquid. Boil the corn carefully until the hulls rub off. Rinse in several waters so that no lye remains. Boil again in salted water until tender."

Dried and ground-up hominy produced grits, named after an old English term for cracked bran. Samp was an Indian dish of grits eaten hot. Colonists livened it up into a rib-sticking gruel by adding butter, milk, sugar, nutmeg, molasses, or maple syrup.

Grits today find their way into pancakes, waffles, muffins, and souffles. They--there seems to be no singular--may be garnished with shrimp paste, or wedded to fish cakes. Cold grits, sliced and fried are the foundation of many a Southern morning.

On an 1824 visit, General Lafayette allowed as how grits were what he liked about the South. General Grant is credited as the first President to bring grits to the White House.

A supply of Christmas grits was donated to the Pentagon, which dutifully forwarded it to Vietnam to boost the morale of homesick Southern boys. In 1864 a Northern boy, a soldier of an army that traveled on its stomach through the Deep South, wrote home less appreciatively:

"All I've had to eat for years is grits, grits, grits. I'd just as soon lie down and let the moon shine in my mouth."

Construction Continues In Charlevoix County

The cost of building construction started in Charlevoix County through the month of October exceeds last year's total figure by over $850,000.

The report released by the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection includes permits for all building in the County with the exception of the City of Charlevoix.

At the end of October, the Department had issued 594 permits for building totalling $5,643,059.20, compared with 485 permits for building totalling $4,792,868.54 for all of 1975.

Seventy-eight permits were issued in October of this year, compared with 61 permits in October, 1975.

Boyne City continues to lead the number of permits issued: 14 in October. Permits issued in other cities and townships were as follows:

Wilson Township, 12; Marion Township, eight; Eveline Township, seven; Hayes Township, six; East Jordan, five; Evangeline Township, four; Bay Township, three; Charlevoix Township, three; Hudson Township, three; Peaine Township, three; South Arm Township, three; Boyne Valley Township, two; Melrose Township, two; St. James Township, two; Norwood Township, one; Chandler Township, none; Boyne Falls, none.

MHSAA Head Visits Here, Compliments School

Allen W. Bush, Executive Director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, was in Northern Michigan recently to attend a special event at Boyne Mountain.

Following the meeting, he and Mrs. Bush remained in the north and, on Oct. 29, attended the Charlevoix-Petoskey football game at Kipke field. Upon his return to Lansing, Bush sent a letter to Vane H. Smith, Charlevoix High School Principal with a carbon copy going to Robert Doctor, principal at Petoskey. (See Editorial Page 1).

This marked the first time than an official of the state organization had ever attended an event in the north that a Rayder team participated in on its home field or court.

Religious Businessmen To Meet at High School

The Northern Michigan Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International is holding a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Petoskey High School.

The meeting will feature guest speaker Tom Blovits from Detroit with special music by Dorothy Lindman of Cheboygan and Jack Aftanas of Detroit.

Tickets may be purchased from Ralph Hess of Charlevoix, Doug Way of Ellsworth and Ron Jay of Petoskey. Reservations must be made by Friday, Nov. 12.

HOW MUCH DOES
IT COST YOU
TO OWN A CAR?

Have you been wondering how much it costs you to own and operate your car?

According to the Federal Highway Administration if you own and operate a 1976 standard size car for a 10 year period it will cost a total of $17,898.96 or 17.9 cents per mile.

On the other hand if your driving a compact car your expenses will reduce to $14,561.46 or 14.56 cents a mile during a 10 year period. If your transportation comes in the form of a sub-compact you can plan on a $12,638.35 or 12.5 cents per mile expenditure over the same period of time.

Total taxes on a 1976 standard size car will be about $1,562. This amounts to about 8.7 percent of the total costs.

Figures also show that during a standard size car's 10 year, 100,000 mile trip from the assembly line to the junkyard, the owner will pay $3,193 excluding tax, for some 6,667 gallons of gas. It will cost $3,644 to keep the car maintained and in repair; $1,678 to insure it; and $2,209 for garaging, parking and tolls.

The Highway administration also points out that although the annual trader drives a current model every year, depreciation for the standard-size car over a 10 year period costs about $12,150 (10 times the first year's depreciation). The 2-year trader pays $9,815 or 5 times the first 2 years depreciation.

If you want to learn more about how much your car costs, you can get a copy of COST OF OWNING & OPERATING AN AUTOMOBILE -1976 by writing Office of Public Affairs, Federal Highway Administration, HPA-1, Washington, D.C., 20590.

Swanson, Townshouse, Way Oil Win in A League Competition

The A League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League launched its 1976-77 season Thursday with Swanson's edging Credit Union 52-48; Townhouse defeating Kaden's 66-50 and Way Oil trouncing Willett Roofing 89-45.

The six-team league will play regularly on Thursday night (see schedule).

Bruce Meggison was the only player in double figures (13) as Swanson's, in a closely played game, led Credit Union 14-8; 22-12 and 34-26 by quarters. Ron Boss had 14 points, Matt Blair 12 and Beano Archery 10 for Credit Union.

In a game that saw Townhouse come behind after trailing 14-13 at the end of the first quarter, the barmen went ahead 27-25 at halftime and 43-37 at the third period before coasting to an easy win. Stewart Coleman had 19 points, Dave Strawbridge 11 and Ike Boss 10 for the winners. Keith Hausler had 11 points for Kadens.

Five members of the Way Oil team were in double figures as they led Willett Roofing 19-16; 44-19 and 61-27 by quarters before winning the lopsided game.

Dale Boss scored 20 points, Ned Henley 15, Roger Crain 14, Mike Bade 12 and Jim Potter 11 for the victors. Rick VonStedum and Roger Bolhuis had eight points each for the Ellsworth five.

FAITH BIDS US HONOR THE DEFENDERS OF OUR FREEDOM

More than one nation has undergone the painful necessity of committing its brave men to battle for the purpose of maintaining its freedom whenever it was threatened by enemy forces from without. Whether we honor them in October or November, or call the occasion Armistice Day, Veterans Day or Remembrance Day, the purpose of it remains the same: to give our humble thanks to those who survived the terrible wars and those who did not. And since the list of our freedoms includes the right to worship God in any way we see fit, let us show our gratitude by attending the Church of our choice regularly, and thereby availing ourselves of one of the most vital freedoms for which our courageous heroes risked everything they had.

"Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us."
— Romans 8:37

Without a sign, his sword the brave man draws,
And asks no omen but his country's cause.
— Alexander Pope

THE JUNIOR VARSITY Rayders had their hands full for a while with the Gaylord Blue Devils Thursday night. The team managed to come up from behind, however, for a tie.

JVs Close Season in Tie

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity football team, coached by Hal Evans, finished the season Thursday with a 24-24 tie with the Gaylord JV's. The game gave the young Rayders a five win-no-loss-three tie record for the season.

A blocked conversion kick by Barney Way following a touchdown on a 70-yard kick-off return by Gaylord after Charlevoix had scored with less than two minutes remaining saved the game for Charlevoix according to Evans.

A one-yard plungs by Way following a long drive and a conversion pass from Gilbert Noirot to Pat Schmidt with less than two minutes on the clock put Charlevoix ahead for the first time in the second half.

It was the 70-yard Gaylord kick-off return following the Rayder touchdown that allowed the young Blue Devils to score and tie the game.

Gaylord had gone ahead 3-0 early in the game when they had kicked a field goal from the 10-yard line when the Rayder defense held.

The Rayders came back in the second period to go ahead when Way scored from the two following a 70-yard drive to put the team in scoring position. Noirot ran the conversion to give the Rayders an 8-3 edge.

Two pass plays by Gaylord, one for 50 yards and the second for 70 yards and a conversion play gave the visitors an 18-8 advantage.

As the second half got underway, Craig Boss scored on a three-yard drive through the middle after a 70-yard drive and Noirot ran the conversion to put the Rayders back in the game.

IT TOOK A LOT of tough blocking by the Rayder defense to hold Gaylord. The Blue Devils had a varied attack combining long yardage passes and faked kicks.

Library Has Reading Guide

Your little boy or girl is all curled up in a chair discovering the magic of getting lost in a book. How can you encourage this and guide your child's taste in reading?

To help you select books for your kids, big or little, the Library of Congress has published an annual guide. The 1975 edition of Children's Books, the 12th in a series, lists 202 titles, selected from 2,100 new juvenile books published in the United States.

The books listed are for children from preschool through junior high school age. The titles are broken down into categories of picture and picture story books; stories for the middle group; fiction for older readers; folklore; poetry, rhymes, and song; arts and hobbies; biography, history, people and places; nature and science.

Authors' names and publishing companies are included in the descriptive listing as well as the suggested age or grade level. The listing was prepared by the Library in cooperation with the U.S. Office of Education and an advisory committee of Washington area specialists.

For a copy of "Children's Books 1975", send 40 cents to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 60, Pueblo, Col. 81009.

Tips for Reaching That Perfect Score

So you'd like to reach that perfect score, or at least attain your first (or second, or third) 200 game.

It's not impossible, according to Steve Kovac, professional bowler, especially if you try to follow some of these tips.

RHONDA BUCHANAN shows a little of her bowling style during a Sunday afternoon game with her brother and a friend.

Kovac claims that most bowler's problems stem from failure to relax and from trying too hard, which generally result in a poor performance.

However, the more a person bowls, the more likely they are to encounter specific problems with their bowling style. One of these problems is with dropping or lofting the ball.

Dropping the ball may be caused because of a poor fit of the bowling ball due to too large or too small or uncomfortably-angled finger holes.

However, more often, the problem is with poor timing. The bowlers' footwork is out of step with the arm swing. Slowing down the approach to the foul line will give the arm swing a chance to finish in step with the slide, Kovac says.

Lofting the ball results from being too upright at the point of release. Flexing the knee more at the end of the approach will bring the swing arc closer to the floor.

Ending short of, or beyond the foul line can be corrected by adjusting the original starting position to accommodate the natural length of your slide. Also the bowler can try taking shorter or slower steps if they are over stepping the line or faster and longer steps if the bowler is coming up short.

Poor rhythm is another problem with many bowlers' approaches. According to Kovac it may help to try a five-step approach. The five-step delivery has been helpful to bowlers who prefer taking shorter steps to the foul line, developing a kind of running motion to the line rather than the gliding motion of the four-step approach.

If the bowler finds he or she is frequently finishing far to the left or right of the position assumed in the original stance, he or she is guilty of drifting. This makes it hard to be a consistent bowler and can be corrected with a mere piece of chalk.

Kovac suggests marking the approach area so that the bowler has a line or series of marks to guide him or her to the foul line. Kovac cautions that drifting is not the same thing as approaching the foul line somewhat diagonally while attempting to convert certain spares.

Finally, some bowlers may notice from time to time they completely miss a shot. This is most likely due to poor concentration during the approach.

The only thing to do, according to Kovac, is to forget about the shot, and concentrate more during the next approach.

Here's to improved bowling.

THE BALL seems to have a lot to do with the game. Which ever one you pick, on some days, always seems to be the wrong one.

Eight Area Residents Examined at PBB Clinic

MR. AND MRS. Doug Warner of Norwood were two of eight area residents who traveled to Grand Rapids for PBB testing. The Warners also took their new baby with them, but the child was not tested.

By PEG OHLE

Eight Charlevoix County men, women and children were among the approximately 1,200 people examined at Kent Community Hospital in Grand Rapids last week by a team of physicians and other scientists probing the effects of polybrominated biphenyl (PBB) on the human body.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Warner and their two-month-old daughter of Norwood and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nemecek of East Jordan and their three children, ages ten, eight and seven, made the trip. Both are farm families whose livestock was contaminated with PBB, a chemical fire retardant, when it was accidently mixed with animal feed by the feed manufacturer. The result was the poisoning of the animals and subsequent death of many of them.

Because of the families consumed meat and milk from the contaminated animals, PBB in varying amounts has been found in their blood and body tissues. The tests are being made to determine what effects, if any, PBB has on human nervous systems and organs.

While neither the Warners nor Nemeceks are talking about their physical conditions at this time, many others throughout the state similarly contaminated have complained about various illnesses which they attribute to PBB.

Each person examined is questioned orally and given several tests, including blood, fat, urine and sputum samples, as well as biopsies. Eyes and skin are examined and chests are X-rayed.

When the tests are evaluated, the examining team hopes to resolve the question of whether PBB-contaminated people have been physically injured.

Both the Warners and Nemeceks are happy about the way the examinations were held and participants treated.

"I feel they did a good, thorough job," Mrs. Warner said.

"The doctors were real nice and made us feel like we were helping them instead of them helping us. For the first time we felt that someone cared."

The Warner baby was not tested, nor were any children under a year old. Mrs. Warner is not nursing her baby because a small part of PBB was found in her breast milk.

Mrs. Nemecek had similar praise for the research team.

"They were very thorough in their three-hour examination," she said.

"They had a lot of empathy and showed the first real concern we have encountered. They seemed to know what they were looking for. Also, they handled the children beautifully. They were put into one big room with a television set so they wouldn't get tired of waiting. My children thought it was a great experience."

Complete evaluation of the tests will probably not be finished for some time perhaps as long as six months.

The Warner and Nemecek families are only two of the dozen or more Charlevoix area families afflicted with PBB contamination. Their names were obtained by the research team from the State Department of Health.

The team is headed by Dr. Irving Selikoff, chairman of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory at the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York City. In all, about 35 people made up the team. They took their own equipment and supplies with them to Grand Rapids.

Dr. Selikoff says that PBB is only one of the many chemicals his group has studied in recent years. Previously, they have "looked at" lead, vinyl chloride, asbestos, styrene, and polychlorinated biphenyls.

PBB did not exist before 1970 but authorities say there are now about 12 million pounds of it, mostly in the form of fire retardants.

"We live in a chemical world," Selikoff told an interviewer. "We live with an expanding industry which has much to give us, but many of the new chemicals created each year are also potentially harmful."

Selikoff believes, however, that society has the ability, brains, and organization to have the benefits from the new technology and to have them safely.

Following completion of the tests, Gov. William G. Milliken and House Speaker Bobby D. Crim plan to meet with Dr. Selikoff to discuss what, if any, action the State should take concerning those contaminated with PBB.

"The Michigan Department of Public Health has been following the early results of Dr. Selikoff's study, Milliken said.

"It plans to continue to observe and review the data as it is obtained in order to

School Board Denies Easement

By FRAN MARTIN

A variety of issues came before the Charlevoix Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday evening. Among those on which the board took action were the denial of a request for an easement over school-owned property, congratulations to the Charlevoix Rayder football team and its coach staff for winning a share of the Michigan-Huron Shores title, establishment of tuition rates for the present school year, granting a maternity leave and hiring of a replacement for the remainder of the school year.

The request by Viola K. Austin for an easement over Lot 1 in Hampton Village was denied following a lengthy discussion. Ms. Austin who is building a home in Hampton Village asked for the easement in order to obtain sewer and water facilities over a 40-foot distance as compared to more than 300 feet if the roadway was followed. Feeling that an easement downgrades property for re-sale and that part of the problem was the issuance of a building permit for construction on that particular lot by the city, the board voted against the request. It was suggested that Ms. Austin purchase part of lot as an easement. It was the thought of one board member that "The city created the problem, let them solva it."

The board offered its congratulations to Coach Don Carey and his coaching staff and team members for their dedicated effort and successful season in being named co-champions in the M-H-S Conference, Charlevoix's first football title since joining the league. The board also commended the JV coaching staff and team for its fine showing and Wally Drenth who placed third in the State Class C Cross Country meet in the individual category.

The board also established the secondary tuition for the 1976-77 school year at the maximum, $351. An effort to set the tuition midway between the minimum of 196 and the maximum of $351 or $274 was defeated. It was explained that the Charlevoix School district would receive no state aid for students entering the Charlevoix schools after the fourth Friday membership day. It was the consensus of the board that the school district should obtain maximum tuition for this reason and to discourage a large influx of tuition students.

The board then granted enrollment to three tuition students from the Ellsworth School. Two are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Way who plan to move into the district next fall and the third is the son of the James Wilhelms who plans to go into carpentry and cannot obtain classes needed in this trade. These include math which is available at Ellsworth, drafting and building trades which are not available. After graduation he plans to attend the Apprentice School at Traverse City.

Maternity leave was granted to Mrs. Toni Felter from Jan. 24 until June 10, 1977.

At the same time the board voted to hire Miss Allison Croucher of Alma who is finishing graduate school in December and who will accept the position as a probationary substitute teacher for the length of Mrs. Felter's leave of absence.

The board commended the Vote Yes on Proposal A-Vote No on Proposal B chaired by Dr. Reed Friedinger with

ADC INVESTIGATION

There are more people in Charlevoix living on ADC and welfare, plus their food stamps than there is in Wayne County that has had a big investigation.

TAXES

My husband and I got a notice in the mail that we owe the winter taxes on our home for 1974. We always pay our house taxes every year when we get our income tax returns. This is the only way we can do it. We paid our 1975 taxes in full. We owe taxes in 1974. Why didn't the City of Charlevoix let us know before that we owed taxes for 1974 without us paying 1975 first? So, as far as I am concerned Charlevoix can wait until we get our 1977 Income Tax Return to pay the rest of 1974 home taxes. I would like to know why Charlevoix allowed us to pay 1975 taxes when we didn't have 1974 taxes paid. Maybe we should sue the City of Charlevoix.

For Airport Planning

City Receives FAA Grant

By PAULA HOLMES

An airport planning grant has been awarded to the City of Charlevoix by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Alderman Ray Wood, chairman of the Airport Committee, said at the common council meeting Monday night, that the FAA had awarded the city $18,000 to help develop a master plan for the Charlevoix Municipal Airport.

Wood said he thought part of the grant could be used to construct the taxiway which has been a bond of contention between the council and the Airport Hangar Association.

Mayor Ed Hansen said the funds were to be used for a master plan up date and he didn't think the money could be used for construction.

"The master plan up dating is the forerunner to prequalify for grants for airport capitol improvements, however," Hansen said. "And there may be some time in the future when we could get money to build the taxiway."

Hansen said Alvin Ranger had been working on the master plan and was almost finished with the project.

In other business, Alderman Jeannine Wallace, chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, said she had looked into the problem of false fire alarms at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Mrs. Wallace said there had been 11 false alarms at the hospital in the past year.

"The hospital ad-

THE FIRST BUCK of the season was bagged by Dennis Way of Charlevoix. Way, 20, not only got the first buck of the season, but also the first buck of his hunting career this year. It was an eight-pointer, weighing in at 120 pounds. Way shot the animal at a favorite hunting spot between Ellsworth and Eastport.

Council Meets on Personnel, No Action Taken in Session

The Charlevoix Common Council met in executive session following its regular meeting Monday night to discuss personnel.

Mayor Ed Hansen said the council would discuss both its search for a new city manager and now its search for a new city clerk.

City Clerk Lyle King resigned suddenly from his position on Nov. 5. Concerning rumors surrounding King's sudden departure, Mayor Hansen said the council would discuss pertinent information during its executive session and take any action it deemed necessary.

Hansen said the council would be working in conjunction with the city accountants in hiring a new clerk.

On the subject of a new city manager, the mayor had nothing to say except that council was still reviewing applications. The city has been without a city manager since Acting City Administrator Robert Wexstaff resigned in August. Chuck Pease is currently acting as administrator.

The city has been without a permanent administrator for three years.

Volunteers Smooth Operation of Flu Clinic

A total of 1,114 Swine Flu shots were administered at the special clinic conducted by District Health Department No. 3 at the Charlevoix Elementary School Sunday.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles, community nurse, said the clinic was most successful with many more people taking advantage of it than was anticipated.

CECY RICHARDSON, a student nurse at North Central Michigan College, was one of the many volunteers who worked at the swine flu vaccination clinic in Charlevoix Sunday.

Senior Citizens who had not received their shots at the clinic on Sunday may receive them at the Nutritional dinner center at the Charlevoix High School on Thursday Mrs. Miles said.

Bert Notestine said that 1,215 Swine Flu shots were given at the public clinic at Boyne City on Sunday bringing to 6,268 the total shots administered through Sunday in Health Department District 3 (Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties).

In some areas, industries are conducting clinics. In Charlevoix the staff at the Charlevoix Area Hospital will receive their innoculations at the hospital. Patients and staff at Grandvue Medical Care Facility will also receive theirs at the facility.

A third public clinic will be conducted at the East Jordon Elementary School from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday. Anyone who did not receive his or her shot on Sunday in Charlevoix may attend the East Jordon clinic.

MRS. ROBERT MURRAY of Charlevoix grimaces a little bit while receiving her swine flu shot from Leona Winchester a volunteer nurse working at the clinic. Everything went smoothly at the clinic and more than 1,100 shots were given.

Tom Anderson Admitted to Bar

A new lawyer has joined the ranks of Charlevoix County attorneys at law.

Thomas W. Anderson, 25, was admitted to the bar during brief ceremonies before Judge Martin Breighner in the 33rd Circuit Court Wednesday.

Anderson, a native of Charlevoix, was sworn in upon petition by Charlevoix Attorney John Michael. The young attorney will now be allowed to practice law in the courts of Michigan.

A 1969 graduate of Charlevoix High School, Anderson graduated with high honors in police administration from Michigan State University and then attended the Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing.

During the summers he served as a clerk to a Lansing area judge and for District Court Judge David Fershee and Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Roy Hayes. He also clerked for Charlevoix Attorneys Mike Gibbons and Michael pending his admission to the bar.

Anderson said his plans were up in the air but he expected to practice in the area. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

THOMAS W. ANDERSON was admitted to the Bar during special ceremonies before Judge Martin Breighner last week. Here Anderson takes his oath before formally becoming an attorney at law.

Union Thanksgiving Services Set

A Thanksgiving Eve service of worship will be held at the First Baptist church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24.

In this, the bicentennial year, a native American, Jay Oliver, of the Greensky Hill (Indian) United Methodist Church, has been asked to pronounce the invocation in his native Indian language.

The Rev. Austin Regier, pastor of the Charlevoix and Greensky Hill United Methodist Churches, will preach on the title "Gratitude...What is it?".

The Rev. Hugh Cowan, pastor of the host church, will conduct the service of worship.

Dan Seeley will be at the organ. A choir under the direction of Mrs. Robert Tollas will sing at the special service.

An offering will be received to support the chaplaincy program at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The Thanksgiving worship service will be sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association. The Rev. Donald Schorsch of the Assembly of God is chairman.

The public is invited to attend.

Fishing Not As Good This Year, Fishermen Say

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Fishing of the fall runs of steelhead, salmon and lake trout from the Pine River Channel banks and the pier heads into Lake Michigan, has been different this year.

Fall fishing in Charlevoix acts as a magnet for anglers from all over Michigan, drawing them with stories of daily limit catches, ranging from 3 to 20 pounds. But this year has been called terrible and lousy by some of the regulars on the pier.

Merle Keller, biologist in charge of the Charlevoix Fisheries Station, for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), admits "It has been different."

"But," Keller quickly adds, "Lake trout fishing should get good now and last through deer season."

Jim Annis, one of the regulars who keeps a diary on pier fishing year after year, thinks "the lake trout have finished spawning and are gone."

Whatever the reason, everyone agrees: people are not getting the usual daily limits.

For the past six years, fall fishing on Charlevoix's piers began in late September with salmon runs and climaxed in November with lake trout. The fishing was spectacular by all accounts.

Fall evenings saw the long piers dotted with lights from the Coleman lanterns of exuberant fishermen. Weekends brought shoulder-to-shoulder conditions, as downstate anglers joined the battle.

But this fall, the weather changed with unexpected rapidity. Water temperatures, crucial to the movement of the fish, dropped quickly. Some speculate that has created the difference.

Claire Martin describes fishing to date as lousy. But Martin adds, he thinks the lake trout and probably steelhead fishing is yet to peak.

Martin thinks the major cause of the difference has been the great numbers of chinook salmon (king salmon) coming into the channel. Perhaps, he said, they have confused the lake trout.

Keller says, "I'm sure if you added it up, there has been as many fish caught as last year. They just sort of dribbled in."

Keller does not expect to see the fantastic pier fishery of the past repeated.

"For one thing, there has been heavy pressure on the fishery," Keller explains. "The amount of lake trout caught will have to drop."

Keller also thinks that increasing illegal netting is contributing to the reduction of sports fishing catches. Keller admits, and other observers point out, that all illegal netting is not done by Indians pursuing what they contend are their treaty-given rights. A number of non-Indian netters are suspected.

Another factor is the DNR's attempt to find the natural breeding grounds for these trout.

To date lake trout fishing is, as far as anyone can demonstrate, dependent on planted fish. No one has been able to find cases of natural reproduction of the lake trout, despite the efforts of the DNR to plant trout in areas where they should spawn.

The trout have not spawned successfully off the Lake Michigan beaches surrounding the pier.

Thus, the DNR is now aiming its planting programs at off-shore reefs, which had been the natural breeding grounds for lake trout before their population was decimated by the sea lamprey.

Keller says the goal of the DNR is to "maintain a reasonable fishery and yet get natural reproduction."

To that end, reefs around Fisherman's Island, South Fox and Gull Island, and Grey's Reef are being planted.

As for what's left of this year's fall fishing, the debate can only be closed by those hardy enough to turn their shoulders to the icy winds coming off Lake Michigan, and patiently test the waters with lures and spawn bags.

As Drain Commissioner

Healey May Not Take Job

By PEG OHLE

Clayton Healey, who was elected to the office of County Drain Commissioner in the recent election, may or may not take the job.

It all depends upon whether or not he will also be administrator of the Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Act.

Present Drain Commissioner, Ronald Geer, now holds both offices, having been elected Drain Commissioner four years ago and appointed to the Soil Erosion job July of 1975, when the Act became effective, by the County Board of Commissioners.

Healey says it was his understanding when he ran for office that the Soil Erosion job was part of the Drain Commissioner's duties.

"If it's only the Drain Commission, I'm not interested," Healey told the Courier.

"I'd rather spend my time working with the Char-Em School Board (Healey is a board member) and helping the kids."

Healey has also served for several years on the board of the Charlevoix County Soil and Water District, most recently as chairman.

Geer's 1976 salary for serving as Drain Commissioner was $2,860. In addition, he received an annual salary of $2,500 for administering the Soil Erosion Act.

The 1977 budget adopted by the Board of Commissioners set the salary of the Drain Commissioner at $3,050 but did not establish a salary for the administrator of the Soil Erosion Act.

The administrator of the Soil Erosion Act must pass a test and be certified by the State. At the present time, Geer and Dick Mayhew, administrator of the Building Code, are the only county residents so certified.

County Board of Commissioners Chairman Clyde Cunningham says he does not anticipate that action on the new appointment will take place until the organizational meeting in January.

Counseling Center Marks Opening

An open house for members of its board of directors and the congregation of the First Congregational Church on Sunday marked the official opening of the Charles Allen Ransom Counseling Center, to be known as the Chip Counseling Center, located at 723 Park Ave.

The center, as the name indicates, will offer marital and family counseling, child guide, group psycho-therapy and individual counseling to residents of the area.

Oren Schroeder heads the Center as Director-Counselor.

Located adjacent to the Charlevoix Area Hospital in the Medical Building at 723 Park ave., the Center will be open daily Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Evening appointments may be made on Monday and Tuesday.

"The purpose of the center is to help people. We hope that people will take advantage of the services to be offered. There are many if only people will call and inquire about them" Schroeder said.

The Counseling Center, the first of its kind in northern Michigan, has been established by the parents of Charles Allen 'Chip' Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Ransom, as a memorial to their son who died in a boating accident in August 1975. The Counseling Center is operated under the guidance of a board of directors composed of local residents headed by Ronald Moore.

Schroeder was named to organize the facility and operate it under the guidelines drawn up by the governing body from many applicants for the position. He comes from Washington, D.C., with a wide and varied background in the field of counseling.

The phone number at the Chip Counseling Center is 547-6551.

Charlevoix County Residents Turn On to Wood Heat

By PAULA HOLMES

"You can get warm six times with wood heat," the old saying goes, "hunting it, cutting it, hauling it, stacking it, lighting it and cleaning it up."

Many Charlevoix County residents have taken these words to heart and are converting their conventional heating systems back to the "old fashioned" wood system.

These old fashioned systems range from the castiron wood burning stove of grandmother's day to the more sophisticated automatic wood burning circulator, which include an automatic damper and fan for a type of forced air heat.

Recently five county residents, who also happen to all have their offices in the county building, agreed to share with the Courier their reasons for making the switch back to wood and to share their insights on the value of wood heat versus oil, gas and electric heat.

Larry Gigante, who works with the Charlevoix County Health Department, has been living with wood heat the longest.

"This is our fourth winter with wood heat," Gigante said. "We switched to wood heat back when the energy crisis first began to bloom.

"I was really concerned that there would be the shortage of fuel that they had talked about," he recalled. "The first year there was a shortage of wood burning furnaces when I went to order one, so we used an old potbellied stove.

"But the next year we got our wood burning furnace and that't what we've used since," he said.

Gigante said he uses wood from his own lot to power his wood burning furnace and he remarks that with the automatic damper and the thermostat on his unit keep the heat if very consistent. Besides that, his fuel costs are lower.

"We had been using propane gas to heat and cook with," he said. "And they were filling our tank about four times a season.

"Last year we only had to fill it once," he said. "We're really sold on wood heat now."

Gigante said there may be more maintenance work connected with woodburning furnace, but on the other hand, he has less garbage to haul, too, because he can use it for fuel.

Gigante said he doesn't get any smart remarks from his neighbors about the stove either.

"I live out east of Boyne Falls and it's not uncommon to see people heating with wood there," he said. "But when I tell people from downstate and others that I heat with wood they tend to admire you for doing it."

Don Veurink is another county worker who believes in wood heat. Don and his wife are heating their home with a potbellied stove Don picked up at an auction. They are in the process of building a new home now, but Veurink plans on incorporating wood heat into his plans.

"The first winter we used the stove we saved about half on our heating bills," he said.

"And we haven't had any trouble finding wood for it," he continued. "We just go along the road side and collect the dead elm.

"We only worked three weekends this year and we're set for the winter," he said.

Dick Mayhew, who converted to wood heat a year ago, said he wouldn't save any money if he couldn't get his wood for free.

"Let's face it," Mayhew, who saved $350 in heating bills last winter, said. "If we couldn't get our wood for free, we wouldn't save near the money we do now.

"But there are some other benefits of wood heat, too," he continued.

"At 72 degrees it feels a lot warmer," he explained. "And we've had fewer colds since we started using wood heat."

"You don't feel guilty about turning the heat up either," Gigante interjected.

Ron Geer, another convert to wood heat, said his wife had also commented on the additional warmth of a wood fire.

"She says hauling the wood doesn't bother her--she's warm," Geer said. "For the first time since we've lived in our house, our bedrooms are warm."

Geer and Mayhew have essentially the same type of wood burning furnace as Gigante.

"The modern stove looks just like a piece of furniture," the three men explained. "It looks like a humidifier only it is three times the size of a regular humidifier."

The men said the stove is also safer than the earlier potbellied versions. The outside of the stove doesn't get as hot as the potbellied or castiron ones and there isn't the danger of a child being seriously burned by bumping against the heater.

"We're sold on the stoves," they laughed.

The men said they had all turned on their regular furnaces to see if they still worked, but they said they only use the furnaces if they are going away on trips and won't be home to tend the fire.

Harry Potter, custodian at the county building, has solved that problem by installing a combination wood-oil furnace.

"I did, that, so in case I got lazy, I won't get cold," Potter laughed.

With his set up, the oil part of the furnace will automatically kick in if the fire gets too low. He also has a reclaimer on the chimney, which recycles all of the heat out of the smoke and keeps his basement workshop warm.

Potter said he was heating his house with electricity at $150 to $170 a month.

"And that was a little cold," he pointed out.

City Police Arrest Three in Drug Bust

Two adults and a juvenile were arrested for violation of the controlled substances act last week, according to Charlevoix City Police Chief Jack Mol.

Mol said James I. Cooper, 30, and Richard J. Weiter, 20, along with a juvenile male, were arrested last Monday for possession of narcotics. Cooper and the juvenile were arrested for delivery and Weiter for possession of alleged narcotics.

The police chief said U.S. Coast Guard intelligence and the city police cooperated in the bust. Both Cooper and Wreiter are stationed with the Coast Guard here.

Mol said the bust netted $600-$700 worth of alleged marijuana and hashish. A lab report on the confiscated materials is pending, he said. The police chief said this is the first drug related arrest made in about one year.

The trio will be arraigned on Tuesday.

MO CUDD gets a second chance at this free shot during a recent game between Charlevoix and Boyne City. The Rayders won 69-25. Charlevoix will meet Onaway during the opening game of the district tournaments this Thursday.

Charlevoix Meets Onaway in Tourney

The Charlevoix Girls Basketball Team, coached by Toni Felter, will go into the Class C basketball tournament at Onaway against the Cardinal girls team at 7 p.m. Thursday.

In a second game, Boyne City will clash with East Jordan at the same time, 7:00 p.m., on Friday.

The Class C District finals will be played at Onaway at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, Dale Burge, Rayder Athletic Director, has announced.

City Government Needs Fresh Breath--More Mayor Candidates Sought

The state of affairs in Charlevoix city government has now reached the point where residents have no choice but to find a new mayor for the upcoming city primary.

We have stood back and watched long enough. The selection of a city administrator has demonstrated to us that it is no longer the council, but it is the mayor that is holding Charlevoix back.

For the last several years, we have been hearing from the mayor how much Charlevoix has improved and how he has put city government back in the hands of the people, instead of only a select few.

Has this really happened? Or has city government fallen into the hands of no one?

We are deeply concerned about the unstableness of the city. For nearly three years, the city has yet to come up with a permanent appointment to fill the city administrator's position.

Most recently, the council has interviewed six candidates for the job and reviewed the applications of more than 96 people in the last two months. After having narrowed it down to three people, we learn that the first two candidates have backed out because they are uncertain about the stability of their position under present political conditions.

Much of this concern, we feel, lies with the present city mayor. We feel Mayor Edward Hansen has been in office long enough to demonstrate his abilities to the public.

We have not been pleased with this demonstration and are urging the residents of Charlevoix to look, as we have, at the sad state of affairs in Charlevoix.

Charlevoix city government is big business and we want it to run more efficiently than it has been run during the last few years.

We can no longer hold anyone responsible for the present condition, except one person--the Mayor of Charlevoix. He sits at the helm of our local government and must take the responsibility for the condition of the city.

We will look forward to seeing some new people challenge the mayor in the next city primary.

Planning Commission Should Take Active Role In Educating Public

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission should be urged to follow through on the proposed changes in its operation that were discussed at a recent meeting.

Over the past several months, various planning commissioners have expressed dissatisfaction with the current operation of the planning body. During the recent brainstorming session, the commissioners voiced approval of a proposal to switch from the passive role they have been taking to a more active role in the implementation of zoning and planning in the county.

One of the ways the commissioners felt they could take a more active role in implementing planning and zoning was through a mass education program throughout the county. The men felt they should change the format of their meetings to include an educational section. They also decided to meet in various parts of the county instead of always meeting at the county seat.

We strongly urge the commissioners to follow through with this idea. Planning and zoning principles are complicated and difficult to understand at best. When a person has never been exposed to planning and zoning until they have to request a zoning variance or seek a permit, it is hard to see how all that red tape can be beneficial.

Fear of the unknown is the worst kind. This fear can create a monster out of a kitten. Already Chandler Township has let their interim zoning ordinance run out without the establishment of a permanent ordinance. Perhaps a little education and action on the county level might have prevented that.

Zoning and planning can help us all to be good neighbors, but it is hard to use a tool if you don't know how it works. The planning commission should be teaching us how to use it.

Post Office Can Save

Dear Editor:

It would help the Post Office deficit if they would stop subsidizing religious organizations by letting them have only two cent mailing privileges. It takes just as much time to process this type as it does a first class letter.

A Bicentennial Memory

Dear Editor:

My name is Daisy Pinney. I am 91 years of age. I now reside in Midland, Michigan.

Enclosed herein is a copy of a true short story I wrote recently. Since it does touch lightly upon the subject of our bicentennial year, and since both your city, and county, are mentioned in the contents, I thought perhaps you might care to read it over, and possibly print it in your local paper.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Daisy Chew

FOLLOWING IN THEIR FOOTSTEPS

June 6, 1879: When the wagons were finally loaded we set out on our trek to Michigan. It was 3 p.m. when we started. We went through Tyner and close to Blissville. We covered only 11 miles before selecting a campsite, and pitched our tent.

Those words are a part of the first entry my father made in a log he kept during a 17 day journey by horse-and-wagon from Plymouth, Indiana to Petoskey, Michigan, during the month of June, almost a century ago. The "WE" he mentions were Abel W. Chew, his wife Sally, six of their children (ages 2 through 18) and a family dog named Tyler (after the former President). The train consisted of one heavy covered wagon, plus a lighter spring wagon in tow. The power was furnished by two horses, one of which was named Jim.

Abel was the eldest son of Ezekiel C. Chew, a prominent physician then living and practicing in Plymouth. Abel's profession was that of a schoolteacher. On the 25th of December in 1877, Ezekiel deeded 40 acres of land, located in Section 17, Township 33 North, Range 1, in the Northwestern part of Marshall County to his son, Abel, and it was from that site that the journey, mentioned in the first paragraph above, began in 1879....some six years before I was born. As I grew up, I often heard the older members of my family talk about that trip, and one of my brothers liked to tell how he "walked most all the way". And well he might, because most of the roads were bad, and the lighter the load, the easier it would be on the horses.

As this is written in 1976, we are celebrating our Nation's 200th birthday and since I am 91, I am almost half as old as my Country. I felt that I should somehow participate in the celebrations, and could think of nothing more pleasing to me than to go to Plymouth, where I could pick up my family's trail, and to following "in their footsteps". My eldest daughter, and her husband, also shared my enthusiasm, so early in August the three of us took off on a trip which would eventually take us through every town and village, across every river, and by every lake, my father had mentioned during their entire journey.

Plymouth is the County Seat of Marshall County, and since the courthouse was...and still is...an important place in any County, it was our first prime target. Since it was built in 1870, and since both my father and grandfather were inhabitants of that County until 1879, I was sure that both of them had climbed those stone steps, and gone through those massive doors, many times. To me, it seemed an ideal spot to pick up the trail, so I climbed those steps, went through those doors, and even had my picture taken with the courthouse in the background.

From the courthouse we went to the home of the County Historical Society, where among other things, we found a huge picture of my grandfather, the doctor, prominently displayed on the wall in a room on the second floor. The attendant in charge went out of her way to help us in every way possible. When we explained our project, she gave us maps of the area, and showed us how to get to various places.

Clockwise

Saturday, at the tag-end of a one-week vacation, I made good on a long-standing promise to the kids: Lunch at the new MacDonald's restaurant in Petoskey.

Although our hearts sank when we saw the jammed parking lot, we had been warned against losing hope at that point and continued dauntlessly into the building. The tables for six were all occupied but we managed to find an alcove for four with two seats just across the aisle.

Ten minutes later, we were eating.

The food, of course, was up to MacDonald's standards; the furnishings were attractive; and the decorating scheme puzzling but interesting. (The overall effect is supposed to be Indian, but Plains and Woodland Indian designs aren't exactly compatible. But that doesn't matter. The hamburgers were excellent.)

What really surprised me was the number of people on hand to dine with Ronald MacDonald. The Petoskey restaurant has been open a couple of months and it is no longer a novelty. I think the crowd we encountered Saturday afternoon was probably typical for most Saturday afternoons. And if it is, MacDonalds is coining money in Petoskey and more power to them.

One of the main attractions at MacDonalds, of course, is that the food is affordable. The six of us filled up on slightly more than $1 apiece, including hot apple turnovers for dessert. MacDonald's prices are certainly among the wonders of the modern world.

MacDonalds, Burger Chef, A & W and the myriad other fast-food restaurants that have sprung up across the country in recent years have signaled a major change in the restaurant business. And I use that word "signaled" advisedly. I do not think the fast-food boys have been responsible for the change. But I think they have been smart enough to foresee the nation's present economic crisis and capitalize on it.

The victims--and there are always victims--are the little family restaurants where you used to go for a good "home-cooked" meal. One by one they are either closing their doors or they are remaining open only to serve breakfast and lunch. By 4 p.m. they pour their last cup of coffee and send the chef home.

I am afraid that the rising costs of labor, food and utilities--balanced against diminishing returns--will soon force many of these restaurants to close their doors permanently. They simply cannot compete price-wise with the fast-food chains with their built-in economies. Nor are they any match for the fancy nightclubs with liquor licenses which charge and receive princely sums for their specialties.

In the not-too-distant future I see only two types of restaurants remaining: The fast-food eateries and the posh supper clubs. "Home-cooking" and family recipes will have no place in tomorrow's portion-controlled kitchens.

But as sorry as I am to see the little restaurants on the ropes, I am happy that the fast-food boys are standing ready to help poor old dad treat his family to a restaurant meal once in a while.

The folks I feel sorry for are the roomers and apartment dwellers who eat out every day. With the little restaurants closed at suppertime, where do they go? Unless they are awfully fond of hamburgers or veal parmesan, there really isn't much for them.

A survey has just revealed that men in their 40s are found by young women to be the "most attractive of any age group."

"If I had known you were going to be 'in' this year," I told my husband, "I'd have cleaned you up and put you on the mantle."

"Don't be testy," he said. "It's a fact of life. The mature man has always been unmercifully attractive."

"There are just a few things I would like explained about the 'mature man'," I said, whipping out a list. "It has to do with semantics."

A man's grey hair is "distinguished."

A woman's hair that comes out of the same bottle is "washed out."

Glasses on a man make him intelligent.

Glasses on a woman make her blind.

When a man is muscular he is strong.

When a woman is muscular, she's gone to pot.

If a man doesn't talk, he's thinking.

If a woman doesn't talk, she's dumb.

When a man limps, it's an old war wound.

When a woman limps, she's getting old.

A man gets wrinkles because he earned them.

A woman gets wrinkles because she asked for them.

When a man forgets something he's preoccupied.

When a woman forgets something, she's flaky.

When a man gets crabby, it's called impatience.

When a woman gets crabby, it's called irregularities.

A man asks you to repeat something because he can't believe he heard it the first time.

A woman asks you to repeat something because she's hard of hearing.

"Those are sexist remarks," said my husband. "But I forgive you for them. After all, how many people have a real sex object taking out the garbage every night?"

"Or vice versa," I said.

"My dear," he continued, "just remember that beauty is only skin deep."

I hate that remark. I mean, how far down does it have to go?

If it Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

Big City Life

The poet in me is awakened annually as the summer changes into autumn clothes, the morning frost paints sparkling pictures on the lawn, and my wife tells me to take down the lousy screen porch.

It doesn't help that we recently moved into a downtown Detroit apartment, high above the dismaying sound of lawns being cut and sidewalks being shoveled. We still own a bucolic home, 65 miles up the freeway, because I can't find anyone to buy it.

But my wife and I are determined to spend most of our time in the big city, enjoying the excitement and culture so long denied us as 25-year residents of a small town.

Our first day as Detroit residents, I gave her a taste of the cosmopolitan night life and also demonstrated how much sooner tomorrow arrives in a huge, glittering city. I took her to Kinsel's drugstore and bought her Sunday's newspaper on Saturday night.

Now that we're living in the middle of all this neon glamor, it is not easy to retain bucolic ties. But it must be done. Because of the caretakers, it is necessary to make sporadic visits to our old home.

The caretakers are our 2 large-size children who didn't move to Detroit with us because we wouldn't let them. We won't even give them our new address.

We left them some old furniture and the promise to return often - but always unannounced. No visiting pattern will be established. Any parent of children aged 18 to 21 will recognize the wisdom of this policy.

Only the threat of our unexpected arrival at any time will prevent the children from turning our home into a shelter for wayward weirdies and paroled rock bands.

Anyway, the net result of this dual residence is that I'm still responsible for that lousy screen porch, which is what I wanted to tell you about in the first place. My purpose is that you sophisticates at Kinsel's should realize why I want to join Bucolics Anonymous.

The screen porch is really a carport. But long ago my wife decided our car didn't need summer shelter as badly as she needed a place to pile wicker. So she hired an old man to enclose the space in four huge screens, two of which he removed every October to let the Plymouth in.

Then he would return in June to put the two huge screens back up, and so on, year after year, inevitable as a hiccup.

Behind his back, I called him "Mr. Harbinger." I never met him face to face. He probably thought my wife was a widow, a contrived misconception shared by all repairmen who visit our home. Whenever they show up, I hide behind a locked door and whimper into a pillow.

I whimper because I know I'll never be able to do as much for my own children as I've done for the plumber's children.

After many years, there came an autumn when the hiccup didn't hic. Mr. Harbinger, as old men do, died. After a suitable period of mourning, my wife announced that if an 88-year-old retiree could put up a screen porch and take it down, so could a healthy, 35-year-old newspaperman, even if he was me.

At which point the period of mourning was extended interminably.

The job has been mine for about 15 years now. I have never licked it, but I have learned how to live with it. Proper preparation is of paramount importance. A recent Saturday was a typical takedown...

Before touching a screen, I had to haul the TV to the porch window and position it precariously on a pile of books so I could see the World Series from every rung of my ladder.

Then, I squatted quietly in a corner with my head between my knees and practiced transcendental meditation.

My mantra, repeated for 10 minutes, goes like this: "I promise, promise, promise not to lose my temper and swear when I find I cannot get the screwdriver into a screw because my bleep-bleep wife has painted over the bleeping screwhead. Also I promise, promise, promise never to turn my back on an unscrewed screen."

An hour later I forgot. 2 screws had disappeared under my wife's incessant paintbrush. I turned to yell this delightful news to my wife, who was in the kitchen painting the silverware.

A sudden wind caught an unscrewed screen and forced it to fall snugly on my shoulders, leaving my scraped head sticking through the hole it had just made.

At that point my daughter stuck her smart face in front of the World Series and said, "Smile, you're on Candid Camera."

I returned to my squat corner and hollered for my whimper pillow.

Meet Charlevoix

...John Curtis

John Curtis is not only the Fire Chief of the City of Charlevoix but the Administrator of the City Ambulance Service as well. Here he tells the Courier about how the service operates.

COURIER: How many ambulances do you have?

CURTIS: Two vehicles.

COURIER: How old are they?

CURTIS: One is a 1968 vehicle and the other is a 1974.

COURIER: How are they equipped?

CURTIS: Basically the same -- with extrication equipment, oxygen, medical supplies. They have to be licensed under the State Health Department.

COURIER: Who operates the ambulances?

CURTIS: We have 14 licensed personnel, all volunteers. They have completed the advanced Red Cross Training Program. Their certificates are good for three years and they have to take a physical exam yearly to be re-licensed.

COURIER: Who are they?

CURTIS: Alfred Bergmann, Charles Bergmann, Doug Bergmann, Bob Geer, Don Geneit, George Lusk, John Martin, Don Meggison, Jerry Meggison, Lee Moerland, Tip Riley, Barry Wood, and Pete LeFavour.

COURIER: Some of them are also trained in Cardiac Pulmonary Resusitation, aren't they?

CURTIS: Yes. Doug Bergmann, Lee Moerland, Bob Geer, John Martin and Barry Wood are all licensed instructors in CPR. They are available to give instruction in the technique to interested groups.

COURIER: How is the cost of the Ambulance Service financed?

CURTIS: By the City of Charlevoix, the townships we serve, and by the people who use it. The money comes from taxes paid to the City of Charlevoix, a fraction of the mill assessed the townships, and $20 per call plus $1 a loaded mile for the people who use it. Besides the City, we serve Charlevoix, Hayes, Marion and Norwood Townships.

COURIER: What type of ambulance calls do you receive most frequently?

CURTIS: Calls to transport people from their homes to the hospital or to nursing homes. We not only go to Charlevoix Hospital, but to Little Traverse, Lockwood and sometimes to Munson in Traverse City. Also to Grandvue, Beverly Manor, and other nursing homes.

COURIER: Are you more busy one time of the year than others?

CURTIS: No. It's pretty much the same year 'round. Sometimes we can go two or three weeks without a call and then get four or five calls in a day, no matter what time of year it is.

COURIER: How do people who need an ambulance reach you?

CURTIS: By calling the Charlevoix Fire Department. Then we call two volunteers whom we know are available. Sometimes, in case of a serious automobile accident, or if we have to carry someone down several flights of stairs, we send more than two.

COURIER: How many calls do you have a year?

CURTIS: So far this year we have had 218. Last year we had a total of 212.

COURIER: How long has the Charlevoix Ambulance Service been in existence?

CURTIS: Since early 1968. We used a Winchester vehicle until we got our own. Now we use the 1968 vehicle for transfers and back up.

COURIER: Are you happy with the way the service operates?

CURTIS: Yes, we have a real good, efficient crew. They are dedicated to it.

COURIER: How would the bills now being considered by the State House of Representatives affect the Charlevoix Ambulance Service?

CURTIS: They would be a hardship. It might not make any difference to the large, full-time services, where they could get their training on the job and have plenty of men, but to us it would be detrimental. If the bills pass, it will mean a lot more paper work, more personnel and generally cause a lot of problems.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Four weeks ago, the Courier carried a story about the bills. They are SB 985, 986 and 987, already passed by the Senate and slated for consideration by the House almost immediately. Persons wishing to state their opinion on them should contact their State Representative).

Bicentiennial Memory

The first villages mentioned in the log are Tyner and Blissville, and the attendant informed us that "Tyner is still there, but Blissville just didn't make it". I was indeed happy to know that Tyner would be our initial starting place, but I felt a bit sorry that Blissville was no longer around. I could not help but think how nice it might have been for a native thereof to say, "I was born-and-raised in a nice little town, appropriately called Blissville".

With what we considered as ample information, and duly supplied with maps and instructions, we decided to call it a day. Following a pleasant evening meal, we retired at a local motel. On the morrow we would literally pick up the trail and follow in their footsteps.

THE FIRST STEP

Over hilly, winding, unmarked country roads, we had no difficulty finding Tyner, a small village probably no larger, nor smaller, than it was a century ago. We did stop long enough to inquire as to the whereabouts of the road that would take us to Teagarten, and was told, "You're on it; there's only one road". Along that one road, just 11 miles from their former home, eight members of my family had chosen a campsite, and pitched their tent, some 97 years before. I could but guess as to their attitudes concerning such a move under such conditions, but one does not miss what one has never known, and at that time, speedy air-conditioned automobiles were as yet unknown.

June 7. Left camp 6:30 a.m. Passed through Teagarten. Crossed Marshall County Line about 8 a.m. Was in Lakeville by 10. We camped 7½ miles south of South Bend.

As can be seen, my father was very specific. It is not the least bit difficult to follow such information. We used country roads to Lakeville, but then took U.S. 31 to Gilmer Park, at which place, County Road No. 23 branches off to skirt South Bend to the east. Even a century ago South Bend was a fairly large city, and one would not care to pull two loaded wagons down the main street if it could be avoided. Road 23 not only gave him an alternative, but it was also the shortest route to his next objective, and he could also camp outside of the city proper.

He knew where he was going, and how to get there! Even in those days there was a railroad that ran all the way to Petoskey, and since railroads were usually constructed along as straight a line as possible, and over as flat a terrain as possible, it was logical to follow roads that more-or-less ran parallel to that of the railroad. Then too, if an emergency should arise, he could always take a train for the rest of the way.

June 8. Took dinner beneath beautiful maples not far from Granger Station. Camped 2½ miles south of Edwardsburg in Michigan.

Once again we found the trail very easy to follow. We were very pleased when we came to a little town named Maple Lane, where giant maples bordered on both sides of the main street. And sure enough, the next little town was named Granger. A railroad does run through the town, and in this day, it was probably known as Granger Station. Not far from Granger, Indiana County Road 23 changes to Michigan State Road 62, and that road led us right into Edwardsburg.

June 9. Passed by Diamond Lake; a beautiful sheet of water. Took dinner south of Roger's Corner. Drove 23 miles today. Camped atop a big hill near the asylum.

THE DIVERSIONAL therapy patients at Grandvue Medical Care Facility joined together to form a band.

Grandvue Patients Honor Volunteers With Special Music Show

The Grandvue Medical Care Facility patients pulled a switch recently on the many auxilary members who work with them.

The patients in the diversional therapy classes at the facility put on a show during a program honoring the volunteers. Normally it is the volunteers who put on a program for the patients, Hilda Watkins, supervisor of the care facility, explained.

Under the direction of Rose Nemec and Betty Tisron, the patients formed a band consisting of bells, tambourines, drums and castinets and with a piano accompaniment gave several heart warming renditions of familiar songs.

The volunteers were also treated to a version of "The Good Ship Lollipop" given by two nurses aides, Regina Snyder and Dawn Arnott, who dressed up like the Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls, which the patients in diversional therapy make and sell at the care facility.

"We'd like to make this an annual event," Mrs. Watkins said. "The volunteers do so much for us and it's nice to be able to do something for them.

"I think this is the first time we've ever tried something like this," she said.

Mrs. Watkins said volunteers assist the patients with many things. The more than 90 women in the auxiliary work in the beauty and barber shops at the care facility. They transport patients and do shopping for them as well as entertaining the patients and taking them to chapel services at the facility.

In addition to the time they spend with patients, the auxiliary members also raise money for the care facility through the annual tag day, game parties and bake sales.

Throughout the last seven years volunteers have raised money to purchase patio furniture and to construct a patio, to purchase wheel chairs, rocker lounges, armchairs, color television sets, cards tables and chairs and pictures for the walls.

Lake Levels Drop During October

The water level of Lake Michigan (and Lake Charlevoix) during the month of October was down slightly from the same period last year.

The Department of the Army reports that this October's mean level was 579.37 feet, compared with last year's 579.85 feet.

The highest recorded level for the month was 580.45 feet in 1973, and the lowest was 575.77 feet in 1964.

Records show that the average level for the years 1900 to 1975 was 578.26 feet.

Organizational PTA Meeting Slated For Nov. 18 at School

Growing interest in a P.T.A. (Parent-Teacher Association) has resulted in an organizational meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division Avenue. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Dr. Robert Davis serving as temporary chariman.

"We think a P.T.A. is an important function in the community. It creates a greater interest among parents whose children spend so much of their time in the classroom. It is one way of supporting the schools. We hope that parents of students in all three schools will bring their ideas to this organizational meeting" Mrs. David Fershee, who is assisting with publicity, said in announcing the meeting.

If you have a previous committment and cannot attend the Wednesday meeting, you are asked to show your interest by calling Mrs. Fershee and leaving your name and address.

Mrs. Fershee went on to say that no goals have been set or permanent officers elected and urged parents who are interested to attend the initial meeting.

COMMON COUNCIL

COUNCIL MINUTES NOVEMBER 1, 1976
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Wallace, Morris, Wood, Whitley, and Erber. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

The Minutes of the October 18, 1976 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wallace and supported by Alderman Morris that a Public Hearing be held on November 29, 1976 for the rezoning of the property at 111 Michigan Avenue owned by Fochtman Chevrolet-Buick Company from R-1 to C-1 for the purpose of a parking lot for new and used cars, and that the Public Hearing be advertised in the local paper at least fifteen days prior to the Hearing. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Wallace, Morris, Wood, Whitley, and Erber. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Council agreed to pursue negotiations with the school to locate the ice rink on the school property on the corner of May Street and Carpenter Avenue.

Council also agreed to install a 1½ " water line from the township water line to the ski house for its operation, this will be around 200 feet from the north side of Pleasant Street to the ski house as the water is not fit for human consumption from the old well.

Council agreed to retain the wooden street signs in the City and not go along with signs being part of the sign upgrading program. We will maintain these signs at our own expense, these are the signs showing street names.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $51,713.39 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Morris and supported by Alderman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Wallace, Morris, Wood, Whitley, and Erber. Nays: None. Absent: Alderman Plumm.

Council adjourned.

6 Charlevoix Students Make State Honors Band

Six members of the Charlevoix High School Band will be playing in the District II Honors Band when the 85-member instrumental group presents it annual concert at Petoskey auditorium on Sunday, Dec. 5.

They are Geoff Nelson, Jean Lenhart and Beth Begrow who play the trumpet; Kevin Kroll, trombone; Jeff Wellman, percussion and Joan Cook, clarinet. They are among the 10 local instrumentalists who competed for chairs in the Honors Band. Young musicians from 45 school in District II competed for an opportunity to play with the select group.

Dr. Norman Dietz, Director of Bands at Central Michigan University, will direct the Honors Band on Dec. 5 On Saturday, Dec. 4, band members will gather in Petoskey for an all-day rehearsal and spend the night with Petoskey band members before appearing in concert on Sunday according to Gary Stutzman, Charlevoix Band director.

VFW Auxiliary Votes Money To Support Band, Other Groups

The Charlevoix Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars met recently at the post home.

Mrs. Jeannette Baumgartner of Alpena, District 13 president, attended the meeting and addressed the membership.

At the business meeting, the group voted to contribute $50 to the Charlevoix High School Band toward the purchase of a new instrument; $30 to the Health and Happiness Fund at the V.F.W.Home for Children at Eaton Rapids and $25 to the Charlevoix Community Christmas Fund. The members also purchased Christmas Seals.

Plans to donate gifts to the State Hospital at Traverse City and to the veterans hospital were discussed.

Slippers, lap robes and comfort items will be worked on at the next meeting scheduled for Nov. 18 at the post home.

Mrs. Clarence F. Rabach was re-instated as a member.

Mrs. Tillie DeKett of Alpena attended as a guest.

It was reported that several V.F.W. and Auxiliary members attended the recent district meeting at Kalkaska.

WALTER HUFFORD and Tom Shaperkotter of the Charlevoix Lions Club display the eye glass collection container situated at Central Drug Store. As part of the Lions blindness prevention program the men are collecting old eye glasses and distributing them to people who cannot afford to purchase glasses. The lenses and the frames are pooled with those collected throughout the nation.

FANCY FOOTWORK helped get this shot up to the hoop. Looks like it fooled the Boyne City players, too.

A BOYNE CITY player charges through the defense to attempt to stop this Rayder shot, but once again, the Rambler player was foiled.

AGAIN THE RAYDER shot was good, as it rolled around the hoop and went in for another two points.

BOYNE CITY attempts to stop this shot, but the player just wasn't fast enough.

IT WAS A BAD NIGHT for Boyne City as shot after shot went in for the Rayder netmen.

EXPERT BALL handling helped the Rayders romp their way to a 69-25 victory over the Ramblers last Thursday.

IN A RACE TO GET DOWN court the ball was temporarily out of play.

Girls Down Boyne City 69-25

The Charlevoix girls basketball team got back on the victory trail this week with a 69-25 win over Boyne City on Thursday.

The team will close out its schedule Tuesday at Grayling before going into the Class C District tournament against Onaway on the Cardinals floor later in the week (see tournament story).

In their game with Boyne City, team members also recognized their parents who were introduced during the game.

The Charlevoix quintet edged to a 9-8 first period lead, increased it to 27-17 at halftime and 48-17 at the three-quarter mark before coasting to an easy win.

Maureen Cudd poured in 25 points, Kay Currey 15 and Sandy Hodge 12 points for Charlevoix. Terry Scott and Dawn Timms had 10 points each for Boyne City.

The Charlevoix JV's also posted a decisive win over the Boyne JV's.

Sherrie Selissen with 16 points led the attack as the Charlevoix five paces the visitors 14-4; 22-14 and 40-18 by quarters. Penny Grunow had eight for Boyne City.

Four Teams Continue Lead In B League Action This Week

By FRAN MARTIN

With only two weeks of play behind them, only two teams of A League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League are undefeated according to Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

They are the Townhouse and Way Oil. The Townhouse knocked Swanson's from the ranks of the undefeated in a 59-56 overtime game played Thursday. Way Oil defeated Credit Union 61-41 and Kaden's won over Willett Roofing 68-58 in the third game of the night.

Trailing by 11 points with six minutes remaining in the game, the Townhouse five started to hit and slowly closed the gap to 52-all at the end of regulation play. Swanson's went ahead by a slim margin in the overtime and began an early stall that backfired as Townhouse fouled to gain possession of the ball and then went ahead for the victory. Steve Smith had 17 points for the game, Dan McKenzie 13 and Bernie Ward 11 for Townhouse. Randy DeYoung had 14 points, Dave Swanson 13 and Bruce Meggison, 12 for Swanson's.

Townhouse had jumped to a 16-10 first quarter lead only to see Swanson's tie the score 24-24 at halftime before going ahead 36-32 at the three-quarter mark.

It was Way Oil all the way as the team led Credit Union 15-4; 23-14 and 42-28 by quarters. Roger Crain scored 12 points and Mike Bade and Dale Boss 10 points each for the victors. Ron Ross had 13 for Credit Union.

Five members of the Kaden squad hit in double figures as the team headed Willett Roofing 20-6; 37-25 and 48-44 by quarters, Jeff Belford tallied 14, Jim Bauman 13, Al Looze 12, Kim Hocquard 11 and Keith Fitzpatrick 10 for Kadens. Jim Danbert had 17 and Roger Bolhuis 14 for the Ellsworth team.

Only Two Teams Undefeated In 2 Weeks of A League Play

By FRAN MARTIN

The power in the B League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League is beginning to show itself early in the season as Hoskins upset LaBlance Insurance 38-36; County State Bank defeated Wojan Aluminum 60-54; Tri-City Asphalt dumped Klooster John Deere 88-52; Freedman's beat Medusa 71-51 and AlRay Cottages posted a 68-38 win over Bay Shore Steel.

In a low-scoring game in which LaBlance Insurance held a slim lead for a major part of the game, Hoskins outscored the Underwriters 15-11 in the final period to defeat them by a two-point margin.

The two teams were tied 8-8 at the quarter before LaBlance's went ahead 17-14 at halftime and 25-23 going into the final eight minutes.

Pete Huskisson led the attack for Hoskins with 12 points. Dave Notovny and Jim Gels had eight points each for LaBlance's.

After trailing 14-10 at the quarter and 32-29 at halftime, Wojan Aluminum made a comeback to go ahead 43-42 going into the final period. However, they were unable to hang on and went down to a six point defeat at the hands of County State Bank 60-54. Larry Skippergosh with 24 points and Jerry Skippergosh with 23 paced the scoring for the victors. Don Ward and Don Smith had 12 each and Stan Martin 11 for Wojan's.

Butch Klooster with 25 points, Dave Norton with 24, Mike Crain with 21 and Leroy Buchanan with 12 points posted a decisive win over Klooster John Deere after leading 22-4; 46-21 and 64-31 by quarters. Roger Gowell had 14 and Butch Wagner and Dennis VanGuilder 10 points each for the Big John quintet.

Freedman's also stayed in the win column after defeating Medusa 71-51. The two teams played to a 14-14 first period tie before Freedman's pulled away 36-23 at the half and 53-35 at the three-quarter mark.

Bernie DeVries with 17 points; Steve McClellan, 12; Paul Osterberg, 11 and Terry Blissett, 10 points led Freedman's scoring. Roger Putman had 13 points for Medusa.

AlRay Cottages got into the win column for the first time last week with a 62-38 victory over Bay Shore Steel who played the entire game with four men.

Despite the handicap, the Steelers got off to a 12-10 first period lead and held on 24-24 at halftime before the Cottagers went ahead 38-30 going into the final period.

Dave Martinchek and Jay Masoryak shared scoring honors with 18 points each. Butch Giles had 10 for the Cottagers. Tom McDonough had 18 and Mark Holmes 10 for the Steelers.

Boys Basketball Practice Starts, Season Opener Nov. 26

With the football season behind them, basketball practice for the Charlevoix Rayders swung into high gear as the team prepares for its opening game on Friday, Nov. 26.

The Rayders will host Covert, former Class D state champs from southwestern Michigan, in a game here on the day after Thanksgiving. The Covert squad, an outstanding Class D team, will make two appearances in northern Michigan Thanksgiving weekend. The second will be at Ellsworth the following night, Saturday.

The Rayders will open their Michigan-Huron Shores schedule the following Tuesday, Nov. 30, on their home court before launching into a series of two games per week until the holiday recess. Charlevoix will host Cheboygan here on Nov. 30.

With only three weeks to prepare for the season opener, Coach Dave Moyer is practicing regularly concentrating chiefly on conditioning and fundementals.

Candidates for the Varsity slots include six senior regulars from the 1975-76 squad. Among them are guards Bud Klooster, 5'10", Scott Boss, 6-0, Dave Tollas, 5-11 and Brian Williams, 5-10; forward, Matt Doan, 6-2 and Pat Schaefer, 6-5 center. The latter, however, suffered a fractured ankle last summer and will not be available to the team for the present.

Coach Moyer said other players would come from those up from JV ranks. The list includes five juniors, Kip Cinnamon, 6-2, center; Neil Dziedzic, 6-0, forward; Joe Left, 6-2 forward and guards, Jim Elzinga, 5-8, and Jim Alger, 5-9.

At this early date, Coach Moyer has not settled on a starting five but expects to prior to the opening game on Nov. 26.

56 Grapplers Report For Practice Season Opens Dec. 4

The 1976-77 wrestling season at the Charlevoix High School opened Monday when 56 aspiring mat men reported for their first practice session.

The sport, which has grown from less than a dozen boys to the present number in a matter of five years, has attracted 13 freshmen, 18 sophomores, 14 juniors and 11 seniors.

The season will open with the third annual Freshman-Sophomore tournament here on Saturday, Dec. 4, for which 12 firm commitments have been made and three others are pending.

The scheduled season will open the following week when the team will travel to Onaway on Dec. 8 and host Grayling here the following night.

Coach Norm Probert said that he will conduct two practice sessions daily for the present so boys who want to go hunting after school may do so and report for practice after the dinner hour. Early practice sessions will be devoted to conditioning and to learning the moves necessary to the sport. While he is not predicting anything for his team at this time, he is hopeful of a good season.

"We have 13 experienced wrestlers returning and numerous others who won numerals and thus have only limited experience. This, however, will form a good nucleus for this year's squad which should be a strong one" Probert said.

He lists as his returning veterans the following with their weight classes following: Gary Probert (170), Mike Snizik (158), Don Trost (126), Jeff Skelton (115), and Greg Chappuies (185), a transfer from Delaware, Ohio; all seniors; Craig Golovich (142), Mike Kiteley (145), Mark Byard (115) and Greg Loper (220), all juniors and Ande Keller (155), Dennis Whitley (174) and Dave Golovich (103), all sophomores.

Probert is assisted by volunteers Mike Carland and John Ozga.

Concerned About Home Financing?

Many of us in these current economic times are concerned about existing mortgage interest rates. In many cases, it causes some of us to delay our decision on buying a home. One way around this problem is the Land Contract. The following homes are for your consideration using this form of financing.

A touch of elegance...in the serene village of Norwood describes this lovely home including living room with fireplace, dining room, family room, 4 bedrooms, new efficient kitchen (includes all appliances), sun porch, 2 car garage and many more extras on a large (132 x 198) attractively landscaped lot surrounded by a wood fence. Reasonably priced at $59,750.

It's hard to imagine what more you could ask for, a panoramic view of Grand Traverse Bay from this newly redecorated three bedroom home with fireplace & water softener. Located in one of the north's most attractive developments, the sportsman will appreciate the availability of the 18 hole golf course, tennis courts, cross country skiing, Lake Michigan access & club house. Ideal for year 'round residence or as a resort home, call today for further details.

Park Avenue in Charlevoix....this home is located in one of Charlevoix's most attractive residential areas, one block from downtown and one block from Lake Michigan. Containing four bedrooms, 3 full baths, spacious kitchen with pantry, large living room designed for entertaining. Plus a fireplace, new siding, new windows, & many other attractive features. Call for your private showing.

A rare opportunity...something that is hard to find in today's market - a large well maintained conveniently located home containing three bedrooms, 2 baths, separate dining room, a large kitchen with an attractive pantry. There is an abundance of storage, all appliances are included, all of this and other features included immediate occupancy and the availability of a 7½ percent Land Contract.

Overlooking Susan Lake is this large (over 1800 square feet) less than one year old home, with amenities almost too numerous to mention. For example: three spacious bedrooms, including a master suite with it's own private bath, walk-in closet, & balcony. Plus, a den, another full bath, large brick fireplace. Give us the opportunity to discuss all the features of this home and the land contract terms with you.

New Program Helps Employees With Problems

Lexalite Begins Counseling

A program providing professional help in solving personal and family problems that may be affecting work habits has been set up for the employees of Lexalite Corporation in Charlevoix.

The program is being offered by the plastics manufacturer to its employees in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Health, and will use the services of the new "Chip" Ransom Counseling Center, located at 723 Park Ave., across from the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

"The goal of this program is to hopefully solve personal problems before they get to be job performance problems," William Neu, personnel director, explained. "Our idea is to reach people who may be experiencing financial or marital problems, temporary emotional problems or drug or alcohol abuse problems and see that they find the appropriate agency or treatment center in our area.

"LexaLite is saying, 'It's okay to get help,' and we don't pretend to be experts in handling our employee's problems," he added.

The corporation first learned about the program from representatives of the state health department, Jo Ann Barnes, manager of the communications department, explained.

"Our program is a part of a series of programs started by the department of health throughout the state," Mrs. Barnes said.

"The state has been starting these programs right in the plants as a means of reaching people that have alcohol or drug abuse problems," she continued. "According to studies they have made, about 5 percent of a plant's employees are people with alcohol problems."

Mrs. Barnes said state studies also showed that the easiest way for a person to get help with a problem is through the employer.

Often times indications of a problem will show up at work in such ways as: chronic tardiness, excessive absenteeism, lowered productivity, minor accidents, shabby work or preoccupation. In the past, this may have resulted in a loss of a job.

However, under the recently instituted LexaLite program, if a supervisor notices some of the above listed characteristics, he will point out the poor performance to the employee and recommend professional counseling through the new program.

A confidential appointment will be made at no charge to the employee. The first appointment may be made voluntarily by the worker, by his or her spouse, or finally, if necessary, upon referral by an employee's supervisor to a committee. After counseling, any follow-up treatment which is recommended, may be made through an ability to pay.

"All contacts are confidential and nothing is entered into the employee's personnel folder," Mrs. Barnes said. "No one need know unless the employee wishes to disclose the information.

"The program will follow established procedures, assuring that LexaLite receive no diagnostic information discussed in the counseling, and that no employee will have his or her job security or promotional opportunities jeopardized by his seeking counseling," she said.

"We also want to make it clear that the company is not concerned with a worker's life away from work, unless it affects his or her job performance directly," she said.

Mrs. Barnes said the corporation had worked on guidelines for the program for about six months before instituting it.

"We didn't want people to have counseling recommended to them every time they were late to work," she said. "So we had to work out some guidelines for ourselves.

"The best part about the program is that we don't have to become a judge," she said. "We don't punish people for their problems and at the same time we don't just overlook it, either.

"We now can offer them some help," she said.

LexaLite is the first firm in Charlevoix County to institute the program but several other companies are preparing procedures to begin similar programs.

Farm Incomes May Be Up, But So Are Expenses

By PAULA HOLMES

If you look at income figures, Charlevoix County farmers seem to be doing better than ever before.

But that's just if you look at the figures, according to Ed Rebman, county extension director.

According to an annual income report issued by the Standard Rate and Data Service, Charlevoix County farms have been producing more for their operators during the past two years than have farms and ranches in many parts of the country.

On the basis of the recent survey figures, Charlevoix farmers' yeild from the sale of dairy products, crops, livestock and other farm products rose 29 percent from a total of $3.38 million to $4.36 million in two years.

The two-year increase for this county compares with an average increase of 21 percent in the country and with a 27 percent increase in the east North Central States.

But the statistics are based on just gross return, before taking into account the cost of labor, seed, fertilizer, fuel, taxes and various other operational expenses.

"I would say, based on the increases in fertilizer, gas and fuel, electricity and insurances, that farmers probably came out about even," Rebman said. "The increase in their income over the last two years probably just about matches the increase in the cost of their expenses."

The county extension agent pointed out that in 1975 the cost of fertilizer doubled, with the price of gas right behind it.

"I can remember just two years ago when we could get gas at certain stations in the middle 30s and now the lowest in the area is 56 cents," he said. "All of these increases eat away whatever profit increase farmers may have had."

Rebman said the increasing cost of equipment had also eaten at any increase in profit farmers had experienced.

"Farm equipment costs have gone up by 10 percent a year or more," he estimated. "One way to figure it is to look at the cost of cars.

"They go up a certain percent each year and farm equipment does the same thing," he said. "Plus with the OSHA (Occupational Health and Safety Act) regulations requiring more safety devices on the equipment that adds to the price, too.

"There's nothing wrong with requiring safety devices on farm equipment," he added hastily. "But they do add to the cost."

Rebman said he didn't think Charlevoix County farmers would show much profit this year. While some costs have stabilized he explained, so have prices.

"Milk prices went up a little bit, but not as much as they have in the past," the extension agent said. "And those people with feeder calves will lose money this year. Those prices are down compared to a year ago."

Cherry growers also had a bad season with the cherry crop amounting to hardly anything, Rebman said. Also because of the drought, other crops did not develop well.

Rebman said he was afraid that area farmers have not felt all of the effects of last summer's drought.

"Winter is a drying season," he explained. "Trees and bushes will get even drier over the winter and they have already been damaged by the dry summer season."

A long winter could result in even more damage and expense to farmers, he said.

All of the figures and statistics that a farmer must be concerned with points out one thing, according to Rebman.

"Farming is becoming more and more of a business," he said.

"It used to be said that if you couldn't do anything else, at least you could farm," he recalled. "But that's not true anymore."

Dates for Snowmobile Races Announced

As soon as the first snowflake hits the ground, they're out. Snowmobiles appear like magic in front of many homes and cottages. Winter fever sets in.

To help area snowmobile racers prepare for the season, people working on setting up the Triple Crown of snowmobile racing, have released the dates of the three events.

The Alpena T.B. 250 will be held Jan. 15, with time trials lasting from Jan. 6-10. People interested in participating in the event should write to Alpena Chamber of Commerce, 105 Prentiss, Alpena, 49707.

The Traverse City T.C. 250 is next on the circuit with the race scheduled for Jan. 29. Time trials for this race will be held from Jan. 19-23. For more information write: Box 303, Traverse City, 49684.

The last race of the triple crown of Michigan enduro snowmobile racing is the Soo I-500. This race will be held on Feb. 12 with time trials from Jan. 30 to Feb. 6. Additional information on this race may be obtained by writing: Box 500, Sault Ste. Marie, 49783.

Of the three races, the Soo I-500 is the longest and carries the largest amount of prize money totaling $25,000. The T.C. 250 prize money amounts to $17,500 and Alpena T.B. 250 has a purse amounting to $14,000.

Health Agency Seeking Volunteer Members to Serve

The Northern Michigan Health Systems Agency is looking for community volunteers to serve as members of several important committees.

All residents of Alcona, Alpena, Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee, Montmorency, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, and Wexford counties are eligible to participate. The committees are engaged in reviewing Local Health Care Project Proposals as well as developing a long range master plan for a systematic health care program in northern Michigan.

The Northern Michigan Health Systems Agency is the local agency designated by the federal and state governments to plan and review Health Care Programs in Northern Michigan in cooperation with local governments, Health Care Institutions, and Residents. It is relatively easy to locate and enlist individuals representing government and health institutions.

If you are interested, write or call: Gary F. Peltier, Community Relations Specialist, Northern Michigan Health Systems Agency, The Hollywood Building, 325 Lake Street Petoskey, Michigan 49770 (616-347-7772)

Western Michigan Faculty Quartet To Perform at Petoskey High School

The Western Michigan University Faculty String Quartet will be performing at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Petoskey High School team teaching room.

The quartet is being sponsored by the Crooked Tree Arts Council of Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

The four men, Gerald Fischbach, first violinist; Daniel Foster, second violinist; Joseph Work, violinist; and Herbert Butler, cellist; are all professors of music at the university and have been playing together for several years.

For their performance the men will play "Quartet in D Minor" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, "Quartet Number 6," by Paul Hindemith, and "Quartet in E Minor, Opuss 44, Number 2," by Felix Mendelssohn.

Tickets for the performance will be available at the door or at Reis Gallery, Bogema Pharmacy, Petoskey Chamber of Commerce, Music Maker's, Walenta's Pharmacy or Hovey's Pharmacy.

Campaign Drive Starts In Charlevoix County For Christmas Seals

The Christmas Seal Campaign of the Michigan Lung Association began in Charlevoix County this week, according to William Gilbert, who is heading the county campaign.

People who have contributed to the organization in the past should have already received their 1976 seals and other Charlevoix County residents will receive Christmas Seals by the third week in November, Gilbert said.

The county goal is $3,200 toward a regional goal of $76,160. The funds will be used in the study of the prevention and control of lung disease.

Grears Attend Chiropractic Seminar

Dr. and Mrs. Terry Grear and Ethel Grunch of Charlevoix recently attended a four-day research seminar conducted by the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation in Dallas.

Dr. Grear and his staff attended specialized training classes in practical applications of biomechanics and techniques in drugless pain relief and participated in refresher work in physical, orthopedic, and neurological examination methods.

A Teenager Talks About Her Pregnancy

"You're young, you're beautiful, you're 16," go the words of an old song recently revived by former Beatle Ringo Starr.

Janet, a Charlevoix High School junior, is all those things, too, plus one more. She's pregnant.

Just like more than 210,000 other girls in her age group across the country last year, Janet never intended to get pregnant. It just happened.

The 16-year-old wasn't using any means of birth control when she became pregnant, mostly because she never thought she would get pregnant, but also because she knew very little about birth control..

"I never thought I would get pregnant," Janet said explaining her predicament. "And when I found out I was pregnant, I couldn't believe it had happened to me."

The high school student said she didn't have any trouble telling her mother about the situation.

"She knew I was pregnant before I did. I guess she was expecting it," the girl said softly her brown eyes searching the floor for reassurance. "She had been keeping track of my period and when it didn't come, she suggested I go to the doctor.

"I hadn't really paid any attention to it," she said shrugging her shoulders.

Janet said after she found out she was pregnant everyone tried to convince her to get an abortion.

"Even people that you wouldn't expect to tell you that, said I should get an abortion," the girl recalled.

"It was really hard with my boyfriend," she added. "He wanted me to get an abortion, too.

"But that's just not me," she explained, shaking her long brown hair. "So I told him that if he doesn't like it, he doesn't have to have anything to do with it. I think he's kind of glad that I didn't do it now."

Janet said she didn't want to give the baby up for adoption, either, even though she intends to finish high school and go to college.

"I felt if I gave it up that I would always want it back," she explained. "And everyone that I talked to said they were glad that they had kept their babies."

The young woman said she imagined once she got back into school she would want to go to ball games and participate in other activities. That would be hard to do with a child.

"I'm not really ready to settle down, but I can always get a babysitter every once in a while," she said.

Marriage isn't on the horizon for the teenager, either.

"I don't want to get married so young," she said. "My mom married real young and she's been through two divorces.

"My boyfriend is older than me," Janet continued. "I want to wait until I'm at least out of school."

She said she had received a lot of understanding from her friends and family. Many people have given her clothes and old furniture for the baby, easing the strain on her budget. The young woman proudly said her parents hadn't paid for anything.

But things haven't come up smelling like roses for Janet all the time.

"I think gossip is the thing that hurts the most," she said. "Ladies in town will say something to my mom or look down on her because she has a daughter like me.

"And it was really hard at first because people would look at me funny when I was downtown or outside," she said.

And her pregnancy has affected other members of her family, too.

"My little sister went out on a date last week," she said. "And when her boyfriend told his mother who he was going out with she (the mother) said, 'Just make sure she doesn't turn out like her sister.'

"In a way that bothers me," she said. "I didn't want my sister to have to stick up for me or to have to suffer because of what I did."

Janet said she plans to go on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) following the birth of her child and will live at home for a while. But if that doesn't work out, she may move in with her boyfriend or just move somewhere with the baby, becoming another statistic in a long list on teenage pregnancies.

Over the river and through the woods, to anyone's house "THANKS" will go.

But Can Help the Pregnant Teen

Schools Can't Change

By PAULA HOLMES

Pregnancy "just happens" to one out of ten teenage girls like Janet each year.

Even with the advent of the almost fool proof birth control pill and the laws allowing physicians to prescribe the pill to minors without parental consent, the teenage birth rate seems to be skyrocketing.

And along with the epidemic of teenage births comes an epidemic of a host of other problems including: teenage drop outs, teenage unemployment, teenage divorce and teenage welfare dependency.

Statistics show that onca a teenage mother drops out of school, this usually leads to underachievement, underemployment or unemployment. The figures also show that the welfare cost for one illegitimate child requiring assistance over a lifetime is $100,000 and that teenage girls who get pregnant, remain unmarried and require welfare assistance have an average of eight additional children.

Since most of these pregnant teenagers are in school when they become pregnant, more and more the public looks to the schools to find a solution to the growing problems.

"The word we get is that the teenagers are very active in sex and not responsible for what they are doing," Vane Smith, Charlevoix High School principal, said.

"But the schools are hampered in any attempt to teach responsibdity or birth control because the law says we cannot teach birth control," Smith said.

"We can teach the development of the human body and the harmful affects of tobacco, alcohol and narcotics," he said. "And we must teach about communicable disease of which VD is one.

"And that's our back door into sex education," he said.

But sex education alone will not keep teehs from getting pregnant, Smith said. The principal said parents must become more responsible about knowing where their teenagers are and what they are doing and also in providing contraceptive information.

The principal added that if parents do not feel comfortable discussing sex with their children, there are many agencies in the area such as Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood and others which could provide literature and other information to the parent and child.

Since the school cannot teach birth control, the next best thing it can do is to help the student once she becomes pregnant, Smith said.

"If a girl gets pregnant, we try to get her in touch with the alternative education program offered through the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District," the principal said. "We also advise her to get proper medical care.

"I feel strongly that we have an obligation to these kids to help them finish their education," he continued.

"If you have just one kid that's pregnant or if you have five, you've got a problem," he said. "Because this pregnancy could cause them not to finish school.

"And if they don't get the skills they need to earn a living, it's going to cost them," he said.

Smith spoke highly of the alternative education program directed by Mary Biagini through the intermediate school district, because it helps girls remain in school.

"We have a very high rate of return to school," Miss Biagini said. "Of the 54 girls that have been in the program in the last two years, 73 percent have returned to school and graduated."

In the alternative education program, Miss Biagini tutors the students with their academic classes and also offers them classes in prenatal care, child care, and foods. In addition, the girls participate in group counseling sessions and value clarification studies.

Miss Biagini is assisted in her program by Julie Michael of the Emmet County Cooperative Extension agency, and Pat Smith, a nurse for the District 3 Health Department.

In the past two years, only three of the fifty-four students have given their children up for adoption, Miss Biagini said. She stresses the importance of teaching the young mothers about parenting since so many of them are keeping their children. She also adds that the extra counseling the girls get in her program helps them through this crisis situation in their life.

"It is important for the school to keep contact with thse students," Miss Biagini said. "If the school loses contact with them many will never return.

The program director also stresses the need for birth control education in the schools.

"I think students should be taught responsibility," she said. "But if they can't talk about it at school and they can't talk about it at home all they have left is their friends and they are probably misinformed anyway.

"It's sort of ironic because I am allowed to teach birth control in my program—after they are already pregnant," she said.

Roy Fortin, assistant high school principal, is working closely with a curriculum study group of community members, teachers and administrators, is revamping the sex education program in the school district.

Fortin said the district wants to revamp the entire K-12 program to up date the materials and to make sure that it is an effective working program.

"We are trying to create the type of curriculum appropriate for this area and suited to the students' needs," he said.

Balloonists Use Hot Air to Advantage

Like hang gliding and sky diving, hot-air ballooning is a growing sport in America today.

There's an element of danger in all three activities, but balloonists insist that strict licensing requirements and modern equipment minimize the risks in their sport.

With more than 1,500 licensed balloon pilots in some 40 countries, international meets and races have become annual affairs. The October issue of National Geographic World reports that a balloon festival or contest takes place almost every weekend somewhere in the United States.

The right combination of wide-open spaces and light winds has made the area around Albuqueque, New Mexico, a mecca for American balloonists. The monthly magazine found more balloon pilots live in Albuquerque than in any other U.S. city.

World, which is published for young readers, points out that a youngster can get a certificate to fly a balloon at age 14 and obtain a license at 16.

Many enthusiasts get their first taste of hot-air ballooning by riding in tethered balloons at weekend fairs and festivals, the magazine notes.

Long lines, anchored to the ground, keep the craft from floating away and allow the pilot to take passengers aloft for a few minutes, then land the next group of riders.

Balloon flight has fascinated man for centuries. But sports ballooning only became popular in the last 20 years, spurred by the development of small bottled gas burners for easier, faster inflation and the introduction of lightweight nylon bags that replaced heavier cotton balloons.

As early as the 13th century, Roger Bacon, theorized that a hollow globe filled with "ethereal air or liquid fire" would rise into the sky. Philosophers and scientists then turned their attention to filling such a globe.

One suggested substance was dew, in the belief that it was shed by stars in the night and drawn back into the sky by the sun's heat during the day.

The first balloon was devised in 1782 by two brothers, Joseph and Jacques Montgolfier of France. Watching smoke from a fire, they speculated it might carry a light paper bag upward with it. They held a small bag over the fire and were elated to see it float aloft.

On June 4, 1783, they filled a 33-foot bag with smoke from a straw fire and saw it drift 1,500 feet above Annonay, near Lyons.

National Geographic

"LOOK MA, I'M FLYING!" Many youngsters get their first "flight" in the wicker basket of a tethered balloon at the local fair. The hot-air balloon is anchored by a long line that allows its pilot to give passengers rides a few hundred feet into the air. Ballooning is attracting growing numbers of enthusiasts.

License Tabs Available For Purchase Now

As of Monday of this week, Michigan motorists can purchase 1977 passenger car license plate tabs.

They may be ordered by mail from the Department of State in Lansing or picked up at local Department of State offices.

Prepared application forms have been mailed to Michigan's approximately 5.5 million passenger car and motorcycle owners. They must be completed by the vehicle owner and mailed back to Lansing or taken to the local Department of State office.

The issuance of tabs instead of new plates is expected to save the State approximately $3.3 million.

THE NEW building for the Charlevoix Federal Credit Union is progressing rapidly. The building is entirely closed in now and carpenters have begun working on the interior of the financial institution located on Petoskey Avenue. Work has finished over the weekend on the cement part of the project with the pouring of the driveway on Friday.

THIS LOVELY bowling team was left out of our lab last week, but we wanted you to know that they are sponsored by Medusa. They are (left to right) Jean Stowe, Phyllis Allison, Linda Resch and Sharon Herriman.

Bob Alger Named 'Bulldog of Week'

Bob Alger, a freshman at Ferris State College, was one of three football players to be named "Bulldog of the Week".

"No one was more impressive than Alger in the Grand Valley and Wayne State games. the freshman defensive back registered ten tackles and had a touchdown saving pass deflection in the end zone." Coach Nick Coso said of Alger.

Alger is the only Bulldog to be named "Bulldog of the Week" at two positions. He was named defensive player as rover against Wayne State.

"Bob's really a fine athlete" said defensive coordinator Jack Hinkle." He wasn't pleased with his performance the previous couple of weeks and worked hard in practice last week to be ready for Saturday. It paid off."

"Bob made several key tackles in the game including two in open field that might have gone for touchdowns, said back coach Roger Elford. "And Bob is just a freshman." man."

Alger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alger. He is a 1976 graduate of the Charlevoix High School.

Fay Davis Celebrates 30 Years With Company

Fay C. Davis of Charlevoix recently celebrated his 30th anniversary as a member of the Metropolitan Lake Insurance Company's sales force, the company has announced.

Davis is a graduate of Boyne City High School and Cleary College. He joined Metropolitan Life in October, 1946, and is currently an agent in the Traverse City office.

Metropolitan reports that Davis has compiled an outstanding sales record over the past 30 years, qualifying 14 times for the company's President's Conference and 26 times for the Leader's Conference. He is also a former member of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Davis is a member of the Charlevoix Lions Club, and enjoys playing golf and fishing. He and his wife, Arlene, have a son, Terry, 37, and a daughter, Mrs. Jill Deacon, 35.

ministration is very aware of the problem," she said. "And they are working very hard to correct the problem."

Mrs. Wallace explained that the hospital alarm system was very sensitive and seemed to be easily set off. She said the alarms had been going off in various parts of the hospital at various times of the day which ruled out the possibility of the alarms being deliberately set off.

She said the hospital had three different alarm companies look at the system to determine the problem.

The council also discussed removing the requirement of a performance bond from the specifications of bids for city construction projects. City Attorney Donald Berlage urged the council to remove the requirement for small projects.

"I think it's a good thing to have, but it should be used with some discretion," he said.

Council decided to look into the matter.

ensure immediate correlation with the department's ongoing program."

Some of the symptoms exhibited by those examined, according to Dr. Selikoff, are memory loss, unusual skin conditions, joint problems, and hair loss.

"Dr. Selikoff emphasized, however, that a definite link between the symptoms and PBB contamination has not yet been established.

School Board

Thomas Bickersteth as treasurer and others for their support of the Charlevoix Public Schools and other units of government in the recent general election and expressed the appreciation of the Board of Education to all those who participated with their personal support and financial support in this endeavor.

The board also heard a report from Dr. Charles Jacquith of Central Michigan University regarding the Student Teacher program in which the Charlevoix Schools participate. He spoke on the changes in the field of education, the benefits to the students and to the school district.

Supt. James A. McKimmy reported on plans for informing the public of school closings due to inclement weather or other reasons. He advised that the announcement will be made over area radio stations which offer this service. He asked area residents not to tie up lines by calling the school or the bus garage. Code words will be used to inform the radio stations to discourage attempted anonymous calls calling off school as happened last winter.

Vincent Oloeh, business manager, reported that a survey of the property owned by the school and that property owners facing Bridge st. whose property abuts the school property at the rear of their lots have been advised that steel markers and monuments had been put down.

Supt. McKimmy reported that the annual staff and faculty Christmas party would be held immediately following the closing of the schools for the holidays.

McKimmy also reported briefly on the Professional Staff Evaluation seminar he attended in St. Louis.

Voted to permit the city to use property owned by the school south of the high school parking lot for two ice rinks, a hockey rink and a skating rink for the community. The City Recreation Department will sponsor the programs.

The next board meeting will be a work session scheduled for Nov. 29 which will be a work session.

FAITH MUST REMAIN FIRM IN THE FACE OF MISFORTUNE

We all have times when things go wrong.
And Fortune's in reverse;
Yet we're expected to be strong.
Though things could not get worse...
A strength of which the Scriptures name
Examples plain to see;
Like Job, whose faith remained the same
Throughout adversity.

So why not go to Church this week,
Whichever one you choose,
And listen to the Bible speak;
There's not a thing to lose!
Then, what those passages command
You'll follow to the letter;
And let God take your life in hand,
To change it for the better! -- Gloria Nowak

I show you doubt, to prove that faith exists.

At Mt. McSauba

All's Ready Except the Snow

By FRAN MARTIN

Think SNOW!

The Charlevoix Recreation Association has been doing just that and, as a result, will have the Mt. McSauba Ski Area ready for operation as soon as the first snowfall is heavy enough to cover the slopes, according to Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

This will mark the 20th year the slopes have been in operation. During the past 18 years the operation of the slopes have been ander the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Meier who have seen it grow from a very simple operation to its present state.

Under their tenure it was operated with the guidance of the Mt. McSauba Recreation Corp. It has now been taken over by the Charlevoix Recreation Association following the Meiers decision to give up the operation of the program.

The park now includes three slopes, two of them major slopes with large tows and a third ur beginner's slope with a smaller tow, all of which were developed before this year.

In preparation for the current season, new ropes have been installed on the two larger ski tows, the machinery for operating the tows overhauled and placed in operation and the warming shack at the foot of the slopes readied after extensive repairs because of vandalism were made.

Dale Boss, Jr., who worked under the Meiers last year, and Tim Meier, a high school student whu has assisted his parents for the past six years, have been named as manager and assistant manager, respectively, for the current season. The latter has been working on a part-time basis for several weeks. Boss assumed his duties last week.

Dwight Boss, recreation director, said that all that is needed now is snow. He added, however, that the snow must be packed and a base built before skiers may take to the slopes.

One added feature this year will be lights on the back hill for the first time to allow night skiing at the site Boss said. Anuther will be slightly extended hours of operation to allow full utilization of the facility.

The hours as presently scheduled will be from 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. and 7 until 10:30 p.m. on Saturday; 1 until 8 p.m. on Sunday and from 6 until 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Monday night will be open to skiers of all ages. One hill, however, will be designated for adults only. The nights the slopes are not in use, they will be available for private parties at a fee.

The slopes will be used by the Charlevoix Rayder Ski Team for practice. Team members will then double as members of the Ski Patrol.

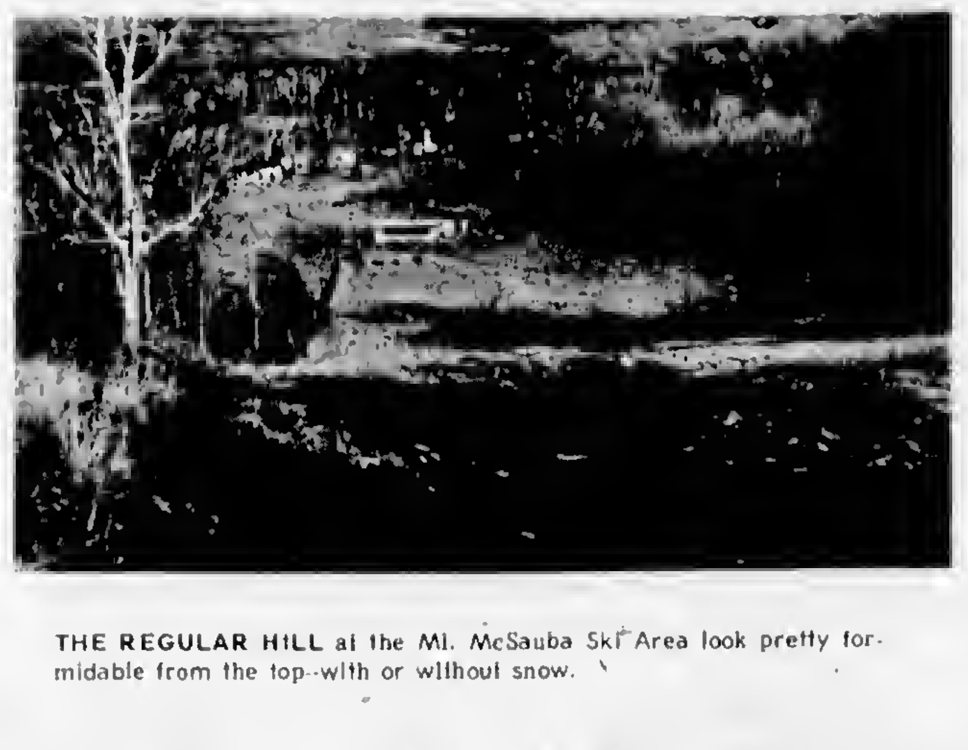
Skiing lessons will be pruvided as soon as enuugh people sign up for them, Buss said.

The rates for use of the facility will be as follows and are payable at the time of purchase: Season tickets: Family, $50; Couple, $35; Adult, $25; Student (10 years and older), $15 nnd Children, $10.

Daily rates: Adult: day, $2.50 and night, $1.50; Student (10 years and above), day, $1.50 and night, $1.00; Children: day, $1.00 and night, 75 cents.

The warming shack will be under the direction of Krueger and, as in the past, will offer a wide selection of snack items.

A fuurth slope for use by the Rayder ski team is presently being cut in another area of Mt. McSauba. The wnrk on this, however, has just been started Boss added.



THE REGULAR HILL at the Mt. McSauba Ski Area look pretty formidable from the top--with or without snow.

DALE BOSS, JR., the new manager of the Mt. McSauba Ski Area and Tim Meier work on splicing together the new ski tow rope as Dwight "Ike" Boss, recreation director, supervises. The ski area is ready to go except for the snow and a little work that the Charlevoix High School Ski Team would like to do on Suicide Hill (pictured above).

City Airport Master Plan Up-date to Begin Jan. 1

By PAULA HOLMES

Work on the up-dating of the Charlevoix Municipal Airport master plan will move into high gear on Jan. 1, according to Alvin Ranger, engineer for the project.

The city received announcement of the awarding of an $18,000 Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) grant for the project from U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe about 10 days ago. The FAA funds will pay for 90 percent of the cost of the study, while the city and the state will each pick up 5 percent or about $1,000 of the cost.

Ranger said the up-dating of the current master plan to include growth for the next 20 years, was necessary in order to qualify the city for construction funds the federal government is granting for expansion or improvement of airport facilities.

The engineer said Charlevoix stood a fine chance of receiving construction funds following the approval of the up-dated master plan by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and the Federal Aviation Administration. Ranger predicted the up-dated version of the master plan would be submitted to the review team, made up of representatives of both units, by the end of the summer.

But many things have to be done before the plan can be submitted, Ranger said.

"I've been doing some work on the plan," said the engineer, who is also a private pilot. "But many more things have to be done including holding public hearings."

Ranger said pilots regularly using the airport will be queried about what improvement they think are needed at the airport and members of the community at large will be questiuned about their interest and support of the city airport.

Data must also be collected about the actual use of the airport during the summer and the winter and by what kind of planea: The engineer-pilot said he has been surprised by some of the data he has already collected.

"Our airport is very busy in the summer," he said. "It's really a sleeper. There is much more activity going on there than most people realize.

"About 90 to 95 percent of all the air traffic in the county takes place in Charlevoix," he said.

Ranger said there are also about 25 planes lodged at the Charlevoix airport year round, which are owned by local residents. There are two clubs operating out of the airport--the Charlevoix Flying Club and the Charlevoix Soaring Club. And there are two flying services, McPhilips and Welke, which serve as the main link between Beaver Island and the mainland during the winter, at the airport.

Because of the large use of the city airport, many improvements are being discussed, Ranger said.

Some of the things that have been talked about include a crosswind runway, he said. Currently, the airport has only one paved runway which goes in a north-south direction. It also has two sod runways which run east-west. Many pilots would like to see a paved crosswind strip added tu the airport.

Another thing which may be included in the up-dated master plan includes the construction of taxiways. Currently there are no taxiways at the airport.

Expansion of automobile parking facilities may also be included in the airport master plan, Ranger said.

"Because of the large number of people going to Beaver Island and leaving their cars at the airport, we are going to need expanded parking facilities," he said.

More tie-down spaces fur visiting aircraft which is staying overnight are also needed and will probably be included in the new master plan.

Ranger said he did not think the current runway would be lengthened tu accommodate jet air traffic because he did not think the airport use data would show the need for it.

Dr. Davis To Act As Chairman

40 Attend First PTA Meeting

More than 40 area residents representing the three schools in the Charlevoix Public School system gathered recently at the K-5 school for a Parent-Teacher Association organizational meeting.

Many of the group had attended an earlier meeting and heard Mrs. Sherrell Hall of Grayling, District Director of the P.T.A., speak on the objectives of the organization, its format and programs.

At last week's meeting, these issues were discussed and several committee chairpersons named as a nucleus for a more permanent organization.

Dr. Robert Davis was asked to continue as acting chairman during the organization of the group. In order to formulate a working organization, several persons were named as members of the executive committee.

Serving as secretary will be Mrs. Terry Greer; Mrs. David W. Fershee, publicity chairman; Mrs. Thomas Merta, by-laws and Mrs. William Joy, hospitality.

Dr. Davis went on to say that the P.T.A., which will be a member of the parent group, is open to all persons with an interest in the schools. "We feel there is a place for the P.T.A. in the overall school picture, that there is much a P.T.A. can do to acquaint the public with the schools and their activities and many ways the P.T.A. can do to aid the schools."

He said further that a cross section of the community was necessary to make this a successful organization and urged that parents plan to attend the next meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, at the Elementary School.

School Seeks Cooperation In Saving Taxpayers Money

The Charlevoix Board of Education is trying to save the county taxpayers money, but it isn't getting much cooperation from other units of government.

For the third year in a row, Superintendent James McKimmy will be making visits to Charlevoix, Marion, Hayes and Norwood townships in Charlevoix County asking them to consider a summer tax collection.

Superintendent McKimmy estimated a summer tax collection could save the taxpayers between .4 and .6 mills or between $35,000 and $45,000 each year because the school district wouldn't have to borrow money to operate on until the taxes come in during January, the situation under the present tax collection system.

"With a 50 percent tax collection in the summer and winter, the school district would have a more even flow of funds," McKimmy explained. "With just a winter tax collection, the school district is in operation for six months with no incoming funds."

McKimmy said the school district had to borrow $550,000 this year to keep the school district running until taxes are collected.

"If it weren't for the City of Charlevoix summer tax collection, we would have had to borrow somewhere between $800,000 to $1 million this year," he said.

The superintendent said the $550,000 loan cost $14,471 in interest or about the salary for one teacher plus expenses related to the teacher's instruction program. If the school district had borrowed $860,000 it would have cost approximately $22,631.

"So you can see that the city's summer tax collection saved us $8,160 this year," McKimmy said. "Plus the income derived from placing the funds in investments."

McKimmy said that under a new law the school district is allowed to pick up any expenses incurred in the set up of a summer tax collection by the townships.

"Prior to 1975, the township would have had to pay for any additional expenses incurred in setting up a summer tax collection system," the superintendent said. "But now the school district is allowed to reimburse the townships for all actual expenses in the tax collection in excess of the 1 percent collection fee."

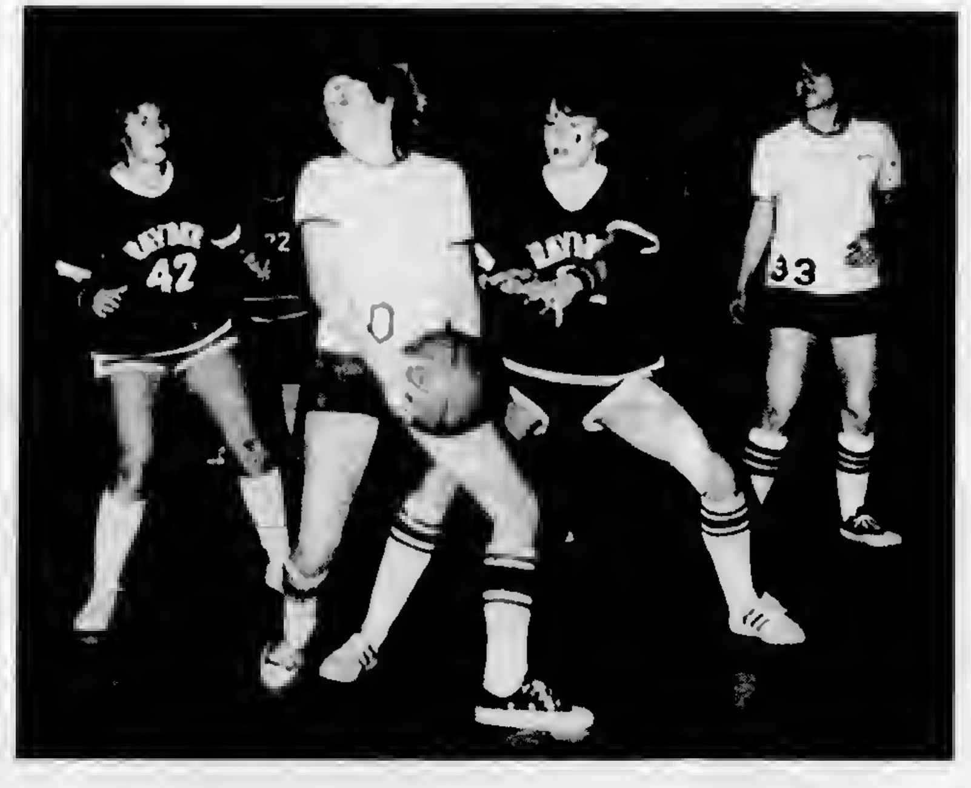
McKimmy said the district would probably have to pay up to $2 per parcel for the summer tax collections. But even paying that amount would still result in a savings for the district, he said.

McKimmy said it was especially important to convince the townships to participate with the city in the summer tax collection this year.

"The city council has gone on record saying it would cancel the summer collection if the other units don't go along with it," he said.

"The city has collected the school taxes in the summer for two years, but they can't be expected to continue without the cooperation of the other units," he explained. "Everyone is reaping the benefits of the city's work."

McKimmy said the only other governmental unit that had participated in summer tax collection was Norwood Township. That township quit collecting school taxes in the summer when other townships didn't go along with it.



KATHY SLADEK (42) and Kay Currey (32) corner this Onaway player and make it impossible for her to pass to Julie Chouneen (33). The Rayders will play against Boyne City in the District Finals Tuesday in Onaway.

Detroit Police Officer Arraigned in Shooting

Irving W. Bulmann, 38, Detroit police sergeant charged with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, was scheduled to appear before District Judge David W. Fershee at 10 a.m. Tuesday for arraignment.

Bulmann, who is charged with shooting William Telfer, Jr., 20, of Berkley, in the upper abdomen at approximately 2:15 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 18, at the parking lot of the Country House near East Jordan, has been free on $1,000 bond. Telfer, who was taken via ambulance to Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey, is in satisfactory condition according to hospital attendants.

The shooting followed an argument about a bar stool at the inn during the annual Hunter's Ball according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's officers who investigated. Following the initial argument, the pair went outside the inn to settle their differences. Telfer, who is 6-2 and weighs 230 pounds was said to have won the fight. Following the closing of the bar at 2 a.m., Bulmann reportedly went to his pickup truck.

Telfer and a friend were said to have stopped at the Bulmann vehicle enroute to his own car to talk to Bulmann who then shot Telfer through the glass of the closed car window and drove off. Seeing the lights of a Sheriff's Department patrol car in the Vincent Used Car lot a short distance from the inn, Bulmann entered the lot to report the shooting to the officers. He was taken into custody and brought to the county jail where he was held until he appeared in Magistrate Court for bonding purposes.

BELLS BAY

It is now Nov. 19, 1976, and I just finished listening to the (McNeil-Lear) Report, from Washington on T.V. On the P.B.B. in Michigan, in cattle and in humans, I feel sad for these people. Another thing, has anyone gone out to Bell's Bay and seen all our beautiful trees dying from the Medusa Cement Plant?

STUDENTS SHOULD LEARN HOUSEKEEPING

While school officials are gung-ho about losing millage for extra curricular school activities, may we suggest that with sex--which sometimes goes with marriage, the students be taught some basic facts about keeping a house clean and fit for human occupancy. As a landlord, we are sick and tired of cleaning up the messes most of the young renters leave behind when they move out. A floor, dirty brown around a toilet bowl is hardly a point in their favor--windows that have not been washed during their two-year tenure plus a cooking stove so covered with grease and food that it stinks to high heaven plus dirty and often damaged curtains and dirty carpeting that shows food and black grease from kitchen to living room adds up to unsanitary living conditions gives irrefutable evidence of jungle living rather than civilized living. Of course, the landlord must clean up the mess in order to re-rent as young renters seem to always demand a clean house to move in to even though they leave it like a sewer when they move out a few months later.

DEFENDS MAYOR

Mayor Hanson deserves accolades instead of condemnation from Johnny-Come-Latelys whose view of the scene is confined to bold foregrounds rather than the shadowy political past of Charlevoix. Newcomers do not understand the political hashish of the past half-century so their judgements of the present are faulty. Only long time residents really comprehend and appreciate the true value of Mayor Hanson's tenure and without exposing still active personalities it is impossible to inform them. But one thing we must remember and that is that mayor has a vote in resolving city affairs only when the 8 council's decision ends in a tie. If Mayor Hanson's performance in office is displeasing to the uninformed then please place the blame where it belongs--on the aldermen who were elected to represent the taxpayers but have failed miserably in the chore.

Community Chest Collects 50% of Goal, Needs Help

The Charlevoix Community Chest has collected almost half of its $19,000 goal this year, but contributions--which only dribbled in to the organization's coffers at best--have all but dried up.

To date, the community chest has collected $8,900 since the first letters seeking contributions were sent out on Sept. 24.

"Contributions have died off," Elaine Martin, community chest treasurer, said. "It's time that we sent out a plea for help.

"We still have a way to go to reach our goal," she said.

Mrs. Martin said contributions were slow in coming in last year, too.

The community chest is depending heavily on the letters it sent out in September to solicit funds for the 14 local organizations it supports, according to Robert Bogart, the organization's president.

The chest tried to send a letter to every resident and business in the area, but anyone who was missed is urged to send contributions to Mrs. Martin at the First State Bank in Charlevoix. Bogart said Mrs. Martin is keeping a running tally of the community chest's progress towards its goal and any interested people are invited to check the progress.

Organizations being funded by the community chest this year include: the Salvation Army, the Charlevoix City Recreation Department and Mount McSauba, Bergmann Center, Inc., Girl Scouts of America, Crooked Tree Council, DAC Counseling Center, Boy Scouts of America, Scenic Trails Council and the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Other organizations aided through the community chest fund drive are: the Charlevoix Area Hospital geriatric support fund, the Charlevoix Community Nurses fund, Camp Daggett, the Charlevoix County Big Brothers and Big Sisters, Michigan United Fund, Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood and the Charlevoix House.

The community chest also uses $587 of the funds it collects to cover its own expenses.

Union Services Scheduled for Baptist Church

The First Baptist church will host the annual Thanksgiving Eve Prayer Service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The event will be sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association and will be open to worshippers of all denominations.

In keeping with the Thanksgiving season. The Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist church will speak on the subject "Gratitude... What is It?".

A choir under the direction of Mrs. Robert Tollas will sing traditional anthems and hymns. Dan Seeley will be the organist.

In observance of the bicentennial year, Jay Oliver, a native American and a member of the Greensky Hill (Indian) United Methodist Church will give the invocation in his native Indian language.

Rev. Hugh Cowan, pastor of the host church, will conduct the service of worship.

The offering will be used to support the chaplain service at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The Rev. Donald Schorsch of the Charlevoix Assembly of God is chairman of the sponsoring ministerial association.

Christian Scientists To Hold Ceremony

Thanksgiving Day Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Church of Christ, Scientist, 205 Clinton St.

The service will include scriptural readings and testimonials. As is traditional at these services, Bible examples of lives uplifted and healed through obedience to God, will be emphasized. The Thanksgiving Proclamation of President Gerald Ford will also be included in the service.

First Reader Norman Brumm and Second Reader Francis Ladi will conduct the worship service, which also includes testimonies by Christian Scientists appropriate for the occasion.

All members of the community are welcome to attend. Care for infants will be provided.

Thanksgiving Rites Set For Thurs.

Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix will hold a service of Thanksgiving on Thanksgiving morning at 10 a.m.

The church invites members of other denominations whose churches are not holding a service on this day to join with them in the service.

The Reverend Robert Wilson of Traverse City will be the guest Celebrant and will also preach the sermon. The service will consist of a short form of Morning Prayer followed by the Holy Communion. The Book of Common Prayer will be used.

Modern Thanksgiving Differs From Intentions of Supporter

It's Thankgiving again, and Sarah Josepha Buell Hale might have second thoughts about it.

It was her idea in the first place, making Thanksgiving an official, nationwide holiday. And it was thanks to her years of badgering governors and finally Abraham Lincoln, that it came to be–though today, perhaps not quite what she had in mind.

The modern Thanksgiving seems to be that annual holiday when we pay the supreme all-American salute to overeating, when go-get 'em stores are well into their Christmas sales, when television football imposes a trance on all those already stupefied at the dinner table.

Some Americans even find time to give thanks, usually as the family gathers around the groaning board. That's what Mrs. Hale had in mind for the day, giving thanks.

But just as turkey is the day's traditional attraction, Thanksgiving through the years has been stuffed with politics, commercialism, and indifference to the date, the National Geographic Society says.

In 1621, the Pilgrams set the style for future Thanksgivings with now-famous celebration at Plimouth in the Colony of Massachusetts.

They fed enormously on wild turkeys, geese, ducks, wood pigeons, partridge, beechnut stuffing, home-brewed beer, wine from wild grapes, lobster, oysters, codfish, eels, venison, pumpkins, corn bread and succotash.

They had unexpected guests drop in for dinner: 90 Indians.

They carried on with fun and sport, such as target contests between colonists with firearms and Indians with bows and arrows, and Miles Standish awed the assembly by parading his 20-man regiment back and forth.

They celebrated for three days, beginning each morning with prayers.

Despite all the goings-on, nobody knows when the first Plimouth Thanksgiving occurred--though many historians say October.

Apparently the hungry Pilgrims were too busy eating to note the date. And it was two years before they had another Thanksgiving.

The Massachusetts party was not the scene of the first solemn giving of thanks in the New World. Jamestown, Virginia, colonists observed the day on December 4, 1619, on the banks of the James River.

Thanksgiving or harvest home festivities became an informal autumn custom of the New England colonists. George Washington took to it as his troops joined Yankee celebrators during the Revolution. And as President, he proclaimed that a thanksgiving day should be observed Thursday, November 26.

His successors, however, sometimes chose dates in April, May, and August as Thanksgiving, or, as with Thomas Jefferson, ignored it altogether.

But not Mrs. Hale, a widowed writer and author of "Mary Had a Little Lamb." She made it her personal cause.

During the Civil War she wrote Lincoln, entreating him to set aside such a day when "enmity and strife can be laid aside, and the nation unite in a common cause."

In 1863, Lincoln finally proclaimed the fourth Thursday in November as the nation's annual day of thanks.

County Housing Situation Hard to Pinpoint

By PAULA HOLMES

The housing situation in Charlevoix County is a hard one to describe. And people involved in the business of finding housing for county residents seem to all have their own ideas about where the shortages are.

"There is a housing shortage and there isn't," Charlevoix County Planner William Mercer began in describing his views of the situation. "It's a nebulous thing."

Mercer said he hadn't seen a great demand for housing in the county.

"We haven't had that many new jobs open up because of the economy, but at the same time some do seem to have opened up and there seems to be more permanent type homes being built," the planner said.

He said more people seem to be thinking about subdividing again, too.

"Recently several people have been in talking about subdividing," the planner said about the activity in his department.

Due to what people think are the high costs of building, more families seem to be buying older homes and renovating them or staying in their older homes and fixing them up.

"This is a bad thing in one sense," Mercer explained. "First it hurts the construction industry. I think the high cost of building is really a mental problem and not a real one. If people compare the increase in construction costs with the increase in everything else, I think they'll find it's comparable.

"And the older dwelling units have been a significant portion of the rental units in the county," he continued. "Renovation as opposed to building new eliminates rental units and there is a real need for rental units in this area."

Ethel Wood, owner of Scheld Northern Realty, Inc., agreed with Mercer on the rental unit issue.

"Nothing is open for rent in this area," Mrs. Wood said. "We get two to three calls a week for every kind of rental.

"There's not any more demand for the condominium-type unit," she said. "But lower cost year-round housing of any kind is needed."

Mrs. Wood also said more new homes in the middle to low price bracket were needed.

"Basically what we need is the three-bedroom home in the $20,000 to $35,000 price range," she said.

Bill Carey of Colwell & Co. Realtors, and Gene Steele of Charlevoix Properties, Inc., agreed that more middle priced, stick-built homes were needed in the area.

Steele said the biggest problem in Charlevoix, however, was finding a building site to put the home on.

"If people want to live in town, they are out of luck," Steele said. "There aren't too many sites available and the ones that are, either are out-of-sight price wise or they don't perk."

Carey said the prospective home builder also faces a tough time trying to get mortgage money and that adds to the housing shortage in the middle price range.

"It looked like this year more mortgage money would be available," he said. "But the interest rates are not encouraging people to borrow."

Senior Housing Complex Back on Drawing Board

By PAULA HOLMES

Things don't look good for the establishment of a senior citizen, low-cost housing complex in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Housing Commission has been working on plans for the senior citizen complex since 1974. And the prospects of the construction of the complex were looking up last summer when the commission found a site meeting all of the conditions of the Michigan Housing Authority for Construction funds.

But, due to a change in the rules, it looks like it's back to the drawing board–again.

"We had finally found a location," John Northup, contractor for the proposed housing complex, said. "And we had a dollar option on it, too. And then they went and changed the program.

"We were right in the middle of working on the thing and then they changed the rules," he moaned.

Northup said the state housing authority had delayed approval of the site for the proposed complex because it felt the price of the land was too high. Then the tax laws were changed, which changed the entire funding program.

"The new tax law did away with the accelerated depreciation part of the program and made an impossible program out of it," he said. "I couldn't sell the program the way it is now to anyone."

Originally, the housing commission had planned on having Northup construct the complex with housing authority funding. A building management firm would have then run the complex.

The complex was to have been a four-story, 66-unit apartment complex open to anyone 62 years or older. Approximately 30 percent of the residents in the complex would have been subsiding on straight social security income and would have been eligible for housing subsidies from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"Things are all up in the air now," Northup said. "Funds for the development of senior citizen housing complexes are pretty much frozen now.

"We're waiting for the new President now," he continued. "Maybe he'll do something different."

Thomas Gets Probation in Shooting Death

Willie Thomas, 55, Boyne City, who pleaded guilty earlier to manslaughter in the shooting death of Joseph R. Martin, 34, of Boyne City and Lansing, on Aug. 13 was placed on three years probation when he appeared before Judge Martin Breighner in Circuit Court here Friday.

Thomas had been held in the Charlevoix County jail since the shooting at the Thomas home in Boyne City on Aug. 13. Following a preliminary hearing on Aug. 23, Thomas was charged with murder in the second degree and was scheduled for trial on Oct. 25, on that date he appeared before Judge Breighner and pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

According to Jerry Lee Morris 35, of East Jordan, the only witness to the shooting, he and Martin, who had been drinking together during the afternoon of Aug. 13, had gone to the Martin home during the evening. After having several drinks, Morris testified that Martin began to verbally abuse Thomas who then shot Martin with a 12 gauge shotgun as Morris attempted to get Martin to leave the house.

Inflation, Abuse Of Welfare, Listed As Country's Ills

Too much government, welfare abuses and inflation are the top three problems facing the United States today, according to Northern Michigan residents.

These problems were the top three listed by more than 8,000 people responding to an annual questionnaire sent out to voters in the 11th Congressional District by Rep. Philip Ruppe.

Other problems facing this country in the opinion of the Northern Michigan residents were: crime, unemployment, the energy shortage, the environment and health care.

When residents were asked about the best way for government to combat unemployment, 39 percent of the people responding to the questionnaire favored providing tax incentives to stimulate the private sector into creating more jobs.

However, another 28 percent felt federally sponsored public works programs would also be an effective means of reducing unemployment. And 20 percent of the respondents favored taking no action and letting the economy adjust itself.

The Northern Michigan residents were also queried about what they thought the balance should be between creating jobs and protecting our environement.

Half of the people answering the questionnaire felt a balance should be struck between creating jobs and protecting our environment and 35 percent of the respondents thought protecting the environment should be the country's paramount concern with jobs taking a secondary position.

About 68 percent of the respondents also felt the toughest standards for automobile emmission controls should not be imposed until 1982 in order to protect auto-industry jobs and to increase gas mileage.

Only 32 percent felt stringent auto emission standards should be imposed as quickly as possible to improve air quality.

The questionnaire responds also supported a chance in the issuance of food stamps. More than 76 percent of the people said food stamps should only be available to families with gross incomes below the poverty level while 17 percent felt under certain circumstnces food stamps should be available to families with up to 150 percent of the poverty level.

The Northern Michigan residents also had many comments on the approach to national health insurance, something that President-elect Jimmy Carter has vowed to work on.

Some 25 percent felt national health insurance should be provided by private insurance companies and financed by both private and government sources. Yet another 23 percent felt comprehensive national health insurance should be provided and financed by the government, while another 18 percent supported the idea of national health insurance with coverage limited to catastrophic illness.

At least 50 percent of the residents also felt general federal revenues should be used to help fund Social Security benefits. And another 37 percent supported increasing the amount of earnings subject to the Social Security tax.

The survey also turned up an interesting reaction to legislation regarding handgun regulation. According to the tally, 44 percent of the residents felt present laws should be amended to prohibit the manufacture and sale of Saturday Night specials and other cheap handguns.

Another 34 percent felt no further legislation was needed while the remaining 22 percent felt legislation requiring the licensing and or, registering of all types of firearms should be passed.

Garden Club Dedicates Liberty Trees to City

American's Bicentennial year will not be forgotten in Charlevoix--thanks to the Charlevoix Area Garden Club.

The garden club has given to the city a pair of flowering crab trees (Malus Katherine), which have been planted in the new mini-park at the end of West Dixon Avenue.

The trees are designated as "Liberty Trees" in remembrance of the Liberty Trees under which colonial patriots made their revolutionary plans so that they would not be overheard by the British Redcoats, according to Esther Bleha, a garden club member.

Each tree is marked with a special plastic tag noting that they are liberty trees. The tags were donated by Robert Close.

Garden club members decided to create the mini-park because of the view of the harbor and because many city residents had been bringing folding chairs to the area to view the sunset.

In addition to the Liberty Trees, the park also contains two new benches and two boulders which all eventually hold a plaque dedicating a portion of the park to Father Charlevoix.

In the spring the park will be landscaped by John Campbell. The plaques will be fastened to the boulders, which were placed in the park by Medusa Cement and Swanson Construction, and a dedication ceremony held.

Editorials/Opinions

Charlevoix Residents Have Many Blessings To Count This Year

Sometimes it is hard to remember that there are many things in this world to be thankful for.

As Thanksgiving approaches and we begin to look over the year and count our blessings, it is all too easy to just think of our problems, which often seem overwhelming.

The past year has not been an easy one for Charlevoix. Unemployment has remained at a pretty high rate while the cost of food, gas, heat and clothing has continued to soar here and across the nation. And our hard earned dollars are buying less and less.

Taxes, while being held at the same level locally, have still increased as property valuations increase in tune with the inflation in our economy.

Our schools continue to be overcrowded with no relief in sight as school district voters oppose bond issues for the purpose of remodeling and expanding the high school and middle school again and again.

And our city government seems to be in a state that one can be less than grateful for. For almost three months, the common council has been searching for a new city administrator to no avail.

Two people have been offered the job and have turned it down. It's hard to imagine what could be wrong with our city that two people would apply for the job and then decide not to take it after visiting the town and meeting our government officials

And now the council must take on the additional burden of searching for a new city clerk. The sudden resignation of the clerk puts yet another cloud on the past year. Rumors abound about the reason for the resignation and about pending action, yet the mayor and council have issued no statements and given no explanations to their constituents.

Still, there are many things residents of this area have to be grateful for. Our city, unlike many of the larger ones in our state and across the nation, is not on the verge of bankruptcy. We are still showing balances in the black overall.

Also our community is still small enough that people can be heard when they have a complaint and a few people can make a difference and create change.

And we are still small enough to care about our neighbors and about what happens in our community. If nothing else, we can be grateful that the residents of this area still take pride in their community and are willing to work to improve it.

Every week we learn of some service organization which has taken upon itself to contribute funds or support to the band, choral groups, the hospital, the counseling center or any number of other groups.

We can be thankful that we are still a community that cares.

Letters to the editor

Looking for a Pen Pal

Dear Editor:

I am an inmate of the London Correctional Institution, London Ohio. This letter has a meaning and a purpose, and in this coming of the Holiday Season, I am hoping that you will publish my letter so that I might find some joy over these holiday's and possibly aquire a writing friendship that will make my remaining two years a little more endurable.

I am in prison for Forgery. I am guilty of the offense and wouldn't ever deny it. My family has lost all interest and confidence in me, I haven't received one visit and very few letters in the four years I have been incarcerated. I'm not looking for commitments or a place to stay or a job when I'm released, but I am looking for friendship and an understanding of what it's like to be lonely with no one to write to or confide in when things get rough.

I am a Sagitarian male, 35 years old, six feet three inchs tall, 210 pounds., an ex-army man, I graduated from high school, and played semi-professional basketball for five years.

My life story is completely open to any questions and honesty is still something I believe in.

I hope this little resume of myself helps explain what I'm somewhat like. Even if you don't find it possible to publish my letter the very best to you for the coming Holiday Season.

Respectfully Yours,

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

It looks like it is only a matter of time until wood-cutting replaces skiing as northern Michigan's favorite outdoor winter recreation.

Sunday afternoon, for example, the woods were downright overcrowded, after Saturday's snow convinced residents that it's time to replenish the wood pile.

I have been cutting wood almost every weekend this fall and I rarely have encountered anyone else bearing blocks of beech and poplar.

Sunday, however, was different. As I was transferring wood from my wheelbarrow to the back of the bus, a car came wheeling past with horn honking. I turned just in time to see it was pulling a trailer loaded with big fireplace logs.

Further down the road a couple of fellows were hauling brush from a tangled woodlot.

Close to town, I passed a parked pickup truck and an ATV loaded with logs.

All the while I was in the woods I kept hearing a buzzing sound and told myself there wasn't enough snow for snow machines. It finally dawned on me that those gnatty noises were being made by chain-saws.

Of course, being an enemy of mechanization, I disdain chain saws. I labor with a buck-saw, a saw-buck and an ax. I don't get as much woodcut as a fellow with a chain saw, but I console myself that I am not wasting any irreplaceable gasoline either. After all, that's the whole idea of cutting wood isn't it? To save fuel – and, of course, money.

But tending a wood stove has several periphery benefits in addition to the deep-down, bone warming heat that it exudes from the southwest corner of the living room.

Where, for example, did the kids dry their boots and wet mittens before we had a hearth in the parlor? I think they used to stack them in front of the furnace register in the dining room and hope for the heat to go on. But a woodstove does the job in a jiffy and leaves soggy boots warm and dry.

The stove corner also is a good spot for the girls to dry their hair after their baths.

Furthermore, our little two-burner space heater can double as a cook stove in emergencies.

Actually, if you want to fix a picnic ham or a pot of soup, you don't even need a bonafide emergency. Stove heat is just right to keep a pot simmering, and simmering and simmering – all afternoon. Without burning a dime's worth of natural gas or electricity.

It's also fine for breakfasts. You can brown your toast on one stove lid while your eggs are cooking on the other.

Our stove also doubles as a humidifier. A kettle full of water is always on the back burner, sending a feather of steam into the atmosphere. It's also nice to have a ready supply of water for instant coffee or tea.

If wood stoves are so all fired convenient, why did the human race in its infinite wisdom abandon them for central heating?

Well, sir, I suppose it is easier to have the old furnace humping away down the basement trying to keep the entire house one temperature. Certainly we couldn't get along without our furnace after the first deep freeze in the fall.

Our little stove is a supplemental source of heat, stretching out the firing cycles of the oil furnace. The upstairs is chillier than it used to be, but certain parts of the downstairs are warmer. It's nice to have a choice.

Do you really save money?

Like everything else, cast iron stoves cost more than you'd expect. And installation doesn't come cheap, particularly if you need a new chimney. But if you cut your own wood, you should start saving money in the second or third year.

Happy chopping!

Erma Bombeck

I have just figured out that I have spent a total of 23 years, four months, six days, twelve hours and seventeen minutes looking for things around the house that are not really lost. (If I had spent that much time taking care of my face and body I could be a love goddess by now.)

The other morning as I hung by my heels retrieving the innards of the coffee pot from the garbage can, my husband in one of his rare moments of sentiment said, "You have the instincts of a water buffalo. You eventually find everything. I don't know how you do it."

"I'll tell you how I do it," I panted. "It comes from having stupido kids who have thrown away the insides of the coffee pot every day for the last three years and from having a husband who sits in a chair and yells, "Don't get up. Just tell me where my discharge from the Army is."

"Whatever," he said. "You really should do a column about it."

He's probably right. This is my formula for finding things around the house before they get lost. Here is how it works. First, you must ask yourself, "If I were an iced tea spoon who wanted to get away for a few days, where would I hide? Then you call on experience. Small boys hate to take medicine. Right? They often drink their orange juice from an old fashioned glass just to be different. Thus, they have probably taken their cold syrup from an iced tea spoon. The iced tea spoon then is in the medicine chest.

Using this kind of logic, the odds are very good for finding the following 13 most often lost items in the following places.

School shoes: In a pair of tight boots.

Tight boots: In the school Lost and Found.

Baby's pacifier: In the dog bed.

Pencil: (without lead) By the telephone. (With lead) Under the refrigerator.

Car keys: In the mailbox.

Marriage license: In the bookshelf under fiction.

Screwdriver: In a raincoat pocket.

Phone directory: In the bathroom.

Comb: Anywhere where it is surrounded by food.

The hamster: In a bedroom slipper.

Umbrella: In the school Lost and Found.

Title to the car: In the attic in a box marked, "Nativity Scene and Yearbooks."

Scissors: In the shoeshine kit in the utility room.

Yardstick: 12 inches of it is in the hall closet, 8 inches in the tackle box in the garage and 16 inches supporting a tomato plant in the side yard.

Now, let's see, if I were an envelope and a stamp who hated crowds, where would I go?

EDITOR'S NOTE – The following is the continuation of a letter from Mrs. Daisy Chew tracing her family's journey to the Charlevoix area.

Since today's U.S. 131 is the only road that runs north within 3 or 4 miles of Kalamazoo, we took it. Once a right-of-way has been legally established, they are seldom abandoned; improved yes; but not abandoned, and it just might be that today's 4 lane 131 was once a 1 lane country road. The asylum he mentioned is no longer there, but the high hills are, and he could have camped atop any one of them.

June 11. Took dinner just north of Plainwell. Camped just south of Wayland.

June 12. Traveled through Moline to Grand Rapids. Took dinner 9 miles south of the city. Camped at a schoolhouse north of the city but within sight of it. Pulled through some heavy sand today.

June 13. More bad road today. Shipped spring wagon from Rockford. Took dinner in Rockford. Camped 3 miles north of Cedar Springs.

Out of Plainwell we took Road A-45 through Moline, then all the way to Grand Rapids. We knew that after Grand Rapids, Rockford was his next objective, and Rockford lies to the northeast of Grand Rapids. As was the case with South Bend; Grand Rapids was even than a big city, and he would choose to avoid the downtown area by by-passing it to the east....and so did we.

After having experienced two days in a row of "bad sandy roads", and with no actual knowledge of what lay ahead, he wisely chose to ease the burden on his horses by shipping the lighter wagon (and contents) the rest of the way....by rail.

At Cedar Springs we took a rest stop at a beautiful roadside park and recreational area. Three miles further north, we slowed down because we knew they had spent a night there long ago, but we did not stop. Beyond us lay many more miles of their footsteps, and we were eager to tread therein.

June 14. Struck out this morning for Big Rapids. Went through Morley. Took dinner near Little Muskegon River. Camped 10 miles south of Big Rapids.

June 15. Short on provisions, so moved to a beautiful campsite 2 miles north of Big Rapids.

With information like that above, and with only one northbound road in the vicinity, there was no way for us to lose the trail. We were back on 131, but up there, 131 is just another two-lane road; not an expressway. They covered only 12 miles on the 15th; not much mileage for such a long journey, but we don't know the circumstances. Maybe it rained all day. Or maybe they spent much of the day in Big Rapids, having dinner and shopping for provisions.

June 16. A good road to Reed City, at which place we had dinner. Went through Ashton then camped in front of a schoolhouse in LeRoy.

We stayed on 131 to Reed City and Ashton, but 3 miles north of Ashton we left 131 in order to pass through Le Roy. Since my father was a school teacher, he naturally felt very much at home when around a schoolhouse. They were camping on "public" property; not "private" property, and there were added advantages; like a well for water, plus his-and-hers outdoor privies. He seldom failed to camp near a schoolhouse whenever possible.

June 17. Started out before sun-up. Had bad and hilly roads all the way to Cadillac where we spent the night with the Overshaws.

Well, we stayed on the backroad from LeRoy to Cadillac. It was getting somewhat late in the afternoon, and we might also have spent the night there, but we had our doubts about being able to find the Overshaws, so we got back onto 131 and headed north.

June 18. Took dinner in front of a schoolhouse some 900 feet above the surface of a beautiful lake. Drove through Manton then camped about 1 mile south of Walton's Junction.

We found a lake between Cadillac and Manton, the level of which did lay considerably below that of the highway, but we doubted his figure of 900 feet. He was a man from prairie country, where most of the landscape was quite level, and in his enthusiasm, he probably over-estimated the distance involved.

He drove through Manton, but we chose to spend a night there. According to his log, it had taken him 11½ days to cover the distance from his home in Marshall County, Indiana to Manton, Michigan, and we had covered the same route in less than 10 hours. He had been plagued with bad roads, foul weather, and pests that ranged from mosquitoes to rattlesnakes, while we coasted along on well-paved roads, during clear weather, in an air-conditioned vehicle. What a difference a mere 97 years can make!

There was no mention of a Walton's Junction on our map, but since the word junction means where two roads cross one-another, and by the use of our

Integrity for Sale

A bell rang in my head when I read about the governor of Louisiana and his wife and her $10,000.

"Answer that bell," I said to myself.

So I answered it. It was for my wife, but she wasn't in. She was downtown at the Chinese laundry, accepting $100 bills on the strength of my dirty shirts.

Louisisna Gov. Edwin Edwards had admitted that his wife, Elaine, accepted a $10,000 gift from Tongsun Park during Edwards' 1971 compaign for governor.

As you probably know, Tongsun Park is not a grassy place with picnic tables. Tongsun Park is the South Korean businessman who has been much in the news lately, accused of bribing congressmen and other U.S. officials in a bid to influence legislation.

It has been suggested that Park slipped Mrs. Edwards the $10,000 so her husband would help South Korea get subsidized federal loans to buy surplus Louisiana rice.

Don't ask me why South Korea would buy rice from Louisiana. It sounds as dumb as the Cincinnati Reds buying baseball players from the Detroit Tigers.

Anyway, the important thing is that Gov. Edwards denied the charge. "No one has ever needed to pay me to sell Louisiana rice anywhere in the world," he said in a statement which should interest any Louisiana rice farmer seeking a traveling salesman to work cheaper than the parish grain elevator.

The governor said Park is a family friend who also gave him a $900 table which sits in the governor's mansion with a a label saying where it came from. Edwards said he saw no problems - "political, ethical or moral"–with gifts to his family from friends.

The only problem is, no one has seen a label explaining where Mrs. Edwards is coming from. One nosy newspaperman reported he thought he saw a label, but it turned out to be a price tag.

Edwards said he didn't know anything about the $10,000 until two years after his wife accepted it. He said Park was "careful enough to tell Elaine not to tell me about it, because he knew that at that time, during the campaign, that I would have preferred that she not accept it."

His wife spent the $10,000 on herself and their two daughters, Edwards said. He doesn't know what they bought.

"They come and go pretty much on their own," Edwards said in explaining how his family might smuggle $10,000 worth of pantyhose into the house without him asking where they got the money.

It was the last statement that rang my bell. When my wife got home from the Chinese laundry, I had some tough questions for her.

"How many thousands of dollars have you spent that I don't know anything about?" I asked.

"Oh God," she said, "what happened? Did you stumble upon the new Chrysler Imperial hidden under the bed?"

"It was not a difficult mystery to unravel," I said. "Yung Fu may be devious, but I can see through you. You are scrutable."

"You mean Yung Fu, the Chinese businessman who is our family friend? I have not seen him in months," she had gall enough to say, as though she didn't still smell steamy from his mangle.

"You might as well quit lying," I said. "I know Yung Fu has been buying my influence through you, without me realizing it. It was only because of sexy you that I wrote that column saying Yung Fu never leaves a ring aroung my shirttail. I thought I was simply writing nice things about how my marvelous wife had discovered a decent laundryman. I didn't know I was aiding a foreign power. Yung Fu knew I would never sell him my integrity, so he bought it from you."

"All right, I confess," she confessed. "But what are you going to do about it? Yung Fu pays me $10,000 a week for your dirty shirts. How else do you think we can afford steak for dinner every night, and a castle in Spain? No one is going to believe you don't know your wife was making a little extra on the side.

"Just don't forget, Buster," she said, "that Chrysler Imperial is under your side of the bed, too."

"You wouldn't talk to me that way if I were the governor of Louisiana," I said.

Meet Charlevoix

.... Clayton Smith

Clayton Smith

Clayton Smith of Charlevoix is a man of many enterprises. This week he tells the Courier about some of them.

COURIER: First, you're a farmer, aren't you?

SMITH: Yes, I grow beef cattle. I just got them rounded up and out of the way of the deer hunters.

COURIER: How many acres of land do you have?

SMITH: Fifteen here on the south end of Charlevoix and 70 out in the Barnard community. I also rent about 100 acres for silage. I grow corn for silage but the drought this year made for a poor crop.

COURIER: Are you a native of the area?

SMITH: Yes, I was born on a farm near Barnard. I like farming. That's why I keep at it even though we can't earn a living raising beef. Just recently I sold five head at $50 a piece that cost me at least $90 to feed. The only way you can make out is by selling the meat direct to the consumer.

COURIER: You also have a truck garden here at "Smith's Little Acres", don't you?

SMITH: Yes, we raise some sweet corn, tomatoes, squash, pumpkins and such things. We had people picking their own peas this summer.

COURIER: Are you a deer hunter?

SMITH: No, I always buy a license and might sit for an hour or two but if I don't get one then, that's it.

COURIER: Then what do you do this time of year?

SMITH: I trap. I started trapping when I was eight years old and still set traps in some of the same places.

COURIER: What kinds of animals do you trap?

SMITH: Mink, muskrat, raccoon, and later on in the year maybe beaver and otter. I used to get fox but they had a scourge of the mange a few years ago and almost disappeared. They're just beginning to come back.

COURIER: Are the other animals plentiful?

SMITH: Not really. There aren't nearly as many as there used to be. This year the muskrats are fewer because of the drought. They live in cat-tail marshes and with the marshes dried up they were left to the mercy of predators.

COURIER: What do you trap most?

SMITY: Mink. The season runs from November until about the middle of January. There is no limit on the number we can take.

COURIER: Is there a difference in value between males and females.

SMITH: Males are usually about one-third larger than the females and are worth about twice as much.

COURIER: How often do you check the traps?

SMITY: About every other day.

COURIER: How many traps do you put out and how do you remember where you put them?

SMITH: Some years I've put out as many as 150, but not that many this year. You have to have a good memory. Of course we try to conceal the traps, so on the first day out I make notes on a card – "upstream", "downstream", "under big cedar tree", or something like that. All traps are tagged with the trapper's name, but even so, some are stolen.

COURIER: What do you do with the trapped animals after you get them?

SMITH: Take them out of the traps, bring them home, skin and stretch them on boards.

COURIER: How do you sell the skins?

SMITY: I'm going to the fur auction in Kalkaska December 4. It's run by the Michigan Trappers' Association. Any skins I have after that I'll sell direct to fur buyers or brokerage houses.

COURIER: What kind of prices do you get for the furs?

SMITH: We might get $20 a pelt for male mink this year. Thirty years ago they sold for $25 to $30. Raccoon is much in demand this year because of the fur collars on coats. They're talking about maybe $30 for coons. They used to be worth $3 to $5. Fox should be about $50 this year.

COURIER: How many animals have you caught so far this year?

SMITH: About 15 mink and some muskrats and raccoons. Some years I have caught as many as 200 muskrats and 18 or 20 mink in a season.

COURIER: Mink are awfully small to bring the prices they do, aren't they?

SMITH: Well, they weigh only two or three pounds. But they are strong – deadly killers. They're not afraid to tackle turkeys or rabbits or chickens. One mink could kill 10 or 12 chickens in a night.

COURIER: Does anyone really make a living trapping any more?

SMITH: Not around here. I had a brother-in-law who used to make a good living at it. In six months he could make more money than a man working in a factory all year. I learned a lot from him. We used to go to the Upper Peninsula, snow-shoe in five or six miles from the road to a little cabin and stay for a week or ten days in a little cabin. We used to trap a lot of beaver.

COURIER: What about your fruit business?

SMITH: I primarily make my living by trucking cherries, apples, blueberries, peaches and plums. I often buy whole orchards – some orchards I have bought for 30 years.

COURIER: Where do you sell the fruit?

SMITH: I take it all over – to the Upper Peninsula and Northern Lower Michigan. I sell it direct to consumers so I don't have to pay a middle man profit. Most customers I've known for years and years.

COURIER: You sell Christmas trees, too, don't you?

SMITH: Yes, and this year I'm going to cut some of my own Colorado Blue Spruce.

COURIER: Well, you sound like a busy man.

SMITH: I've never worked very much for anyone else. I've been self-employed. I make enough money in small business ventures so I can afford to farm.

COURIER: Tell us about your family.

SMITH: My wife, Kay, teaches kindergarten in Charlevoix, our daughter, Debbie, teaches in Calumet, our son, Randy, works in Traverse City, and our daughter, Gail, is in high school.

knowledge as to their daily mileage, we decided that it must have been the corner where State Road 113 takes off for Kingsley.

June 19. Took breakfast just out of Walton's Junction. Took dinner 2 miles north of Fife Lake. Camped 1 mile north of Williamsburg.

Williamsburg was directly north of Fife Lake, and the road was narrow, unmarked, and seldom used. It ran through the most remote area we would encounter on our entire trip. There were but few houses, and no places of business along the entire stretch. It was heavily wooded, and in many places the tops of the trees touched above the road. It was a bit eerie because we did not see a single human anywhere along the road until we reached Williamsburg. Enroute we did cross a one-way concrete bridge, beside which was a sign that read "Boardman River"; and thereby hangs another tale.

While my father kept his log, his 13 year old daughter (my sister) also kept her own notes on many happenings, and one such note dealt with Boardman River. By today's standards it would be called a creek rather than a river, and when they crossed it back in 1879 there was no bridge; they forded it.

It must have been a swollen stream at the time, because in her notes she told how while swimming across it, the family dog was washed downstream, and out of sight. He did not drown however, and eventually re-joined the party. We paused for a moment as we drove across the little bridge, and in my mind's eye I could visualize part of the activity (and possible anxiety) the members of my family had known that day, and at that place.

June 20. Took dinner in Elk Rapids. Camped for the night beside the road west of Toreb Lake.

June 21. Took dinner at Knight's near Charlevoix. Drove until 10 p.m. and camped in front of post office in Burgess.

June 22. Journey ended.

Based upon mileage figures on today's road maps, they had covered something like 314 miles in 17 days. The shortest distance covered in a single day was 11 miles; the longest was 28 miles. Their average was about 18½ miles per day.

The journey ended in Petoskey, Mich., where my father resumed his profession. He later moved to Bay Shore, and was eventually elected Superintendent of Public Schools of Charlevoix County, a position he held until the time of his death in 1904.

Three months later my mother joined him in whatever lies beyond our terrestrial abode. Both were buried side-by-side in the Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix. When the time comes, I intend to be buried beside them, and then it can truthfully be said that, both mentally and physically, I did follow in their footsteps; yea even unto that final and faltering step!

Raising Children Becoming A Big Business in Charlevoix

By PAULA HOLMES

The cost of living and the way it keeps increasing seems to be on everybody's mind these days.

And everyone seems to be quite knowledgeable about the price of gas and how much it has gone up, or the price of food and the way it fluctuates.

But, during a recent survey, the Courier found hardly anyone in Charlevoix seemed to have any statistics on one of the greatest costs they face—the cost of raising children.

Most parents don't think of their children in terms of dollars and cents, the Courier found. And most of them don't want to.

"I'm afraid to find out how much it costs to raise children from zero to 18," one woman said jokingly. "My husband might ship them out for adoption."

Marlene Caszatt, home economist for the Charlevoix County Extension Service, agreed.

"It's frightening when you look at the figures," she said. "We probably wouldn't have any children if everyone knew how much it was going to cost them."

Beyond recalling that at certain stages along the line, costs were pretty high, area parents had never thought about their total child-raising expenditures. However, a recently released analysis based upon studies made by the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Labor Statistics revealed some interesting information.

The analysis found that the amount spent in rearing a child varies from family to family. In general, however, it is closely related to the family's income. The studies show that where net income is in the $12,000 to $13,000 range, as it has been recently for the average family in Charlevoix County, the outlay per child is approximately $40,000 from the time they are born until they reach age 18.

According to the studies, the expenses of raising a child during th first year can be unusually large. Health Insurance Institute statistics show that during the first year of a child's life, the average cost for medical and hospital bills, furniture, clothing, medicines and anything else needed for the new baby, runs to $2,194 nationally. Insuranee covers some of the cost in most cases.

Otherwise, the greatest demand comes in the age period between 13 and 18, when youth eat more, require more expensive clothes and more money for recreation.

In most local families, according to the statistics, food is a principal item of expense, Based on current prices, the food bill for a child to age 18 comes to a total of about $13,500.

Another major item in the cost of raising a child is clothing. Allowing for hand-me-downs, which are available in most families, the average amount spent on a child's clothing comes to $4,480. And there are also the costs of recreation, medical and personal care, housing, transportation and other things children need.

Although Charlevoix parents didn't know exactly how much it cost to raise their children, many of them had suggestions for keeping the costs down.

Nancy Taylor, mother of two and a teacher at the co-op nursery school, suggested buying items that children could do things with rather than buying some of the toys on the market.

"A roll of scotch tape makes a fabulous Christmas present for a child," she said. "Give him a roll all his own to do whatever he wants to do with it.

"Also make toys from things you have at home and have the children help you," she continued. "For instance make a puppet from an old sock instead of buying.

"I think you'll find the children like it better, too," Mrs. Taylor said.

She also suggested starting a clothing swap or a sports equipment swap for the entire city. Many other mothers also mentioned setting up a swapping place for these items.

Mrs. Caszatt, who also takes care of a family in addition to her home economist duties in two counties, suggested mothers set up a baby sitting pool where they would take turns taking care of each others children while they went shopping or cleaned house. She also recommended car pools for carting kids to school and to after school activities as an effective way of cutting back on transportation and recreation costs.

She said many pamphlets were also available at the extension service office on making toys, conserving energy and cutting food expenses.

Road Commission Receives Increase in Vehicle Funds

The Charlevoix County Road Commission and the street departments of the City of Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Boyne Falls, received an early Christmas present this month.

The quarterly check of the road commission's and street department's share of the state Motor Vehicle Highway Funds was higher than anticipated.

The county road commissions received $172,511 this year as compared with $152,044 in 1975. The City of Charlevoix received $16,480 up from $14,665 and East Jordan received $9,879 up from $8,766.

Boyne City received $17,358 up from $15,410 while Boyne Falls received $2,119 up from $1,881 received last year as the town's share of the motor vehicle funds.

According to the State Highway Commission, increased tax revenues, plus interest accumulated in the motor vehicle fund produced the increase in the quarterly payments. About half of the increase resulted from higher motor fuel tax and license plate fee collections.

The rest of the increase resulted in the 15 month interest accumulated in the motor vehicle highway fund, which is the depository for state motor fuel and license plate taxes. In previous years, the interest was distributed annually in the quarter ending with the fiscal year June 30. This year, because the Legislature extended the fiscal year to Sept. 30, the interest is being paid three months later.

Revenues in the motor vehicle fund are distributed under a formula prescribed by law after deductions for various grants. The deductions include 1.25 percent of the gas tax to the State Waterways Fund, and one-eighteenth of gas tax and liquified petroleum tax to the Ceneral Transportation Fund for public transportation programs. Additionally the Secretary of State charged $6.4 million for costs of administration.

After this year's deductions for grants and administrative costs, $111 million is being distributed among the Department of State Highways and Transportation, the 83 county road commissions and the 531 incorporated cities and villages. The sum is 11.1 percent higher than the distribution for the July-September quarter in 1975.

6 Students Receive Degrees From Central

Six Charlevoix County students were among the 1,810 awarded degrees at Central Michigan University at the end of the summer sessions in August.

Included were two Charlevoix students: Barry Alan Anderson, who received a Master of Arts degree, and J. John Kerner, who received a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology.

Four Boyne City students also received degrees: Jeffrey C. Hocquard, Master of Arts; Donna L. Kilcherman, Master of Arts; Shirlee A. (Stansell) Suter, Master of Arts; and Wendy J. Widener, Bachelor of Science in Education.

Soil Program Gets State Approval

After being in operation for more then a year, the program of the Charlevoix County office of the Soil Erosion And Sedimentation Control Act has received the approval of the State Water Resources Commission.

The local office has received a letter from Robert J. Courchaine, acting assistant executive secretary of the Commission, in which he states, "the Commission concurred in your program as received and expressed pleasure that the County is moving forward in an important endeavor.

"The control of erosion and sedimentation through this cooperative local-state agency approach is considered by the Commission to be a prime opportunity to attain mutual environmental goals."

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix District Court last week by Judge David Fershee:

Marc J. Custer, 21 Columbus, Ohio, failing to yield. Found guilty by the Court, $20 fine and costs.

James Novotny, Charlevoix, failing to yield. Found guilty by the court $20 fine and costs.

Grant Awarded To Aging Group

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging has received a grant of $13,600 to carry on its services in 1977.

The money is part of the $136,565 funded to 10 Northwest Michian counties through the Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging.

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging provides services for transportation, health screening, minor home repair, home health, information and referral, counseling and other services designed to prevent the institutionalization of the elderly.

Charlevoix County residents needing any of these services should call the Senior Citizens Center in East Jordan, 536-7831.

OUR "THANKS" FOR THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving has a very special meaning to the staff at Thomas Real Estate. It is the close of our first year in business. We would like to use this opportunity to thank the people in our community for the support extended to us during 1976. Our best wishes to you and your family for the upcoming holiday season.

Extension Club to Hold Christmas Party

Charlevoix County Extension Clubs will meet at Fellowship Hall of the Community Church of God, W. Hurlbut Avenue, in Charlevoix for their annual Christmas party.

The event is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. and will continue until 3 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 1.

Guests at the potluck luncheon at noon will be the students and staff of the Ironton Trainable School.

Everyone attending is asked to bring a Chriustmas ornament such as a pin to wear or an ornament for the Christmas tree at the Trainable school.

One of the highlights of the program that will follow the luncheon will be a pre-season visit from Santa Claus.

Members of the nine clubs in the county are asked to bring a dish to pass and their own table service. A beverage will be furnished. Mothers bringing pre-school children to the event are asked to bring a small gift for the child or children with names attached to be distributed by Santa.

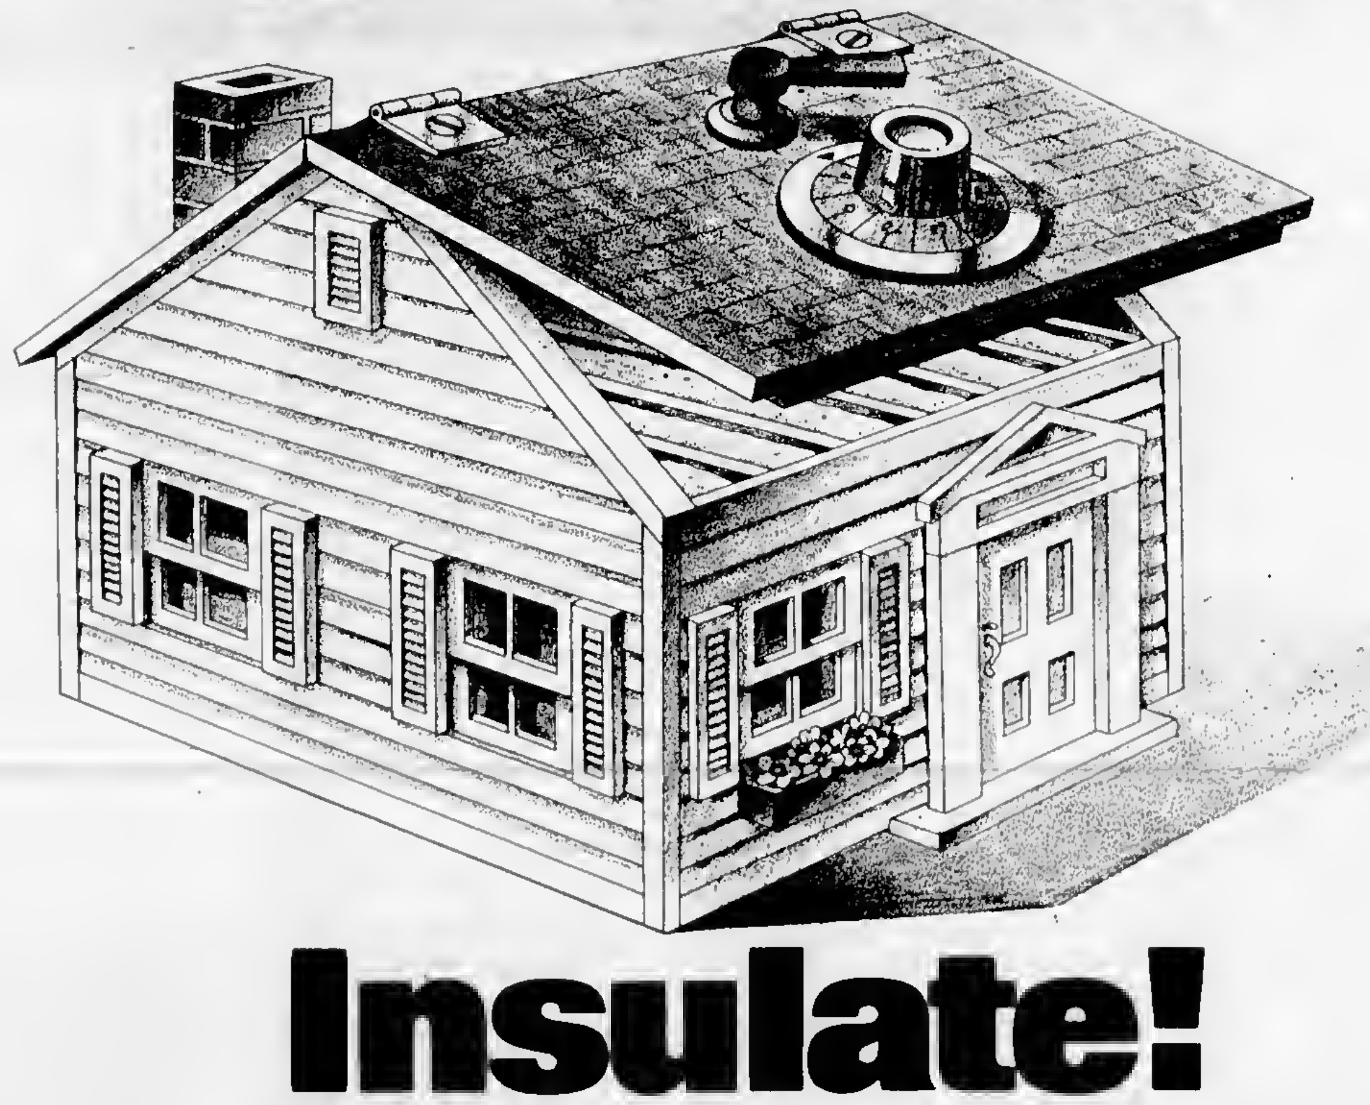
Save up to $75 in your attic this winter.



Insulate!

Nobody likes higher Gas bills, including us at Michigan Consolidated. But because the cost of Gas we buy from our suppliers has gone up, your Gas bills will be higher this winter than they were last year.

So it makes sense to stretch each dollar's worth of Gas just as far as possible, and to keep your Gas bills as low as you can. One way to do this is by insulating your home.

Once again, Michigan Consolidated is offering a low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program designed to conserve Natural Gas and save you money.

Since the program's introduction nearly three years ago, more than 115,000 of our customers have installed ceiling insulation, and have cut their home heating costs by as much as 17% each year. Based on current Gas prices, this means you may be able to reduce your own heating costs by as much as $75.00 from what they might be without insulation, starting right this winter.

If you do the job yourself, you should be able to buy insulation for a home with 650 sq. ft. of attic space for about $125.00. That means you'll probably save enough Gas to pay for the material in less than two years. Our free Do-It-Yourself Insulation Handbook tells you how. Pick one up at any of our customer business offices or any participating retail outlet. Or call or write, and we'll mail you a copy.

If you'd rather not do the job yourself, one of our participating insulation subcontractors can. The cost? About $250.00 for homes with less than 1000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. You can pay 20% down and pay the balance without interest over your next three Gas bills. Or you can make extended payments at an interest rate of 1% per month on the unpaid balance (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%).

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost Home Ceiling Insulation Program? We'd like to help you cut your heating costs, and we'll both be working to save our country's valuable Natural Gas supplies.

We do care about your tomorrow.

Girls Face Boyne City in District Finals

The Charlevoix High School Girls Basketball team will meet Boyne City in the Class C District Finals at Onaway Tuesday night.

The winner will advance to the Class C Regional tournament at Houghton Lake.

In meeting Boyne City, Charlevoix will be clashing with a team it has defeated twice by decisive margins during the regular season according to Coach Toni Felter. "It looks like a good game. We had a good practice session Friday, the girls have been working on a new press and we are confident that we can win Tuesday unless Boyne City has more than it has shown during the regular season" Mrs. Felter said.

Charlevoix defeated Onaway by a score of 54-27 to advance to the finals in the district tournament. Boyne City beat East Jordan 40-38 on Friday night.

Charlevoix took control of the game in the opening minutes and led all the way with a 14-9 advantage at the quarter; 22-13 at halftime and 34-21 going into the final eight minutes. Coach Felter substituted freely throughout the game.

Two Teams Remain On Top in B League

By FRAN MARTIN

Tri-City Asphalt of Division I and County State Bank of Division II are the only undefeated teams in the B League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League as action is suspended for Thanksgiving week.

In Monday's action Klooster John Deere defeated Bay Shore Steel 47-45 to post its first win of the season; Tri-City Asphalt chalked up a 78-37 win over Medusa; LaBlance Insurance got back in the win column by a 58-52 score over Freedman's; Wojan Aluminum came through with its first win of the season by a score of 66-36 over AlRay Cottages and County State Bank dumped Hoskins' from the ranks of the undefeated by a 67-29 margin.

After trailing throughout the game, Klooster John Deere overcame a three-point deficit at the three quarter mark to defeat Bay Shore Steel 47-45. The Steelers had led 16-5; 22-13 and 36-33 by quarters before falling victim to the determined Klooster squad which out-scored them 14-9 in the final period for the victory. Roger Gowell with 19 points paced the win. Vince Left had 20 and Tom McDonough 10 for the Steelers.

Butch Klooster with 23 points and Dave Norton with 22 led the Tri-City Asphalt to its third win of the season by a score of 78-27 over Medusa. Mike Crain contributed 15 and Leroy Buchanan 14 points as Tri-City led Medusa 20-6; 35-12 and 52-24 by quarters. Dick Putman had 12 for Medusa.

LaBlance Insurance overcame a 17-14 first period deficit to knot the score 29-all at halftime before taking over 45-42 at the three quarter mark and coasting to victory over Freedman's. It was the first loss for Freedman's. Joe Beaudoin with 21 points and Dave Novotny with 16 were the top scorers for the winners. Steve McClellan had 15 and Steve Martinus 10 for Freedman's.

Don Ward with 16 points, Stan Murtin with 15 and Don Smith with 14 led Wojan Aluminum into the win column for the first time as the victors paced AlRay Cottages 21-4; 31-17 and 43-24 by quarters. Jay Mazoryak had 12 and Scott Blanchard 10 for the Cottagers.

After leading 15-10; 23-12 and 47-22 by quarters, County State Bank toppled Hoskin's from the win column by a lopsided 69-29 score. Pete Huskisson had 10 points for Hoskin's. Denny LaCroix with 12 points and Larry Skippergosh and Tom Peterson with 10 points each paced the win.

Rayderettes Finish Season With Win

The Charlevoix High School Girls Basketball team concluded its regular season Tuesday with a 54-27 win over Grayling.

The team posted a 7 win, 5 loss record in Michigan-Huron Shores conference play and a 9-7 overall record for the season.

The team, coached by Mrs. Toni Felter, went into Class C District play at Onaway on Thursday.

In last week's action the Charlevoix JV's dropped their final game to Grayling by a score of 36-11.

Four Rayderettes were in double figures as Charlevoix piled up a decisive win over Grayling. Jumping to an 8-2 first period advantage, Charlevoix romped to a 24-6 lead at halftime and a 48-18 margin going into the final period. All 12 team members saw action in the game.

Maureen Cudd scored 13 points, Kathy Sladek 12, Kay Currey and Gail Powell 10 points each for the victors. Shelly Fink and Becky Morris had six each for Grayling.

Coach Barb Anderson started her youngest, least experienced players in the final game in which the Charlevoix JV's trailed 4-3; 8-7 and 21-11 by quarters before losing by a decisive 36-11 score.

Chris Lehman had eight points for Charlevoix; Kathy Martella came through with seven points for Grayling.

Tuesday's game and the tournament that followed marked the close of their basketball careers for eight of the Varsity team members Maureen Cudd Kathy Sladek, Sandra Hodge, Teri Novotny, Terri Hufford, Jody Alger and Kay Currey, all seniors.

Mrs. Felter listed three members of her squad who are juniors and who will be returning next season. They are Jeralyn Goss, Sue Hodge and Louise Caldwell.

Three sophomores moved up to the Varsity squad for the tournament will also be returning. They are Chris Lehman, Sherri Selissen and Lisa Flower.

Townhouse Takes Lead in A Action

The Townhouse five toppled Way Oil from the win column Thursday by a score of 51-50 while Kaden's dumped Swanson's 71-48 and Willett Roofing post its first victory, a 49-43 win over Credit Union in the A League.

The Townhouse had to overcome a 12-10 first period and 25-22 deficit to win over the scrappy Way Oil quintet. As the second half got underway, Townhouse went ahead for the first time to capture a three-point edge, 37-34, going into the final eight minutes when the Oilers outscored Townhouse 16-14. Stewart Coleman with 20 points and Dave Strawbridge with 13 paced the victors. Ned Henley had 21 and Roger Crain 15 points for Way Oil.

It was Kaden's all the way as the team led Swanson's 15-4; 33-18 and 44-33 by quarters behind the scoring of Jim Bauman who had 22 points, Jeff Belford, 15 and Al Looze and Keith Fitzpatrick, 12 points each. Kevin Swanson had 10.

Jim Danbert with 13 points led Willett Roofing to its first win of the season, a 49-43 victory over cellar-dwelling

15 Wrestling Teams to Meet In Frosh-Soph Invitational

By FRAN MARTIN

Fifteen wrestling teams including two from the Upper Peninsula will converge on Charlevoix Dec. 4 for the third annual Invitational Frosh-Sophomore Wrestling tourney.

The list includes Alpena, Boyne City, Elk Rapids, Hillman, Kalkaska, Mancelona, Onaway, Oscoda, Petoskey, Rogers City, Rudyard, St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Traverse City and the host team.

In announcing plans for the tournament, Coach Norman Probert said the basic reason for the tournament, is to encourage development of future wrestlers in the area. For this reason, any school may enter any number of grapplers in a weight class.

Medals will be awarded to the top four winners in each weight class. There will also be a team trophy for first place and a most outstanding wrestler trophy.

Following the Invitational Frosh-Soph tourney here on Dec. 4, the Rayders will launch their regular season that will include nine dual meets, four Varsity and two Frosh-Soph tournaments climaxed by the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference meet here on Feb. 5.

Coach Probert also called attention to several rule changes that will become effective with the 1976-77 season. Chief among these is the re-shuffling of the top weight classes and the addition of one making a new total of 13 categories. The 167, 185 and heavyweight classes have been scratched and in their place will be the 165, 178, 191 and heavyweight classes.

There will also be new weigh-in procedures to certify weight prior to Jan. 4. Probert said as a coach he is happy to see this because it will eliminate attempts by wrestlers to cut their weight back later in the season resulting in injuries to their health.

The neck wrench has also been declared illegal and this procedure done by grabbing the chin and forcing the neck beyond its normal limits will cost a grappler penalty points. The Olympic move of wrenching on the neck has also been classified as potentially dangerous and will now be

Selling Cards

A unique local Christmas card has been developed by the Emmet County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

With the help of Petoskey Artist Carol Shanley, the cancer society designed a 5 by 7 inch card incorporating a picture of the Little Traverse Regional Historical Society Museum, the former depot on the waterfront in Petoskey.

Cards may be purchased in packets of 25 at: Artisans, the Basket Shop, Volume One, Horizon Bookstore, the Medicine Chest and the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Cards may also be ordered by calling: Leora Gramm at 347-3126 or Elena Vaughan at 347-4421.

Common Council

COUNCIL MINUTES
NOVEMBER 15, 1976
8:00 p.m.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Morris, Wood, Wallace, and Erber. Absent: Aldermen Plumm and Whitley.

The Minutes of the November 1, 1976 meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Counel Minutes Book.

Discussion took place concerning a letter received from the State Liquor Control Commission on the transfer of a SDM License and Living Quarters permit from Mary Alice Gebeau to Herbert S. and Ann Moore. Council had no objections to the application of Herbert B. and Ann Moore, seeing that they met all the requirements.

Council discussed the rehabilitation of the Ferry Avenue beach dock. The question of a performance bond was raised and City Attorney Donald Beriage urged Council to waive the requirements for a performance bond for smaller City projects. Alderman Morris made the following motion, supported by Alderman Wood that the City Council Waive the performance bond requirements on the City of Charlevoix rehabilitation contracts on the Ferry Avenue project and all prospective bidders will be notified. Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Morris, Wood, Wallace, and Erber. Nays: None. Absent: Aldermen Plumm and Whitley.

Alderman Morris informed Council that Charles Pease, Acting City Administrator, had sent letters out to all department heads, asking them to help participate in formulating the City budget for the coming year.

Alderman Wood informed Council that the City of Charlevoix would be receiving a $18,000 grant from Federal Aviation Administration, for the City Airport study being done by Alvin Ranger.

Alderman Wallace reported on the false fire alarms set off at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. She informed Council that she had talked with Mr. Kreiger, hospital administrator, who informed her that they had three different companies working on correcting this problem.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $118,595.05 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Morris and supported by Alderman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. The Motion was adoted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Morris, Wood, Wallace, and Erber. Nays: None. Absent: Aldermen Plumm and Whitley.

Council adjourned.

Judy D. Przybylski, Deputy City Clerk

Webster Home Stands in Detroit

Lexicographer Noah Webster was born on October 16, 1758 in West Hartford, Connecticut. Known as "the angry young man" of his day, Webster worked aggressively for educational reform, unemployment insurance and education for women. His 'Blue-Backed Speller' has been hailed as "one of the great landmarks in the history of education." Webster's home from New Haven, Connecticut now stands in Greenfield Village.

Santa Claus Coming to Town Friday

Santa Claus will make his initial visit to Charlevoix at 7 p.m. Friday when he arrived at the Market Mall.

He will return to the Mall from 1 until 4 p.m. on Saturday and will visit the shops in the Mall every Saturday until Christmas.

Residents of the area are invited to the Mall located at 405 Bridge St. to greet Santa upon his arrival.

stopped. Probert said he has seen boys unconscious as the result of these moves. The changes came after many coaches, through their state association, worked to have three particular moves declared illegal in high school wrestling circles for the safety of the young athletes.

The new rule on weigh-ins will help boys who wrestle two nights in a row. Both teams will be allowed one additional pound per class on weigh-in thus allowing a boy to eat to re-build his energy prior to the next match. Charlevoix wrestlers will take advantage of this rule change next month when the Rayders take on Grayling on Dec. 9 after having a match with Onaway the night before.

Obituary

ADELE SAKS

Funeral services for Mrs. Julien (Adele) Saks, 78, of Charlevoix and Highland Park, Ill., were held Monday at a Highland Park Chapel. Interment was in a Highland Park cemetery.

Mrs. Saks, the former Mrs. Ernest Loeb, who had been a part-time resident of Charlevoix for more than 50 years, died Friday at her Highland Park home.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert (Jane) Sooy of Charlevoix, Mrs. Joseph (Elizabeth) Nathan of Highland Park, Ill., and Mrs. Richard (Virginia) Lepmann of Northbrook, Ill., and 11 grandchildren.

Adelaide C. Stephan

Funeral services for Mrs. Norman J. (Adelaide C.) Stephan, mother of Paul N. Stephan who died unexpectedly at Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 2, were held Nov. 5 at Infant of Prague Church in Buffalo. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are her husband; one son, Paul N. of Charlevoix; two daughters, Mrs. Charles F. (Jeanne M.) Hudson of Jamestown, N.Y., and Barbara Stephan of Buffalo; five grandchildren; two sisters and three brothers.

Mrs. Stephan was well known in Charlevoix, having visited here often with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Stephan.

IRA WEEDEN

Committal services for Ira Henry Weeden, 63, who died Friday at his home in Troy, were held Monday at Brookside cemetery. Funeral services were held Sunday at the Kinsey-Garrett Funeral Home in Royal Oak.

Born in Newark, N.J., Jan. 2, 1913, Mr. Weeden was married to the former Florence Rice in Charlevoix, March 30, 1936. He was stationed here with the U.S. Coast Guard form 1937 until 1940. They later lived in Royal Oak and Madison Heights and, for the past two years, had lived in Troy. For 20 years prior to his retirement, he was employed as a tool maker for the Excello Corp. of Highland Park.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Jim (Irene) Miller of Utica; two sons, John L. of Sterling Heights and Gary A. of Royal Oak; six grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Anna Weeden of Belmar, N.J., and a sister, Mrs. Bessie Shibla, also of Belmar, N.J. A brother, William, preceded him in death.

Tom Anderson In Fair Shape After Accident

Thomas W. Anderson, 25, local attorney, was reportedly in fair condition at the Charlevoix Area Hospital Monday following a one-car accident on the Boyne City road Friday afternoon.

According to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, Anderson was traveling toward Charlevoix when the car he was driving apparently went out of control near the Blue Dot Farm and rolled over. Anderson was taken to the hospital via Charlevoix City Ambulance. The car, a 1972 Chevrolet Camaro, was said by sheriff's officers to be 'totaled'.

Marriages

The following marriage licenses were issued last week by the Charlevoix County Clerk.

Edgar J. Snyder, 18, Boyne City, and Patti J. Garlock, 19, Boyne City.

Robert V. Wheaton, 22, Petoskey, and Cynthia A. Olson, 20, East Jordan.

David B. Hague, 24, East Jordan, and Susan J. Lewis, 26, East Jordon.

Glenn J. Padgett, 19, East Jordan, and Nancy F. Czarnecki, 16, East Jordan.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

A public hearing will be held at seven-thirty P.M., on December 14, 1976, in the Hayes Township Hall, to hear a public comment on a proposed Hayes township zoning ordinance amendment.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT INVOLVES A ZONE DISTRICT CHANGE FROM A-1 to R-4. on the following parcel of property.

S½ of N½ of N½ of NE¼ of the NE¼.
Section 13, T34N, Range 7W, 5 acres, more or less.

LILLIAN BERGMANN, CHAIRMAN
HAYES TOWNSHIP PLANNING COMMISSION

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Charlevoix County Road Commission will receive sealed proposals at their offices at 1051 East Division Street, Boyne City, Michigan 49712, until 10:00 A.M. (EST) Monday, December 13, 1976, for furnishing 1977 requirements of the following:

Diesel Fuel
Gasoline
Fuel Oil
Tires

Further information and specifications may be obtained at the Commission offices.

All proposals must be in sealed envelopes, plainly marked as to the item bid upon and the name of the bidder.

The Charlevoix County Road Commission reserves the right to waive the irregularity of any bid, or to reject any or all bids or to split the award by items, or to make the award in whole or in part, as may be deemed to be in its own best interest.

Ancient Farmers Were Sophisticated

Ancient Maya agriculturists of Middle America perfected sophisticated techniques with only hand labor and stone tools. They built raised fields above swampland, constructed terraces, and dammed waterways, National Geographic says.

FAITH SHOWS US HOW MUCH WE CAN BE THANKFUL FOR!

Thanksgiving Day is an event celebrated by more than one nation, and aside from being a traditional family feast day, it is intended for those of us who are more inclined to dwell on our misfortunes than on our advantages, because we are naturally more conscious of them. For example, sickness is more likely to command our attention than a state of good health. Regardless of our circumstances, we must remind ourselves of all the good things that have happened to us, and also, of all the misfortunes that we have been spared; and we should do this every day of our lives, rather than wait for a special occasion such as this. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn to recognize and be grateful for your many blessings, and thereby be better able to cope with your problems, whatever they may be.

O Lord! that lends me life,
Lend me a heart
replete with thankfulness!
–William Shakespeare

Student Trainer Takes Injuries in Stride

By PAULA HOLMES

Sports injuries are bound to happen, but when Charlevoix High School athletes are injured in the course of a game, they are in good hands–the hands of Greg Grubaugh.

Grubaugh, a senior at the school, is a student trainer. He assists the coaches and the team physician in the care and prevention of injuries to Charlevoix athletes. And he is one of very few student trainers in the state.

The high school senior said he got interested in training when he was a freshman.

"I was a team manager at the time," Grubaugh recalled. "And I found a book on athletic training in the coaches office."

The student said he found the book interesting and decided to try to become certified through a correspondence course given by Cramer Products, an athletic supply company. He passed the test with flying colors and started his career as a trainer.

I got a lot of help from the coaches, especially Coach (Norman) Probert, who has studied training with a doctor for the Detroit Lions," Grubaugh said.

He also attended special classes on training at Ohio State University and Central Michigan University during the summers. And he recently completed the Red Cross First Aid course in Traverse City.

Grubaugh said he takes care of any injury that the coaches and he think doesn't require the attention of a doctor. The student also follows up on the rehabilitation of any injured muscles that were treated by a doctor.

"I call the doctor and ask him what he wants me to do," Grubaugh explained. "I work with the guys on exercises and in the whirlpools.

"It's easy to learn," he said shrugging his shoulders.

Grubaugh also is involved with back rubs and taping up weak ankles and other joints.

"I think we must use four miles of tape before some games," he joked. "You know you can get awfully tired of taping ankles."

Grubaugh said he enjoyed everything about his job, except the back rubs.

"I just don't get into back rubs," he laughed.

The student trainer is also very methodical in his treatment of his classmates. He keeps a file on every athlete who is injured during a game. He records the type of injury and what was done to treat it.

"That way I'll know what I did before and what to do if they are injured again in the same place," he said. "Or what not to do!"

The student trainer also helps his classmates by watching the games a little bit differently than everyone else.

"Instead of watching where the pass goes, I watch to see who doesn't get up," he said. "Sometimes I can see things that will help in the treatment of the injury."

Grubaugh feels very strongly about the necessity of having trainers in high school.

"There's a bill before the Legislature right now that would require all school districts to have at least one trainer on the staff," he said. "I think that would be a good idea.

"There are so many injuries that are not taken care of properly," he explained. "There just isn't any time or the student just takes it in stride instead of checking it out."

Grubaugh said he also helps athletes who have been injured work out any fears they might have about returning to the playing field.

"We're trained in psychology, too," he explained. "And I've had a lot of guys come and talk to me about quitting. It's just easier for them to talk to me than to the coach."

Grubaugh said his classmates are urging him to study training in college. He said he wasn't sure what he would do because he is also interested in law enforcement.

The blond-haired, ruddy-cheeked student also works with the girls teams. He is assisted by Chris Lehmon and Kathy Sladek, who have also passed the correspondence course he took.

"We've been teaching each other," Grubaugh said of his cohorts. "Some injuries I don't know how to take care of, they do and vice versa."

Grubaugh said sometimes as he is watching a game, he wishes that he could be out there on the field, too.

"But then when an injured player comes in I just get to work and I'm happy doing that," he said.

GREG GRUBAUGH, student trainer for the Charlevoix High School teams, works on the ankle of an injured player during the 1976 football season. Grubaugh also travels with the varsity basketball team and works with other team members, too.

Season Opener Here on Friday

The Charlevoix Rayder basketball team will take to the court against a visiting Covert team from southern Michigan at the high school gym here at 8 p.m. Friday.

The JV team, under the guidance of Don Carey, will play at 6:30 p.m.

Coach Dave Moyer said Monday that he expects a good season, that the boys have been practicing regularly and after the early days of conditioning and fundamentals, have been preparing for the season opener.

The Covert team, coached by Rod DeYoung, a former Ellsworth athlete, is widely known throughout the state as a high scoring, aggressive outfit that in recent years has been among the top Class D teams in the state. Covert will play here Friday and at Ellsworth on Saturday.

Moyer said he has not selected a starting five but Matt Doan, Bud Klooster, Ned Dziedzic, Pat Schaefer and Scott Boss will likely see action along with Brian Williams and Dave Tollas.

All but Dziedzic were regulars last season.

The team will boast no great height though Schaefer is 6-5. Doan is 6-2 and Boss and Dziedzic are 6-0.

Smokey's friends don't play with matches.

This wooded setting offers beauty and privacy to the owner of this comfortable trailer home south of Charlevoix. $13,500.

Council Hires New City Administrator, Clerk

Allen Sandberg

By PAULA HOLMES

The town manager of Coventry, Conn., has been hired as the new Charlevoix City Administrator.

Allen L. Sandberg was formerly offered the position by Mayor Edward Hansen, with common council approval, during Monday night's meeting.

The appointment ends a three-month search by the mayor and council, which included the review of more than 90 applications, for the replacement of Robert Wexstaff, acting city administrator, who resigned in August. The appointment also marks the first time the city has had a permanent administrator in more than three years.

Fortyish, with silver-gray hair, Sandberg comes from a varied administrative background. He has been town manager in Coventry for three years. Before that he served four years as an administrator of the University of Chicago Hospital and Clinics. He also worked for nine years as village manager and assistant manager of an Illinois city.

Sandberg has two sons, one 20-year-old, who is presently attending college in Connecticut, and four and one-half-year-old David, who with his mother Marjory, is in the process of moving to Charlevoix.

Following his appointment, Sandberg thanked the council saying,

"I want to thank you for appointing me. I will do everything in my power to assist the council and to work with them in improving the city in any way I can."

Council also took time out to thank Chuck Pease, who has been filling in as acting city administrator since August. Pease was reappointed to his position of city assessor and he was asked to help Sandberg learn the ropes of the city administrator's job.

Council also told Pease that in the future it expected to appoint him assistant to the

Fochtman Rezoning Denied

By PAULA HOLMES

A rezoning request for a change from residential to commercial for property at 111 Michigan st. was denied by the Charlevoix Common Council Monday night.

William Fochtman, co-owner of the Charlevoix Oil Co., was seeking the rezoning for a lot adjoining the current car dealership property. Fochtman said he wanted to remove the existing house, which he owns, and turn the lot into a storage lot for new cars.

The rezoning was opposed by several residents living in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sundquist, adjoining property owners; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Holdfeld and Harald Pearl all sent letters to the council opposing the rezoning. Betty Zipp, an adjoining property owner, appeared in person to oppose the move.

The citizens said they felt their property value would decline if the rezoning was

SANTA CLAUS arrived in Charlevoix Friday at the Market Mall just in time to meet with dozens of area children. There wasn't any snow on the ground at the time so Santa couldn't bring his sleigh. Instead, he arrived in a cherry red Jeep, with a white convertible top for extra sunny days. That didn't bother these children, however, as they eagerly explained what they wanted placed in their Christmas stockings.

State Appoints Condit Drury To Social Services Board

By FRAN MARTIN

Condit Drury, teacher-guidance counselor at the Charlevoix Middle School for the past 14 years, has been appointed to the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services Board for a three year term.

Condit Drury

The appointment was made by John T. Dempsey, Director, Michigan Department of Social Services and is retroactive to Nov. 1.

Drury, 41, was appointed to succeed the Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston who resigned earlier when he left Charlevoix for Belleville, Ill.

The Department of Social Services Board (formely known as the Welfare Board) is involved in the operation of the Department of Social Services in the county and with the Grandvue Medical Care Facility. Other members of the board are Vern Whiteford of East Jordan and Mrs. Garth Bryan of Boyne City, appointed by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners. Drury is a state appointee.

The Social Services Board works directly with Richard Tillen, director of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services.

A native of Harrodsberg, Ky., Drury is a graduate of Campbellsville College in Kentucky and has his master's degree in education and received certification in guidance and counseling from Michigan State University in 1970.

A veteran of two years with the U.S. Army in Europe, Drury worked in quality control with the Anaconda Wire and Cable Co. at Sycamore, Ill., for eight years and taught at Charlestown, Ind., before moving to Charlevoix.

He first taught math in the sixth grade and later became guidance counselor in the middle school. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Charlevoix Congregational Church and has served two years as board chairman. He is president of the Charlevoix Education Association. He has also coached Middle School basketball. He is also a licensed residential butcher.

He is married to the former Elaine Nochtigall of Sycamore, Ill. They have four children, Jeffrey, Gary, Pamela and Daniel.

Detroit Free Press Reporter Found Dead in Car in Mt. Mc Sauba Area

Emily Ann Fisher, 24, of Bloomfield Hills, was found dead in her car along the beach of North Point at approximately 8:50 p.m. Saturday, an apparent suicide according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's officers who investigated.

Officers were called to the scene at the end of single track undeveloped road by a team of REACT members who were patrolling the area. Officers said the motor of the 1974 Chevrolet Vega was running at the time and a hose attached to the exhaust pipe extended into the passenger area through a partially closed door. Death was apparently the result of carbon monoxide poisoning according to Dr. Robert G. Martin, medical examiner, who ordered an autopsy at Little Traverse Hospital.

The body will be returned to Bloomfield Hills.

Miss Fisher had left her Bloomfield Hills home Saturday morning after telling her family she was going shopping. She reportedly was found in an area she had visited as a child while on vacation here.

Miss Fisher was a writer for the Detroit Free Press, a position she had held since September 1976. She had worked for the Washington Post and a Boston Magazine.

The daughter of Herbert Fisher of the Campbell Ewald Advertising Agency, Miss Fisher was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Radcliffe College. As a student at Kingswood School in Bloomfield Hills she was a nationally ranked tennis player.

Third Annual "Carol-In" Slated by WVOY, Courier

When you mail out your Christmas cards this year, don't forget the Charlevoix Courier and WVOY Radio.

Again this year, the Courier and WVOY will be giving Christmas presents to two lucky families. The winners of either a "Tele-match" television game or $30 worth of steaks from Edwards IGA, will be determined by a drawing from the Christmas cards sent to the Courier by area residents.

The drawing will be made following the third annual Charlevoix Courier and WVOY "Carol-In" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21, in East Park. Cards must be at Courier office by 8 p.m. Tuesday to be eligible.

The Courier and WVOY invite all area residents to a community evening highlighted by Christmas carolling and community sharing. Marino LaBlance, Charlevoix Elementary School music teacher, and some of her students will lead the carol singing in the park around the city Christmas tree.

Earlier in the afternoon, Charlevoix Middle School art students will decorate the tree with ornaments made in class. The city light department will help the students evenly distribute the decorations.

Refreshments will be provided following the "Carol-In," and the drawing will be held. Winners must be present in order to claim their prize.

Courier Accepting Kid's Letters to Santa

It's that time of year again boys and girls. It's time to write your letters to Santa telling him how you've behaved during the past year and also to let him know what you would like for Christmas.

If you mail your letters to us, the Charlevoix Courier will print as many as we can in our Christmas edition and then we will forward them on to the North Pole for Santa to read.

Just send your letters to: Santa Claus c/o Charlevoix Courier, 301 Michigan St., Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

Charlevoix County Receives Remainder Of CETA Funding, Runs to Sept. 1977

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County has received the remainder of its funds for Title II Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) jobs for the period ending September 30, 1977.

The new allotment of $42,474 brings to $224,183 the amount to be spent in Charlevoix County by the various public employing agencies, such as schools, the Road Commission, hospital, townships, Sheriff's Department, and other County departments. It is expected that the allotment will be used to extend jobs of people presently working under CETA.

All jobs funded on the program after January 31, 1977 will be with the understanding that the jobs are transitional as far as CETA funding is concerned and will, if at all possible, be taken over by the employing agency by October 1, 1977.

To be eligible for a CETA job, a person must meet certain unemployment and financial categories, as follows:

Priority 1. The individual is employed for 15 or more weeks and is receiving public assistance, or the individual is unemployed for 15 or more weeks and has exhausted or is ineligible for unemployment compensation.

Priority 2. The individual is unemployed for 15 or more weeks and is receiving unemployment compensation and is not a memer of a household which has a gross family income, exclusive of wages to be received from CETA, exceeding the poverty income levels.

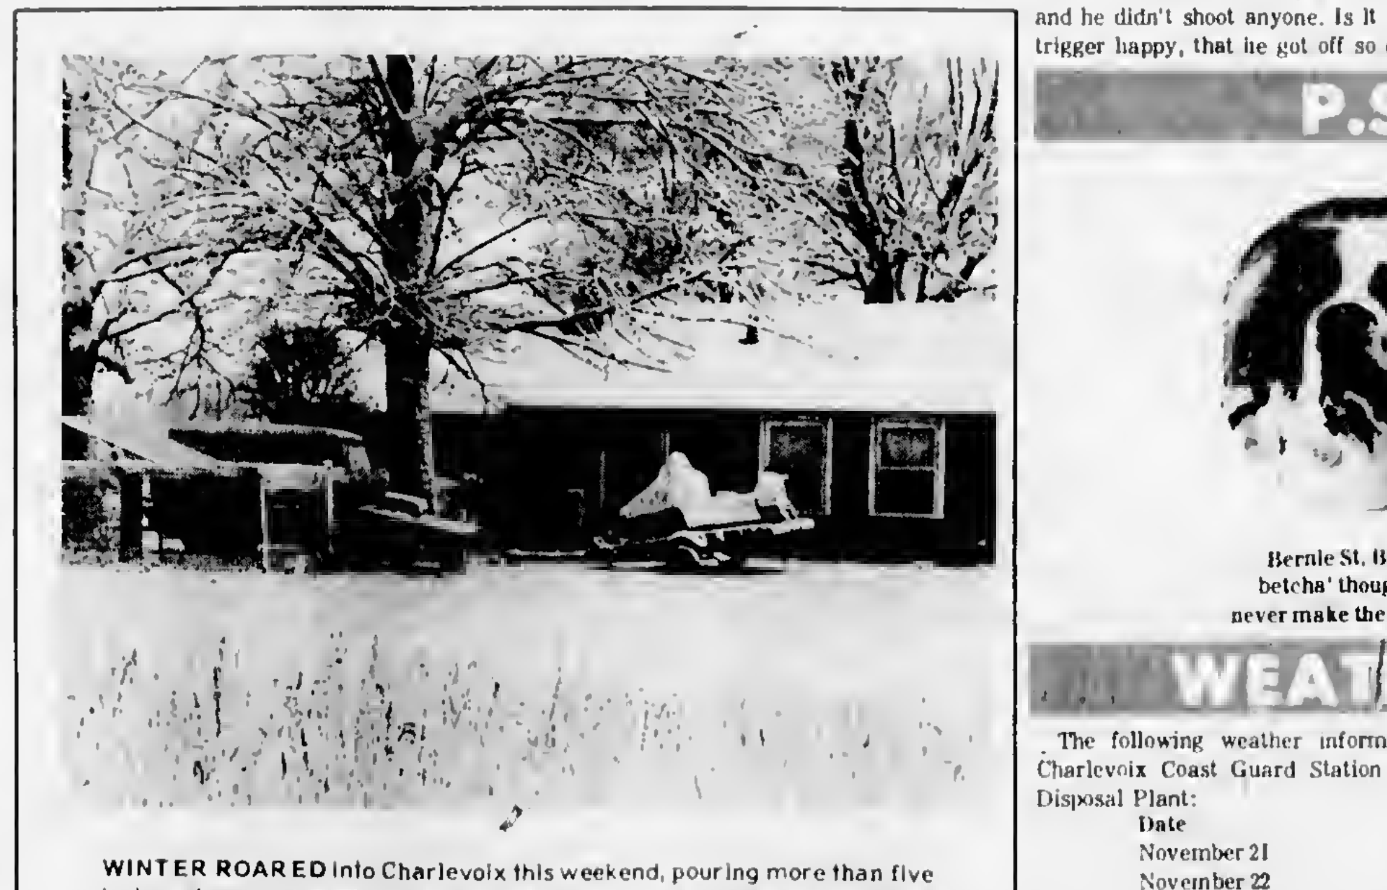
Poverty guidelines are defined as follows:

Family Size	Non-farm Family	Farm Family
1	$2,800	$2,400
2	3,700	3,160
3	4,600	3,920
4	5,500	4,680
5	6,400	5,440
6	7,300	6,200

Non-farm family units with more than six members are permitted to have $900 more income per year for each additional member, and farm families of the larger size are permitted to have $760 more income per year for each additional member.

Priority 3. Other unemployed or underemployed people.

Thirty-seven people were employed under the CETA program in Charlevoix County during October.



WINTER ROARED into Charlevoix this weekend, pouring more than five inches of snow on area roads Saturday and Sunday and adding another two to four inches on Monday and Tuesday. But with the snow comes a chance to engage in winter sports such as snowmobiling, cross country and down hill skiing.

HOW COME

How come a cop can shoot a human in East Jordan and get off on bail of $1,000? My husband tried to help some guys two years ago in East Jordan and got stopped by some East Jordan police. He had mace shot in his eyes. My husband was put on $2,500 bond and he didn't shoot anyone. Is it because the guy is a cop and trigger happy, that he got off so easy?

Interrupts Buoy Removal

Sundew Ordered to Lake Erie

Interrupted midway in its own fall buoy season, the USCGC Sundew has been ordered tn Lake Erie ta assume the duties of the Cutter Mariposa which has been sent to the shipyard as the result af damage ta its hull.

Lt. Cmdr. James V. O'Ned, skipper of the 180 foot cutter and buoy tender, said the ship wauld be working in the areas of Erie, Pa., Sandusky and Toledo, Ohia. He said the Sundew would prabably work without spending any time in port in order to complete the job ond return to complete its own work in northern Lake Huran, Lake Michigan and the Straits area. However, if the Mariposa cannat be repaired at ance, the Sundew may have to go into Lake Ontario ta do the work usually carried on by the disabled vessel. He said weather would be the big issue in the coming weeks.

"If the weather co-operates and if the Mariposa returns to duty, we can return here within 10 days. But again, we will have to have gaod weather to get the job done on schedule" O'Ned said. The ship's fall duties were on schedule when it was ardered to Lake Erie.

Each fall, the Sundew must ready more than 80 buays af various sizes and six light stations far the winter navigation season. In the spring the aperatian is reversed as large buoys are returned to station and winter markers removed.

Regional Office to Hold Workshop On Community Development Funds

A workshop for lacal government afficials interested in abtaining federal Community Development funds for their communities will be held in Traverse City Dec. 3.

The workshap is being sponsored by the Narthwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission, and is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. at the Governmental Employees Credit Union, 120 Beaumont Street.

Northwest Region reports that some $5.6 million in Block Grant funds are reserved for non-metropalitan areas of Michigan under the Community Develapment program, administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Develapment (HUD).

Last year, $5.3 million was available but no monies were received hy Charlevoix area cammunities. Cadillac received $300,000; Capemish received $100,000; and Kaleva received $80,000.

The funds are available under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, for use in community development projects which will be of benefit to law-income members of society and minarity graups.

The money may be used in a variety af ways, including neighborhood improvements, water and sewage facilities, and housing rehabilitation, among others, providing they meet low-incame and monority group benefit guidelines.

Information on the program or the workshop may be obtained by calling the northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Develapment Commission, 946-5922.

Campaigns Run on Low Budgets, Except Sheriff

By PEG OHLE

Election cumpaigns for people running far office in Chorlevaix County last month wero fairly inexpensive except for the candidotes for Sheriff.

Statements filed with the Charlevoix County Clerk show that successful candidate Gearge T. Lasater spent $806 un his campaign while his opponent, incumbent Phila Sumner, and the Re-Elect Phil Sumner committee spent $1,498.

Lasater reported that he received $790 in contributions from 30 different people. Those whose cantributions which were $50 or more are listed os:

Terry Toomey, Boyne City, $100; Joseph Etienne, Charlevoix, $50; Guy Conkle, Walloon Lake, $75; Horvey Varnum, Bayne City, $75; Jewell Gillespie, St. James, $100; and Robert Christensen, East Jordan, $50; anonymaus danor, $100.

Lasater's statement also shows that he borrowed $200 for campaign expenses.

Sumner reported that he received $1,328 in contributions from 64 different people. Those contributions which were $50 ar more are listed as:

Frank Mayer, Charlevoix, $50; J. T. Barnes, Charlevoix, $50; George Baldwin, Charlevoix, $50; Town House Bar, Charlevoix, $50; Wojan Aluminum, Charlevoix, $50; Darlene Erickson, Monterey, Calif., $50; Leray Sumner, Petoskey, $100; Chester Nieupski, Ironton, $50; James McCallum, Charlevoix, $60; and Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix, $50.

Graver C. Geneit, incumbent candidate for Register of Deeds, reported he spent $109 of his own money. His opponent, Matthew Waldner of Boyne City, had not filed a statement as of November 26, althaugh by law it was due November 22.

Clarence Rabach, incumbent candidate for County Clerk, reported he spent $61 of his own money. His opponent, Lois M. Wasoski, reported expenditures of $277. She received $75 from the Charlevalx County Democratic Party and $150 from the Traverse City CAP Council.

Clayton Healey reported he spent $41 in his successful race for County Drain Commissioner but received na contributions. In the same race, David A. Nachazel reported no expenses or contributions. Incumbent Ranald Geer, who ron for the office as a sticker candidate, had not filed a statement as of November 26.

The unopposed incumbents, Anah Potter, Treasurer; Mary Feindt, Surveyor; Roy Hayes, Prosecuting Attorney; and David W. Fersbee, District Court Judge, all listed no expenses and no contributions.

County Commissioners

Meggison, District 13, who ran unopposed, no expenses. Incumbent Oscar W. Ward, District 14, $80.19, in expenses, no contributions. His opponent, Marianne Thomure, reported $60.15 in expenses, no contributions. 1. Lee Moerland, aisa an incumbent, representing District 15, ran unopposed and reported no expenses or contributions.

Moerland and County Commissioner Martin L. Paul of Boyne City headed a committee to collect funds from Commissioners and County employees for the "Yes A and No B" proposition

Clyde Cunninghom, incumbent fram District 2 (Marion, Norwood, Peaine and St. Jomes Townships) ran unopposed and his statement indicated no expenses and no contributions.

John Haggard, who ran successfully for office from District 3 (Charlevoix and Hayes Townships) reported expenditures of $75.60 but no contributions. His opponent, Leroy Haertter, had not filed a statement as of November 26.

Caunty Commissioners from the City of Charlevoix fded statements as follows: Incumbent Donald B campaign. They reported receipts of $127.40.

Township Offices

There were no contests for tawnship offices in Charlevoix, Marlon, Norwood, Peaine or St. James Townships. The only candidates reporting campaign expenditures were Bertha Parsons, running for Norwood Township Clerk and Donald Smith, running for Charlevoix Township Trustee. Mrs. Parsons became a candidate after the August primary and spent $18.26 for an ad announcing her candidacy and for stickers. Smith listed expenditures of $82 for "party refreshments."

It Cost County $13,500 To Hold Recent Election

General Election years are costly ones for the county.

The Charlevoix County Clerk's records show that county expenses for the three elections held this year amounted to $13,585.30.

The May Presidential Preference Primarily cost $2,053.95; the August Primary, $5,186.30; and the November General Election, $6,345.05.

These figures do not include the expenses incurred by the varions townships and cities far the wages of election inspectors, casts of ballots for local propositians, and other miscellaneous expenses.

Ski Season Off to Super Start in Charlevoix

Bayne Mountain and Boyne Highlands Ski areas both opened Thanksgiving Day, as promised, bringing welcome business to Charlevaix and causing visions af dollars tu dance in the heads of lacal motel operators, restauranteurs and merchants.

The Weathervane Terrace reports a full house since Thanksgiving Eve with a busload of skiers from Chicago and smaller groups from points in Ohio.

The Lodge had a handful of ardent skiers from Lexington, Ky., and reports that from Dec. 10 on through February weekends are booked pretty solidly.

A spokesperson for Boyne Mountain and Boyne Highlands says more than 800 skiers worked up Thanksgiving Day appetites an the Mountain with 250 at the Highlands.

"This is twice as many as last year," he said.

Both areas had been making snow for twa weeks prior to the opening.

Both the Weathervane and Lodge expect ta be fully booked for the Christmas Holidays.

Mrs. Maxine Harraid of the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce said, "I'm desperately trying to locate lodging outside the hotels and motels ta meet the demand of people who want ta spend the Christmas Halidays up here.

"Usually that doesn't happen until mid-December," Mrs. Harrold said.

A spokesperson at the Petoskey Holiday Inn, supporting Mrs. Harrold, said that its 149 rooms are booked solidly through the holidays. Similar reports came from the Inn on the Hill and other Petoskey hostelrles. The Bartley Hause and Harbour Inn, in Harbar Springs, and the Walloon Lake Inn Resort—all telephaned in a random check—had similar reports.

Some years ago, the State Chamber of Commerce stated that skiing has had the greatest impact on Michigan's ecanomy since the invention of the automobile.

For one thing it has helped turn the state's tourist industry (now second only in terms of income and employment to the auto industry) into a year-round operation. Na longer do hotels, gas statians and restaurants close down on Labor Day until the following June 1st, as they did until the last two decades.

"For the numbers of dollars spent in the area, the Christmas-New Years week has become as important to the Northwest Michigan economy as the best summer week ever was," says Ray Conley, President of Petoskey's First National Bank and Trust Co.

Louis J. Hollow, President of the First State Bank of Charlevoix amplifies this, saying "to understand what this means in dollars and cents, just figure that each skiers spends conservatively about $50 per day for lodging, gas, ski tow tickets, food and liquor."

Last year more than 300,000 skiers swept the slopes of Bayne Country. If Hollow's rule of thumb is used that means an infusion af $1.5 million to the area.

Something new, and as yet not fully tested is the growing interest in crass country skiing, as opposed to dawnhill or Alpine skiing.

All of the established ski areas have offered facilities in the form of trails and equipment rentals for the past two years. But this year the Harbour Inn in Harbor Springs, for example, is publicizing the cross cauntry skiing potential that exists at its front door, alang the Lake Michigan beach and through the bordering forests.

Likewise, in Traverse City, the Park Place Motor Inn in promoting its 16 room Ranch Rudolph Lodge as a cross country skiing center, located us it is next to the 120,000 acre Fife Lake State Forest.

All in all the tourist officials and resort owners are optimistic, using such adjectives as "crazy" and "fantastic" to describe their prognosis.

"Everybody's aperational and solvent," says Wesley B. Tebeau, President West Michigan Tourist Association. "We're in a good charging position. It all depends on the weather."

THE SLOPES OF Bayne Mountain and Boyne Highlands were covered with skiers from Thanksgiving on during the past weekend.

County Commissioners Set Up Fund To Construct Managers House at Park

By FAN MARTIN

A new manager's hause may soon be built at Whiting Park.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners appraved the transfer af $14,070 from the Parks and Recreation budget ta a fund being set aside for construction of a manager's house during its Tuesday meeting. The commissioners approved the transfer with 13 votes with one member abstaining and one member absent.

The monies being transferred are those in the Parks and Recreation budget for 1976 which would have gane into the general fund at the end of the year without action by the board.

The fund now contains $18,109. By utilizing a portion of its 1977 appropriation, the Parks and Recreation Commission expects to have enough to construction the hause at the park to replace the existing dwelling which is beyond repair.

Earlier, the commission had asked for and received eight bids that ranged fram $22,250 to $36,160. This was done ta determine if the funds would be sufficient to construct the house in the near future.

The Parks and Recreation Commission established its "sinking fund" in 1971.

A second resalution approved by a unanimous vate will establish a Charlevoix County Emergency Preparedness Police Organization; to define the duties and responsibilities of the Emergency Services coordinator and other personnel; to authorize the use of the material resources and manpower of the county in emergency operations; and to prevent, minimize and relieve damage ta people and property resulting from any form of disaster.

The new Charlevoix County Emergency Services division will replace the former Civil Defense pragram. The new state-wide organizatian will include all those services available under Civil Defense plus an expanded format including aid during such natural disasters as snow, sleet and hail storms, floods, rains, farest fires and tornadoes plus land use hazards such as hazardous industries, gas and oil pipelines, airways, railways and seaways nuclear power plants, nuclear attack, air and water pollution.

Mrs. Alice Tunisan, Emergency Services Director, presented copies af the new format to commissioners and reviewed them prlar to the adoptian af the resolutian.

The controversial Charlevoix County Humane Society and its an-going difficulties with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department were discussed at length. A eantract the two groups have been working on for some time was reviewed by Ralph Richardson. Mrs. Carol Judkins of Bayne City and Michael Gibbons represented the Humane Society at the meeting. The contract will be returned following proposed changes for approval by the twa groups.

Robert Stowe, wha resides at Ironton and utilizes the services af the Iranton ferry which transports traffic across the Sauth Arm of Lake Charlevoix, appeared ta make same recammendations regarding the ferry operation. He suggested longer hours to better serve the public and returning the aperation of the ferry to the board of commissioners from the Charlevoix County Boad Commission which currently supplies the manpower from its employees. The operation of the ferry is presently a jaint operation between the two commissions.

The next meeting of the Board of Commissioners has been scheduled for Dec. 8.

MESC Job Placement About Double For This Area During September

September job placements in Northern Michigan by the Michigan Emplayment Security Commission (MESC) were up considerably over the same month last year.

According to figures released by the MESC, the Petoskey office placed 57 people in jobs this past September, compared with 33 during the same period last year. The Traverse City office, which also cavers part of this area, placed 109 people, compared with 57 last year.

Statewide, MESC placed 11,739 Michigan workers in jobs during September, compared with 8,439 a year ago.

The increase is attributed to MESC's campaign to inform state employers about Michigan's largest employment service (called "Job Service") provided by MESC. Ta help the cause along, Governor William G. Milliken sent a personal letter ta 70,000 Michigan employers urging them to hire through Job Service.

Employers with available jobs and people seeking jobs are urged to register with the local MESC office, U.S. 131 South in Petoskey, phone 347-5150.

All Teams Need Support of School District Sports Boosters

The Charlevoix High School Girls Varsity Basketball Team should be commended for its recent efforts in the district tournaments held in Onaway, an official tournament site.

During the final game of the district tournament, held last Tuesday, the Rayders were a tribute to our community. The girls were nervous and tight, and their ballplaying showed it as they ran into trouble against the Boyne City Ramblers, a team they had handily defeated two times before during regular season play.

But, did the team fall apart? No. Those girls fought back with determintion. Determination which is a credit to the coaching and the upbringing they have received.

They played with every ounce of their strength. Even when it looked like they couldn't possibly win, the girls continued to play hard. They played hard and with good sportsmanship all through that fourth quarter and in the last few seconds of the game they managed to come within one point of the supercharged Ramblers.

They never gave up once.

But what was so remarkable about the game, was that the girls did all that without any support from the school district or our community.

Oh, sure a few parents did attend the game. But the students of Charlevoix High School were no where to be found, and neither were the other ardent sports boosters who are often seen at other events involving Rayder teams, or heard complaining about the teams.

The athletic director, the superintendent, the high school principal and assistant principal were not in the crowd either. No cheerleaders were around and no bandsman was in sight.

Yes, Onaway is a long way from home. And during the winter months, there's no telling what the roads might be like after the game. And school officials could be run ragged attending all the sports events and meetings held in the district.

But this was the district tournaments, the final game which determined who would be going to the regional playoffs and who knows where from there.

Perhaps if the support had been there, it would have been just the thing the girls needed to win and go on to the regionals, representing not only Charlevoix but Northern Michigan.

Christmas Spirit Continues to Glow In Charlevoix

The Christmas Season is upon us. Santa Claus has arrived in town and so have the skiers and part of our winter resort business.

From all reports it looks like Charlevoix will be having a good holiday season economically. But, area residents seem to be thinking of more than economics.

Already reports are trickling in about the things Charlevoix residents are doing for others during this special time of the year. Numerous organizations have again contributed to Santa Claus Anonymous to help less fortunate people have a merrier Christmas.

The home extension groups have banded together to hold a Christmas party for the students at the Ironton School and the word is that many more civic groups are planning special celebrations for those people in our city that would have been otherwise forgotten during the coming holiday season.

And our merchants have remembered the Christmas spirit, too. Already Christmas decorations are creeping into store window displays.

But the displays seem different this year, somehow. They are tastefully done reflecting some of the joy and the true spirit of Christmas instead of following Scrooge's attitude of "Bah, Humbug," and running rampant with commercialism.

It is indeed refreshing to see this approach to the Christmas season and it is this feeling that no doubt makes Charlevoix the wonderful and beautiful community it is.

A Fish Tale

EDITOR'S NOTE: The fallowing is a fish tale the Corulerr received in this week's mail. We thought we would share it with all of the fishermen still in the area.

Dear Editor:

Enclosed is a photograph of myself holding a fish I was lucky to catch this summer. (I am the one on the right). According to the Department of Natural Resources it was a state record bowfin.

The fish weighed 10 pounds, 4 ounces. I caught it in the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix while fishing for pike, using a 6 inch chub for bait. The date was August 21. The fish fought for 10 minutes and when it came into the boat, it was so ugly, I went up on the seats. If you can't use the picture please feel free to throw it away. We enjoy your paper.

Thanks for your consideration

Dan Ross

Clockwise

by Bob Clock

Twa of my childhood balloons burst over the holiday weekend and I greatly fear I am approaching either middle age or senility.

The first conviction to topple was a steadfast belief that na one can ever get enough turkey.

The second was a vague, general impression I had that winter is a rather pleasant season and should be enjoyed to the fullest.

But after a 15-pound turkey and the season's first howling snowstorm over the Thanksgiving weekend, I say Bah! Humbug! to both.

But don't get me wrong. The turkey was just fine when the weekend began. It perfumed the whole house deliciously on Thanksgiving Day and my mouth watered every time it stuck its carcass out of the oven to be basted.

Thanksgiving dinner itself was superb, with the big bird holding court over steaming dishes of dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, green beans, squash, rutabaga and cranberry sauce.

Before I went to bed I had a turkey, dressing and cranberry sandwich and didn't sleep a wink.

Friday morning I snuck out anto the back porch and had a turkey wing for breakfast.

I could have taken a turkey sandwich to work for lunch, but Friday is pay day and Judy mercifully allows me to eat out.

Friday night we had a repeat of Thursday's dinner – even down to left over gravy. We heated the dressing and vegetables in different quardanla of our huge, antebellum skillet and although the turkey was cold, the rest of the meat was hot – and still delicious.

Saturday morning I demalished another turkey wing.

Saturday for lunch I tackled a thigh.

Saturday night the kids demanded lasagna as their only alternative to a general strike. They won.

Sunday morning, the second thigh begged for immediate attention. Sunday for lunch, we all had cold turkey sandwiches. I didn't hear anyone raving.

Sunday night we had turkey a la king over hot buttermilk biscuits. The biscuits were a fantastic hit, but I noticed the children just picked at their turkey a la king.

But I swear they had better not give up yet. There is still a large platter of sliced turkey in the refrigerator. And next to it is a plastic bowl filled with chunks of turkey meat.

And when it is gone, I doubt that we will ever again buy another turkey. Why couldn't the Pilgrims have eaten steak?

Winter is another matter and I think the inanity of it all is beginning to get to me.

Thursday night's rain took away all the snow and Friday was a fine, balmy day. Then Friday night something went wrong and by Saturday morning, Charlevoix was swimming in twa inches uf slush. Some people thought it was pretty where it stuck to the trees, but it weighed a ton and almost defied shoveling.

Sunday the blizzard moved in. High winds, blinding snow, very cold temperatures. Needless to say the slush froze, and if you didn't get yaurs shoveled up, it will be there until March.

Up until this year, I have always had a warm spot for winter and have done my share of skiing, skating and ice fishing.

But my values started changing when Jimmy Carter hove on the national scene. Every evening we have been treated to pictures on TV of life in Plains, Ga., a southern Camelot where the trees still have their leaves in late November and Jimmy runs around in his shirtsleeves.

Statistics point to a surge of new residents into the sun-belt states – including 100,000 from Michigan in the past five years — and the migration suddenly makes a lot of sense, what with the high cost of fuel oil and snow tires.

After this weekend's blizzard, I see the wisdom of moving south for the winter and abandoning this inhospitable land to turkey farmers.

Erma Bombeck

We have one child who is misunderstood . . . literally.

From the day he uttered his first word, "Bweaba" (meaning there's a rainbow around my diaper) to present day, no one seems to know what he's talking about.

I don't know why, but I'm the only one in the family who can translate. When he was a toddler, he stood for hours at his father's elbow shouting, "Me no, na, noo, noo" and his father would shrug and say, "What's he want?"

"Well, what do you think he wants?" I'd say irritably.

"He's either telling us the dog hates cold spaghetti, he hates the encyclopedia we bought for him, or he just swallowed his pacifier."

"He is trying to tell you he dropped his cookie down his drawers. I mean, how dense can a father be?"

As he got older, things got worse.

"That kid has to have his mouth fixed," said my husband.

"What now?"

"He just told me he has to know all of his bowels by tomorrow because the teeacher is having an English elimination."

"He's always had trouble with his V's," I said.

"That isn't all he has trouble with. If he goes around talking like that, they're going to put him in a class where he makes recipe holders out of wooden blocks and clothespins all day."

"All he's ever tried to do," I sighed, "is imitate the rest of the family and he doesn't know how to pronounce the words yet."

"I'll say," said his brother. "He told the whole bus the other morning that you were a syndicated Communist."

"And he told a client of mine on the phone the other night that I couldn't come to the phone because I was unapproachable. Really, something has to be done.

"What's the matter with that?" I snapped. "I told him myself one player had a mucilage separation in his shoulder and another was having trouble with his nymph gland and with the quarterback having a sensuous shoulder, we needed all the perversions we could get!"

You should have seen my family sit up and look at me. I guess it's because I don't lose my temper too often.

No Tears for MSU

No, I didn't return to Michigan State University for the 25th reunion of my graduating class and the homecoming game against Minnesota.

In fact, for the first autumn in 29 years, I have not once seen the MSU Spartans play football. I don't even listen on the radio ur check the sports pages to see what the athletes are doing to earn their pay.

Verily, I have become a lousy alumnus. I no longer care what happens every fall Saturday at MSU, the school where once I would bleed green blood whenever Biggie Munn's gridders failed to maim the opposition convincingly enough to be ranked best in the nation.

Once I wished to become wealthy so I could return to MSU one day, in my private jet, and endow the university with concrete tight ends.

Now, I wouldn't blow MSU enough air to inflate the football. I wish I was rich so I could restore the music program at Cass Tech High School. And I never went to Cass Tech and I can't carry a tune.

This heresy has been creeping into my frame for several years. At first I didn't recognize it. I thought I was leaving at halftime because my feet were cold or because I wanted to get off campus before the traffic cops began routing Flint-bound cars through Detroit.

There were even a couple of rainy Saturdays when the tailgate party in the parking garage became so cozy, we never did get into the stadium. But I blamed that upon the evil influence of my companion, a newspaper publisher who puts the cork in the Thermos from the inside.

It didn't seem possible I was losing my enthusiasm for MSU football. Egad, I once refused to sell my $5 ticket to an MSU-Michigan game for $25. And those were the days when I was selling my blood to get beer money. Greater loyalty hath no cheapskate.

But I finally admitted my change of life last season when, week after week, I gave my football tickets to passing strangers rather than drive 75 miles to Spartan Stadium to stand in line 30 minutes to buy a hotdog, only to discover that the line ended at a urinal.

I made my defection public last spring, coinciding with the revelation that MSU had been caught playing more than scale to convince husky young men they should play football rather than the violin. The punishment included a ban on MSU playing in a bowl, or on TV.

There was much wailing that MSU had done a grievous injustice to its alumni, depriving them of great pigskin ecstasy. So it seemed an opportune time to point out that at least one alumnus really didn't give a d—if the Spartans were stripped af their jockstraps and sentenced forever to the library.

Considerable flack and some misunderstanding resulted when I wrote a column insisting it was foul for an entire university to smell like a locker room. I even got my picture in the MSU alumni magazine, along with an article detailing my infidelity.

The article quoted me fairly. In fact, I find it flattering to be pictured as some kind of an anti-jock Quixote, fighting Rose Bowl fever in favor of good grammar.

But such foolishness isn't confined to East Lansing. In past rantings, I perhaps haven't made it clear that I am not tilting at MSU windmills exclusively. The Spartans don't have the franchise on warped priorities. I would have the same pain in the gut if I had graduated from Michigan, Ohio State, Oklahoma or the dozens of other huge universities that measure their prestige by the size of their jockstraps.

And the ultimate blame reaches way beyond the campus. It rests on people who will overflow 100,000-seat stadiums, at $7 per fanny, Saturday after Saturday, but won't approve a tiny tax hike so little kids might learn something more intellectual than mugging.

We're a civilization that is agonized when high school students can't play football, but hardly notices when their class time is cut in half.

And the situation won't improve until more alumni leave before halftime and don't return until an English teacher is more important than the third assistant trainer in charge of pulled groin muscles.

Meet Charlevoix

...Nonie Gallagher

Nonie Gallagher is one of the oldest living residents of St. James on Beaver Island. However, she is spending this winter in Charlevoix with Bob and Fran Hooper. This week she agreed to discuss the island and her 96 years of life with the Courier.

COURIER: Are you a true Beaver Islander?

MRS. GALLAGHER: I was born on Beaver Island, christened on Beaver Island, had my first communion on Beaver Island, confirmed on Beaver Island and married on Beaver Island.–and all in the same church. I did move off of the island to live and work in Chicago for 30 years.

COURIER: What was your first Christmas like on Beaver Island?

MRS. GALLAGHER: The first Christmas I remember I was about two or three years old. I remember looking up at the stove pipe and seeing a stocking hanging there full of cookies, candy, cupcakes and a doughnut. That was when everybody had wood stoves and the stockings were hung on the pipes.

COURIER: What else do you remember from your first Christmas?

MRS. GALLAGHER: You probably never heard of this, but we had candles all over the Christmas tree instead of the electric lights. And the tree was decorated with cranberries and popcorn and ornaments made out of colored paper. We also hung cotton balls all over the tree to make it look like snowballs all over. And sometimes we cut out hearts and put pictures on them to hang on the tree.

COURIER: Where did you get your Christmas tree?

MRS. GALLAGHER: We got our tree in the woods. Most of the island is Christmas trees.

COURIER: What else did you get as Christmas presents?

MRS. GALLAGHER: Our presents in those days were stockings, mittens and scarves. Sometimes we would get stick candy and with it would come beautiful rings that the little girls wore. I had one for every finger. Also raisins were a big treat and maybe we would get an orange. Girls got dolls and some of them had china heads with black hair. The boys would get skates.

COURIER: Where did you ice skate?

MRS. GALLAGHER: We would skate on Lake Michigan or on the inland lakes. There are six lakes on Beaver Island, you know.

COURIER: How else do people on Beaver Island celebrate Christmas?

MRS. GALLAGHER: They celebrate Christmas just like we do here. They have their parties.

COURIER: What were the parties like when you were a little girl?

MRS. GALLAGHER: Any time we had a party we had to sing or dance a jig or recite poetry. I couldn't sing or dance so I always had to recite.

COURIER: Did you celebrate Christmas at school?

MRS. GALLAGHER: Yes, we would have a play every Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's and Easter.

COURIER: Were you in any of the plays?

MRS. GALLAGHER: Oh, heavens, I was in a couple of plays, but I can't remember what now.

COURIER: What was your school like?

MRS. GALLAGHER: I went to a one-room school that went up to the eighth grade. In the back of the school we hung our coats. In those days we all had to help keep the school clean. The girls would sweep the floors and clean the blackboard and the boys would bring firewood to keep the stove going and they would bring water to drink from the pump. We got our drinking water from a pail and we all used the same dipper. And none of us got hydrophobia either from using the same dipper.

COURIER: What's it like to live on an island?

MRS. GALLAGHER: I don't think it's any different than living here.

COURIER: What do you like best about Beaver Island?

MRS. GALLAGHER: I like the peace and quietness. And you feel so safe there.

Michigan Lottery Pays Over $270,000 To Charlevoix Residents Since Start

Since the Michigan Lottery began in 1972, $273,314 has been paid to winners in Charlevoix County.

The Michigan State Lottery Commission reports this figure, which covers the period through June 30, 1976. Fiscal year amounts, beginning in 1972 are as follows:

1972-1973–$66,675; 1973-1974–$70,750; 1974-1975–$44,023; 1975-1976-$91,874.

The ups and downs in amounts is due not only to the number of tickets sold but to the size of the prizes won by local lottery participants.

The Commission further reports that one of Charlevoix's largest sellers of lottery tickets averaged sales of 472 fifty-cent tickets a week this past October, compared with 661 a week in October, 1975. The Instant Lottery games, which are now over, cut into the sale of fifty-cent tickets throughout the state, but were extremely successful. The same Charlevoix lottery ticket seller sold approximately 6,000 tickets for each Instant Game.

Since it was started, the Michigan Lottery has contributed over $300 million to the state's general fund. Of the 13 states with lottery operations, Michigan leads the various states both in total and per capita sales.

Law Change Cuts Unemployment

People receiving unemployment insurance benefits will now be eligible for a total of 52 weeks of benefits instead of the 65 some have been receiving.

The cut in length of time for which benefits are available is due to a change in federal law which provides for only 13 weeks of Federal Supplemental Benefits (FSB) instead of 26.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission reports that the FSB cut was made because the insured unemployment rate averaged below six percent for 13 consecutive weeks ending October 30, 1976. When the insured unemployment rate is at or above six percent, MESC explains, claimants may collect up to a total of 65 weeks of benefits through existing unemployment programs. When the rate is between five and five and nine-tenths percent, new claimants may collect only up to 52 weeks of benefits.

The new schedule of benefits includes up to 26 weeks of regular benefits, followed by up to 13 weeks of Extended Benefit (EB) payments, followed by up to 13 more weeks of FSB.

3,800 Swine Flu Shots Administered

District 3 Health Department reports that it has administered almost 3,800 Swine Flu shots in Charlevoix County.

Mass innoculations were given to 2,114 people in Charlevoix; 1,215 people in Boyne City; and 1,260 people in East Jordan. In addition 189 Senior Citizens received innoculations at meal sites in Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan.

An undetermined number of shots have also been given by private physicians, to residents at Grandvue Medical Care Facility, and to hospital employees.

There will be another chance for people to receive innoculations in Charlevoix County, but at press time the time and place were not available. However, a clinic is scheduled for North Central Michigan College in Petoskey December 1 from 1:00 to 9:00, and one at John Rodgers Elementary School in Bellaire December 5 from 9:00 to 5:00. Both clinics are open to everybody wanting shots, no matter where they live.

A clinic will also be held from 1 to 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 13 at the Charlevoix County Building.

Sandy Puhl Shares Christmas Decoration Ideas

By PEG OHLE

Sandy Puhl is one Charlevoix woman who doesn't have to do much Christmas shopping!

She and about 14 friends meet once a month year 'round to create all kinds of gift items. They experiment and exchange ideas, so their handicrafts are varied and often one-of-a-kind.

Many of their items will be used as decorations at the bazaar and luncheon to be held at St. Mary's School Sunday, December 5. Others will be sold at the bazaar.

The young women work with styrofoam, bottles, pine cones, wax, wood, fabrics, and many other materials. Their products range from Christmas decorations to dolls to purses to macrame hangers. After the first of the year, the group will undertake some different projects, including glass cutting, block printing, and wood carving.

Sandy is not only handy with her hands, but she has a husband who is both understanding and helpful. Jerry Puhl teaches industrial arts at the Charlevoix Middle School—and he has a basement full of tools and lots of know-how.

We asked Sandy to give us directions for making three of her Christmas decoration-gifts. Here are her "recipes".

Pine Cone Tree

Use a 22-inch styrofoam cone pyramid for a base. Spray it with gold paint. Select small pine cones of different varieties. Twist wire around the flat end of each one, leaving an extended piece of wire about two inches long. (Old wire fish line works well). Secure each cone to the styrofoam pyramid with the extended wire. Completely cover the pyramid. The pine cones may be left their natural color, or they may be sprayed gold or covered with clear lacquer for a shiny effect.

Place tiny bows of red velvet in various places on the pyramid. They also should be secured with wire, longer than that used for the pine cones so the bows will stand out. Instead of red, other colors of bows may be used or small Christmas tree ornaments or nuts may be substituted. If nuts are used, holes must be drilled through them to accommodate the wire.

The flat bottom base is made of plywood or something similar and covered with felt or other fabric. The decorated pyramid is then glued to the base. Sandy suggests that the same color be used for both base and ribbon bows.

Candle

Use a quart milk carton for a mold. Melt paraffin or old candle wax and pour about one inch into carton. Place six-inch high thin commercial candle into wax and surround with crushed ice to top of carton. Then pour more wax until it comes to top of carton and covers ice. Make sure the candle wick extends above the wax. Let stand until wax is well hardened, then peel carton from around it.

Glue the candle on a varnished or painted wood base. To make the glue adhere to the candle and wood, use a thin layer of cotton saturated in glue placed between them. The base may be decorated with ribbons, pine cones, angels, animals, or whatever is desired.

Candy Dishes

These candy dishes are made of "bread dough". Recipe: four cups of flour, one-and-a-half cups of salt, and one-and-three-quarters cups of hot water. Dissolve salt in hot water, work in flour. Roll out to thickness of thick pie crust. Cut into three-quarter-inch strips. Take a custard cup, grease outside (sides and bottom). Lay strips across and lace using water as a joining agent. For the rim, braid two long pieces of dough together and lay around rim. Baste entire outside and rim with a beaten whole egg. Bake about 45 minutes in a 325-degree oven or until it feels hard when tapped.

Take from oven, remove custard cup, and baste inside as above. Put the "dish" back in oven for about 20 minutes. Cool and varnish with two coats of water-proof (spar) varnish. This makes the dish water-proof so it can be wiped clean. Weave colorful ribbon through the lattice-work for decoration.

Bread-in-a-Basket

Use the same recipe for bread dough as above. Cut the strips about one inch wide and lay over a loaf bread pan. Lace and follow all other directions for the candy dishes.

A real loaf of bread is used to place in the basket. Let an unsliced loaf dry in the air for two or three days, or in a 140-degree oven for 24 hours. Cover with three coats of water-proof varnish. The loaf may be decorated with ribbon, fruit, flowers or other materials, using wire to attach them.

Sandy says these dough items are surprisingly durable, although they will break if dropped on a hard surface. She has had a bread-in-a-basket for othree years.

SANDY PUHL poses with the bread and basket she made out of real bread dough for table decorations.

THE DIRECTIONS FOR the pine cone Christmas tree are included in the above story. Sandy is also making a Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus like these pilgrims.

JV Wins

Varsity Loses To Covert Team

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayders launched their 1976-77 court schedule against a visiting Covert Bulldogs Friday night and came out on the short end of the score of 69-61. This marks the team's third year under Coach Dave Moyer.

The Covert team came into the action from an 18-2 season and only one player missing from last year's squad while Charlevoix had an 8-11 overall record.

Charlevoix came through with one less field goals than the Bulldogs who capitalized on their trips to the free throw line to take a 19-13 first period lead. The Rayders outscored the visitors 20-17 in the second quarter to cut the Bulldog lead to 36-33 at halftime after Charlevoix had poured in nine field goals.

As the second half got underway, Covert outscored the Rayders 16-15 to take a four-point 52-48 lead going into the final period.

The last eight minutes saw a mad scramble for the ball, resulting in personal fouls that sent both teams to the free throw line. At the final horn, the visitors had outscored the Rayders 17-13 for the win.

Charlevoix had a total of 24 field goals and 50 percent of the free throw attempts or 13 of 26 while collecting 18 personal fouls.

Covert had 27 field goals, 15 of 24 free throw attempts and 20 personal fouls.

Matt Doan and Bud Klooster shared scoring honors with 13 points each; Pat Schaefer, nine; Brian Williams and Scott Boss, eight each; Dave Tollas and Neil Dziedzic, four each and Kip Cinnamon, two.

Robert Maggard had 22 and Jim DeBoe 14 for Covert.

The Charlevoix JV's, coached by Don Carey, got off to a fast start in their opening game with Covert to post a 57-41 win.

Paced by Pat Schmidt with 19 points, Charlevoix edged to a 13-12 first period margin, increased the lead to 28-22 at halftime and 48-33 as the game went into the final period.

Coach Carey substituted freely throughout the game.

Joining Schmidt in the scoring column were Barney Way with 10 points; Kevin Kratt with nine; Gilbert Noirot, eight; Bob Orust, four; Doug Buday, three and Todd Williams and Rich Russell, two each.

Greg Carrington had 11 for Covert.

Townhouse Pulls Ahead in A Action

By FRAN MARTIN

The A League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League took advantage of the B League's decision to suspend play during the Thanksgiving week by getting two games in on Monday and Wednesday. The A League usually plays only on Thursday.

Both Townhouse and Swanson posted two wins, Way Oil and Kaden's each split a pair and Credit Union and Willett Roofing were each handed two defeats.

On Monday Townhouse dumped Credit Union 75-48; Swanson's bumped Willett Roofing 68-62 and Way Oil edged Kaden's 59-54.

Townhouse led Credit Union 22-17; 40-23 and 52-37 by quarters as Steve Smith and Tim Doan scored 15 points each, Bernie Ward 13, Dave Strawbridge 12 and Stewart Coleman 10. Matt Blair tollied 12, Ron Boss 11 and Tim Elenbaas 10 points for Credit Union.

Swanson's got off to a 19-13 first period lead over Willett Roofing but before the half was over found themselves trailing 33-28 after two quarters and 46-43 after three periods. A red hot final period in which they outscored the Roofers 25-16 gave the Swanson outfit the victory. Dave Swanson contributed 25 points, Kevin Swanson 15 and Randy DeYoung and Doug Winnell 10 each. For the Ellsworth team, Jim Danbert scored 14, Roger Bolhuis 16, Ken Derenzy 13 and John Nachazel 12.

After trailing 11-5 at the quarter, Kaden's knotted the score with Way Oil 25-25 at halftime before the Oilers pulled away for a 43-37 advantage going into the final eight minutes. Larry Potter with 12, Roger Crain with 11 and Ned Henley with 10 paced the victory. Kim Hocquard with 16 and Jim Bauman with 12 led the scoring for Kadens.

Wednesday night's action saw Townhouse edge Willett Roofing 61-56; Swanson's get

Girls Lose to Boyne City Ramblers

The Charlevoix Girls Basketball team bowed out of the Class C District Basketball Tournament at Onaway Tuesday after losing to Boyne City, a team Charlevoix had defeated soundly during the regular season.

It was a close game with Boyne City winning by a one-point margin, 42-41.

Boyne City jumped to a 10-7 first period lead which they never relinquished throughout the game as they held on 23-22 at halftime and stretched their lead to three points, 29-26 going into the final period.

Charlevoix had a total of 14 field goals and 13 of 25 free throw attempts while collecting 21 personal fouls. Boyne City had 16 field goals and 10 of 19 free throw attempts and had 22 personal fouls.

Laurie Gunderson had 15 points and Terry Scott 10 for the Boyne City five. Kathy Sladek paced the game with 17 points followed by Maureen Cudd with 11 for Charlevoix.

The game marked the end of an 10-8 season for Charlevoix.

The Rambler outfit will advance to the regional finals at Houghton.

Obituary

RICHARD NORTON

Funeral services were held Monday at Oscoda for a former resident, Richard Norton, 56, retired U.S. Air Force veteran. Interment was in an Oscoda cemetery.

Mr. Norton died Tuesday, Nov. 23, at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Born in Charlevoix, Mr. Norton had attended Charlevoix school and early in World War II had enlisted in the U.S. Air Force. He retired five years ago and made his home at Oscoda.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; a son, George, both of Oscoda; his mother, Mrs. Rose Norton; a sister, Mrs. Fred Leiling and a brother, Crawford, all of Detroit.

MRS. GLENNE KUHNS

Funeral services for Mrs. Glenne M. Kuhns, 84, mother of Mrs. Archie Himebauch who died Thursday at Little Traverse Hospital where she had been a patient for five weeks, were held at Holy Spirit Church in Menominee Monday. Interment was in Riverside cemetery there.

Born in Menominee April 1, 1892, the former Glenne M. Moreau was married to Vern Kuhns at Boyne City in 1923. Mr. Kuhns died in 1945 and in 1948 she returned to Menominee to live. She came to Charlevoix five months ago to make her home. She was a member of Holy Spirit church there.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Archie (Elizabeth) Himebauch of Charlevoix; six grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two brothers, Harris Moreau of Detroit and Robert Moreau of Rhinelander, Wis., and a sister, Mrs. Gretchen Polk of Pittsfield, Mass.

Victim Release To Determine Hearing Date In Shooting

The release of the complaining witness, William Telfer, Jr., 20, of Berkley, from the Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey will determine the date for the preliminary hearing for Irving W. Bulmann, 38, Detroit Police Sergeant, who is charged with shooting Telfer early the morning of Nov. 23 in the parking lot at the Country House in South Arm township.

This decision was made when Bulmann, charged with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder in the shooting, appeared before District Judge David W. Fershee on November 23. Bulmann is charged with shooting Telfer with a 9 mm. Smith and Weston pistol following an argument that had started earlier in the evening over a bar stool and erupted into a fight in the parking lot.

Bulmann allegedly shot Telfer as Telfer and a friend approached the Bulmann pick-up truck in the parking lot after the bar closed shortly after 2 a.m. Bulmann then stopped a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department vehicle in a nearby used car lot and reported the shooting. He was taken into custody and later released on $1,000 bond.

The bond was reduced to personal recognizance on Nov. 23.

Lutheran Women Present Annual Salad Luncheon

The Guild of Lutheran Women will present its annual Salad Casserole luncheon at the church dining room on Thursday, Dec. 2, Mrs. Harold Sternaman, president of the Guild, has announced.

The luncheon will feature meat balls, a wide choice of salads and a beverage.

Serving will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Henry Soderberg is chairman of the dining room and Mrs. Harold Towsley of the kitchen committee.

The Christmas bazaar and bake sale will open at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Uno Suomela in charge of the bazaar and Mrs. Frank Zedineck the bake sale.

Scholarship Test, Dec. 7

Ther 23rd Annual General Mills Search for Leadership in Family Living gets underway on Tuesday, Dec. 7, at Charlevoix High School when seniors will be able to compete in a $110,000 college scholarship program.

General Mills will use a written knowledge and attitude examination to determine which students across the nation will be eligible for scholarship awards of $500 to $5,000.

Participating seniors will compete in a 50-minute examination prepared and graded by Science Research Associates of Chicago, who are also responsible for all judging and selection of winners. Each local winner will receive a certificate from General Mills and will, together with other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

More than 11 million students have been enrolled in the General Mills Search since its beginning in the 1954-55 school year. With this year's grants, total scholarship awarded will exceed $2.4 million. For the first 22 years, the program was known as the Betty Crocker Search.

Castle Farms Liquor Hearing

A hearing will be held at the Michigan Liquor Control Commission on a complaint filed against Castle Farms Inn, Inc. at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Cheboygan County Building in Cheboygan.

The complaint, filed by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, alleges that dancing was allowed at the establishment without a dance permit.

Castle Farms has a tavern classification license which does not include dancing at the establishment.

76% of Voters Show at Polls

Over 76 percent of the registered voters in Charlevoix County cast ballots November 2, the Board of Canvassers reports.

Records show there are now 12,418 people registered. Of these, 9,441 went to the polls.

Statewide, 72 percent of the registered voters turned out.

past Way Oil 63-58 and Kaden's squeeze past Credit Union 59-56.

Coleman had 29 points and Tim Doan 12 as Townhouse coasted by Willett's 16-11; 31-19 and 43-35 by quarters. Danbert had 19 and Nachazel 11 for the Ellsworth team.

The Swanson-Way Oil bout was a seesaw battle all the way with the score tied 9-9 at the quarter, the Oilers ahead 27-23 at halftime and Swanson's in the lead 45-44 going into the final period. Bruce Meggison came through with 21 points and DeYoung 17 to give Swansons the game. Roger Crain with 23 points and Tim Carey with 10 were top scorers for Way Oil.

Credit Union played its best game of the season as the team held Kaden's to a 12-12 first period tie, to a one-point 27-26 lead at halftime and a three-point 42-39 advantage going into the final period. Keith Fitzpatrick with 17, Keith Hausler and Hocquard with 12 points each paced Kaden's. Blair had 18, Dean Ginther 14 and Dan Edson 10 points for Credit Union.

Belleville Man Satisfactory After Shooting in Norwood

A Belleville man, Jan Paul Hamrick, 22, is in satisfactory condition at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey where he was taken Thursday evening after being accidently shot in the upper left leg. The accident occurred at approximately 10:30 p.m. at a cabin located on Gennett road 200 feet east of US 31 near Norwood.

Hamrick was among a party of five deer hunters staying at a cabin owned by Robert Kilgore of Belleville.

According to Charlevoix County Sheriff's officers and Region X detectives, Hamrick was shot with a 44 magnum revolver which has not been recovered. The bullet was said to have passed through Hamrick's leg and striking Damon Kilgore, 18, also of Belleville in the arm. Kilgore was taken via ambulance to the Charlevoix Area Hospital. The bullet was later removed and Kilgore released to his home.

At the cabin at the time of the accident was the owner, his son, Damon, 18, Jan Paul Hamrick, 22, Larry Allen Hamrick, 23, and Stanley David Pych, 22, all of Belleville.

On Monday, investigating officers had not been able to talk with Hamrick who was first taken to the Charlevoix Area Hospital before being transferred to Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

Rezoning

approved. They also said the rezoning would create a traffic hazard and noise that would affect their living conditions.

Fochtman pointed out that only four parcels in that particular area were zoned residential, the rest were all commercial. He also said he didn't think more noise and a traffic hazard would be created by adding the new lot.

"I don't think new cars parked on that lot will create is going to make any more noise than the six people that live there now and drive their cars in and out," he said.

"And I don't think it will create any more of a traffic jam, in fact it will help me with my parking," he said.

The car dealer also pointed out that 70 feet south of the lot in question he could put in anything he wanted—a gas station or a drive-in restaurant—that would affect the adjoining property owners much more than his proposed change.

In the course of the hearing, the council learned that Mrs. Zipp and Fochtman had some disagreement over who owned an eight-foot strip of land between the car dealership and the parcel at 111 Michigan St.

Both parties claim title to the property and both said they had been paying taxes on it.

Because there was a dispute over the ownership of the parcel, Aldermen Sue Erber, Ray Wood, Ivan Whitley and George Plumm opposed the rezoning, while Aldermen Jeannine Wallace and Joe Morris supported it.

Wood said he was afraid the city would get into another Alice Street situation if the rezoning was approved. Mrs. Erber, Whitley and Plumm urged the parties to settle their differences, and then seek the rezoning.

Administrator

city administrator.

"There are times during the year when your work load is less," Alderman George Plumm said. "During this time we feel you could assist the city administrator with his duties.

"The city administrator's job is getting complex and the administrator will need assistance," he explained.

Mayor Hansen also announced that Judy Przybylski, deputy clerk, had been appointed city clerk during a special council meeting, Nov. 22. The meeting had not been publicly announced.

Mrs. Przybylski will take over the duties of former Clerk Lyle King, who resigned suddenly on Nov. 5.

The new clerk, a native of Charlevoix, has been employed in the city clerk's office for four years, performing the duties of a deputy clerk. She was officially sworn in as deputy clerk by former Clerk Ida Heise in August 1975.

Mrs. Przybylski and her husband Michael have one child, nine-month-old Kelly. Przybylski is employed at Metric Tool.

LET FAITH FILL YOUR HOLIDAY SEASON WITH LOVE

During the long and busy holiday season, crammed with the hustle and bustle of shopping, wrapping, writing cards, decorating, etc., all this feverish activity should add up to a time of spiritual as well as material happiness. However, we sometimes find the dark shadow of an unpleasant incident cast upon an otherwise bright scene. Is there a friend or relative with whom you have quarreled over some trivial matter? Have you hurt someone's feelings with an unkind remark or a slight? There is no better time to heal these wounds and show your spirit of love than during this season in honor of the One who devoted His life to teaching us to love one another. Take the time to learn this at the Church of your choice on Sunday.

"Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."
— I John 4:11

Forget, forgive, for who may say that Christmas day may ever come to host or guest again.
— William Henry Harrison Murray

Counselors Keep Busy as Student Advocates

By PAULA HOLMES

What does a counselor do?

Sometimes it's hard to tell exactly what counselors do, so the Courier talked with Gayle Kaczynski and Charles Bentley, Charlevoix High School counselors, to find out what a typical day in the counseling center is like.

"There is no typical day," Mrs. Kaczynski said with a broad smile. "You never know exactly what's going to happen. We've always got a lot going on.

"You never know who is going to showup at your door," she said. "I've even had the janitor come and talk to me about college applications."

During a single day, the counselors might be involved administering a vocational interest survey to help students start their career planning, the National Merit Scholarship Test for college-bound juniors, or the Michigan Education Assessment test to gauge how Charlevoix students are during academically as compared with students in the rest of the state.

Or they might be explaining the test results.

"After giving these tests I make a point of talking with each about the results," Mrs. Kaczynski said. "We either talk to them in groups or individually to explain what all those strange numbers mean."

If they aren't giving tests, the counselors might be working with seniors on their post high school plans or checking out their credits to make sure they are in shape to graduate. The counselors also talk with students about applying to college and for financial aid or about how to prepare job applications and attended interviews.

Bentley and Mrs. Kaczynski are also involved with helping students schedule their classes for the four years they are at the high school

But mostly the counselors spend their time being student advocates, Bentley said.

"That's the real value of a counselor," Bentley explained. "Even though the teachers and administrators are student oriented, they also have other demands put on them.

"The counselor is the only person who is a student advocate," he continued. "Whose first and foremost responsibility is the student."

Bentley said it was important to realize that high school students, like everyone else, need someone they can talk to.

"Regardless of where we're at, we all need somebody to talk to about our personnal concerns," the counselor said. "Sometimes who has an inclination to listen and to act as a backboard that we can bounce things off of.

"One of the few sources for kids to relate to in an unemotional way is the counselor," Bentley added.

Mrs. Kaczynski explained that the counselors do not pry into a student's home life when they are involved with personal counseling.

"Students come to us about many things—academics, adolescent- type problems dealing with social things and sometimes they come to us about their home life," she said.

"We would hope that as parents run into difficulties with their kids that they would use us to help," Bentley said. "And some parents have found that we can work with them."

Bentley explained that all counseling, with students and with parents, is done in complete confidence.

"All we want to do is help alleviate problems that may develop and act as arbitrators, translators, negotiators or whatever to help grease the lids for clearing the air," he said.

Mrs. Kaczynski urged parents to call them with any questions on the private counseling center line at 547-2811

If the counselors feel they need some outside help dealing with a particular problem, they also draw on many community resources or direct the students or parents to a separate agencies.

"I feel the key to good counseling is to know your own limitations," Bentley said explaining why the department used other agencies.

Mrs. Kaczynski said the two counselors met regularly with teachers, social workers, psychologists and speech therapists from the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

They also make referrals to the mental health clinic, the health department and other area agencies.

Both Bentley and Mrs. Kaczynski also attribute part of the success of their operation to the aid of their appointments secretary Carol Clifford.

"If you have an old battle making appointments, that scares the kids away even before you have a chance," Bentley said.

Both counselors had teaching experiences before coming to Charlevoix three years ago, and both enjoy their new positions.

Mrs. Kaczynski had taught art, but decided to go back for her master's degree in counseling.

"I switched because as a teacher I spent too much time discipling," she said. "I wanted to spend more time with the students on a one-to-one basis.

"In groups, kids can be hard on you," she said. "On a one-to-one basis they can be fun," she said.

Bentley said he was certified as a math teacher, but ended up working in three colleges and getting his master's in counseling before coming to a high school.

Out of Candy!

Make Your Own Stocking Stuffers

Mrs. Hamlin Offers Three Unique Ideas

COCONUT CANDY
(LIKE MOUND BAR)
From: Joyce Hamlin
Boyne City

1/3 cup mashed potatoes, cold

1 T oleo

2 cups 10 x sugar

(mix these three together and add)

2 cups coconut

1 t, vanilla

¼ t, salt

Press into ungreased pan about 1" thick. Melt 2 sqs. chocolate and pour over coconut mixture. Cool until firm. Tastes just like the mound bar. Can omit chocolate. (Great way to use up left over mashed potatoes)

CHRISTMAS LOLLIPOPS
From Joyce Hamlin
Boyne City

18 wooden sticks

¾ cup sugar

¼ cup oleo or butter

½ cup light corn syrup few drops of red food coloring and few drops of lemon or peppermint extract.

Lightly butter baking pan. Arrange sticks on the pan. Combine butter, corn syrup and sugar and heat in a 1 quart sauce pan. Heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat to medium. Continue cooking, stirring frequently to 270 degree on candy thermometer, or (until a few drops separate into threads when dropped into very cold water. Stir in food coloring and extract. Drop mixture over end of each lollipop stick. Let cool.

POPCORN BALLS
From: Joyce Hamlin
Boyne City

1 cup unpopped corn

Melt together on stove until dissolved- ½ cup sugar, ½ cup light Karo Syrup,

Add dash of salt

Add few drops of red or green food coloring.

Pour over popped corn.

With wet hands mold into balls and put into sandwich bags. Will make about 12 - 15 balls.

Liquid Refreshments Liven Up Holidays

INSTANT RUSSIAN TEA
From: Ruth Holmes
Lansing

Makes about one quart of mix. 2 cups Tang (orange), ½ cup Instant Tea, 1 envelope sweetened lemonade mix (package makes one quart), 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ground cloves. Place 2 spoonfuls of the mix in cup, add hot water.

EGGNOG
From: Brenda Maness
Petoskey

This eggnog recipe is made for tea-toatlers in the family.

1 3-¾ ounce package of vanilla instant pudding.

¼ c. milk (cold)

4 egg yolks, slightly beaten

2 t. rum extract

¾ t. vanilla

5-¼ c. milk

4 egg whites

4 T. sugar

1 envelope whipped topping mix

nutmeg

Combine pudding mix with ¼ c. milk, blend in egg yolks. Stir in rum extract, vanilla and 5-¼ c. milk. Beat with a rotary beater for about two minutes or until thoroughly blended.

Beat egg whites in separate bowl until foamy throughout. Add sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until the mixture forms stiff. shiny peaks; fold into the pudding mixture.

Chill for several hours.

Just before serving, prepare whipped topping mix as directed on the package; blend into eggnog. Sprinkle with nutmeg (sometimes a little cinnamon is good too). Makes about eight cups or 16 servings.

ROT CRANBERRY PUNCH

2 tablespoons whole cloves

1 tablespoon whole allspice

12 inches stick cinnamon, broken

¼ cup brown sugar

4 cups water

¼ teaspoon salt

4 cups pineapple juice (canned unsweetened)

2, 1-pound cans (4 cups) jellied cranberry sauce

Few drops red food coloring

Few bits butter

Cinnamon sticks

Tie whole cloves and allspice in small piece of cheesecloth. Combine in a saucepan the spice bag, cinnamon pieces, brown sugar, 1 cup water, and salt. Bring slowly to a boil. Add the pineapple juice and 3 cups of water. Crush the cranberry sauce with a fork and add. Bring to a boil again and simmer for 5 minutes; remove spices.

Add a few drops of red food coloring. Pour into a heated punch bowl. Add a few bits of butter. For trim, float clove studded orange slices; cut in half. Serve in mugs with cinnamon sticks as stirrers. Makes about 10 to 12 cups.

Mrs. Geiken Offers Two Special Recipes For Christmas Cakes

HARVEY WALLBANGER CAKE
From: Mary M. Geiken
Charlevoix

1 box Duncan Hines Orange Supreme Cake mix

1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding

¼ c. Wesson oil

¼ c. Galliano wine

¼ c. vodka

3/4 c. orange juice

4 eggs

Mix ingredients together in mixer for three minutes, adding eggs one at a time.

Bake in a floured and greased bundt pan (or tube pan) at 350 d. for 35 minutes. Cool for 15 minutes on cake rack, then remove from the pan. Puncture top of cake deeply with a fork, drizzle glaze over top.

Glaze

1 c. sugar

2 tsp. Galliano wine

2 tsp. vodka

¼ c. orange juice

Mix ingredients and beat until sugar melts.

Additional powdered sugar may be sprinkled lightly over top of glaze, agter covering cake.

GRANDMOTHER'S EGGLESS APPLESAUCE CAKE
From: Mary M. Geiken
Charlevoix

2 c. brown sugar

1 c. shortening (lard)

2 c. unsweetened, thick applesauce

4 level tsp. soda

1 c. raisins, or candied fruit

1 heaping tsp. cinnamon

1 heaping tsp. nutmeg

Grated rind of 1 lemon

2 tsp. salt

Enough flour to make stiff dough.

Cream sugar and shortening (1 substituted 1 stick margarine and ½ c. Crisco) well, add applesauce, which has been beaten with the soda. Add dry ingredients, which have been sifted together well. (I used 2 1/4 c. flour) With the last 1/4 c. flour mixture, add raisins, or fruit, or nutmeats, if you desire - also lemon rind. This recipe will make 2 medium sized loaves. When thoroughly cooled, wrap well in waxed paper, and store in cool place for the holidays.

Cakes With Fruit In Them Are A Fiedler Favorite

CRANBERRY FESTIVAL CAKE
From: Jane Fiedler
Charlevoix

Cream ½ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, add 1 egg.

Sift: 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt. Add with 3-4 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mrs. Fiedler Suggests Three Cookie Recipes

GUM DROP COOKIES
From Jane Fiedler
Charlevoix

Use familiar drop cookie recipe. Press in center, and fill with gum drop or candied red or green cherries or small nut meat. Sprinkle with colored sugars, or coconut or finely chopped nut meats. Looks pretty.

RAW APPLE COOKIES
From Jane Fiedler
Charlevoix

Cream ½ cup white sugar, ½ cup brown sugar or 1 cup brown sugar with ½ cup soft oleo.

Beat in 1 egg and 1 teas. vanilla.

Sift 2 C flour, ½teas. salt, 1 teas. soda, 1 teas. cinnamon.

Add to first mixture.

Add .1 cup chopped raw apple and ¼ cup fruit juice or milk.

Drop by Tablespoons on oiled baking sheet. Bake 11 or 13 minutes in hot oven, 400 degrees. May soften 2 T. raisins by boiling a few minutes. Using the juice. May add few nut meats.

An apple cake may be used from the same recipe. Bake in a loaf pan at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. No frosting is needed. The apples make enough wetting.

This is a recipe for a soft dough sugar cookie like my great-grandmother used to make.

2 c. sugar
1 c. butter
3 eggs
1 t. salt
1 c. sour milk
4 c. flour
1 t. nutmeg
1 t. vanilla
1 t. soda
1 heaping t. of baking soda

Mix well, creaming butter and sugar first, then add ingredients in order of list. Roll out on a well-floured board. Sprinkled with sugar after cut out and bake at 400 degrees for about 7 to 8 minutes. (Time for baking varies with oven).

Walker Miles Recipe Repeated Because of Popular Demand

WALKER MILES
CHRISTMAS COOKIES
From: Walker Miles
Charlevoix

Editor's Note: There was lots of demand for a repeat of this recipe which appeared in last year's Christmas section.

On my last call at the Courier office, it was mentioned that I should give you and the public, my recipe for making cookies. It is the most simple and yet, versatile, of any I have tried as it is actually made up of the best of hundreds of recipes.

First is the BASE;

1 C shortening (I use margarine and let it soften at room temp.)
1 C white sugar
1 C brown sugar
2 eggs
2 C flour
1 t soda
½ t baking powder
½ t salt
1 t flavoring (any you like best)

Heat oven at 375. Place the above in the mixer and beat at low and medium speeds until thoroughly combined (this is so the flour won't fly) and I use a rubber spatula to keep the mixture to the center of the mixer. Then for a couple minutes I mix it at high speed.

After the above is smooth, I take the bowl to the table and fold in the remaining ingredients, which may, as follows;

1 C chopped nuts. (Any type you may have on hand, or prefer) (or coconut)

4 C any dry cereal (Rice Krispies, Cheerios, Corn Flakes, Wheaties, Instant Oats, etc.)

From ½ to 1 C of Peanut butter may be added to the first mix, if desired.

The base, is the important part. All the rest is to suit your personal taste.

Drop on ungrensed sheets, by rounded teaspoonfuls 2" apart and bake 10-12 minutes, or until browned to your taste. Take from oven, let stand 3-5 minutes before removing from sheet.

Many of the good cooks in Charlevoix will probably want to shoot me for telling you all this, as part of the recipe they use may appear above, and I give them the credit, they gave me the idea.

Sugar Cutouts Make Tasty Chrismas Treats, Too

SUGAR CUTOUTS

Mix thoroughly:
½ c. oleo
¼ c. chortening
½ c. brown sugar
½ c. white sugar
2 eggs
½ t. vanilla
½ t. lemon
Stir in:
2½ c. flour (sometimes you may need a little more to reduce stickiness)
¼ c. wheat germ
1 t. baking powder
1 t. salt
1 t. nutmeg

Chill at least 1 hour. Roll out on floured board about ¼" thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Sprinkle with colored sugars or bake plain and frost and decorate later.

You can also replace the vanilla and lemon with ½ t. maple flavoring. Bake 6-8 min. in a 400 degree oven.

Puddings Add a Light Touch to Dessert

JELLO PLUM PUDOING
From: Jane Fiedler

Dissolve two regular packages of berry or cherry Jello in two cups of boiling water. Add one cup of cold water and one cup of fruit juice, like grape, cider or orange or cranberry. Add two tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon almond extract, or vanilla.

When partly set, add fruit: one cup or one half cup of cut-up prunes, or dates or seedless raisins, or figs and 1 cup of nut meats. CHILL. Will keep refrigerated for several days.

Can serve plain, or with whipped cream or whipped topping, or hard sauce, or nutmeg sauce like used with suet pudding.

SUET PUDDING
From: Jane Fiedler

Sift 2½ Cup flour ½ teas. each salt, soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, and allspice.

Add 1 Cup sweet milk and ½ cup molasses. Mix.

Add 1 cup chopped suet, 1 cup raisins, ½ cup currants. Or dates and prunes, if preferred,

Steam 2 hours. Serve Hot.

Nutmeg sauce for suet pudding. Use hot or cold.

Mix two thirds cup sugar, two Tablespoons cornstarch, one eighth teaspoon salt, and ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Stir in two Tablespoons vinegar and two tablespoons water. Gradually add two cups boiling water and one Tablespoon butter, or oleo. Cook a few minutes until slightly thick and clear.

Making Your Own Mixes

Cuts Down on Cooking Costs

MAKE YOUR OWN MIXES
From: Mary M. Geiken
Charlevoix

Save money by making your own mixes.

Homemade Cookie Mix

Sift 2½ c. flour, 1¼ tsp. salt, and 1 tsp. soda.

Stir in 1 c. each granulated and brown sugar.

Cut in 1½ c. shortening until well blended.

Thoroughly stir-in 3½ c. quick-cooking oats.

Measure ½ of mixture into 2 plastic bags; add ½ c. raisins and ½ c. semi-sweet chocolate pieces to each bag. Close bags tightly, first removing air. Bags may be stored at room temperature several weeks. Makes about 10 cups.

To bake cookies: Empty 1 bag into bowl; make hole in center. Drop 1 egg,; / 3 c. milk and ½ tsp. vanilla into hole. Combine well, gradually stirring in dry ingredients. Drop by tsp. few inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake at 350 d., 12 to 15 minutes. Remove to racks to cool. One bag makes about 4½ dozen. (Butter or margarine may be substituted for shortening, but then the mix must be refrigerated, and cannot be mailed)

Pudding Mix

Combine 4 c. nonfat dry milk, 1½ c. each sugar and cornstarch, and 1 tsp. salt. Store in airtight container in cool, dry place.

For vanilla pudding: Stir 2 c. water and 1 c. pudding mix in saucepan over medium heat until thickened. When first bubble "plops", pudding is done. Remove from heat; stir in 1 tsp. vanilla. Pour into serving dishes; let stand 10 to 15 minutes before serving, or refrigerate. Makes 4 servings.

For Chocolate pudding: add 1 oz. unsweetened chocolate (or more to taste) to mixture while cooking and let melt. Proceed as for vanilla pudding.

Quick Coating Mix

Combine 3/4 c. fine dry bread crumbs, ½ c. flour, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. poultry seasoning, ¼ tsp. pepper, and 1/8 tsp. garlic powder. Cut 2 Tblsp. shortening in until mixture again resembles fine crumbs. Store in airtight container in cool, dry place. This is an excellent coating for baked chicken.

Apple Recipe Spices Up Meat

SPICED APPLE SECTIONS
From: Ruth Holmes

An old-fashioned tasting relish or garnish for sausage, pork, ham or poultry. Try it in winter salads or in coleslaw.

4 large tart red apples–McIntosh, Jonathan
1 cup sugar
1 cup cider vinegar or ¼ cup water and 3/4 cup vinegar
1 stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole cloves
9 drops red food coloring or more.

Core four apples. Slice each into six sections. Do not pare. Bring one cup each sugar, cider vinegar, one stick cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves to boil, then reduce heat, simmer five minutes. Add apple sections. Cook for three minutes or until tender, but not mushy. Remove from heat. Add nine drops red food coloring. Stir until well mixed. Pack into four ½ pint jars. Seal. Makes four cups.

Fruitcakes--Special Dessert Treats

FROZEN FRUITCAKE

1 ¼ cups wallnuts
1 cup milk
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 T. cornstarch
⅛ t. salt
1 egg, beaten
¼ t. cinnamon
¼ t. allspice
⅛ t. vanilla
1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
¾ cup diced mixed candied fruits
¼ cup quartered candied cherries
¾ cup walnuts
¾ cup whipped cream
½ cup walnuts
Candied cherries for decoration

Chop walnuts medium fine; set aside. Scald milk. Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir into hot milk; cook over moderate heat until thickened stirring constantly. Stir slowly into egg.

Return to very low heat; cook a minute longer, stirring briskly. Remove from heat; stir in spices and vanilla. Cook. stir in wafer crumbs, candied fruits and ¾ cup walnuts. Whip cream and fold in. Turn into 1 quart mold. Freeze until firm. Unmold; sprinkle with remaining ½ cup walnuts. Decorate with candied cherries. Cut into slices to serve. Makes 8 servings.

HOLIDAY FRUIT CAKES

Chop and combine:
2-4 oz. dates
1½ slices candied pineopple
½ pound red candied cherries
½ pound pecans
½ pound citrus fruit

Sift together and over the fruit:
1½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix fruit and dry ingredients, coating each piece. Beat three eggs until frothy, and then add ¾ cup sugar and beat well. Add to the fruit mixture. Sprinkle mixture with cinnamon, allspice, cloves and nutmeg. Stir well.

Pour in loaf pan, (8½ x 4½x 2½), which has been greased and lined with greased brown paper.

Bake 1½ hours ot 275 degrees. Cool ot room temperature. Wrap and store in foil.

FRUITCAKE-ETTES

Prepare batter from a 1-pound 1½-ounce package fruitcake mix and add nuts according to package directions. Place plain paper nut cups, about 1¾ inches in diameter and 1¼ inches deep, on cookie sheet. Spoon botter into cups, filling almost full. Back in slow oven (300 degrees) 40 minutes or 'til done. Cool. For a Christmas glow, use pastery tube to pipe on green confectioners' icing in cluster of holly leaves atop each cupcake; insert tiny red birthday candle in center. Mokes 16.

Note: You can eat these right away, but they'll taste better a few days later.

FRUITCAKE BALLS

Prepare fruitcake batter from your favorite recipe or mix. Fill well-greased custard cups ¾ full. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 1½ hours or till toothpick inserted in cake comes out clean. Cool thoroughly. To make ball: Turn a cake out of its custard cup and invert over a cake still in cup. Wrap each ball tightly with saran wrapping. Tie with ribbon; attach tiny tree ornaments to bow.

PINEAPPLE GLAZE FOR FRUITCAKE

Combine ¼ cup canned unsweetened pineapple juice and ½ cup light corn syrup. Bring quickly to a rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately brush over cooled fruitcakes with pastry brush. Decorate tops of cakes with blanched almonds, candied fruit, or condies. When set, brush on second coat of glaze. (Reheat glaze to boiling each time you use it.) Let glaze dry thoroughly before wrapping or storing cakes. Makes enough to double-coat 6 pounds fruitcake.

FRUITCAKE POINTERS

Cool fruitcake in pan, then turn out. If baked in a foilware pan or a pan that is part of the gift, leave as is and wrap gaily.

Store fruitcake in foil, saran wrapping or airtight container. Keep in a cool place.

Keep fruitcake at least a week before eating–flavors will blend and become mellow. Make fruitcakes for the holidays 3 or 4 weeks ahead. They'll be at their best and you'll avoid Christmas rush.

Chill fruitcake before slicing–it's easier to cut thin, perfect slices.

Choose your favorite recipe, then choose a great new kitchen to cook it in!

Walnut Salad Delicious Dish

WALNUT CHRISTMAS TREE SALAD

From: Jane Fiedler
Charlevoix

Make a favorite green gelatin salad, like lime. Skimp on the liquid. Use cream cheese, or cottage cheese, pineapple, nuts, olives, cherries, grapes, whatever you have or are successful with.

Cool 'till set firmly in a pie shaped pan oiled. Cut into 6 or 8 pie shaped wedges. Place a wedge on a leaf of lettuce. Cut a one inch square of thin cranberry sauce and place for a base at the large end of the wedge. Top with a crisp walnut half, on cranberry. Trim tree with 3 red maraschino cherries. Lay a few strips of something narrow and green between cherries, like celery or jello or green cherries, to give a "tree look".

Could use a few drops of food coloring in the Jello to make it really green, or 3 layers, using 3 colors, green and red on top and bottom, and light in the middle for larger pie.

THREE-LAYER GELATIN SALAD

1st Layer: 1 pkg. Raspberry jello (3 oz. size)
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
1 can whole cranberry sauce
Mix and let set.

2nd Layer: 1 pkg. Orange jello (3 oz. size)
1 cup hot water
1 cup orange juice
1 pkg. (3 oz.) creamed cheese (whipped soft)
f pkg. Dream whip (whipped)

Mix and let set.

3rd Layer:
1 pkg. Lime jello (3 oz. size)
f cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 cup diced celery
f cup white grapes (canned)
Mix and let set.

Use a large bowl, as this serves many.

FESTIVE SALAD

Festive Safad can be made by using your favorite jello and mold in pointed paper cups as holiday tree-salad molds. Fill cups and set in glasses until firm. Cut cup along seam with razor blade and peel from gelatin. Decorate with creamed cheese or mayonnaise.

Bob Clock Likes Black Forest Beans

BLACK FOREST GREEN BEANS

From: Bob Clock
Charlevoix

If you are looking for a tangy, easy-to-prepare green vegetable to go with your Christmas roast, how about "Black Forest Green Beans."

Not only is this tart Germanic dish the perfect compliment to a thick slice of prime rib, but the color is right: green beans with flecks of red bacon and pimiento.

4 strips of bacon, diced
1 large (or 2 small) cans french-cut green beans, drained
f pimiento, cut in strips
½ cup vinegar
1 T. sugar
2 rounded t. corn starch.

Fry the diced bacon in a skillet until crisp.

Dissolve sugar and corn starch in vinegar and add to bacon and drippings. Simmer over low heat until liquid clarifies. Add well drained green beans and pimiento and stir fry until well heated. Serves 4 to 6.

Deck Your Holiday Table With Appetizers

TUNA CHRISTMAS TREE

Deck your holiday table with an array of colorful appetizers. The spectacular is a Tuna Christmas Tree-a nippy combination of cream cheese, tuna, lemon juice, capers, walnuts and spices. A garland of parsley leaves and pimento circles decorate the tree.

2 pkgs. (8 oz. each) cream cheese, at room temperature
3 cans (6½ to 7 oz. ea.) tuna in vegetable oil
4 t. lemon juice
4 t. grated onion
2 T. drained capers
¼ cup finely chopped ripe olives
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
¼ t. salt
⅛ t. pepper
f½ t. dry mustard
½ t. dried leaf thyme parsley leaves pimento cut into tiny circles
pimento star

In large mixing bowl soften cream cheese. Drain tuna very well and mix with cream cheese. Stir in lemon juice, onion, capers, olives, walnuts, salt, pepper, dry mustard and thyme. Mold in the shape of a Christmas tree about 6 inches high and 4 inches in diameter at the base. Chill. Transfer to small serving plate. Decorate with a garland of small parsley leaves inserted into the tuna mixture and add pimento circles as ornaments. Place pimento star on top. Serve with bread rounds, melba toast or plain crackers. Makes 24 appetizer servings.

Holiday Breads Delight the Family

Mrs. McKay Thinks Christmas Bread Is Tops

CHRISTMAS BREAD
From: Jan McKay Charlevoix
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¼ cup butter
1/3 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup milk scalded
½ cup cold water
1 egg
2 cups chopped candied fruit, chopped candid cherries or raisins.
5 to 5½ cups flour

Soften yeast in warm water. In a large mixing bowl, combine butter, sugar, salt, and milk. Add cold water. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in egg, fruit, and yeast. Gradually add flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and satiny, 5 to 7 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning bowl to grease all sides. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled, 1½ to 2 hours.

Divide dough in half. Shape into round loaves and place in greased bread pans. Cover. Let rise again in warm place until doubled, 1 to 1½ hours. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Until golden brown.

While warm spread with vanilla glaze.

1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
1 T. butter
3 T. milk

Combine all ingredients and blend until smooth. Add a little more milk, a few drops at a time, until of spreading consistency.

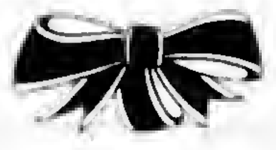
Leftover Turkey Can Be Pretty Good



TURKEY CASSEROLE

Second day turkey dishes can be as delicious in their own way as the holiday bird itself. The right flavor accents and a good cream sauce work the gourmet magic. Thicken the sauce with cornstarch to be sure of smooth consistency.

5 tablespoons margarine
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
½ green pepper, sliced
2 tablespoons Argo cornstarch
½ teasoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 cups cooked cubed turkey
¼ cup sliced olives
2 tablespoosn white wine, optional
½ cup dry bread crumbs.

Melt 3 tablespoons of the margarine in skillet. Add mushrooms and green pepper. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender. Remove from heat and place in a 2-quart casserole. In a saucepan, mix together cornstarch, paprika, pepper and salt. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, comes to a boil and boils 1 minutes. Remove from heat. Add turkey, olives and wine, if desired. Mix well. Pour over vegetables in casserole. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons margarine and mix with bread crumbs. Sprinkle over turkey mixture. Bake at a 400 degree F. oven 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Snow Tire Shortage The Real Thing

By PAULA HOLMES

If you haven't bought your snow tires yet this year, you may be plumb out of luck.

According to Chuck Cole, territory sales manager for Goodyear Rubber Tire Company, snow tires are just not going to be available after the middle of the month.

"If people are going to buy tires, they better do it now," Cole said. "Because there will really be a shortage of tires by the middle of December."

Cole said the snow tire shortage is due to a strike of the employees of the major tire manufacturers last summer.

"The workers were on strike for four months and ten days right during the time when we should have been building snow tires – in the summer," Cole said. "And since they have come back to work, we haven't been able to keep pace with the demand for snow tires."

Cole said the shortage was compounded because even the smaller tire manufacturers did not build snow tires during the summer.

"They were not on strike and they continued to make regular tread tires because they were selling them," Cole said. "The smaller companies didn't get into building snow tires until late in the year."

Cole estimated that most of the snow tires left over from last year will be sold by Dec. 1. After that, people may be able to purchase some newly constructed tires, but the cost will be higher.

"The new prices go into effect with the new tires," Cole said. "The cost is going to be at least 15 pereent more because of the strike settlement.

"And prices will go up again next year because of an escaltor clause in the contract," he continued. "There will be no stability in tire prices.

"There won't be any deals on tires this year like there has been in the past," Cole cautioned. "If no product is available, customers are going to pay more money to get what is available."

The tire salesman said all of the tire companies were currently building snow tires to try and meet the demand frum the drivers in the northern states.

"But the demand is backed up so heavy that of 650,000 tires we have in back order in Michigan alone, only about 20 to 25 pereent of those orders will be produced before the snow season is over," he explained.

"And we're running at the same production rate as we were during World War II," he said.

Cole said the availability of radial snow tires would be especially critical because the same equipment is used to build regular tread radial tires.

"We still owe regular tread tires to car dealers to fill the back orders from when they weren't putting the spare tires in cars," he explained. "And now we're trying to make those tires, many of which were radials, and the snow tires, too."

The tire distributor said the major tire manufacturers were going to the smaller tire manufacturers and buying tires to fill their orders where ever possible.

"You'll probably see several brands of tires at various dealerships that you have never seen there before because of this," he added.

Cole said there may be a shortage of regular tread tires next spring, too, but he estimated that the situation would straighten itself out within the next two years.

16-Year-Old Donald Hufford Killed In Accidental Shooting, Cleaning Gun

Donald Hufford

By FRAN MARTIN

An accidental shooting at the family home near Bay Shore Friday night took the life of Donald Paul Hufford, 16, Charlevoix High School junior, according to Charlevoix County Sheriff's officials.

The accident occurred in the youth's bedroom at the home of his father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Hufford at approximately 5:45 p.m. Friday. Officers theorize the youth was dis-assembling the 20 gauge single shot gun without realizing it was loaded when it discharged, striking him in the left cheek. Gun parts were found where he apparently had been working on the gun. Dr. Robert G. Martin, County Medical Examiner, said death was due to accidental causes.

Funeral services for the youth were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Monday. The Rev. Donald Schorsch of the Assembly of God officiated. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery at Petoskey.

Born in Grand Rapids Sept. 11, 1960, Donald later moved to Kalamazoo where he lived until moving to Charlevoix in 1968. He was a junior at the Charlevoix High School where he played football. He was a member of the William F. Dunston Chapter of DeMolay at Harbor Springs.

He is survived by his father; his mother, Mrs. John Hicks of Cherry Point, N.C.; two sisters, Terri, at home, and Mrs. Allen (Kimela) of Flint; his paternal grandfather, Paul F. Hufford of Petoskey and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crick, also of Petoskey.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory contribute in his name to the William F. Dunston Chapter of DeMolay, att: Erick Blesi, Tres., 452 W. Summit ave., Harbor Springs.

County Wins Suit Against State Offices

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix County is in receipt of a check for $29,698 as a result of a suit initiated by the county in May against the State of Michigan, Michigan Department of Treasury and the Michigan Department of Social Services.

The monies are reimbursement of depreciation costs incurred in the operation of Grandvue Medical Care Facility operated by Charlevoix County. The payment was fur the period of Jan. 1, 1970, through Dec. 31, 1972. Another sum of approximately $4,000 for a six months period from July 1, 1969, through Dec. 31, 1969, was not allowed because of the statute of limitations.

Legislation allowing payment of depreciation on equipment at the facility had been passed several years ago. However, the State Treasury was not allowing payment to the counties which were caring for patients under the Medicare program. It was after Ingham County sued the State and won, that Charlevoix County decided to go this route in an attempt to recoup $33,000. The payment of $29,698 is the result of the suit filed in the Michigan Court of Claims. Charlevoix County Prosecutor Roy C. Hayes represented the county in the case.

Lee Moerland, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, said the refund would be deposited in the restricted fund under the capital improvement fund of the Grandvue Medical Care Facility. He went on to say that it will be utilized for rehabilitation of equipment at the facility and could be kept in the fund, if it is not needed elsewhere, to purchase equipment / furnishings for the addition to the facility. Voters of the county had approved a one mill sinking fund for three years in the recent General Election to underwrite the cost of the residential addition.

Courier, WVOY Carol-In Date Changed to Dec.22

If you were planning to attend the Third Annual Charlevoix Courier-WVOY "Carol-In," please change the date on your calendar.

Due to a conflict with the Charlevoix High School Music Department's annual Christmas Concert, the "Carol-In" will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 22, instead of on Tuesday, Dec. 21, in East Park.

The evening will be highlighted by Christmas carolling and community sharing. Marina LaBlance, Charlevoix Elementary School music teacher, and some of her students will lead the carol singing in the park.

Following the carolling, Santa Claus will arrive to help with the drawing which will determine the winners of a "Tele-match" television game and $30 worth of steaks from Edwards IGA.

To be eligible for the prizes, all you have to do is mail or bring a Christmas card to the Charlevoix Courier, 301 Michigan St., Charlevoix, by 6 p.m. Dec. 22. Winners must be present in order to claim their prize.

Refreshments will follow the festivities and Santa will have candy for the children.

School Board Decides to Try For Bond Issue Approval--Again

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, voted to direct the administration to prepare necessary documents to call a special election for the purpose of considering operating millage and bond issues Monday night.

No price tag on the proposed bond issues, which will be presented to voters separately, are available at this time. Superintendent James McKimmy said he would be meeting shortly with the architects and Construction Planner to work on the details of the proposed programs. The information will be presented at a later meeting.

A 6.5 mill levy for operational purposes will expire this year and will be up lor renewal in 1977. Supt. McKimmy said a tentative budget would also be prepared for presentation prior to bringing the operational millage issue to voters of the school district in a special election.

The building proposals are now being developed for presentation in the election.

In discussing the needs of the schools, Supt. McKimmy reported on a survey made in the community regarding the proposed renovation / addition qograms. The results of the survey will be used in determining the proposed building program.

The increasing cost of utilities is another issue to be considered in planning for future building. Existing buildings were not constructed with the conservation of energy in mind, McKimmy said, but added that this must be a prime concern in planning new buildings. He said he was at a meeting of school planners recently where a Consumers Power Co. official advised that there was be an initial increase of 20 percent in the first years of the decade which would then be reduced to 10 pereent per annum. The net affect of the compounding percentage increases, at this rate, is 400 pereent, the official had advised.

Other items to be considered in planning new construction were discussed briefly and will be incorporated into any future plans.

A citizens committee will be organized in coming weeks for the purpose of informing the public on the necessity to improve and increase school facilities and the merit of the proposed solution to the need for school buildings.

The possible dates for an election were discussed but no decisions made regarding the issue.

A policy for an Employees Service Program and Records was introduced. Employees and board members will study

DON'T BLAME CITY HALL

Do not blame City Hall for the local political cesspool. Instead blame the citizens who are too apathetic to rise up and demand more responsible representation. Insofar as most of the councilmen as well as city clerk and treasurer ran unopposed even a meager vote guaranteed their success. As that left them with no mandate from the voters they became free to serve special financial interests who supported their bid for office.

If the populace here and elsewhere have any desire to retain the freedoms guaranteed in that masterpiece of civilization called the CONSTITUTION with its BILL OF RIGHTS, it will be necessary for righteous men and women to offer to serve out at least one 2-year term–a not unreasonable gift to God and Country, to bring sanity back to government from Charlevoix to Washington.

The Council Room at City Hall is not the place to resolve personal grudges and prejudices. Unless the econimic welfare of the city is their reason for seeking office they have no right to be there. Perhaps the dismissal of the city clerk was justified–that we haven't been told, but the dismissal of the Acting City Manager in August is very much in question and what most concerned citizens believe, totally UNjustified.

The solution to the problem is simple: We need at least a half dozen good citizens who will file for each and every city office at the next election; Candidates who will represent their individual wards rather than the city "at large" as will be the case if the proposed disaster called New Charter ever is allowed to become city law.

According to state law, only a minimum of 35 petition-signers are needed to file for mayor, clerk, and treasurer and only a minimum of 15 to file for councilman. Surely there are a few concerned citizens who will make the encumbents consider their responsibility to the voters and at the least offer a competition that should challenge the city officials to begin serving the voters.

Chamber--Front Door to Charlevoix

By PAULA HOLMES

A businessman comes into town looking for a place to relocate his business. Where can he go for help?

A Detroit-area family is looking for a new and unusual place to vacation in Northern Michigan. Where can they get some information?

A Charlevoix merchant would like to do some extensive advertising, but just doesn't have the funds for it. Where can he get the most for his money?

The answer to all of these questions is the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, according to Jacqueline Merta, executive director of the chamber.

The chamber is involved in all facets of promoting and developing the community, Mrs. Merta explained.

"The Chamber of Commerce is the business community working together for community development," the executive director said, "doing jobs that none of the businesses could do alone."

The idea of having the business community work as a group toward one goal is not a new one. Chambers of commerce have been performing working for community development in the United States for more than 200 years, Mrs. Merta said. The first chamber was formed in this country eight years before the Declaration of Independence was signed, in New York in 1768.

Mrs. Merta said the main and most important function of the chamber is to advertise, promote and make known what Charlevoix's advantages are as compared to other areas in the state.

Chris Bentley

"The chamber is the front door to the image of the city," she explained. "Often we are the first contact that people have with the city.

"I really do think that our most important function is the public relations we do," she said.

"And we have so many things to promote, I get really excited about it," she continued. "In Charlevoix we have three public beaches and one municiple golf course. That's terrific and there aren't many communities around here that can say that.

"But it is up to us to make known what we have here," she said.

Some of the things the chamber does to make Charlevoix known include scheduling special events for the town such as the Venetian Festival, the Waterfront Art Fair and Mardi Gras.

"Everyone knows Holland for the Tulip Festival," Mrs. Merta said. "I want Charlevoix to be known for the Venetian Festival.

"You know last year more than $57 million was expended by tourists in this county," she pointed out. "Tourism is a big business."

The chamber director said that statistics show that for every $1 spent directly as a result of tourism results in 78 cents are spent indirectly.

In addition to organizing the special events, the chamber also sends a calendar of events and brochures about the city to the Western Michigan Tourist Association, AAA (Automobile Association of America) and to more than 100 newspapers and radios throughout the state and to more than 50 other chambers of commerce.

"We also make sure that brochures and calendars get sent to the various ski shows, too, so that people will hear about us," Mrs Merta said.

In addition, the chamber keeps busy replying to written and telephoned requests for information on a daily basis. And in the summer the requests increase from a tickle to a deluge, Mrs. Merta said.

"It's important for us to keep up with the correspondence, too," she said. "I have had people tell me that they picked Charlevoix for their vacation because of the completeness and promptness of answers to their letters."

The chamber maintains directories, maps, lists of clubs and churches, surveys, travel information and many other things for interested people.

"I even keep lists of babysitters and yard workers," Mrs. Merta said. "We often get requests for them."

In addition to all of the public relations work done by the chamber and its members, the organization also has various committees working to improve the city. One of these committees, the retail Merchants Committee, was just recently formed.

"This committee will be working as a group to organize specific promotions for Charlevoix," the chamber director explained. "They will also work on setting hours and themes for promotions."

Another committee, the Industrial Committee, looks into the type of zoning available in the community for the development of more industry in the area.

"It never gets boring here," Mrs. Merta joked. "We always have a lot going on."

But being busy is a good sign for a chamber, she added.

"Some people say that tourists and business would still come to Charlevoix if the chamber wasn't here," she began. "And probably that's true–for the first few years.

"But if you become lethargic or complacent about making your community known, it will catch up with you," she said.

City Receives Approval For Recreation Grant Funds

By PAULA HOLMES

It looks like Charlevoix will have a new ice and hockey rink and a multipurpose building in the Mt. McSauba Recreation Area by next winter.

The common council and Recreation Director Dwight Boss, recently received notification from the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission that the city's preliminary application for funding assistance on the recreation project had been approved.

"I'm filling out the final application for the funding right now," Boss said during a telephone interview. "It's just a matter of produce now before we get the funds–I hope."

Boss said in addition to the construction of the new ice and hockey rinks and the multipurpose building, which will be used to house the summer daycamp activities and winter hockey and skating activities, the $17,500 grant would also probably pay for the construction of a road between Mt. McSauba Road and Pleasant Street.

Originally, the council had applied for a $50,000 grant which would have also included the construction of a road down to the beach and the expansion of the ski area.

"We'll just have to wait for that," Boss said.

The recreation director said the grant from the U.S. Department of Interior's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation must be matched with local funds. However, the matching funds can be in the form of labor.

"We're using donated labor as our matching funds for the grant," Boss said. "And we're hoping that the grant monies can be used to purchase the materials needed for the multipurpose building.

"The city crews can be counted as matching funds when they work on the project, too," Boss said. "I don't think we'll have any trouble finding the people to work on the building."

Charlevoix was one of nine communities in Northern Michigan to receive preliminary approval of its application for recreation funds. The amount of money available to local governments for recreation projects is about double what it has been in the past because the Department of Natural Resources has been unable to raise any matching funds due to the state's budget problems. Ordinarily, the DNR has retained about half of the funds for the state for its projects.

Hearings on Single Business Tax Scheduled for Tuesday in Gaylord

A hearing on the Single Business Tax has been slated for 1 to 5 p.m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, at the Holiday Inn in Gaylord.

The Governor's Single Business Tax Advisory Task Force, which has been investigating the problems facing businessmen because of the new tax, will conduct the public hearing. Four other hearings will also be held next week in other locations across the state.

The advisory committee has been collecting suggestions from businessmen across the state about ways to change the current single business tax to make it more equitable. The hearings are being held to present some possible suggestions for revising the bill and to solicit more suggestions from businessmen.

In the meantime, a bill sponsored by State Rep. E. Dan Stevens, R-Atlanta, and Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, which would amend the controversial business tax, passed the House of Representatives on Friday.

The Stevens-Gast measure simplifies the filing procedure for some businesses, creates a safe harbor for businesses whose tax liability is less than $10,000, closes a loophole that costs the state $40 million a year, and exempts from taxation nonprofit, co-op housing.

A bill was also reported from the Senate Taxation Committee last week which offers small businesses an alternative to the single business tax.

Under the bill, small businesses would be exempt from taxation on the first $15,000 in net profits. Businesses could elect to pay the single business tax or a flat 5 percent rate on profits up to $40,000.

The single business tax was passed last year and replaced seven separate business taxes with a flat 2.35 percent levy on profits, payrolls, interest and depreciation.

Revenue Sharing Funds Hit New High

By PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County and the various units of government within the county are expected to receive approximately $540,000 in 1977 as their share of the $25.6 billion worth of revenue sharing money recently appropriated by Congress.

Data released by the Treasury Department shows that some $273 million will go to the State of Michigan, and assuming an even distribution within the state along population lines, Charlevoix County's share will be $540,000.

Revenue sharing appropriations will continue on the same basis in 1978 and 1979, and up to September 30, 1980, carrying through right up to the next Presidential election.

The $25.6 billion payout represents a new high in revenue sharing. It is $150 million more per year than at the present time.

During 1976, Charlevoix County received $233,434 in revenue sharing funds and the City of Charlevoix received $62,890 for government operating purposes. In addition, Boyne City and East Jordan received their share of funds, as did all the townships in the county.

The extent to which the states and local units of government will share in the new appropriation varies considerably since the funds have been allotted according to income and relative need.

As a result, the range is from a low of $24.43 per capita in Florida to a high of $42.86 in Mississippi. The national average is $31.49. In Charlevoix County it is $29.82 per capita.

Up to the present time, revenue sharing funds could be used by the units of government only for specific kinds of public programs. Beginning January, however, all such limitations will be off and the money may go for any civic purpose desired. The only restriction is that there be no discrimination because of race, religion, sex, age, or national origin.

Public Work Funds Help County

Special federal funds may be used to cover where CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) funds run short in Charlevoix County.

The county recently received $41,668 in countercyclical - anti - recession funds made available under the federal Public Works Act, passed last October.

I. Lee Moerland, chairman of the County Finance Commission, said he wasn't sure exactly how the funds would be spent.

"We're not going to do anything with the money for a little while," Moerland said.

"We won't be deciding for a couple of months.

"I think we will find that we're going to come up short on some of our CETA funds," Moerland continued. "If that happens then we may use some of the money to continue that program."

Moerland said the decision on how to use the Public Works Funds can't be made until they see how the CETA funding works out.

The amount of the Public Works check is based on a formula which follows the revenue sharing funds allocation plan plus looking at the local unemployment factor.

Counties qualifying for the funds will receive five quarterly checks.

Congratulates Officials On Selection of New City Administrator

The mayor and common council are to be congratulated on their long-awaited selection of a Charlevoix City Administrator.

After three years of waiting, several months of study, and perhaps a little foot-dragging on the part of our elected city officials, a permanent administrator has been hired to run the City of Charlevoix.

We are looking forward to the return of some stability and continuity to the operation of city government – and city business.

At best the mayor and aldermen can only be part-time officials. It is difficult to run a $3 million business on a part-time basis without the aid of an able and efficient manager who can help tie loose ends together, and who can keep track of the progress of various city projects and the people who have been contracted to do them.

Too many times we have heard one thing from the mayor about the progress of a certain project and another thing about the progress from the person actually doing the work. Now, the permanent city administrator will be able to keep track of these items on a full-time basis, and he can make sure the work is getting down on a full-time basis, too.

But the hiring of a permanent city administrator is important for another reason, too. Now we have someone who can get involved with helping the mayor and aldermen actively plan for the future of Charlevoix. We are living in an age when the direction of the city's future can not be left to chance.

A permanent administrator can relieve the mayor and aldermen of some of the day-to-day details of running the city, that they seem to have become involved with, and free them up to develop a plan for the city's growth and also give them time to actively pursue the plan.

The administrator can also help the city officials keep up with current activities of other communities and he can draw on his experiences as manager of two other towns to help improve operations here.

We urge all elected officials, all city employees and indeed all residents of Charlevoix to give their support to the new city administrator, to aid him while he is learning the ropes of his new job, and to help him feel at home in the community.

His arrival may be a part of the fresh breath of air needed to revitalize Charlevoix.

City Lucky to Have Employees Like Pease

The City of Charlevoix is lucky indeed to have employees like Chuck Pease.

Pease has just ended a three-month stint as acting city administrator. And as the common council told him recently, he did a great job pinch hitting for the city while its elected officials searched for a permanent replacement.

Even with only a few years experience in city operations, Pease handily stepped in and helped keep the city going. He was even willing to stick his neck out for what he felt was right and point out irregularities in city operations to the council and mayor.

We heartily urge the council to act soon on the proposal, mentioned by Alderman George Plumm, to make Pease assistant to the city manager as well as city assessor. He has shown the city officials that he is a hard worker and that he has an understanding of the complexities of city operations.

As assessor he also has a great knowledge of the city, itself and what is located in it and areas that might be improved or developed. This knowledge can be of great help to the city administrator.

And as Pease gains more experience, he will make a valuable back-up man for the new city administrator when he has to be out of town on city business or when he is on vacation. This will lead to a more stable operation of the city.

Warns on Hour Change

Commander Ninth Coast Guard District
1240 East Ninth Street
Cleveland, Ohio 44199

SUBJECT: U.S. 31 Highway Bridge over Pine River Channel, Charlevoix, Michigan
(East Shore, Lake Michigan)
Gentlemen:

A recent article in the Charlevoix Courier indicates that the City of Charlevoix plans to discontinue certain bridge openings next summer, with the ones of specific concern to us being the 12:00 noon und the 1:00 p.m. openings. The Board of Directors have instructed me to ask that you thoroughly investigate the possible effects of such a change before taking any formal action thereon.

Those two particular openings are used by the charter boat operators in their half-day fishing programs. This means, in effect, since the bridge opens for charter boats regardless of hours, that the bridge will open when a charter boat is present, but for a pleasure boat, will not. The 1:00 opening is perhaps the most heavily used during the entire day, as those of us who are fortunate enough to have an afternoon off simply are not normally able to make the 12:30 opening. The great many others have pointed out that they have used the 12:00 opening when inbound from a morning of fishing or boating.

We understand the city's concern with the lunchtime traffic and wonder if some other method of bridge regulation would solve the problem for both parties. I have spent considerable time in the Fort Lauderdale area and felt that the 15 minute elapse time rule used at that bridge had a lot of advantages over the fixed schedule basis. We certainly would appreciate your comments and also your suggestion as to how we could best input our feelings on behalf of the yachtsmen of the area.

Sincerely,
J.T. Barnes

Let There Be Light

It is a fine idea to reserve sections of restaurants for people who do not smoke. Another good idea would be to designate special areas for people who do not want to eat in the dark.

During my first week as a downtown Detroit resident, my wife left me. It was not another urban problem. She had to go sit up with a sick grandson. My wife can hear her grandchildren sneeze 300 miles away, and she resents anyone who beats her to the scene with a Kleenex.

Anyway, I can prepare my own meals, as long as I want to eat peanut butter sandwiches. After a couple of days, the entire apartment was sticking to the roof of my mouth. So I forced myself to eat in some restaurants.

It's not that I don't like to eat out. I love it. But not when I'm alone. I want someone at the table with me. Preferably my wife, but almost any warm body will do in an emergency.

Good conversation makes a good dinner better, I suppose. But I will not try to kid you. Conversation isn't what I want mostly from a dinner companion. My insecurity goes deeper than that.

What I want most is simply someone to share my table, so the rest of the people in the restaurant won't feel sorry for me.

I can't stand the pity of chewing strangers. Why is that, doctor?

When I am dining alone in a crowded restaurant, the first thing I notice is that I am the only lone diner. Every other table contains couples, or quadruples, or Rotary clubs. All of these people are having a grand time, laughing and talking loudly.

Except every once in a while, singularly or in unison, these tables full of people grow quiet. This is when they are looking at me, and wondering why I don't have any friends.

I can always imagine what they are thinking. They are thinking that my wife threw me out of the house, but I still must make the mortgage payments, and the YMCA caught me cooking in my room.

Or they are thinking I am a traveling salesman, written by Arthur Miller, who no longer knows the territory and who has become crazed from sitting on curbs because motels don't have lobbies.

Whatever they are thinking, it isn't true and it isn't fair. In the worst way, I want them to know I am eating alone because all my friends were killed in an international cataclysm, or simply because I like to eat alone and, despite invitations from Joe Namath and Truman Capote, I have to be me.

But I am too shy to talk to strangers. So I simply sit there and bear their stares and whispers and the paramount question becomes, where do I look? Especially, where do I look until the waiter brings some food to study?

A lonely diner can spend only so much time investigating ice cubes and expressing sincere concern for the silverware. There comes a time when my gaze must wander around the crowded room.

And I always lock eyes with a retired policeman who knows I am eating alone because I molest children. Naturally, I forgot to take off my raincoat.

There is only one way I feel halfway comfortable while eating alone in a restaurant I must read a newspaper or a book. The printed page furnishes acceptable refuge from the glances of a prying, pitying world.

Which brings us back to the opening paragraph wherein I suggested restaurants should have special sections for diners who do not want to eat in the shadow of a smile.

During my bachelor week, I patronized some of downtown Detroit's nicest restaurants, such as Schweizer's. I also munched in less genteel locations, such as the Anchor Bar. Always I sought the brightest table. Never did I find one with light enough to read by. And my eyesight is at least as normal as my phobias.

Not everyone goes into a restaurant to play kneczies, or to lurk. There should be well-illuminated areas for lonely, guilt-ridden men who like to eat behind sports pages. Just like breakfast at home.

A newspaper can even come in handy when you can't read it. In one murky restaurant, I faked it. I couldn't see the paper but I kept looking at it anyway, so I wouldn't have to look at the people.

But then I noticed silences falling over the crowded tables around me. And I knew they were thinking I was a phony, pretending to read, when in reality I was simply afraid to unduck my head and face the public scrutiny which might uncover the evil secrets in my mind, or in my room at the YMCA.

So I improved my disguise. I moved my lips.

Onward and Upward.

If nothing else, the case of Utah's Gary Gilmore has underscored a growing concern in this corner that America's judicial system is in a shambles. In a world of rapid social changes, the old values that once were the underpinning of our courts and correctional institutions have lost their validity.

Furthermore, the drama of the Gilmore case not only has made a folk hero of a double murderer but it also has pointed out that our laws are weak and difficult to support, particularly in the face of gross inconsistencies from state to state.

Complicating the problem are judges who not only are unsure of themselves but also of the laws they are called upon to enforce.

And Gary Gilmore is the worst thing that could have happened to the United States in the mid-1970's, a time when our cities are steeped in the gore of the worst crime wave the nation has ever known.

Despite his bloody hands, Gilmore is an appealing character, with his unruly brown hair and his intense, rather pleasant expression. A well-preserved 35, he doesn't exactly "look" like a killer, whatever killers are supposed to look like.

Adding to Gilmore's appeal is his fiery romance with Nicole Barrett, 20-year-old girl who was allowed to visit him on Death Row after he was sentenced to die by the firing squad. Although Gilmore had known the girl only a month before the killings, the poems he wrote to her in his jail cell and the pencil sketches he drew of her touched the hearts of Americans.

Was this sensitive, talented, well-spoken man really going to face the firing squad? Suddenly Gilmore became more important than the motel clerk and the gas jockey he had dispatched so unceremoniously to the other world.

The American Civil Liberties Union, long the champion of the underdog, raced to his assistance with legal aid and compassion–but Gilmore didn't want either. This big, dumb nut told everyone who would listen that his sentence was perfectly fair in light of his crimes and he insisted that he meet the firing squad post haste like a man.

His repeated demands for death have left America breathless and the courts stunned. If the man really wants to die, is death a satisfactory punishment? Good question. If he fears incarceration more than death, perhaps a life sentence would be more in order.

Is it ever possible to punish a masochist? Another good question without a good answer.

Then Gilmore and his girlfriend played their ace. She apparently smuggled sleeping pills into Death Row in a bizarre suicide pact. Fortunately–or unfortunately–they were discovered the next day, he in his cell and she in her lodgings. They were rushed to hospitals and it was touch-and-go for a couple of days, but both of them pulled out of their near-fatal stupors. Gilmore was returned to prison and Nicole was committed to a mental hospital.

Of course, us hucksters of sensationalism have been giving plenty of news space and air time to the Gary Gilmore story. We would have been remiss in our obligation to our employers to do otherwise because their saga is a classic through and through. Gilmore himself has made arrangements with his publishers to exploit it to the fullest after his death-if he ever dies–and to turn part of the proceeds over to the families of his two victims.

The latest development, as of Friday, is that the U.S. Supreme Court has granted Gilmore a stay of execution at the request of his crippled mother. Gilmore had been scheduled to keep his date with the firing squad Monday morning. What happens next is anybody's guess.

In the meantime, you might want to send a sympathy card to the Supreme Court. How in the world those fellows can ever expect to administer the often contradictory laws of the several states in an impartial manner is beyond me.

What we really need is a uniform judicial code for the entire nation–but those are fighting words.

Erma Bombeck

There was little doubt in my mind that when I ran the column saying the raising of boys speeded up a mother's aging cycle faster than girls, I'd get response.

Oh boy, did I get response.

Here are two letters that render the debate a stand-off.

"After giving birth to three boys, I finally got a girl on my fourth try. At first, she did all the sweet little things I longed to see. She played coy, put her hands to her face when she laughed, and batted her eyes like Miss Congeniality.

"Then she turned 14 months and she struck like Hurricane Stacy. When she discovered she could no longer sail down the bannister and make my hair stand on end, she turned to streaking.

The other challenge came from a woman who said, "You don't know what you're talking about. With boys you always know where you stand. You yell upstairs, 'What's all that thumping about?' and you get an honest reply, 'Joey threw the cat down the clothes chute. It was cool.'

"When my daughter is upstairs playing Barbie, I yell, 'What are you girls doing?' She answers sweetly, 'Nothing.'

"I have to find out for myself that they're making cookies out of my new bath powder and a $12.50 jar of moisturizer.

"Her pediatrician advised me to 'not notice' when she insisted on wearing her favorite outfit for four months. How do you ignore a long dress with a ripped ruffle, holes in the elbow and a Burger King crown? How would you handle it if you were in the supermarket and the loudspeaker announced, 'ATTENTION SHOPPERS. We have a small child in Produce wearing a long pink dress with a gauze apron, glittery shoes and a Burger King crown'? Our third child was born recently. Another girl. I told the orderly to pass maternity and go straight to geriatrics. I rest my case–which is the only rest I've had in six years."

...Edith Balch

Edith Balch has been tending the soda fountain at Williams' Dockside Pharmacy for over 21 years. This week the Courier talks with her about the fountain, the customers, and the daily routine.

COURIER: There aren't very many soda fountains left, are there?

BALCH: No, this is one of the few. We used to have six booths as well as the stools.

COURIER: How old is the soda fountain?

BALCH: I don't know how old this one is but there has been a soda fountain in the drug store for well over 50 years. The original counter was marble, not formica like this one. We used to use all glassware, too, but now because of Health Department rules we use paper liners and plastic containers.

COURIER: Who are your customers this time of year?

BALCH: Regular working people who come in for coffee or coffee and rolls. They start coming at 8:15 and there's a steady stream all morning, people who work in the Court House, doctors' offices, and other places. You can almost tell what time it is by when they get here. You can tell what they'll have, too, and you know what brand of cigarettes they smoke.

COURIER: What about the rest of the day?

BALCH: We have customers who come in to have soup at noon, then there are afternoon coffee customers. We get the kids after school, first the high school kids then the middle school. They usually have cokes and potato chips, and now that it's colder, hot chocolate.

COURIER: What are some of the other popular items from the soda fountain?

BALCH: Orange phosphates, sodas, sundaes, cones, malts, shakes, Jeffs in the summer and hot chocolate this time of year.

COURIER: Do people still eat banana splits?

BALCH: Yes, in the summer time.

COURIER: What did sodas and sundaes and ice cream cones cost when you started to work here?

BALCH: Sodas and sundaes were 20 and 25 cents and ice cream cones were five and 10 cents. Now the sodas and sundaes are 75 cents and cones 30 and 55 cents.

COURIER: We understand you make those gooey toppings.

BALCH: Yes, I make the marshmallow and bittersweet toppings. No one else knows how.

COURIER: There are some things you serve only in the summer, aren't there?

BALCH: yes, the menu lists them–peanut butter sundae, banana split, bittersweet sundae, Jeff and concrete are served only in July and August.

COURIER: You have probably made a lot of friends through the years.

BALCH: All my customers are my friends. I'm starting on my third generation of customers. Young mothers bring their babies in for me to see. Kids who have gone away to school or moved away come back to say "hello".

COURIER: What did you do before you came to work at the soda fountain?

BALCH: I worked at the old Sugar Bowl, at Paul-Reed, and one summer I had the concession at the Lake Michigan bath house.

COURIER: Tell us about your family.

BALCH: My husband, Kenneth, has been with the Charlevoix County Road Commission for 35 years. He's getting ready to retire. Our son, Kenneth, Jr., works for Medusa, Ronald is a meat cutter at Oleson's, and Gary owns the Harbor Barber Shop.

COURIER: We hope the Dockside soda fountain keeps operating for a long time to come.

Property Tax Relief Information Available On Recipient Eligibility Requirements

By PEG OHLE

Early December is the time for sending and receiving property tax bills.

One aspect of property taxes not generally understood by the public is property tax relief, by which people who meet certain requirements receive a refund on their property tax payments.

The 1973 law easing the property tax burden provides that people who pay more than a certain percentage of their household income in property taxes are entitled to relief.

For most people, that percentage is set at three-and-a-half percent of their household income, and the amount of relief in which they are then entitled is 60 percent of the amount of property taxes they pay over that percentage.

For senior citizens, the rebate is 100 percent of the excess property taxes paid; and for senior citizens who receive less than $6,000 a year, the three-and-a-half criterion is lowered on a slide scale according to the amount of their income. In all cases, a maximum of $1,200 is placed on any individual rebate.

Most people claim their rebates when they file their annual state income tax returns through a computation which is part of the income tax form. However, for persons who do not have to pay the state income tax, a special rebate application form can be obtained from the State Department of Treasury.

Senior citizens and others who do not have to file income tax returns may file the rebate application early – in December– and get their rebate in time to use it toward payment of their local property taxes.

The eligible claimant must report the year's total income and the amount of the property tax. For those whose only source of income is Social Security, the year's final income figure can be obtained from the December check.

People needing help in filing for the refund may receive it by calling the Tax Division of the Michigan Department of Treasury in Traverse City, phone 946-5630.

Judy Friske Weds George Kehr

Arrangements of white gladioli and mums and lighted tapers in brass candelabra graced the altar of the Free Methodist Church in Boyne City recently for the wedding of Judith Friske and George Lee Kehr.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Friske of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. George Kehr of Auburn.

The Rev. William Bump of Central Lake officiated at the single ring service early Saturday evening, Nov. 27. Mrs. Herbert Hamlin of Boyne City, at the organ, played a program of traditional music including "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" and the wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of ivory qiana for her wedding. Fashioned with an empire bodice, the gown featured a scooped neckline trimmed with Venise lace, long fitted sleeves and watteau detachable train. Her mantilla, also trimmed with Venise lace, was chapel length. She carried a bridal bouquet of glamellias and stephanotis.

Rita Rosenthal of Charlevoix served her cousin as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandy Ittner of Auburn, cousin of the bridegroom, and Victorian Friske of St. Joseph, cousin of the bride. They wore identical sleeveless full length gowns of copper polyester and long sleeved bolero jackets. Each carried a single giant mum with fall leaves and streamers.

Jill LaRocque of Auburn, niece of the bridegroom, wearing a copper polyester gown accented with lace, was the flower girl. She carried a bouquet of miniature fall flowers. Bruno Friske of St. Joseph, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

James Kubiak of Auburn was best man. Richard Friske, Jr., and Neil Friske, of Charlevoix, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Darrell Lambert and Wayne Stringer of Auburn, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Friske chose a full length gown of polished peach polyester styled with an empire waist and long sleeves and accented with lace and rhinestones for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Kehr, mother of the bridegroom, wore a full length gown of deep coral polyester knit with an empire waist and full sheer sleeves. Their corsages were of eggshell cymbidium orchids.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the Village Inn in Walloon Lake.

Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple will be at home at 2284 Midland Road, Bay City, after December 5.

The bridegroom is training coordinator at Dow Chemical Co. in Bay City.

Wedding guests were present from Wisconsin, Missouri, West Germany and several Michigan cities.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by both families, was held at the home of the bride's parents on Friday evening.

Steve Key Marries Nancy Bosch

The Third Reformed Church of Kalamazoo was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Nancy E. Bosch of Kalamazoo and Steven R. Key of Portage, Michigan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bosch of Kentwood, Michigan and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Key of Charlevoix.

Virginia Bosch of Kentwood attended the bride as maid of honor. Mrs. Linda Fridsma of Grand Rapids and Mary Key of Kalamazoo were bridesmaids.

Daniel Key of Charlevoix assisted his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Daniel Boice of Jenison and Joseph Baillargeon of Charlevoix.

The couple will make their home at Portage.

Nutrition Underway for Women, Children

A new program for women, infants and children, called WIC, is now being administered by District Health Department No. 3. It is a nutritional supplemental program for new mothers, mothers-to-be, infants, and young children.

WIC provides food coupons to qualifying mothers, infants, and children to supplement their nutritional needs, to enhance their health, and to prevent unforeseen illness and decrease possible additional medical costs due to dietary deficiencies.

Further information about the WIC program may be obtained from the Health Department office in Charlevoix, phone 547-6523, or in Bellaire, phone 533-8422.

Garden Club Slates Workshop

The Charlevoix Garden Club will hold its annual Christmas Greens Workshop at the Community Room of the First State Bank on Tuesday, Dec. 14. Mrs. Ivor Menzies will be chairman of the special December meeting scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Members are asked to bring a sandwich to share.

Engaged

Peterson-Davis

The engagement of Ann Peterson to C. Max Davis, SN, U.S. Coast Guard, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Peterson.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis of Bald Knob, Arkansas.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of the Charlevoix High School and is presently employed in the Dietary Department of the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Mr. Davis is a 1966 graduate of Bald Knof (Ark.) High School, served in the U.S. Army for four years and attended the University of Central Arkansas for two years before enlisting in the U.S. Coast Guard in May. He is presently stationed at the U.S. Coast Guard Lifeboat Station here.

Christmas Decorations Made by Adult Foster Care Residents on Sale

An assortment of handmade craft items fashioned by residents of Adult Foster Care Facilities in the area will be on sale at the United Methodist Church, 461 East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Dec. 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The craft items range from Christmas cards and afghans to embroider and pottery.

Rosa Young, activities therapist for the Area Mental Health Clinic, who also works with people in Adult Care Facilities, says of the sale:

"We had a lot of fun making these items. Everyone is very proud of their effort.

"Most of the people who made the crafts are disabled people so we hope customers will look beyond the imperfections in many of the crafts and try to remember that a lot of heart went into the construction of each and every item."

MERRY CHRISTMAS???

As I observed the young children in the family during the holidays I had the feeling I was watching off-camera TV commercials. They seemed to be able to imitate every commercial from cereal to toys. Then I remembered it was the holiday season and children's television hours are loaded with commercials. As parents of young children this is one more area we have to offer our guidance in helping them understand and interpret what they are hearing and seeing. It offers a real challenge in helping children learn how to make consumer decisions.

As Christmas approaches, our children will be bombarded by toy commercials. A child may see as many as half a million ads before the age of 18, in part because there are more commercials shown during children's Saturday morning shows than during evening prime-time programs. One toy company invests nearly one million dollars each Saturday in November for Christmas ads, because of the direct impact on children.

TV commercials stimulate unneeded desires of children for toys, cereals, candy, and many other products. Television treats a child as a miniature consumer. Although this "miniature consumer" does not have money to support himself and is immature in his evaluation of consumer goods, he does manage to pester and bother his parents until they buy it.

Toy ads often make distorted and exaggerated claims - claims which often produce a disappointed, frustrated, and sometimes aggressive child. His expectations are high, but the actual performance of the toy is often low.

George Duke III Married In Ceremony at Parent's Home

Donna Marie Hanlon and George Albert Duke III exchanged their wedding vows in a double ring service Thanksgiving Day.

The Rev. George A. Duke, Jr., father of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony in the presence of their immediate families at the Duke home. Arrangements of fall flowers formed a setting for the candlelight service.

Parents of the couple are James Hanlon of Bloomfield Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Duke, Jr., of Charlevoix.

The bride chose a gown of white peau de soie accented with lace and seedpearls and a white lace mantilla for her wedding. Her bridal bouquet was of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. William Conroy of Novi, as matron of honor, wore a full length gown of beige and brown. Ms. Laura Flores of Farmington Hills, sister of the bride, and Linda Love Duke of Charlevoix, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Ms. Flores wore a full length blue gown and Miss Duke a long beige gown. Their bouquets were of coral roses.

Vivian Conroy of Novi, wearing a beige gown, was flower girl. She carried a miniature bouquet of coral roses. James Knight Duke of Charlevoix, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Kevin Knight Duke of Hancock assisted his brother as best man. Dean Duke of Farmington Hills, brother of the bridegroom, and William O'Donnell of Houghton were groomsmen.

Mrs. Duke, mother of the bridegroom, wore a long blue knit gown. Her corage was of yellow roses.

Champagne and wedding cake were served at the Duke home immediately following the wedding. A dinner reception followed at the Pine River Room at the Weathervane Inn.

The couple will make their home in Farmington Hills.

The bride attended the University of Michigan. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan Technological University with a degree in Biological Science. They are now owners of the Whiskey Boot Hill Horse Farm in Farmington Hills. Duke also operates Duke Realty of Farmington.

A rehearsal dinner held at Bourke's Steak and Stein on Wednesday evening was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Director Urges People To Send in Medicare Claims by Dec. 31

Area residents with Medicare coverage are urged to file claims for doctor bills and other medical bills before Dec. 31.

Filing the claims now will avoid processing delays that usually occur during Janaary, February and March, Gordon Sattelmeier, Social Security manager for this area, said. Dec. 31 is also the deadline for submitting 1975 Medicare bills.

Sattelmeier said it is wise to keep a continuing flow of claims going in to Medicare. He said as soon as $60 in bills have been accumulated they should be sent in for credit toward the $60 deductible and possible payment.

The proper form to use is a "Request for Medicare Payment" SSA-1490. This form should be carefully completed to insure all details are correct.

Accompanying the form should be itemized bills including the following information: a complete description of each service or supply received, the date, place and amount of each service or supply, the name and address of the doctor or supplier and complete name and Medicare number as shown on the Medicare card.

For assistance in completing the form or help in forwarding bills, contact the Social Security Office in Petoskey, at 911 Spring St., or call 347-8727.

A new pamphlet, "How to Complete the Request for Medicare Payment" is also available free of charge.

Suggestions for Finding, Keeping A Fresh Christmas Tree at Home

The best way to be sure your Christmas tree is fresh is to take axe in hand and cut it down yourself in one of Michigan's many choose-and-cut Christmas tree farms.

The next-best way is to follow a few tips on cut tree selection and care from Michigan State University Extension forecasters:

–Look for a well shaped tree with good color. Where you plan to set the tree should determine how tall and perfectly shaped it must be. A tree for use in front of a picture window, where it will be seen from all sides, must be shaped better than one to be set in a corner.

–Check for freshness by bending a needle on the tree. If it springs back to its original shape, the tree is fresh. If it snaps or stays bent out of shape, the tree is probably too dry.

–Bump the base of the tree on the ground. A shower of dry, green needles around your feet means the tree is dry.

–Feel the bottom of the tree trunk. On a fresh tree, it will feel sticky and moist.

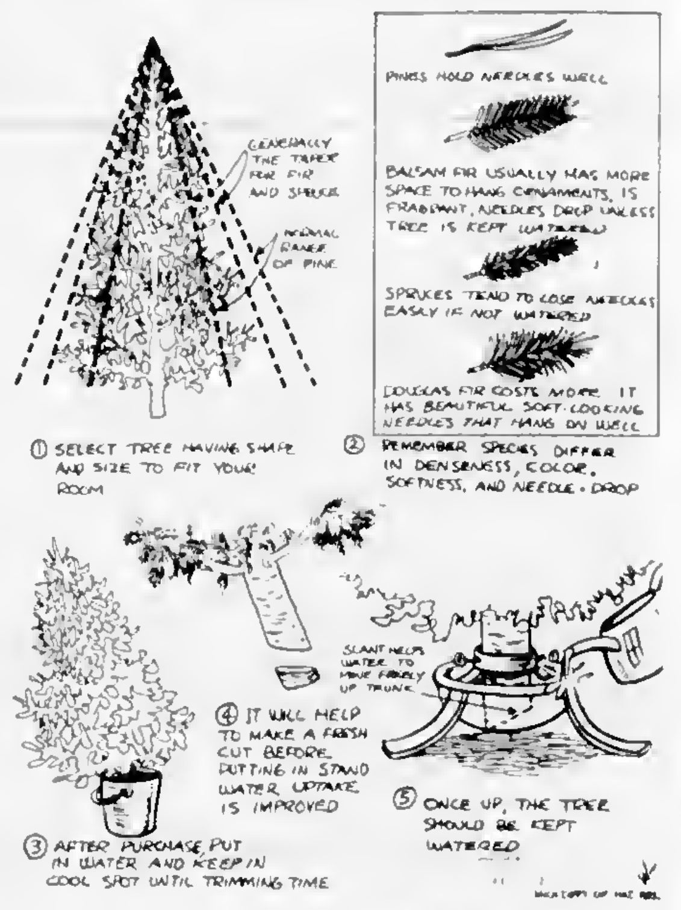
–When you get your tree home, cut a half-inch slice off the base of the trunk. Removing this resin-clogged wood improves the tree's ability to take up water and so slows drying.

–Place the tree in a stand that has a container for water. Because the tree will absorb water very rapidly for the first few days, you may have to water it two or three times a day to insure that it has a steady supply of moisture. Do now allow the tree to dry out. It is nearly impossible for a fresh tree to ignite and burn, but dry evergreens are extremely quick to catch fire. Commercial Christmas tree preservativies are of little value in maintaining freshness and reduce dryness.

–Set the tree in a cool spot away from hot lights, heat registers or radiators, fireplaces, TV sets or other sources of heat.

–Use only strings of Christmas tree lights that carry the Underwriter's Laboratory (UL) label; and check them carefully for loose connections, empty sockets or other hazards before you place them on the tree.

Following these suggestions will help your tree retain its freshness and contribute to a festive – and safe – holiday season.



GENERALLY THE TAPER FOR FIR AND SPRUCE
NORMAL RANGE OF PINE
① SELECT TREE HAVING SHAPE AND SIZE TO FIT YOUR ROOM
PINES HOLD NEEDLES WELL
BALSAM FIR USUALLY HAS MORE SPACE TO HANG ORNAMENTS, IS FRAGRANT, NEEDLES DROP UNLESS TREE IS KEPT WATERED
SPRUCES TEND TO LOSE NEEDLES EASILY IF NOT WATERED
DOUGLAS FIR COSTS MORE. IT HAS BEAUTIFUL SOFT-LOOKING NEEDLES THAT HANG ON WELL
② REMEMBER SPECIES DIFFER IN DENSENESS, COLOR, SOFTNESS, AND NEEDLE-DROP
③ AFTER PURCHASE PUT IN WATER AND KEEP IN COOL SPOT UNTIL TRIMMING TIME
④ IT WILL HELP TO MAKE A FRESH CUT BEFORE PUTTING IN STAND. WATER UPTAKE IS IMPROVED
SLANT HELPS WATER TO MOVE FREELY UP TRUNK
⑤ ONCE UP, THE TREE SHOULD BE KEPT WATERED

Live Greens Can be Used Safely to Decorate House

Decorating inside the home with evergreen boughs is a holiday tradition for many families. For safe use of holiday greenery, follow these tips from Michigan State University Extension specialists:

–Use fresh cut evergreens whenever possible. Except for pines, which should be pruned in early summer, most landscape evergreens can be pruned now to yield boughs for decorating. Use sharp tools and proper pruning techniques.

–Store cut greens in water in a cool place until you're ready to use them.

–Warm temperatures and low humidity in the home cause even fresh greens to dry out quickly. Whenever possible, design arrangements so that the greens can be kept in water.

–Keep greens away from any source of heat, such as heat vents, radiators, fireplaces or stoves, or appliances that give off heat.

Area Artists Plan Christmas Open House

Artists in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties are holding a special Chrismas Open House for area residents from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

More than 50 local artists and craftspeople making up the "Artists North" Co-operative will show their work at 16 locations spread from Charlevoix, Norwood, Boyne City and East Jordan to Petoskey and Harbor Springs.

The artists are opening their studios and shops for the tour so that residents can meet their artistic neighbors and see them right at work in their studios.

Many handmade items will also be on sale during the tour just in time for Christmas.

Artists participating in the tour from Charlevoix and their locations include: Marcie Brown and Char Smith Scott at Macra Mania at 401 Alice St.; Dana Honeysette at 611 Norwood Rd.; Laurie Lesser, William Murrey, P.J. Murray, and Victor Hayes at "Pots And . ." on U.S. 31 South; John Murowski at "Something Special" on U.S. 31 North; Diane and Jim Belcher, Dan Tollas, and Carol Parsel at Reis Gallery on 100 Park Ave.; and the Charlevoix Camera Club including Marian Broussard, Bob Howard, Bob Martin, Bob Hooper, Bill Barnum, Merle Plagge and Don Seeley at the Market Mall on Bridge Street.

Four New Icebreaking Tugboats Set to Replace Coast Guard Cutters

By FRAN MARTIN

Four new icebreaking tugs representing a new class of vessel should begin arriving in the Great Lakes in November 1977 according to U.S. Rep. Philip E. Ruppe of the 11th Congressional District.

The vessels, 140 feet in length, will replace the 120 foot tugs including the Arundel and the Naugatuck which have been in service in the Great Lakea since World War II.

The vessels will be constructed at the Tacoma (Wash.) Boatbuilding Co. at a cost of $18.7 million and are pledged to the Great Lakes.

The tugs, which have been on the drawing board for several years, are designed with a thought toward the current experiment aimed at extending the navigation season in the Great Lakes to 12 months. If this becomes a reality, it will eventually require a larger fleet of icebreakers than is now assigned to the Great Lakes.

The new tugs will serve a dual purpose. They will provide a better capability in emergency search and rescue during adverse weather situation as well as serving as icebreakers.

A 44-foot motor lifeboat comparable to one the same size assigned to the Charlevoix Lifeboat station has been transferred to the Grand Marais station on Lake Superior to replace an outdated 36-foot rescue class being retired from service.

During the session of Congress which adjourned in early October, Ruppe pushed legislation authorizing the four new tugs.

Ruppe said he fought for the authorization to build the tugs because of the need for dependable ships to do the search and rescue work to which it is assigned.

"The sinking of the MV Edmund Fitzgerald in November emphasized the pressing need for newer rescue ships able to withstand the roughest November gales" Ruppe added.

U-M to Hold Tax Institute Jan. 13-14

The University of Michigan will sponsor an income tax institute January 13 and 14 at the Holiday Inn in Grayling.

Mary Boss Ends 42-Year Nursing Career

By PAULA HOLMES

Amid laughter and tears, Mary Boss ended her 42-year nursing career Friday.

Mrs. Boss, who spent more than 23 of her 42 years as a registered nurse at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, was honored during a surprise celebration in the hospital cafeteria.

The room was filled to overflowing with the nurse's friends from every department in the hospital and with her two daughters Lorraine Kelly and Marcia Himebauch.

"You mean you knew about this all along and didn't tell me?" a very surprised Mrs. Boss asked her daughters.

The nurse, who has worked in central supply at the hospital for the past several years, came to the party dressed in her scrub gown and hair net.

"If I had known you were going to do this I would have dressed up," she quipped as her daughter attempted to pin a corsage on the scrub gown.

On the serious side, Mrs. Boss said her many years of dedication to the nursing profession had been worth it and she thanked the many people that had worked with her at Charlevoix hospital.

But Mrs. Boss probably won't be able to go into full retirement quite yet, even though she will be leaving the hospital staff.

"You'll probably be getting a lot of phone calls after you're gone asking you where things are, and what is this thing in the basement," Kathryn Boss, R.N., director of nursing, told her.

"You've been a great help to all of us," the director of nursing continued. "We thank you for your advice and your help throughout the years.

"I know we're all going to miss you," she said.

The retiring nurse began her career in the nursing program at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids, where she received her R.N.

She went to Butterworth following her graduation from Ellsworth High School. She had been born and raised in Antrim County.

After her graduation from Butterworth Hospital, Mrs. Boss spent several years working in New York, but she later returned to Michigan to complete a post graduate course in surgery at Harper Hospital in Detroit.

After completing her post graduate course, Mrs. Boss was employed at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey and then for the last 23½ years she has been employed at the Charlevoix hospital.

During her years at the Charlevoix hospital, Mrs. Boss has worked in obstetrics, surgery and for the last seven years as the supervisor of Central Supply.

She is married to Harold Boss and has two daughters and four grandsons.

MARY BOSS, R.N., (second from left) was honored for her more than 23 years of service at Charlevoix Area Hospital and 42 years of dedication to nursing during a surprise celebration Friday. Pictured with her are (left to right) Kathryn Boss, director of nursing, and her daughters Lorraine Kelly and Marcia Himebauch.

Rayders Hand Grayling 75-59 Defeat at Home

In a game marked by 52 personal fouls, 26 on each team, the Charlevoix Rayders defeated the Grayling Vikings by a score of 75-59 on the Viking floor Friday night.

Charlevoix moved to a 13-6 lead as Grayling got off to a slow start. However, they came back strong to outscore the Rayders 20-17 in the second period, trimming the visitors' advantage to 30-26 at halftime.

The Rayders continued to lead as the second half opened for a 47-38 at the third period mark. The last period saw the Rayders catch fire as they scored 28 to 21 for the winning margin.

The Rayders dunked 27 field goals and were successful on 21 of 34 attempts from the charity line. The Vikings scored 20 from the floor and 19 of 27 from the line.

Bud Klooster poured in 23 points; Scott Boss 21 and Matt Doan 11 for the Rayders. Pat Schaefer, Dave Tollas and Neil Dziedzic added six points each and Jim Elzinga two points.

Dave White had 17, Mike Money 12 and Steve Olsen and Alan Johnston, 10 each for the Vikings.

Varsity Gets First Win Of Conference From Chiefs

The Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Dave Moyer, wrapped up their first Michigan-Huron Shores win of the season Tuesday, a 78-47 victory over Cheboygan.

Fourteen members of the Rayder team saw action as Rayders romped to a 21-14 first period lead, poured in another 25 points in the second period to go ahead 46-18 at halftime and 63-38 at the three-quarter mark.

Charlevoix had a total of 32 field goals and 14 of 23 free throws while collecting 20 personal fouls "They made their free throws" Coach Moyer said following the game, referring to the Covert game while he felt was lost at the free throw line.

Cheboygan had 22 field goals and three of 13 charity shots. They also had 18 personal fouls.

Bud Klooster paced the game with 23 points including nine field goals. Scott Boss added 14 points; Matt Doan and Kip Cinnamon, eight each; Pat Schaefer and Neil Dziedzic, six each; Dave Tollas, five and Jim Elzinga, Joe Left, Brian Williams and Woody Pearson, two each.

Jim Alger, Steve Berlage and Tom Fowler also saw action. Sidelined with an ankle injury was Wally Drenth.

Perry LaHaie had 17 for Cheboygan.

The Charlevoix JV's chalked up their second win of the season Tuesday night with a 61-49 score over the young Cheboygan Chiefs.

The JV's scored only one free throw (of six attempts) as they poured in 30 field goals including six in the first period for a 12-8 lead; another seven in the second quarter for a 26-12 halftime advantage and nine in the third quarter for a 44-28 margin with eight minutes remaining in the game.

Pat Schmidt with 10 field goals had 20 points followed by Kevin Kratt with 12; Barney Way with 10; Bob Drost, nine; Todd Williams, and Gilbert Noirot, four each and Rich Russell with two points.

Dave Orr had 15 points and Tom E[illegible]y 10 for Cheboygan.

Drenth Named to State Harrier Team

Wally Drenth, Charlevoix Rayder harrier, has been named to the Class C All-State Cross Country Team his coach, Pete Spieles has announced.

The original announcement was made by the Michigan Interscholastic Track Coaches Association which has a membership of more than 500 members.

In the letter accompanying the certificate he was awarded, Lou Miramonti, Vice President of the MITCA said "Your effort in the State Championship meet ranked you as one of the top runners in your division."

Drenth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drenth, has participated in the Cross Country program since it was initiated in the sports program here.

This year he set numerous course records and, in the regional meet, placed second to qualify for participation on the state level where he came in second in the individual competition. Wally is a senior at the Charlevoix High School.

JVs Post Another Win In Close One Against Vikings

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity Rayders posted their second win of the season but it was a close game all the way before they chalked up their 52-47 win over Grayling on the latter's floor Friday night.

The teams played to a 14-14 quarter tie before Charlevoix pulled ahead for a 31-24 halftime lead. The young Vikings, however, came back to outscore the visitors 10-7 as the second half got underway to trim the Rayder lead to 38-34 at the three-quarter mark. In the last period the teams battled it out with Charlevoix picking up a single point after a 14-13 quarter.

Charlevoix outscored Grayling from the floor 21-20 in the field goal department. The Rayders were successful on 10 of 21 free throw attempts while having 20 personal fouls called on them. Grayling scored on seven of 18 attempts and had 23 personal fouls.

Pat Schmidt accounted for 25 of his team's points. Gilbert Noirot had 10; Todd Williams, six; Barney Way, five; Kevin Kratt, four and Bob Plumm, two points.

Dan Nederer had 11 and Mark McEvels 10 points for Grayling.

Freshmen Split Openers, Lost to Chiefs, Beat Grayling

The Charlevoix Freshman Basketball team, under Coach Roger Gowell, split their opening games of the season, winning over Grayling by a score of 45-37 on Thursday and losing to Cheboygan 41-29 on Tuesday.

The Charlevoix freshmen were put to the test by Grayling as the young Vikings jumped to an 11-8 first period lead forcing the Rayders to come from behind to take an 18-17 halftime margin.

As the game went into the second half, the visitors took off for a 30-22 advantage going into the final period but the young Rayders snapped back to outscore their opponent 23-7 for the victory.

Scott Morgan with 18 points and John Cross with 11 paced the win. Tobin had 19 for Grayling.

On Tuesday, the Charlevoix five trailed the young Cheboygan Chiefs all the way 9-2 at the quarter; 22-15 at halftime and 28-19 at the three-quarter mark before losing by a 12-point margin.

Ken Otmanowski and Cross had seven each for the young Rayders. C. McCauley had eight for Cheboygan.

Player Sign-Up Begins For Rec. Dept. Hockey Teams

In preparation for the hockey season scheduled to begin later this month, the Charlevoix Recreation Department is asking prospective players to sign up for the winter sport.

Boys in the 11 through the 14 year old group will form a team(s) and will play other area teams.

The younger boys in the eight through 10 year age group will form teams and play an intramural schedule. There will be supervised practice sessions and supervised games among teams in the local league for this age group according to Dwight Boss, Recreation Department director.

Prospective players may register with Wayne Boss at 547-6921 or with Jim Wibby, 547-6994.

Coast Guard Lists Defective Boat Parts

The U.S. Coast Guard is recalling model No. 159 of boats manufactured by Somerset Boats, Inc., for failure to comply with Coast Guard safety standards. These boats were found to have overrated horsepower, persons and maximum weight capacities displayed. Also, nearly all the boats did not have sufficient flotation material.

2 Upsets Highlight A League Action

By FRAN MARTIN

Two upsets marked the action in the A League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball Association last week as Kaden's toppled Townhouse from the ranks of the undefeated by a score of 59-52; Credit Union chalked up its first win of the season, a 56-53 victory over Swanson's in an overtime game. In a third game, Way Oil defeated Willett Roofing 62-42.

Kaden's had to overcome 16-12 and 28-25 quarter deficits to upset the undefeated Townhouse team 59-52 after going ahead 43-41 at the end of the third period.

Jim Baumon paced the victory with 24 points. Dave Strawbridge had 14 and Stewart Coleman 11 for Townhouse.

After trailing 38-31 at the end of the third period, Credit Union outscored Swanson's 18-11 during the last eight minutes to knot the score 49-all at the end of the regulation game. In the single overtime Credit Union, with its first victory in sight, outscored their opponent 6-4, to win 56-53. Credit Union had trailed 14-7; 29-23 and 38-31 by quarters before tieing up the game.

Ron Boss with 24 points and Matt Blair with 16 paced the win. Bruce Meggison had 24 for Swanson's.

Way Oil led Willett Roofing 16-6; 37-16 and 50-31 by quarters before winning 62-46. Ned Henley with 13, Tim Carey with 12 and Roger Cruin with 10 were top scorers for Way Oil. Roger Bolhuis had 12 and Rick VanStedum 11 points for Willett Roofing.

Tri-City Still Leads With Perfect Record

By FRAN MARTIN

Tri-City Asphalt continued to lead Division I of the Independent Basketball B League after defeating Freedman's 79-68 while Bay Shore Steel won by a score of 66-43 in action Monday night.

On Wednesday, Klooster John Deere defeated Wojan Aluminum 52-49; LaBlance Insurance won over County State Bank 55-53 and Hoskins downed Alray Cottages 51-31.

Freedman's gave Tri-City Asphalt a close game for one half staying with the league leaders 23-22 at the quarter and 37-34 at halftime before Tri-City pulled away for a 54-48 lead going into the final period.

Mike Crain with 25, Dave Norton with 20 and Butch Klooster with 18 points continued their scoring spree. Paul Osterberg had 23, Terry Blissett 14 and Bernie DeVries 13 for Freedman's.

Paced by Vince Left with 28 points, Bay Shore Steel romped over Medusa 12-10; 30-18 and 46-29 by quarters. Tom McDonough had 19 and Robert Wojan 10 points for the Steelers. Dick Putman had 15 and Mike Mapes 14 for Medusa.

After trailing 8-6 at the quarter, Klooster John Deere pulled ahead of Wojan Aluminum 26-20 and 41-38 by quarters to take the game. Roger Gowell had 16 points and Butch Wagner and Denny VanGuilder 12 each for the winners. Stan Martin scored 15 points, Larry Martin 12 and Don Word 10 for Wojan's.

It was a seesaw battle as LaBlance and County State Bank with LaBlance leading 17-14 at the quarter, County State taking over 31-23 at halftime and holding the lead 46-37 going into the final period when the Insurance writers outscored their opponent 18-7 to take the game by a two-point margin. Joe Beaudoin had 23 points, Sam Supernaw 14 and Jim Geis 11 for LaBlance's. Jerry Skippergosh with 19 and Denny LaCroix with 12 paced the losers.

A red hot fourth period in which Hoskins outscored Alray Cottages 20-10 gave the former an easy win. Early in the game Hoskins had trailed 6-5 and had played the Cottagers to a 13-13 halftime tie before pulling away 31-21 at the three-quarter mark. Clayt Jones had 15 and Del Wood 10 for Hoskins. Scott Blanchard scored 18 and Jay Masoryak 11 for Alray.

the proposed policy before action is taken on it at a future date.

The board accepted the resignation of James Wyns to become effective when a replacement is found. The secretary was asked to send a letter acknowledging his service to the school. He is leaving the teaching field to join a family business.

McKimmy reported on broken windows at the high school and a fire at the high school arches.

Efforts to organize a curriculum study committee were becoming difficult because of the various schedules at the schools and a special planning session may have to be arranged he reported.

The problem of heat control at the high school was discussed. This occurs at the end of every class period when students leave the building to go to portables, vocational programs and elsewhere resulting in the loss of heat as the result of the heavy traffic from the building. In an effort to remedy this situation, secondary doors that were removed some time after the high school was constructed will be recovered and returned to the doors.

The problems in the high school cafeteria have been alleviated by forming separate lines for Type A and a la carte luncheons. In this way lines move more rapidly, it was stated.

The appointment of Condit Drury to the Charlevoix County Social Services Board was announced. Supt. McKimmy said that would result in faculty involvement in the community which he felt was important.

December 20 and January 3 were named as dates of future meetings.

Gospel Businessmen To Hear Evangelist

An evangelist from Belfast, Ireland, will be the guest of the Northern Michigan Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International at their 7:30 p.m. meeting Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Petoskey High School.

Obituary

SOPHIA MCDONOUGH

ST. JAMES, BEAVER ISLAND—Funeral services for a former island resident, Mrs. William (Sophia) McDonough, 76, who died Saturday at the Lutheran Retirement Home in Ypsilanti where she had been a patient for two months, will be held at Holy Cross church at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Alvin Yard, O.F.M., will officiate. Interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery. The Rosary was to be recited at the family home on Tuesday evening.

Born in Twin Valley, Minn., Jan. 2, 1900, the former Sophia Haugen was married to Mr. McDonough in 1925. They came to the island to make their home in 1928. Mr. McDonough preceded her in death in 1951. She had continued to live here until recently when she went to southern Michigan.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Patrick (Mary Ellen) Monachino of Batavia, N.Y., Mrs. Thadeus (Bertha) Danha of Westland and Mrs. Richard (Charlotte) Sanderson of Vienna, Va.; three sons, Glen of Grand Rapids, Kenneth L. of Ypsilanti and Anthony of Sitges, Spain and 19 grandchildren.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor her memory may do so by contributing to the Beaver Island Club of Grand Rapids. Contributions may be left at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix for forwarding to the club treasurer.

SIGNS OF CHRISTMAS are popping up everywhere in Charlevoix. Last week the city light department braved ferocious winds and sub-zero temperatures to hang the Christmas lights and decorations.

Hotline

When city officials are aware that no watch-bird is on hand to challenge and evaluate unfortunate decisions of the Council, those decisions stand without hope of moral and civic justice. It takes BIG men to admit an error in judgement. However, check the voting record of the Council and it will be easy to understand the lone councilman whose vote has been steady in favor of both moral and civic justice.

Perhaps we, the people, expect too much but we still believe it is better to hope for reversals of unfortunate decisions than resign to the apparent willingness of City Hall to adjust to what is wrong rather than right the wrong.

Tax Relief Due For Seniors On Assessments

Senior Citizens faced with the payment of special assessments on their property will have some relief come January.

Starting then, they will be able to defer payment of the assessments if annual installments on their taxes exceed $50 or the total assessment is more than $300.

People 65 years of age or older, who are U.S. citizens, who have lived in Michigan for the last five years, and whose yearly income is $6,000 or less are generally considered eligible.

They should contact their city or township assessor for further information.

Cub Pack Holds Meet

Pack II of the Scenic Trails Council, Cub Scouts and Webelos, held its November meeting at the Elementary school recently.

Theme of the month was animals as they relate to agriculture which was depicted in the pictures drawn by the Cub Scouts who had also made name tags.

Awards to eligible Cubs were presented by Cub Master Terry Salmonson.

Milk Conference On Marketing Set for Dec. 14

A milk marketing conference will be held in Washington D.C. Dec. 14-15, for dairymen, consumers and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) officials.

Major papers on the economic forces and institutions in milk marketing will be presented and discussed. In addition, conference participants will discuss alternative economic systems for milk pricing and consider the role of dairy cooperatives, milk processors and food retailers in milk marketing.

Sponsoring the conference along with USDA are the National Milk Producers Federation and the Community Nutrition Institute.

For more information about the two-day conference contact: Conference on Milk Marketing, 1910 K Street, N.W., Suite 700, Washington, D.C. or call (202) 833-1730.

THE RIGHTS OF FREE PEOPLE INCLUDE THE CHOICE OF FAITH

The citizens of a free country never take their freedoms for granted, but have wisely provided a specific list of them in the set of rules by which they are governed. These freedoms include among other things the right of peaceable assembly, to speak and write whatever they see fit, and one of the most basic rights of all: to worship God in any manner they choose; a privilege consistent with the theory that freedom itself is man's God-given birthright. Be ever prepared to defend your freedom against anyone who would take it away from you, and avail yourself of one of its principal blessings by attending the Church of your choice every week on the Sabbath. And thank God for your right to do so, wherever you are.

"Whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein...this man shall be blessed in his deed."
—James 1:25

We owe it to our ancestors to preserve entire those rights, which they have delivered to our care; we owe it to posterity, not to suffer their dearest inheritance to be destroyed.

Charlevoix Grapplers Take Second in Meet

By FRAN MARTIN

Eighteen Northern Michigan wrestling teams numbering more than 250 young grapplers invaded Charlevoix Saturday to attend the third annual Freshman-Sophomore invitational meet hosted by the Charlevoix High School.

Oscoda with 390 points placed first in the meet captured five blue ribbons. Charlevoix, the defending champions, came in second with 228 points and four first place winners.

Traverse City with 185 points was third with two first place winners. Alpena, 167 points; Rogers City, 143½; Mancelona, 140; Petoskey, 129; Rudyard, 120½; Sault Ste. Marie, 104½; St. Ignace, 104; Kalkaska, 74½; Onaway, 74; Glen Lake, 72; Boyne City, 71; Hillman, 65½; Elk Rapids, 31; Traverse City Freshmen, 28; Alpena Freshmen, 1.

The Soo captured three firsts; St. Ignace and Traverse City, two each; Petoskey, Boyne City, Onaway, Rudyard and Alpena, one each.

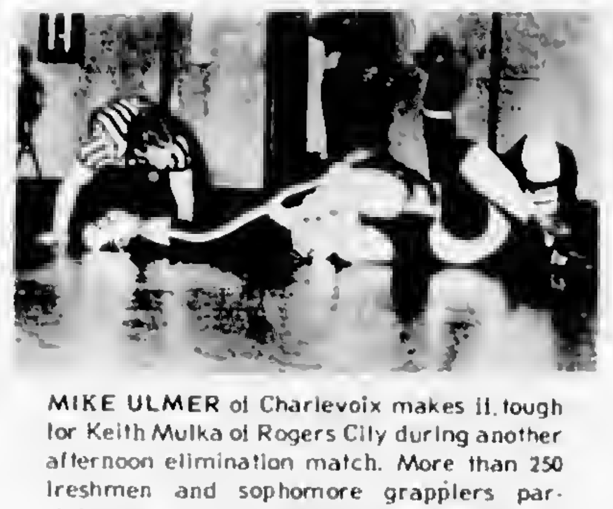
Because of large number of entries in eight of the 13 weight classes and a limit to the number of times each entry can participate there were two weight groups, A and B, thus the large number of first place medals given.

Mark Kruskie of Petoskey who was entered in the 105 pound class was named the Most Outstanding Wrestler in the tournament, the largest of its kind in the state.

Charlevoix's matmen came through with four firsts including two who won top honors for the second straight year. They are Dennis Whitley in the 165 pound class and Ande Keller in the 191 pound weight class. Other first place winners were Dave Golovich in the 98-A category and Gene Morrison in the 119-B class.

Coach Norm Probert expressed his appreciation to the Charlevoix Wrestling Club and the many individuals who assisted with the tourney and to Hess Furniture which loaned a truck to transport mats that were borrowed for the meet.

IT WAS difficult to tell what was happening so the ref got down for a closer look at the match between Jerry Sladek, Charlevoix freshman and Bob Orman of Mancelona. Sladek won in a decision to go to semi-finals.



MIKE ULMER of Charlevoix makes it tough for Keith Mulka of Rogers City during another afternoon elimination match. More than 250 freshmen and sophomore grapplers participated in the invitational meet at Charlevoix High School.

THE REFEREE hustles to get out of the way in this match between Dan Sayers of Charlevoix and Jim Shumaker of Hillman. This photo was taken during the afternoon elimination matches.

TWO CHARLEVOIX County wrestlers went at it in this match. Here Micke Crowder of Charlevoix tested his strength against Chris Faie of Boyne City. The young Charlevoix team came in second to Oscoda.

Cookies Top Christmas List

The Christmas Spirit has taken Lorene Kerr and Michelle Hubert by storm. And last week the two Charlevoix women were up to their elbows in Holiday cheer as they baked more than 1,000 Christmas cookies for various members of their families.

The idea of baking their Christmas presents was not a spur of the moment decision, the women explained. They have been planning on the baking expedition since September, when week by week they began acquiring the 20 pounds of flour and sugar, the 16 pounds of brown sugar, the four pounds of butter, the three bags of powdered sugar and the 24 eggs it would take to complete their project.

"In all, I think we probably spent $40 apiece for ingredients," Mrs. Kerr said. "But we spent it gradually, so it wasn't a big hunk out of our food budget."

Mrs. Hubert said they had a little trouble finding all of the ingredients they needed for the three types of cookies they baked.

"We couldn't find candied pineapple for our fruitcake cookies anywhere," she said. "Finally we had a friend bring us some from Rochester, Mich."

The women said they quadrupled each cookie recipe to make sure they would have enough.

"We ended up mixing the dough in our canners and roasters," Mrs. Hubert laughed. "We had dough everywhere."

The two bakers said they started mixing, measuring and baking at 9:30 a.m. and were finished at 5:30 p.m. Then they got together to frost the cookies from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. that evening.

Mrs. Kerr said they decided to bake their Christmas presents out of necessity.

"I have 12 brothers and sisters," she explained. "There was no way I could buy them all a present, but I can give them all a box of cookies."

Mrs. Hubert has five brothers and sisters in her family.

Both women said they planned on baking their Christmas presents next year, too. They said that even though it was a lot of work, they enjoyed it.

"And our families really have sweet tooths," they said.

Council May Not Seek Recreation Funds

By PAULA HOLMES

The Charlevoix Common Council may not seek the federal Bureau of Recreation (BOR) funding it has been awarded under a preliminary application for improvements to Mt. McSauba Recreation Area.

Alderman Joe Morris asked council Monday night to consider if it was worth it to complete the final application for the $17,500 that could be awarded to the city from the BOR. Morris said extensive land surveys, engineering and other studies are required by the federal government before the final application can be completed.

Morris said the application was due at the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission office by Wednesday and he didn't think the application could be finished by then.

"But I don't know if it is worth it, either," Morris said.

"The dollars that will have to be spent to complete the application in order to get the money may not be worth it," he continued.

Former Acting City Administrator Charles Pease pointed out that according to the BOR rules and regulations, donated labor and materials could not be used as matching funds for the grant money.

"I think the original intent of this program was to match the grant funds with donated labor and materials so that the improvements to the park wouldn't cost the city any out-of-pocket money," Pease said.

"I don't think you'll be able to do that under their program," he said.

Pease also pointed out that accepting federal recreation funds could tie-up the 71-acre Mt. McSauba parcel and the city would not be able to use the park for anything else if it ever changed its mind about the use of the park.

Mayor Edward Hansen told the council that the city has not done too badly with BOR funds.

"In the past we have gotten a pretty good return on the money we have used to get these funds," he said.

Council decided to have Pease check and see if the city could get an extension on the due date for the final application and then agreed to study the additional cost for completing the grant application.

The grant funds were to be used for the construction of new ice and hockey rinks and a multipurpose building, which would be used for summer day camp activities and winter hockey and ice skating activities. The grant was also expected to pay for the construction of a road between Mt. McSauba Road and Pleasant Street.

To Set Up A Committee to Support Building

School Board Meets With Citizens

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education met Monday night with a Citizen's Study Group interested in supporting a building program in the Charlevoix School District.

Supt. James A. McKimmy presented to the group information regarding school needs, anticipated growth in school enrollment and how it is determined, proposed construction programs that could alleviate existing problems at a comparatively modest cost, and touched briefly on the proposed budget for 1977-76 to justify the renewal of the expiring 6.5 mills for operational purposes.

Chief purpose of the meeting was to sound out a group of approximately 30 residents of the school district who had shown an interest in a proposed building program through a survey conducted at the time of the recent Parent-Teacher conferences. The information was offered to acquaint them with the problems of overcrowding and the urgent need to conserve energy through a remodeling program. Following the presentation by Supt. James A. McKimmy various proposals were discussed before a determination was made to conduct a special election in the School District on Saturday, Jan. 29, 1977.

The proposed plan would earmark 1.0 mill for 16 years for improvements at the Middle School which would allow a new heating system, removal of windows to cut down on heat loss and expansion of existing facilities.

At the high school, expansion of the existing facilities would include utilizing the breezeway to expand trouble areas such as the library, cafeteria and home ec department and additions of a lecture area that could be used as three teaching stations, shop areas and an all-purpose room and locker area. The cost of this would be approximately 2.3 mills for 16 years.

After more than 90 minutes discussion of various phases of the proposal the board of education, by formal action, voted to hold an election on that date. In addition to renewal of the 6.5 mills for operational purposes, 3.2 mills to support a proposed building plan will be placed on the ballot.

HOTLINE

Dial 547-6559

Hotline lets others know what you think. Tell us your opinion on anything by calling 547-6559 anytime after 6 p.m. No need to give your name. Selected opinions will appear each week.

In response to the Hotline of last week (Dec. 6) allow me to correct a few errors that were quoted.

First, city council only accepted the resignation of the acting city manager, allowing him to pursue another job. No action was taken to unjustifiably dismiss this gentleman.

Secondly, the new charter is a devise by which Charlevoix can escape the outmoded form of government which is currently employed. This relief from an ancient state law will give the citizens of the city a louder voice in community matters and will define the position of civil servants who currently have little direction.

Finally, it is my belief, gained from my attendance at many council meetings, that each and every member does his or her sincere best to serve the moral and civil justice of the city. They should be lauded for taking a stand and for tackling a thankless job.

While I fully agree more people should seek office, as is their lawful right, I also feel each potential candidate should learn the facts before embarking on a reform campaign.

Better information widely distributed and thoughtfully considered is the way to a better Charlevoix.

Bid Awarded for Ferry Avenue Beach Repair Work

A bid for the restoration of the crib and for a new top on the dock at Ferry Avenue Beach was awarded to R. B. Lyons Company by the Charlevoix Common Council Monday night.

The bid, which amounted to $16,307 was the low bid of two received by the city for the project. The awarding of the bid was made by a unanimous vote of the council.

In other action, the council also approved a resolution allowing retired city employees and their spouses to remain a part of the city's Blue Cross Blue Shield group insurance plan.

The retired employees will have 30 days to request inclusion in the plan and all payments for the insurance will be made by the retired employee.

Alderman Jeannine Wallace explained that the city will not be paying any of the health insurance premium for the retired employees and their spouses, but she pointed out that allowing the employees to remain in the city's group plan will cut costs for the employee.

"When people retire they have to look for ways to cut their costs," Mrs. Wallace said. "This is one way the city can help its former employees keep their costs down during retirement."

Alderman Sue Erber also asked council to set a date for a public hearing on the addition of a site plan review section to the current zoning ordinance. Council agreed to hold the hearing and asked Mrs. Erber to set it up as soon as possible.

Mrs. Erber said she felt it was important to make the addition to the ordinance in order to save the city problems similar to the ones it experiences with the rezoning of property for the new Charlevoix Federal Credit Union building.

Mayor Edward Hansen also asked the council how it felt about seeking funds for the lowering of the sewer and water lines across the Pine River Channel.

Charlevoix Shocked at Charges Issued Against Summer Resident

Charlevoix is slowly recovering from the reverberations of the news that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of a well-known summer resident for criminal sexual conduct.

The Michigan State Police are looking for Francis D. Shelden, owner of North Fox Island, in connection with charges that Sheldon's Lake Michigan retreat may have been used for homosexual activities involving young boys.

Many Charlevoix residents know Sheldon and have visited North Fox Island, which is known for its excellent deer hunting.

"There are so many people here touched by this thing," one person told the Courier. "It comes as a real shock to everyone."

Another person estimated that Sheldon probably had invited between 40 and 50 people from the community to hunt on the island.

"Everyone really enjoyed going over there hunting," the person said. "This is just a shock."

See Sheldon page 13.

Charlevoix Courier Named Winner Of National Blue Ribbon Award

The Charlevoix Courier has been named a 1977 National Blue Ribbon Newspaper by the National Editorial Foundation.

This is the third year in a row that the Courier has received the award, which is achieved through meeting 25 criteria measuring the newspaper's service to its community.

The Courier was one of 334 newspapers to receive the award out of a field of 400 daily and weekly newspapers submitted for evaluation in this year's program.

This latest award brings the total to five awards for the paper this year. Earlier in the year, the Courier was named the best in the state for its size in the 1976 Michigan Press Association Weekly Newspaper Contest. The paper also received a first place award in the News Reporting section of that contest.

The Courier was also given national honorable mention for Best Editorial Page in its class in the 1976 National Better Newspaper Contest sponsored by the National Newspaper Association, and received the School Bell Award from the Michigan Education Association.

Other papers in the area receiving the Blue Ribbon award include the Petoskey News-Review.

Cold Weather May Force Earliest Close of Beaver Islander

The unreasonably cold weather northern Michigan has been experiencing may close navigation between Charlevoix and Beaver Island at the earliest date in 40 years according to Lawrence McDonough, business manager of the Beaver Island Boat Co., which operates the motorship Beaver Islander between the two ports.

He said the 95-foot motorship made a trip Monday and another is planned for Wednesday if St. James Harbor isn't clogged with ice. Unless the weather clears and the temperatures warm up that will likely be the last trip.

The motorship normally operates through the Christmas holiday and as late as Dec. 31. However, ice in the harbor at St. James and the possibility of an east wind that will sweep drift ice into the bay may make it necessary to halt operations at any time.

McDonough said that when the early winter made the prospects of operating until the end of the year seem impossible, supplies ordered for later in the month were rushed over ahead of schedule. He said large loads of building materials of all kinds, supplies of groceries and other necessities, two pick-ups ordered by island residents and large amounts of other supplies were transported.

If the motorship is able to make the trip Wednesday, a cargo of fuel oil will be transported. The barge on which it is usually transported became frozen in the ice at St. James harbor and the supply had to be taken to the island by the Beaver Islander if it is to get there.

Once navigation closes, the McPhillips Flying Service which has the winter mail contract, transports all passengers, mail and supplies until the lake is open in the spring.

Wonderland Comes to Elementary School

For an hour last week the Charlevoix Elementary School gymnasium was transformed into a musical, magical dream world.

Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" was brought to life for the kindergarten through fifth grade students by the Prince Street Players, a professional acting troupe known for their creative adaptions of children's classics.

The 10 actors and actresses sang and danced their way through the well-known tale as well as into the hearts of the youngsters. They were faithful to the original dialogue and characters of the story, and they livened it up with an almost continuous musical score and lyrics.

In addition to the singing and dancing, which included ballet and stylized movement, the actors wore bright-colored costumes which added to the appeal of the delightful musical.

The students sat spellbound throughout the performance and even after it was over and the children began seeking the autographs of the players, many of them still seemed a little unsure of whether they were talking to real people or the Rabbit and Alice.

The musical program was brought to the elementary school as a special Christmas treat from the Crooked Tree Arts Council, Charlevoix County State Bank, First State Bank of Charlevoix, Northwestern State Bank of Boyne City and East Jordan, the First National Bank and Trust Company and the State Bank and Trust Company of Petoskey, and the Michigan Council of the Arts.

The troupe also performed at East Jordan, Boyne City and Petoskey. They will be touring through Michigan during December as part of the Detroit Institute of Arts Youtheatre "Show on the Road" program. The Youtheatre is recognized as the country's largest center of professional entertainment for young people. The "Show on the Road" touring program is partially funded by a grant from the Michigan State Legislature to the Michigan Council for the Arts, enables professional theatre companies to present first rate productions to youngsters and adults throughout the state.

DIANE DREW, played the part of Alice and Henry D'Alessandris the part of the Rabbit in the Prince Street Players production of "Alice and Wonderland" which was presented at the Charlevoix Elementary School last week.

STUDENTS CROWD around Alice (Diane Drew) and the Rabbit (Henry D'Alessandris) to gather autographs of the Wonderland characters.

Artists' Dream Comes True With Christmas Tour

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Artists North's Christmas Tour this past weekend was a simultaneous "First Annual and "Third Anniversary" celebration.

And for those who missed it, most of the Charlevoix artists are holding repeat performances of the tours through their studios, shops and galleries this coming weekend.

The tour has been a long time in coming, dating back two years when local artists first thought about forming an organization.

In the summer of '74, Bill Murray, Charlevoix painter and high school art teacher; and Susan and Russell Bolt, Charlevoix painters and ceramic artists; talked across art fair booths. Living in the northwoods is an artist's dream and dilemma, Murray and the Bolts agreed.

The woods and rural scenes offer peace and inspiration. But being holed up in studios miles apart in the woods does not offer the opportunities for exchange of ideas, inspiration and information on which city-based art colonies flourish, they argued.

Joining that discussion, which continued through the summer art fair season, were Jerry and Linda Beers Aydlott, then Charlevoix and now East Jordan creative jewelry designers and art fair friends of Murray and the Bolts, and Marcie Brown, Charlevoix creator of hand-tied objects d'art.

Those conversations were the beginnings of Artists North, now a Charlevoix to Harbor Springs, 50-member cooperative of creative people, the same group which held the recent art tour.

During the Christmas Season of 1974, the original six held a sale of their work at the Bolt's converted Grange Hall studio, and continued talking. They wanted to formalize their association and perhaps develop a retail outlet for all their works.

By the next summer, Charlevoix potter Laurie Lesser had joined the group as did water color artist Dan Tollas and photographer Marian Broussard. They named themselves Artists Landing and that summer (1975) established a cooperative retail outlet for their works at Torch Lake's Brownwood Acres.

But a retail store was not the answer for the expanding association. The individual artists wanted to fill both tangible and intangible needs through their group; but running a store wasn't it. They found they became so involved in the business they were left minimal studio time.

Thus came Artists North the most active nucleus of which remains the original Charlevoix six. Artists North is broadly trying to offer actual services and provide a forum – a source of artistic stimulation.

Marcie Brown described its membership as "a combination of working artists and crafts people, people interested in supporting the arts and some semi-professionals, all desiring communication with other artists.

"We share knowledge, experience, and when possible services," Ms. Brown continued.

"Knowledge" has been shared by such people as co-op member Suzi Reiss, owner of Charlevoix's Reiss Gallery, who discussed at a recent meeting, professional preparation of art work for galleries and the common mistakes artists make in framing.

Bill Murray devoted an evening to demonstrating matting techniques.

Shared services are such as the arrangement between Todd Warner, Charlevoix's creator of whimsical animal ceramics, the Bolts and Charlevoix's Bonnie and Bill Staffel, owners of Staffel's Pottery, who share packing materials for mailing goods to their retail outlets across the country.

As a group, Artists North is trying to find a reasonable means for its self-employed members to obtain health insurance.

Bill Murray, vice coordinator of the organization, explained, "Artists are considered high risk by insurance companies because we are involved with so many weird things – photo chemicals, kilns and so on."

Linda Beers-Aydlott, recently elected coordinator (but who abhors titles), is a highly successful jewelry designer, working with her husband Jerry. They call their enterprise, run from their East Jordan home and studio, "Body Embellishments." Jewelry is an incomplete description of her gold and silver work, which includes such pieces as feathered silver hair ornaments or her, not-for-sale, silver vest.

Ms. Beers-Aydlott commented, "Most of us earn our living at art shows. And we are mostly trying to get away from dependence on such things as electric can openers." (Their studio and home, which they built themselves, is wood heated). "All this plus the business end is a lot of hassle.

"The co-op enables us to get together, find out where the good art fairs are, where to buy supplies, and how to do your taxes. There are so many ins and outs," she said.

"That's one thing they don't teach in college – how to earn your own living," she concluded.

Some of the members, such as the Warners, Bolts, Staffels, Aydlotts and others have obtained a fair degree of financial success as artists. Other members are just starting. Some are the true struggling starving type. Some are content to be "Sunday artists." All are serious.

The co-op provides a chance for mutual learning and exchange.

And the Co-op "is a means for artists to get together socially as well," Bill Murray emphasized. "Artists have crazy hours and long days. They are all alone in their corners. It's important to have a means of getting together."

If the co-op is helping to bring northern artists out of their rural hermitages, it is also providing the art consuming public with increasing opportunities to buy good works from young serious professionals.

In the Charlevoix area most of the members who participated in the past weekend tour will be open again this weekend, including: Macra Mania", 401 Alice St. Marcie Brown's macrame and fibers also showing Char Smith's paintings; Pots and Things, US31 South, across from the airport, which will display Laurie Lesser's pottery, Bill Murray's water colors, P.J. Murray's macrame and Victor Hayes watercolors; "Something Special," U.S. 31 North, with John Murowski's wood work and graphics; the Reiss Gallery, downtown, showing the playful soft sculpture pillows by Diane and Jim Belcher, and Dan Tollas' watercolors; Dana Honeysette's Petoskey Stone Jewelry at 611 Norwood Rd.; Staffel's Pottery; and several of the co-op member's shops in Boyne City, East Jordan, Petoskey and Harbor Springs. All participants can direct the public to the other members' galleries and shops throughout the region.

LAURIE LESSER of "Pots and Things" is hard at work at her potter's wheel as Bill Murray, another artist, observes.

Senior Citizen Center Busy During November Despite Holiday

By PEG OHLE

Despite the long holiday weekend in November, the Charlevoix County Senior Center in East Jordan was well used.

Commissioner Martin Paul reported to the County Board of Commissioners last week that approximately 600 people registered at the center to participate in a variety of activities.

There were three Senior Club meetings, four bingo games, three exercise classes, two psychology classes and one movie.

In addition, Gordon Sattlemeier of the Petoskey Social Security office spoke to a group and answered questions about Social Security matters, Suzanne Wiekert of the County Department of Social Services talked on supplemental Social Security income and food stamps, and Ros-Lee Young, a therapist, addressed a group.

Lunches were served seven days during the month, there was one blood pressure clinic and 101 people received flu shots.

Also, during the month, 42 people received flu shots in Boyne City and 46 people received them in Charlevoix. Lunches were served 11 days in Boyne City and seven days in Charlevoix.

The phone at the Senior Center was also busy. The Center answered 438 calls for transportation and information. There were 141 calls for transportation to meal sites, eight for transportation for doctors' appointments, 43 calls for transportation to grocery stores, nine calls for transportation to beauty shops, 50 calls for transportation to Petoskey, 12 calls for mail pickups, 60 driver confirmation calls, 74 calls pertaining to the flu clinic, 24 calls for general information and referral, five calls in regard to cancellation of Senior Club meeting, and 12 calls for miscellaneous information.

While the Charlevoix County Senior Center serves mainly people in Charlevoix County, it is also used by some in northern Antrim County, according to Dorothy Pelton, director of the Center.

Juvenile Crime Incidences Climbing, Charlevoix Rate Higher Than Emmet

By PEG OHLE

County Prosecutor Roy Hayes told the Board of Commissioners last week that he is concerned with the number of juveniles involved in crime in Charlevoix County.

So far this year, 198 young people have been apprehended by police in Charlevoix and Boyne City and by the Sheriff's Department. Hayes estimates there have probably been 40 more apprehensions in East Jordan, and an additional number by State Police. The 198 apprehensions are higher than those in Emmet County.

The crimes run the gamut of adult offenses, according to Hayes, including larceny, major traffic offenses such as reckless and careless driving, and homicide.

"If they start as youngsters and we don't do anything about it, adult crime will also increase," Hayes said.

Several commissionera suggested to Hayes that perhaps the large number of apprehensions might be due to good police work. While Hayes said he felt that could be partially true, he didn't believe it was the whole story and he was going to delve further into the matter.

Hayes told the Courier that he thinks there is a need in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties for some kind of a youth home.

"I don't think the Juvenile Court has adequate facilities," he said. "They have to put the kids in foster homes, turn them over to Social Services, or put them in training schools. Local facilities are better."

Hayes also said he believes that juveniles involved in serious crimes should be tried as adults.

"I think we should judge the crime rather than the age of the individual involved," he concluded.

Boyne City Leads

Building Continues at Brisk Pace in County

Building in Charlevoix County continued at a brisk pace during November.

County Building Code Administrator Dick Mayhew reports that 37 permits for construction amounting to $408,373 were issued last month. This covers all building starts in the county with the exception of the City of Charlevoix.

Boyne City led with seven permits, followed by Boyne Valley Township, five; Bay Township, three; Evangeline Township, three; Melrose Township, three; South Arm Township, three; Charlevoix Township, two; Hayes Township, two; Hudson Township, two; East Jordan, two; Chandler Township, one; Eveline Township, one; Marion Township, one; and St. James Township, one.

Most of the construction, $322,625 worth, is for new residences. Other categories are commercial additions, $29,500; residential additions, $18,150; new commercial buildings, $15,840; garages and additions to garages, $12,198; residential outbuildings, $9,570; mobiles homes and additions, $1,040; and residential remodeling, $400.

The Department of Building Inspection has issued 631 permits, representing $6,051,432 in building costs, so far this year. Income from permit fees amounts to $22,602, which goes into the County Treasury.

Editorials/Opinions

Citizens Should Protest Reduced Snowplowing For Safety, Economy

It was inevitable that winter would come to Charlevoix and that with winter would come the icy, slippery road conditions we are now facing in the city and county.

It was also inevitable that with winter would come what is turning out to be an annual announcement from the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation that the use of salt in the removal of snow and ice from state highways has again been cut back due to the skyrocketing price.

The announcement from the highway department also contained the news that due to the energy crisis and the gas shortage, the department is encouraging the county road commissions to follow its bare-pavement policy which limits plowing during late afternoon and evenings.

The Charlevoix County Road Commission has said it will follow the state highway department's suggestion and will not be plowing in the evenings except in the case of an emergency.

In the past, city and county residents have put up with the reduced road maintenance during the winter months, risking their lives if they have to travel to work or for pleasure in the evenings. But it doesn't have to be this way.

We are urging residents to protest the reduced road maintenance in our area by expressing their dissatisfaction to their county commissioners and city aldermen and other officials. This type of protest campaign can be effective.

Citizens in Wayne County got together recently to protest the road maintenance cutback in their county and the road commission reversed its policy and agreed to salt all county roads, state highways and freeways in spite of the extra cost.

It is vital that we keep our roads clear, not only for the health and safety of our residents, but also for economic reasons.

Our economy is based for the most part on tourism. And while Charlevoix's share of the winter tourist business is not as high as the surrounding areas, the business is growing each year.

One way we could make our county and city more attractive to downstate and out-state visitors is to keep the roads clear–not just passable. If our county roads were safe and easy to drive on, more people would be encouraged to travel the extra distance to our fair city, instead of trying to find lodging as close to the ski resorts as possible.

With the increased business that clear roads would bring to the area, we could probably easily afford to pay for the increased cost of road maintenance.

And winter would be more pleasant for all of us.

Honor Sen. Hart By Imitating His Deeds

We would like to add our praise to the mound of plaudits being given to retiring Senator Philip Hart.

The senior statesman has served our state with honor and enthusiasm. He has shown remarkable foresight in environmental concerns and he has helped preserve a part of Northern Michigan for posterity through the establishment of Sleeping Bear Dunes and Pictured Rock National parks.

He has also shown that a politician can be a humanitarian through his promotion of civil rights legislation in the 1960s. Sen. Hart has proven that there is room for moral judgment in the political arena which so often seems to forget about people and just deal with things.

Although Sen. Hart has expressed his wish that no special celebration will be held in his honor, we are urging citizens to write to Sen. Hart expressing their thanks for his many years of dedicated service to this state.

We also urge our new Senator and all of our present Representatives to honor Hart by following the lead he has taken in being a man determined to do what is right no matter what the odds, to stand up for what he believes in and to be a true representative of the people.

We would like to thank each and everyone that helped in making our stay very enjoyable. We had a good trip up and back, no problems at all.

Your hospitality and kindness was very much appreciated. Basketball to us is more than winning or losing a game. It is also having the privilege of meeting new people and making new friends with people like yourselves.

If you ever come our way please feel free to stop and say "hello."

You have a team that the community can be proud of. I hope your season will be a very successful one.

Our best wishes for the Christmas Season and th New Year go to each one of you. May God continue to Bless you and keep you in the palm of His hand. If it's not one thing it's another.

For five years now we have awaited breathlessly for completion of the new trans-Alaskan pipeline. The Alaskan oil was to be our ace in the hole in the current war of nerves with the wily Arabs.

Then last week came word that only one-half mile of pipe remained to be laid across Alaska's snowy wastes. The following day the pipeline was completed, aside from welding a few joints, water-testing and other mop-up operations.

The first oil will flow from Prudhoe Bay on the North Slope across Alaska to Valdez on the south by next summer.

But, don't bother celebrating just yet. The American oil industry still hasn't decided how it is going to move the oil to where it is needed in the United States.

Tankers will carry the oil from Alaska to California, but sunny California doesn't need all that oil. In fact, the surplus will range between 300,000 and 600,000 barrels a day.

The oil industry has known about the problem for quite some time, but hasn't come up with a workable plan to move the fuel east that won't wreak havoc with the environment. There is even talk of constructing a second pipeline from British Columbia to Minnesota, but the cost would be horrendous on top of expenses already incurred building the Alaska pipeline.

So it appears that the United States will have all the oil it needs by next summer — but we won't be able to get our hands on it.

Every other day or so the press comes up with a story about another group, industry or lone inventor working on an electric automobile — something to move Americans about after the price of gasoline becomes prohibitive. The movers and shakers apparently have agreed that Americans will settle for nothing less than personal transportation in the future — just as they have in the past — because the words "electric car" seem to crop up more often nowaways than "mass transit."

What bothers me is why tomorrow's automobiles must be electric when other cheaper forms of energy are available.

For example, steam automobiles made quite a splash in the early days of the century. I don't know what fuel Stanley used to make his steam, but presumably any fuel would work as it did in the early days of rail transportation.

During my sojourne in Japan following World War II, I was surprised to find many taxi cabs ranuning through the streets of Tokyo powered by charcoal engines. I won't even to pretend to know how they worked, but I do know I saw little charcoal burners — open to public view – in the engine compartments of little bug-like taxis.

Furthermore, we seem to have overlooked the fact that there are other good, burnable liquid fuels besides gasoline. Several years ago the Sunday Supplements held high hopes for peanut oil and corn oil as the fuels of the future.

Personally, I think we could do worse than alcohol – a fast-burning fuel made from just about any organic substance, including sawdust and woodchips.

In fact, it may be possible to convert today's gasoline engines into alcohol burners without a great deal of difficulty.

I remember reading during the war how a truckload of Russian soldiers ran out of gasoline near German lines. However, the troops reached into their rucksacks and came up with enough Vodka to power their vehicle to safety.

Of course, you wouldn't want to burn good Vodka in your Blunker-8, but a cheap gin might work just as well.

I can take only so many of these Christmas bazaars with their homemade counters of cleverness and creativity – then I start to regress.

Walking through the rows of homemade cookies, bottle cap abstracts, crocheted hats, and disguised styrofoam, I ask myself, "What are you doing with your life that is meaningful?" "Have you ever finished anything you started including your children?" "You're nothing but a piece of lint in a black wool coat world!"

Eventually, I snap out of my self-pity and become like most women who go to bazaars – not to buy, but to copy the idea and reproduce it myself.

This month, I looked at a wine bottle that had the neck cut off and the edges sanded and was instantly converted to a votive candle holder and I said to myself, "I can do that."

The stitches in my hand come out the 18th of this month.

I looked at a little needlepointed doorknob warmer with a picture of Santa Claus with a little cotton beard and a bell on his little cap and said to myself, "I can do that."

What the heck! How many doorknobs do you know personally who complain of the cold?

I looked at an angel where the body was a simple cone and the head was a styrofoam ball and all you had to do was dip your husband's old underwear in a heavy paste and drape it gracefully over the cone and spray paint it gold and I said to myself, "I can do that."

A lot of men wear gold underwear, especially during the holidays when they don't have to sit a lot.

I looked at a great big old log that someone had just picked up in the woods and there was virtually a jungle of green plants trailing out of every opening and I said to myself, "I can do that."

The exterminator is coming out Tuesday to give me an estimate on how much it will cost to get the pregnant worms out of my woodwork.

I looked at a calico map of the United States that you just run up on your sewing machine out of scraps of material you have around the house and I said to myself, "I can do that."

Eighteen more payments and the sewing machine is mine. The dog ate Colorado which makes a heckuva hole between Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.

I lied. I can't do any of that!

Glandular Hypnosis

If I were a woman, I would be the biggest libber in town. And if I were a violent woman, I would stand in line for a chance to throw rotten eggs at Dr. Joyce Brothers and Marabel Morgan.

On TV the other afternoon, Dr. Brothers told women how in increase the size of their breasts through hypnosis. Honest, I do not make these things up.

She was on one of those endless talk shows where the only language spoken double entendre. Intellecual discussions of the female anatomy are always popular on these programs usually resulting in much giggling and other merriment reminiscent of recess at kindergarten.

Dr. Brothers said cup sizes can be increased through some sort of psychic manipulation of the pituitary gland. She also said rich men who don't drink like small breasts on women. She really said that.

"Where is my TV throw-up pot?" I asked my wife.

"You broke it while chewing on it during that Marabel Morgan interview last week," she said.

I think Marabel Morgan and Joyce Brothers are Siamese twins joined at the lower back so they face in opposite directions. This allows Joyce to appear on CBS at the same time Marabel is on NBC.

These two women inspired Ira Levin to write "The Stepford Wives." They also inspired Eve Arden to change her lifestyle, moving into a supermarket to be near the margarine she loves.

Dr. Brothers is a graduate psychologist who got her start on a TV quiz show answering questions about prize fighting. She now writes a syndicated column and sits on Johnny Carson's couch, thus proving a woman can get ahead in a man's world if she knows what color trunks Max Baer was wearing when he first propositioned his wife's pituitary gland.

Marabel Morgan gained fame by writing a book called "The Total Woman". She preaches that a woman can have a perfect marriage if she encourages her husband to be the complte boss in all matters, even when he is wrong. A good wife, says Marabel, doesn't tell her husband she is too tired until two days after she is dead.

Mrs. Morgan's leading apostles teach the Marabel philosophy at seminars held regularly all over the nation, including the Detroit area. These are something like Tupperware parties except the wives learn the best way to get a table is with their own ever-eager bodies, preferably clad in "an outrageously sexy outfit."

Marabel says her husband once returned from work to find her wearing a baby doll nightgown and white boots. "Charlie went wild that evening," she said. She really said that.

The most important 8 minutes in a housewife's day, Marabel claims, are the first 4 when her husband is waking up. ("Give him a kiss, rub his back, whisper in his ear") and the first 4 minutes when he comes home from work (open the door wearing nothing heavier than a scent. If this doesn't drive him wild, call Charlie).

When the morning alarm went off yesterday, I began to get up first.

"I am freezing," my wife whispered sweetly into my ear. "You pulled the electric blanket off me. PUT IT BACK!"

That evening, when I returned from work, she was still wearing the electric blanket, over blue jeans and sweat shirt. "How come you're late?" she said.

"I had a tough day at the office," I said.

"I phoned your office at 4 o'clock and they said you weren't back from lunch yet," she said.

"I was out shopping for a used pituitary gland but they didn't have one in your size," I said.

"I could have married a rich man who didn't drink," she said, "but his name was Charlie and he suffered from an unusual handicap which eventually drove him wild. There was a Barbie doll wearing white boots stuck in his ear."

She really said that. And I spent the balance of those 4 crucial minutes giving her a large hug, and I dragged her to the floor with me.

"Am I driving you wild?" she asked.

"No, I tripped over the cord from the electric blanket," I said.

Anyway, Marabel and Joyce should sit on it. Husbands are not made happy by glandular hypnosis or by baby doll nightgowns open 24 hours a day. Husbands are made happy by wives who know enough to keep throw-up pots handy when Marabel and Joyce are on TV.

That's the kind of a wife I have, and I am very happy.

Meet Charlevoix

...John Haggard

John Haggard will take office next month on the County Board of Commissioners representing District 3 (Charlevoix and Hayes Townships). This week the Courier learns a little bit about him and how he will approach his new job.

COURIER: Do you have any specific plans for representing your district?

HAGGARD: I hope to be able to attend the township board meetings every month, or at least every other month, to learn what their problems are and do what I can to help them. I feel this is the way a commissioner should work in order to represent his townships. He can't know otherwise.

COURIER: How to you think units of government should work?

HAGGARD: The biggest thing to strive for is a productive operation. Being a businessman with a business training background, I feel that everything that exists is a business operation. Government should be operated as a business, especially local government. The county's budget is well over a million and a half dollars, and with all the property and equipment it owns, it really is big business.

COURIER: How will you approach the many problems the county has?

HAGGARD: I'm going to wait and see which committees I'm assigned to before I can do anything.

COURIER: Why did you run for the office?

HAGGARD: I've always been interested in the political area, especially since I moved back to Charlevoix. It is a privilege to be elected to office. I've always felt that responsible people in the community have to take the responsibility to get the job done.

COURIER: What are your business interests?

HAGGARD: We have a complete mechanical business–plumbing, heating, air conditioning for the commercial, industrial and residential fields. We also have a complete service department. I'm also involved in two other businesses, the Bath and Bed Shop and Left's Restaurant.

COURIER: Have you lived in Charlevoix all your life?

HAGGARD: I was born and raised in Charlevoix, went to St. Mary's school, and graduated from high school in 1959.

COURIER: Then what did you do?

HAGGARD: I went to Ferris State College, then to the University of Tennessee. Before I finished I joined the Army. When I got out I returned to Ferris and graduated in 1968 with a degree in business administration.

COURIER: What was your first job after that?

HAGGARD: I went to work with Ford in Dearborn as a supervisor in the iron foundry. In 1971, three and a half years later, I came back to Charlevoix and bought our present business.

COURIER: What community activities have you been engaged in?

HAGGARD: I served three years on the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission, one year as chairman. At present I'm a director of the Little Traverse Homebuilder's Association. We also belong to the Chamber of Commerce.

COURIER: Do you have a family?

HAGGARD: My wife, Phyllis–she's from Grawn–and I were married in 1967. We have three children, Betsy, six, Barbara, five, and John, three.

John Haggard

THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BOARD of Canvassers was back in action last week for a recount of the ballots cast in the District 14 County Commissioner race between Marian Thomure and Oscar Ward and for those ballots cast in the treasurer and constable race in Hudson Township. There was no change in the outcome of the races following the recount, County Clerk Clarence Rabach said. Working on the recount are Eleanor Sutliff, and Beth Genelt on the left and Irene Mackle and Jane Mayhew on the right.

Pie Funds To Help Students

Mentally and physically impaired students in Charlevoix and Emmet counties got a boost from Charlevoix residents recently.

A $285 check, the result of the Cherry Pie Bake-Off held last spring in the area, has been presented to officials at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, Dave Phillips, coordinator of the pie baking event, said.

"Of the money, $135 is to be used for the Camp Daggett program for handicapped kids and $150 is to be used to send students from this area to participate in the special Olympics, Phillips explained.

Phillips said that the baking of the world's largest cherry pie, which was designed to get Charlevoix into the Guinness Book of Records, had also been intended to raise money to help the handicapped students through donations from people attending the event.

Special education students from throughout the Char-Em district and the Northern Michigan area had also been invited to attend the event as a special treat.

To help add to the amount collected during the pie baking on May 15, Phillips recently auctioned off one of the shovels used in the baking of the pie. Don Hufford purchased the shovel for $65 which was added to a $100 contribution from Harry Hater, a summer resident.

"I wanted people to know that we made it into the World Book of Records for this year, too," Phillips said. "There are only two places in Michigan named in that book–Charlevoix and Mackinac Island."

Mackinac Island was mentioned because of the stone skipping contest held there, Phillips said.

The cherry pie chef also announced that Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township supervisor, had agreed to build a statue commemorating the cherry pie bake by township fire station number two.

The statue will include the pie tin and bricks from the oven used to bake the pie.

Local Builder Receives Bid At Whiting Park

Charlevoix contractor Jack Stebe has been awarded the contract to build a new caretaker's house at Whiting Park.

The County Board of Commissioners last week accepted his bid in the amount of $26,200.

The present caretaker's house will be burned down before the new structure is started.

Elmer Gibson Closes Bridge For Last Time

Elmer Gibson has had his last ups and downs on the bridge over the Pine River Channel. He retired last Saturday as operator of the bridge after 25 years of service with the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Gibson wouldn't guess how many times he had raised and lowered the bridge during 25 years but did say it used to be more often than it is now because he had to raise it whenever a boat blew its whistle.

Born on Beaver Island, Gibson worked in several Charlevoix grocery stores before taking the bridge job. He also worked for a while on the Mary Margaret, plying the waters between Charlevoix and Beaver Island. He served in the Army during World War II.

Asked what he was going to do now that he is retired, Gibson said, "Hock". He does have hobbies, however, including woodworking and model trains. A beautiful China cabinet graces the wall of the Gibson's living room and an ice boat is stored in the basement, both products of Gibson's handicraft.

Gibson and his wife, Hilda, have two children. John is employed at Impac Tool and daughter Shirley lives in San Francisco.

High School Musicians to Offer Musical Yule Present to Community

By FRAN MARTIN

A beautiful Christmas gift tied with holiday ribbons and tinsel will be awaiting the concert-goers who attend the annual Christmas concert to be presented by the Charlevoix High School Music Department and members of the City Band at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21, at the Charlevoix High School.

Reminiscent of days of old, Christmas carols played by two brass choirs will echo through the hallways of the school and a third brass choir composed of adult members of the Charlevoix City band will be playing the same carols in the gymnasium beginning at 7 p.m., according to Gary L. Stutzman who heads the music department.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the high school choir, the concert and the symphony bands will, in turn, present their gifts to the residents of the area who will be on hand to receive them.

"Giving is what Christmas is all about. We of the music department want to present to you, our audience, the gifts we have prepared....gifts that represent a part of ourselves" Mrs. Stutzman said.

It was his way of saying that this concert will be something secial.

The High School choir, directed by Steve Stargardt, will open the concert with its gift, the singing of such beloved carols as "Adoramus Te", "Jazz Gloria", "Do You Hear What I Hear", "Carol of the Bells", "Noel" and "Gloria of the Lord".

The Concert Band will turn to the lighter music of Christmas as it presents "Christmas Party", "Jingle Bells Rhapsody", "Christmas Wishes" and "The Great Songs of Christmas" all under the direction of Mr. Stutzman.

The Symphony Band, also appearing under the direction of Mr. Stutzman, will unwrap its gift with the playing of "American Solute" followed by the familiar "Valse des Fleurs" from the "Nutcracker Suite", "American Christmas Festival", "Sleigh Ride" and concluding with "White Christmas".

The concert will conclude with all three groups joining in the playing and singing of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus".

If you listen carefully right now you can year the more than 200 voices of three musical groups and their directors saying in chorus, "This is our Christmas gift to the community.

Won't you please be present to receive it? We've planned it just for you in appreciation for all you do for us all the time."

Middle School Concert Set for Thursday

"Let's get into the spirit of Christmas" is the theme of the Christmas concert to be presented by the instrumental and vocal groups of the Charlevoix Middle School at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Steve Stargardt, speaking in behalf of himself and Evelyn Peters, said that the Seventh and Eighth grade bands and the choir composed of students from the two classes have planned a concert designed to put even Scrooge into the spirit of the holidays.

The younger of the two bands, the Seventh Grade group, will present "I'll Be Home for Christmas" and the Christmas march plus other seasonal numbers.

The Eighth Grade band will swing out with "Rockin' on the Roof" "Deck the Halls and All that Jazz" and other selections as their contribution to the concert.

They will appear under the direction of Miss Peters.

The choir of seventh and eighth grade voices will present "Do you hear what I hear?", "Little Drummer Boy", "White Christmas" and traditional carols.

The faculty and the students have issued an invitation to everyone to attend the concert.

Duke, Skillman Re-elected To Posts on Auto Board

William M. Skillman, director of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, and Thomas A. Duke, a Charlevoix resident and First State Bank of Charlevoix board chairman, have been reelected president and a director of the Automobile Club of Michigan (AAA).

They were elected during the annual board of directors meeting last week.

Skillman, a resident of Farmington Hills, is a certified public accountant and a partner in the accounting firm of Skillman, Zielesch & Co. He has been a director of the Auto Club since 1967. He is also a board member of the Angell Foundation, a charitable trust that owns North Manitou island in Lake Michigan.

Duke is a third-generation builder-developer and past president of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit. He is chairman of the board of Metropolitan National Bank of Farmington. He is senior active director the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. His developments include Farmington's 1,000-unit Independence Green apartment complex and 18-hole golf course. He served five years on the Farmington Township Board of Trustees and in 1964 received the Farmington Jaycees' Oistinguished Service Award as Man of the Year.

Charlevoix House Residents Prepare for Open House

Christmos is a time for sharing, a time for getting together with old friends and new, and a time for thanking those people whu have helped you throughout the year.

So, the residents of the Charlevoix House on Belvedere Avenue, have decided to hold an Open House from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday to help get all of their friends intu the Christmas spirit and to thank them for their help and encouragement throughuut the year.

Charlevoix House is a licensed group home which provides individualized living with the support of foster care for four mentally impaired adults. The group home has been run by Kathy nnd Pat Hynes for the past year and a half.

"We like tu invite people here," Dale, one of the residents of the home, said explaining why they decided to have the open house.

"We like tu talk with people and show people how we live here," he continued struggling with his words. "I'm happy here and I want to show people."

The residents of the home, Oale, Patsy, Peggy and Dave, along with the Hynes and their two children, are planning a gala affair, complete with punch and cookies. And of course the house will be decorated for Christmas from top to bottom.

The open house will be the beginning of many Christmos celebrations for the residents of Charlevoix Huuse. They are planning to attend parties at the Bergmann Center and at the home of their Adult Basic Education (ABE) teacher. They are also planning their own Christmas celebration which includes dinner at a local restaurant as well as the exchange of gifts.

The purpose of the Charlevoix House is to help its residents acquire skills they can use lu independent living. Eventually some of the residents may move out of the house and set up a home of their own. Others may always live in a group home setting.

Already, two former residents of the home have moved out to set up their own house. The couple was married during the Thanksgiving holiday, Mrs. Hynes said and have moved tu a house in Charlevuix.

Mrs. Hynes said that the residents in the home would be doing their share of the preparation for all of the parties they will be attending as well as for the open house.

But the residents of the Charlevoix House want to do more than just give and attend parties this Christmos.

"So many things happen here and we get so many good wishes that sometimes we feel like we are overflowing and we wuuld like to do something to help other people," Mrs. Hynes explained.

She said thot the four residents were looking for some way to help a less fortunate person in the community. She said thot in the past, the four residents, at no urging from the Hynes had given money to an East Jordan family that along with contributions from other concerned citizens, allowed the family to purchase o water heater.

"They've already talked obout doing smething like that again," she said as the residents nodded in agreement.

Dale explained that the group had helped many people in the area in different ways.

"It made me feel happy," he said.

Michigan Northern Tops Penn Central, Ships 63 Carloads of Christmas Trees

Sixty-three carloads of Northern Michigan Christmas trees were shipped all over the United States this fall via the newly-formed Michigan Northern Railroad, the company reports.

Last year, the Penn-Central Railroad shipped 50 carloads.

Tree-shipping began Nov. 14 and concluded Nov. 30 with trees on their way to Texas, New Mexico, California, Ohio, Louisiana, and Oklahoma. Connections were made with the C&O and Conrail in Michigan, and from there with the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Rock Island.

The trees were shipped from Pellston, Kalkaska, Manton and North Boardman. Christmas trees are the railroad's major seasonal angricultural freight.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wiedman

The Weidmans Celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Weidman observed their golden wedding anniversary at a quiet family dinner Thursday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook.

This observance was held on the date of the anniversary, Dec. 10, However, an early celebration marked by an open house was held at their home September 4 for family and friends who could attend at that time.

Hosting the event at that time were their son and daughters, Theodore E. Weidman of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Florence Caldwell of Parma, Ohio, Mrs. Edward (Jean) Vogler of Beulah, Mrs. Richard (Kitty) Sipple of Norwalk, Ohio, Mrs. Dan (Edna) Stuart of Sterling Heights, Mrs. Emmie Forrest of Rochester, Mrs. Robert (Sally) Geer and Mrs. Frank (Lynn) Cook of Charlevoix. The couple also has 16 grandchildren.

Mr. Weidman, a native of Cleveland, and the former Edna Loach, who was born in Pennsylvania, were married in Cleveland Dec. 10, 1926, and resided there until coming to Charlevoix in 1958. Mr. Weidman was employed by the Cities Service Oil Co. in Cleveland and in Charlevoix until he retired.

Mrs. Weidman is a member of the First Congregational Church and the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Mr. Weidman is a former member of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club.

The observance in September marked the first family reunion in seven years. It also brought the couple's sister-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Weidman, from Florida for the occasion.

Brenda Strange, Gary Drenth Wed

ELLSWORTH -- Arrangements of white poinsettias and lighted tapers graced the altar of the Atwood Reformed Church for the wedding of Brenda Strange and Gary Drenth on Saturday, Dec. 4.

The Rev. Larry Brosseit officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 150 guests. Mrs. Hans DeYoung, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and, the wedding marches and accompanied Marvin Shooks who sang "Because", "My Sweet Lady" and the Lord's Prayer" Patty Wallick accompanied him on the flute as he sang "Colour My World".

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Drenth

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Strange and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit George Drenth. Both families are from Ellsworth.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, chose a white polyester knit gown for her wedding. The gown featured slightly raised waistline, high neckline and long sleeves accented with Venise lace which also trimmed the chapel length train. Her fingertip veil trimmed with matching lace fell from a Juliet lace cap. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations, light blue baby's breath and ivy streamers.

Mrs. Richard Donaldson, Jr., of Alpena served as her matron of honor. Mrs. Gregory Strange, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Mark Elzinga were bridesmaids. They wore identical blue printed floor length polyester gowns styled a long empire lines with long sleeves. Each carried a single white mum tied with light blue streamers. Nikki Drenth, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Scott Vollmer was ringbearer.

Chet Drenth assisted his brother as best man. Eugene Drenth, brother of the bridegroom, and Lester Essenberg of Central Lake were groomsmen. Brothers of the bride, Greg, Dan and Gary Strange and Richard Donaldson, Jr., of Alpena, brother-in-law of the bride, seated the guests.

Jeff and Bryan Vollmer lighted the candles and Doug Vollmer was flower bearer.

Mrs. Strange selected a floor length rose gown for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Drenth, mother of the bridegroom, wore a winter white gown with brown accents. Their corsages were of white carnations.

A reception followed at the Ellsworth Elementary School.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside in Ellsworth.

Guests were present from Grand Rapids, Cadillac, McBain, Alpena, Bay Shore and Charlevoix.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents was held at the dining room of the Atwood Reformed Church on Friday evening.

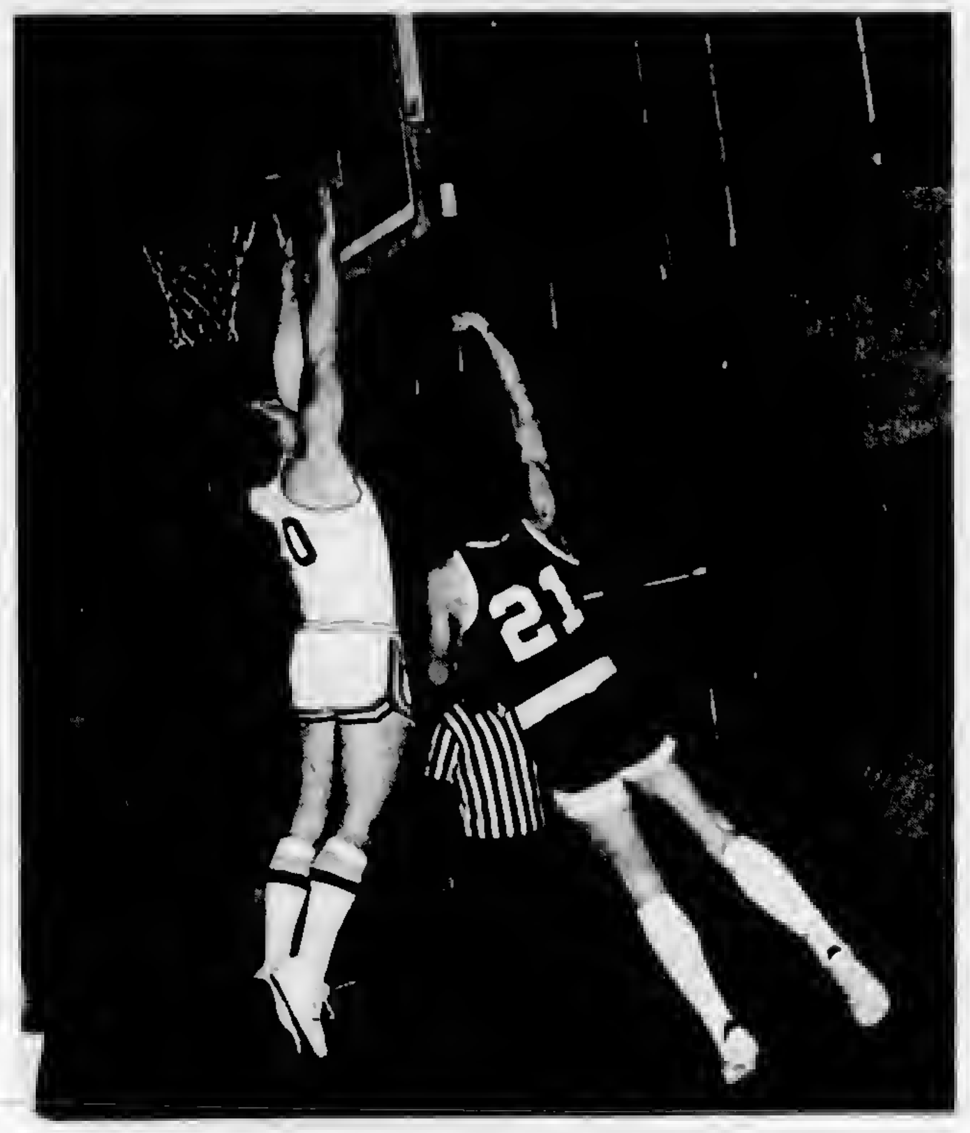
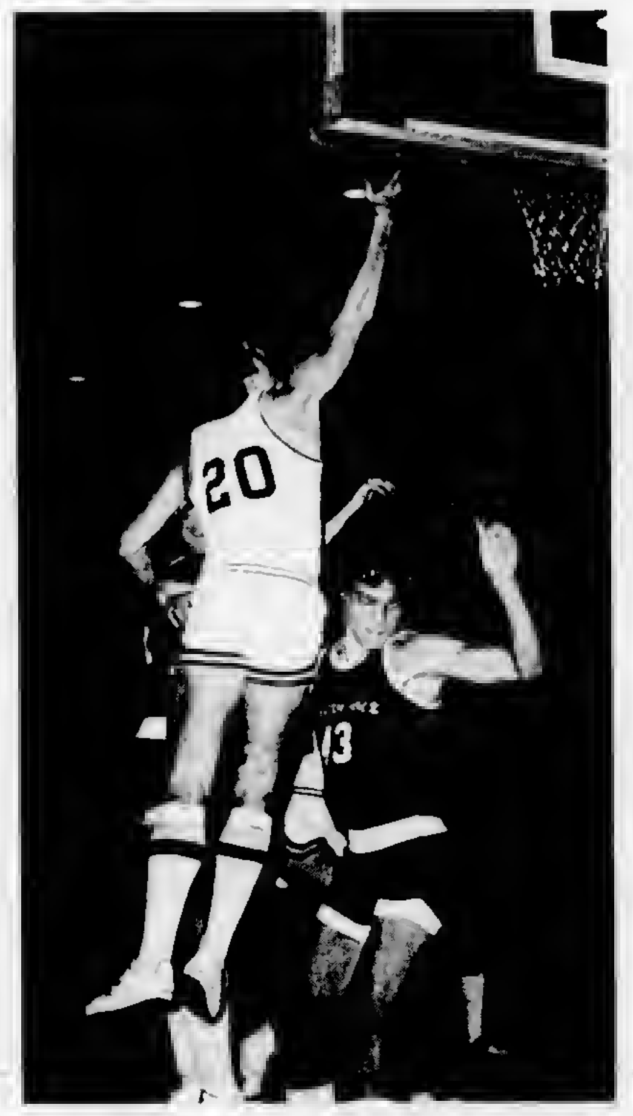
EVEN A 6 foot 7 inch player like Mark Olsen (50) couldn't stop this shot by Charlevoix's Bud Klooster (45).



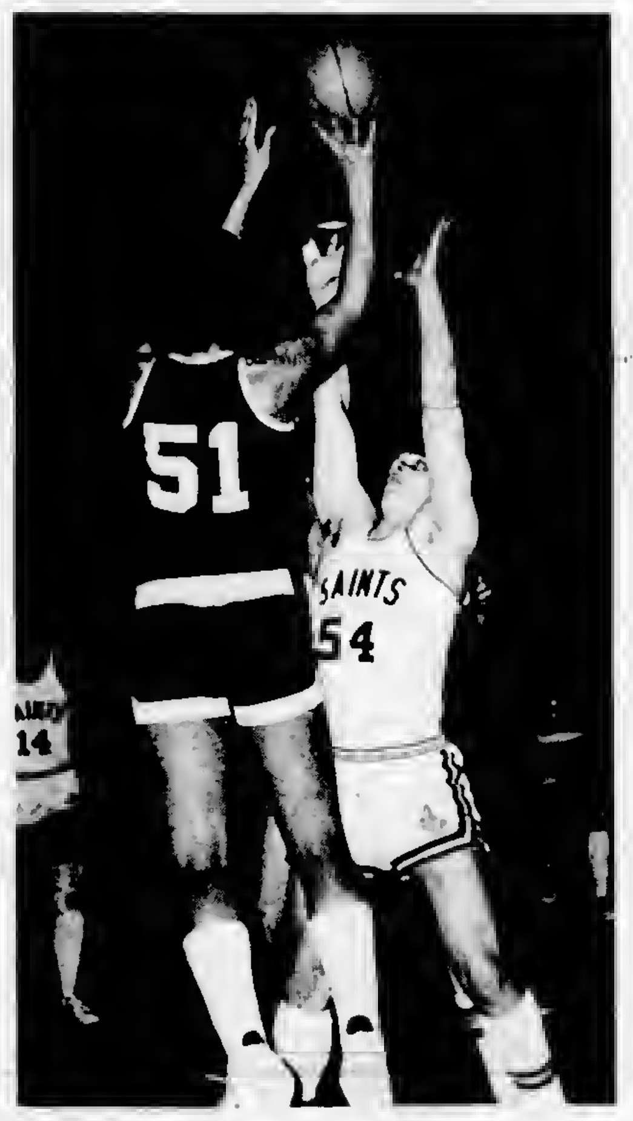
IT MAY LOOK LIKE some kind of aerial acrobatics, but it's actually basketball, folks. Scott Boss (21) of Charlevoix flicks the ball toward the basket as St. Ignace's Clark Cryderman (20) attempts to stop the shot.

Rayders Top St. Ignace in Tough Battle

IT'S HARD TO STOP Pat Schaefer (51) once he decides to shoot as these three players, Floyd Paquin (30), Mark Olsen (50) and Owen Pilisbury (54) from St. Ignace found out.

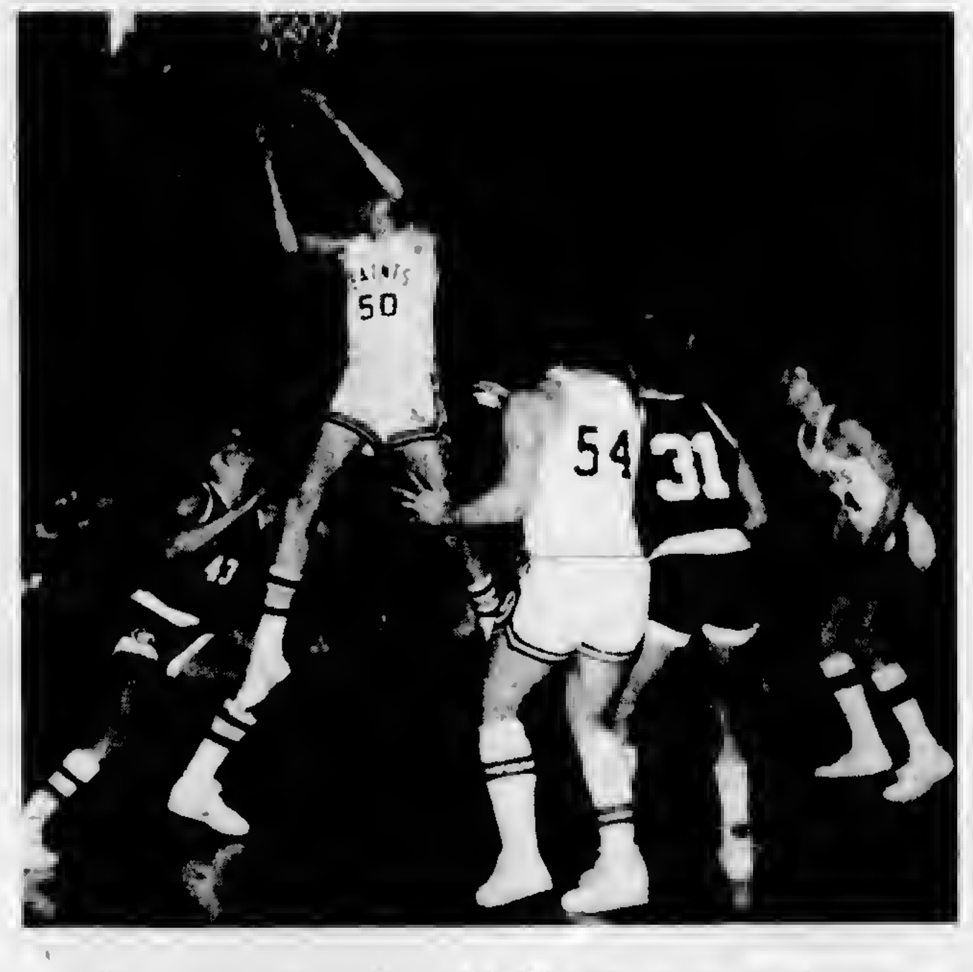


IT WAS UP in the air for Clark Cryderman (20) of St. Ignace, while Charlevoix's Matt Doan (43) attempts to hold position.



STRETCH AS HE MIGHT Owen Pilisbury (54) just couldn't stop this shot from Pat Schaefer (51).

MATT DOAN (43) gets his hand on the ball as his team mates Neil Dziedzic (31) and Bud Klooster (45) help him block this St. Ignace shot.



MARK OLSEN (50) proved to be a real asset for St. Ignace on the boards. His 6 foot 7 inch frame gave him the advantage on the rebound against Matt Doan (43) here.

2 More Wins on Record For Basketball Team

The Charlevoix Rayders posted a 63-59 victory over the visiting St. Ignace Saints Friday night.

The victory, however, was not an easy one as the Rayders had to overcome 15-11 first period and 35-33 halftime deficits before going ahead for the first time early in the second half.

The Rayders fought to a 48-46 third period margin and battled to protect the slim advantage to the final horn.

Thirty personal fouls by the Rayders gave the visitors 17 points on 24 attempts from the line and kept the Saints in the game as Charlevoix outscored them 26-21 from the floor. St. Ignace had 19 personal fouls. The Rayders hit on 11 of 21 charity shots.

Scott Boss paced the win with 23 points. Matt Doan added 14, Bud Klooster, 11, Neil Dziedzic, nine, and Kip Cinnamon, six.

Mark Olsen had 18 points, Pat Cronan, 12 and Craig Cryderman, 10 for the Saints.

Playing at Rogers City Tuesday night, the Rayders came through with an 81-64 win over the Hurons who are back in the Michigan-Huron Shores conference after missing the grid season because of a millage issue failure. Sports boosters are supporting the winter-season sports.

Bud Klooster, with a hot hand, canned 32 points to pace the Rayders who took a 16-14 first period lead and continued to increase the advantage to 38-29 at halftime and 50-40 at the three quarter mark before pouring in 31 points to 24 for the Hurons in the final eight minutes of play.

The Rayders had a total of 32 field goals, 17 of 27 charity shots and 22 personal fouls. The Hurons tallied 25 field goals, 14 of 25 from the line and 23 fouls.

Adding to the overall total were Scott Boss who had 17 points, Neil Dziedzic 10, Matt Doan and Pat Sheafer, six eact, Brian Williams and Kip Cinnamon, five each. Jim Elzinga and Joe Left also saw action.

Mark Pilarski had 18 and Curt Vogelheim 11 points for the Hurons.

Medusa Win Highlights B League Hoop Action

By FRAN MARTIN

A win by Medusa, a 43-36 victory over Klooster John Deere, highlighted the action in the B League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League last week. It was Medusa's first win of the season.

In other action, Freedman's dumped Bay Shore Steel 85-50; Wojan Aluminum racked up its second win of the season by a score of 65-39 over Hoskins; Tri-City Asphalt snowed County State Bank 84-50 and LaBlance Insurance won over Alray Cottages 58-30.

Medusa was forced to overcome a seven point deficit at halftime, 21-14, to take over 30-26 going into the final period when the team outscored Klooster John Deere 13-10 for the win.

Bob Holtzman with 12 points paced the win., Dennis VanGuilder had 13 for Klooster.

All five starters were in double figures as Freedman's roared past Bay Shore Steel 85-50. The 'crafters led their opponents 21-8, 38-21 and 63-32 by quarters behind the scoring of Terry Blissett who had 21 points, Steve McClellan 18, Bill Joy 16, Bernie DeVries 13 and Steve Martinus 10. Vince Left had 27 for the Steelers.

Tri-City Asphalt continued to lead the league with a 5-0 record as they romped over County State Bank by an 84-50 score. Tri-City was in control all the way as they led 20-8, 44-18 and 62-34 by quarters. Dave Norton paced the game with 24 points followed by Mike Crain with 22, Butch Klooster with 18 and Ron Bindi with 12 points. Jerry Skippergosh had 16, Dave Joos 12 and Tom Peterson 10 for the Bankers.

Wojan Aluminum posted its second win of the season, a 65-39 decision over Hoskins as they led 20-4, 34-21 and 49-26 by quarters. Larry Martin with 21 and Stan Martin with 18 points led the scoring for Wojan's. Frank Holcomb had 13 and Clay Jones 11 for Hoskins.

LaBlance Insurance had no trouble with AlRay Cottages as they headed the Cottagers 16-8, 36-16 and 46-21 by quarters before taking the game by a score of 58-30. Jim Gels had 16 and Mike Benello and Joe Beaudoin 14 each for the victors. Dave Martinchek had 13 for the Cottagers.

Townhouse, Kadens, Way Oil Win in A League Battles

Action in the A League of the Charlevoix Basketball Association moved at a torrid pace last week as Townhouse defeated Swanson's 62-55 in an overtime game Thursday night and Kaden's edged Willett Roofing 55-50 following a seesaw battle in close games Way Oil won over Credit Union 80-40 in a third game.

In the overtime game, Swanson's jumped to a 12-10 first period lead only to have Townhouse knot the score 25-all at halftime with the Barmen taking a 43-39 lead going into the final period. Swanson's, making one last surge, outscored Townhouse 14-8 to tie the score 51-51 at the end of regular play. Townhouse outscored the challengers 11-4 in the overtime to take the game.

Stewart Coleman led the scoring with 20 points, Steve Smith had 13, Dan McKenzie 10 and Ike Boss eight points for Townhouse. Bruce Meggison came through with 16 and Dave Moyer 13 for Swanson's

Willett Roofing gave Kaden's a real battle before the Emporium Posted the five-point win. The Roofers, after taking an 11-9 first period lead, saw Kaden's tie the score 23-all at halftime.

The Roofers came back to take a 39-37 advantage at the three-quarter mark but were outscored 18-11 as Kaden's won 55-50. Jeff Belford had 18 points and Tony Williams 12 for Kaden's. Roger Bolhuis had 11 and Ken Derenzy 10 for Willett's.

In the third game, Way Oil outscored Credit Union 19-10, 39-25 and 58-32 before nailing the game down by an 80-40 score. Roger Crain had 25 points, Mike Bade 15, Tim Carey 14, Dale Boss 11 and Larry Potter 10 for Way Oil. Tim Elenbaas had eight for Credit Union.

Hockey Sign-up Going Strong

A reminder to prospective hockey players...Call 547-6921 or 547-5994 to register for the sport.

Boys in the 11-14 year age group will form a team to play outside teams. The younger fry, those in 8-10 year age group, will be organized into teams and have their own league.

The season will get underway after the holidays. However, anyone wishing to play must register now, according to Dwight Boss, city recreation director.

THE RAYDERS are Number 1 and now they have a trophy to prove it. Proudly holding the first place trophy for the Michigan Huron Shores Conference 1976 Football Season are Co-captain Matt Doan, Coach Don Carey and Co-Captain Lee Begrow.

JV Adds Two To Victory List

The Charlevoix JV's found the going hard when they clashed with the St. Ignace JV on the Rayder floor Friday night.

A determined Saints five surged to a 14-11 quarter lead and were still ahead at halftime 27-25 before the Rayders started hitting as the second half got underway.

Eight quick points by Kevin Kratt gave the JV's the charge they needed as they went ahead 40-38 as the last period opened. However, both teams were on a scoring spree as they battled for the lead with Charlevoix scoring 21 points to 20 for the Saints in the final eight minutes.

Charlevoix had 23 from the floor and 15 of 31 from the line while picking up 23 personal fouls. The Saints had 20 field goals and a torrid 18 of 23 free throws and 26 personal fouls.

Scoring for the Rayders were Pat Schmidt with 15 points, Doug Buday with 11, Kevin Kratt with 10, Gilbert Noirot, nine, Bob Plumm, six, and Todd Williams and Barney Way, five each.

On Tuesday, in a game that saw Charlevoix and Rogers City battle it out, toe to toe, the Rayder JV's finally came through with a four-point victory, 65-61.

Charlevoix saw a 16-10 first period lead fade away as the young Hurons tied the score 32-all at halftime. As the second half opened Charlevoix gained a slim four-point lead, 48-44, and held on to win by the same margin.

Pat Schmidt with 25 points paced the win followed by Barney Way with 11, Gilbert Noirot with 10, Doug Buday, eight, Kevin Kratt, five, Mike Custer, four, and Todd Williams, two.

Dave Klann had 14 points, Hal Newhouse 11 and Don Wagner 10 for Rogers City.

Santa Claus To Visit Saturday

Santa Claus will be arriving Saturday for a pre-Christmas visit to boys and girls of the Charlevoix area, according to a spokesman for the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department who is sponsoring the visit.

The jolly old man with white whiskers wearing the familiar red and white suit will arrive at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport shortly after noon on Saturday. He will be met by the Charlevoix Fire Department and escorted to the First State Bank parking lot at 111 State St. where he will greet the boys and girls and distribute boxes of candy and nuts.

The youngsters of the community will be in for another Christmas treat on Thursday, Dec. 23, when they will be guests of the Charlevoix Lions Club at a movie at the local theatre.

The movie will be "The Further Perils of Laurel and Hardy" and cartoons.

All children of the area are invited. Admissions to the movie will be a can or box (such as cereal) of food which will then be distributed through the cooperation of the Lions Club and the Community Christmas project to families of the area.

Kevin Speer Selected for Training at Sheppard AFB

Selected for training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the transportation field after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., is Airman Kevin K. Speer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harland D. Speer of Rt. 3, Charlevoix, Mich.

During the six weeks training at Lackland, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Speer is a 1976 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Grapplers Take Second Place At Soo Meet

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team returned from the Sault Ste. Marie Rotary invitational tournament with the runner-up trophy, the first a Rayder team had even won in this annual event according to Coach Norm Probert.

The Rayders with 128½ points came in second behind Escanaba which took top honors with 188 points. Munising, which had headed Charlevoix in point totals for most of the meet, placed third with 119 points. Rogers City was next with 97 followed by Grayling with 66; Korah of Canada with 82½ and Rudyard with 40½.

Escanaba's Tom Schneider was named the most outstanding wrestler and teammate Pat Menard was credited with the most pins in the least amount of time, :23, :33 and :34.

Charlevoix's second place standing was not determined until late in the meet when Gary Probert, who was named team captain by his teammates last week, posted a 13-1 superior decision over Greg Mulka of Rogers City. This match was in the 165 pound class. This set the stage for Gregg Chappues' match with Jeff Buckman of Munising in the 178 pound class. The transfer student from Delaware, Ohio, came through with a major 10-2 decision to give the Rayders the necessary points for the runner-up spot.

Taking second place were Dave Golovich (98), Mark Byard (105), and Ron Hilton (122); in third place was Ande Keller (155); and in fourth Don Trost (126), Craig Golovich (138) and freshman heavyweight Jerry Sladek.

Others who participated were Dan Sayre (119), Brad Snizik (145) and Dennis Whitley (191).

Charlevoix will travel to Rogers City to meet the Hurons at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Wrestling Tourney Slated for Weekend

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix will be the site Saturday for the fourth annual Holiday Invitational Wrestling tournament which will bring prep school matmen from 16 Class C and D schools to the community for the day.

The tournament which will feature more than 200 entries will begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day on four mats with the finals scheduled for early evening according to Norm Probert, with Mike Carland, tournament manager.

Sponsors of this popular event are the Charlevoix City Police, Charlevoix Wrestling Club and the Charlevoix High School.

Grayling is the defending champion in Class C and Frankfort is Class D. Both will be present to defending their titles.

Other participating teams will be Boyne City, Kalkaska, Farwell, Onaway, Rogers City, St. Ignace, Rudyard, Hillman Pine River and Charlevoix in Class C and Mancelona, Elk Rapids, Glen Lake and Marion in Class D.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning team, most outstanding wrestler and to the wrestler with the fastest pin.

In announcing the tournament, Coach Probert said "It takes a lot of co-operation and the assistance of a large staff of willing workers to make a tournament of this size a success. We are fortunate at Charlevoix to have this combination of workers without whom we couldn't operate."

The list includes fine staff of officials, Ron Gillison of Arcadia, Bruce Rerry of Reed City, Ralph Laird, Bob Plummer, Ed Haughn and Ed Haughn, Jr. all of Traverse City; match makers, John Ozga, Pat Whitley and Mike Carland; scorers and timers, Charlevoix Wrestling Club, parents and alumni; announcers, Jerry Puhl, Carland and Mrs. Toni Felter, assistant athletic director;

Others are those in charge of the head scoring table: Mrs. Carland, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Probert, Teresa Moore and Mrs. Terri Hodge; runners, Mat Maids who are also the welcoming committee, Mrs. Hodge, Nanette Christ and Charlevoix JV wrestlers; presentation of awards, Chief of Police Jack Mol, Mrs. Felter and Mat Maids.

Ticket takers will be Charlevoix City Police and Auxiliary Police, Chief Mol and Charlevoix Wrestling Club; Program co-ordinators; Mrs. Ervin Ozga, Mrs. Probert, Mrs. Carland and Mrs. Connie Ford's class; Artists and charts, Charlevoix Art II class taught by William Murray; concessions and food, Wrestling Club, Sports Boosters, James Alger, president, and Charlevoix Commercial Foods Class, Mrs. Vera Rimbold, advisor.

Admissions will be $1.00 for adults; 50 cents for students and 25 cents for college students.

Wrestlers Down Grayling Matmen

The Charlevoix Rayder grapplers, coached by Norm Probert, made their first public appearance on the mat here Thursday and came away with a 52-15 victory over Grayling.

The Rayders will travel to Rogers City Thursday and host the fourth annual Holiday Invitational tournament on Dec. 18 to close out the 1976 section of its schedule.

In their first dual match of the season, the Rayders took 10 matches to three for Grayling, winning five by pins, four by decisions and one by forfeit. Grayling won two by falls and one by decision.

Results follow:

98 pound class: Dave Golovich won by an 11-7 decision over Bert Partello.

105 class: Mark Byard over Kent LaMotte by a pin in 1:35.

112 class: Ron Hilton over Chuck Goinick by a 10-3 decision.

119 class: Jeff Skelton lost to Bill Kellogg by a pin in 3:10.

126 class: Don Trost over Craig VanNuck in a pin in 3:33.

132 class: Mike Kiteley over Steve Byce in a 13-1 decision.

138 class: Craig Golovich over Paul VanNuck in a pin in 5:59.

145 class: Jerry Kele lost to Grant Byce in a fall in 1:55.

155 class: Ande Keller over Mike Allen in a 14-2 decision.

165 class: Capt. Gary Probert over Steve Dean in a fall in 3:11.

178 class: Gregg Chappuies over Ed Bayaham in a pin in 2:50.

191 class: Dennis Whitley lost to John Slater by a 6-1 decision.

Heavyweight class: Jerry Sladek won by forfeit.

Obituary

JOSEPH MOORE

A Charlevoix youth took his life early Friday morning.

Joseph W. Moore, 18, was found dead at his family's home of self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

Funeral services for the youth were held Monday at St. Mary's Church with the Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiating. The Rosary was recited Sunday evening at the Winchester Funeral Home. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix Aug. 1, 1958, young Moore was graduated from the Charlevoix High School in June 1976. He was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Moore, he is survived by three brothers, Michael J., Terry L. and Thomas A., all of Charlevoix and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lilly Moore of Charlevoix.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory contribute in Moore's name to Big Brothers at Charlevoix.

CRAYTON KERR

Funeral services for Crayton Kerr, 67, who died Thursday at Little Traverse Hospital where he had been a patient for five weeks, were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. William P. Seibert of the Community Church of God officiated. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Vanderbilt April 25, 1909, Mr. Kerr came to Charlevoix with his family as a small child. On Dec. 16, 1933, he was married to the former Mary Russell at East Jordan. They have always resided here. Mr. Kerr was employed by the City of Charlevoix as a Street Department employee for 21 years. He retired in 1974.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Floyd (Betty) Johnecheck of Boyne City; a son, William F. of Gaylord; six grandchildren and three brothers, Keith of Grand Blanc and Charlevoix, Alton of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Allen of Klamath Falls, Ore.

Barney Milstein Retires from Public Life

By PEG OHLE

Last Wednesday was a sad but happy day for Barney Milstein of East Jordan.

Barney has retired after completing 41 years of service to Charlevoix County, serving first on the Board of Supervisors and more recently on the Board of Commissioners.

To commemorate Barney's retirement, fellow commissioners, county employees, government officials, neighbors, old friends and family gathered at the Grey Gables for a farewell luncheon. Old friend and former County Commissioner Bill Taylor served as Master of Ceremonies.

Many rose to recall incidents in their years of friendship with Barney, and there were many tributes, too.

Sons Jim and Sam spoke of him as a father and of his devotion to his family. Next door neighbor Verne Whiteford told of his cribbage and poker playing prowess. Keith Annear, who is taking over Barney's seat on the County Board, said it was like "following Abraham Lincoln."

Barry McGuire, executive director of the Michigan Association of Counties, spoke on behalf of the 900 County Commissioners in Michigan and read a resolution by the Association's Board of Directors honoring Barney.

Representative Ralph Ostling presented a resolution of special tribute from the State Legislature, as well as a letter from Governor William G. Milliken noting Barney's long years of service to the county.

County Board Chairman Clyde Cunningham read letters of commendtion from Representative Philip Ruppe and Senator Philip Hart, then presented two gifts from country elected officials. One was a gavel appropriately inscribed and the other a cribbage board.

Barney Milstein was born in Lithuania and came to Bay City at the age of eight. He attended school and business college in Bay City before moving to East Jordan 56 years ago.

He operated a hide and fur business there for several years before starting an insurance agency, from which he retired in 1963.

Telling about his family, Barney said, "Jim is with the Far Bureau at Alpena in the insurance department. Sam is with the DNR in Lansing. He is chief of the Bureau of Recreation. Robert is with me at home. I adore all three of them."

Barney is a member of the East Jordan Rotary Club, where he has a record of 30 years' perfect attendance and which he has served as secretary and president; the Masonic Lodge, of which he is a past Worshipful Master; and the Sportsmen's Club.

He is a past mayor of East Jordan, past president of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, former acting postmaster of East Jordan, past Chancellor of the Nights of Pythias, and past president of the Second District of Supervisors which included eight counties.

Barney has many stories to tell about the days that county officials met not only to do business but to play poker and sometimes express their feelings a bit too positively.

"Years ago we had some hot tempered Supervisors, and at one of the meetings when I was chairman of the board we had a scuffle between two of the Supervisors."

"We fixed things up the next morning," Barney recalls, "by having the two shake hands at my request, and from then on everything was beautiful."

We join the County Board member who said to Barney, "Come visit the County Building often."

BARNEY MILSTEIN received a standing ovation from colleagues, friends, neighbors and relatives at a surprise retirement party held in his honor last week.

EVEN STATE REP. Ralph Ostling was on hand to honor Barney Milstein during a surprise retirement party last week. Ostling conveyed congratulations from the Legislature and the Governor.

Four Decades of Medical Care End With Saltonstall Retirement

By PAULA HOLMES

"I remember I went out of town to deliver a baby at a farm–well, actually it was an old shack," the doctor reminisced as only someone who has practiced medicine for four decades in the country can.

"And there was a kerosene lamp on the table," he continued with the tale. "Well, it was right at the critical moment of the delivery that the cat got excited and knocked the chimney off the lamp and I had to deliver the baby completely in the dark.

"It was my second delivery," he smiled gently.

For G.B. "Gib" Saltonstall, M.D., that delivery was the beginning of a career that would see the delivery of more than 3,000 babies spanning at least two generations, the administration of the first penicillin shot in the area, the completion of the first blood transfusion in Charlevoix, and that would endear him to hundreds.

That dark delivery is also one of the fond memories Dr. Saltonstall will carry with him into retirement at the end of this month.

"I've slacked off considerably since 1966," the doctor explained. "I've taken no new patients in the last 10 years and the old ones slowly leave us.

"I cut out the surgery and then obstetrics and then I cut out hospital practice because the records took more time than caring for the patients," he added.

"I only get down to the office about three afternoons a week and that will all end in a few more days," he said with a slight shrug of the shoulders on his large fatherly frame.

His current office hours are a far cry from those he used to keep, his wife Charlotte pointed out.

"When he first started it seemed like his hours were seven nights a week," she laughed lightly.

"That's right," Saltonstall said. "When I came to Charlevoix I had evening office hours three evenings a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday so that I could get the farmers.

"There were no afternoons off then," he continued. "I had Sunday to myself, but the phone was always ringing.

"I was the first one to start the one afternoon off a week," he added.

"And he always had to leave town on that day," Mrs. Saltonstall explained. "Otherwise, you could never enjoy the afternoon off."

Saltonstall, who moved to Charlevoix at the age of two in 1912, said he always knew he wanted to be a doctor. As a young man in high school he would accompany Dr. Dean from the county health department on trips through the county and on occasion Dr. Park, a surgeon from Petoskey would have the head nurse at the old Charlevoix Hospital, located where Hillcrest Apartments are now, invite him up to watch the surgery.

"Surgery was his love," Mrs. Saltonstall interjected.

When time came for Saltonstall to go to college, he headed for the University of Michigan where he met his wife, who was studying education. After graduation from college he completed a one-year rotating internship, six months of which was spent with a top flight surgeon in Detroit.

"The surgeon wanted him to stay on in Detroit," Mrs. Saltonstall explained. "And I did, too, because I was from that area."

But Charlevoix beckoned Saltonstall.

"My parents were elderly and they were anxious to have one of their sons be with them," he explained. "My brother's education in electro-chemistry required that he work somewhere else and there was a doctor leaving town."

So the tall, soft-spoken doctor moved into an office above a drug store on the corner of Bridge and Park streets next to a dentist in 1934.

"When I first opened, an office call cost 50 cents and we got $1 for a house call," he said. "Soon after that the office call went up to $1 and we got $2 for a house call.

"The delivery of a baby cost $15 and the doctor provided everything–the waterproof sheets and instruments," he said.

It was the same way with surgery.

"That was what determined if you performed surgery," Saltonstall recalled. "If you could afford your own instruments."

The doctor said in the early days he often got paid with wood, produce, chickens and vegetables.

"That really helped, though," he laughed. "We weren't making much either."

Although the patients in his practice and surgery were his first love, Dr. Saltonstall also had an intense interest in medical politics.

"When I first started practicing here I joined the Northern Michigan Medical Society," he explained. "At that time it had a membership of 30 doctors from four counties.

"They immediately made me secretary–a job that falls to the youngest member," he laughed.

Saltonstall held that position for 12 years and then became president of the organization. He also served on several committees of the Michigan State Medical Society and acted as counselor for the northern district from 1950-57.

He was elected to the presidency of the medical society for a one-year term in 1958.

He also served on the Michigan Association of Professions board from 1967-68 and on the board of directors of Michigan Medical Services (Blue Shield) from 1958-61. And he was on the State Board of Registration of Medicine for eight years from 1962-70.

Saltonstall also had some outside interests, one of which was music. He sang in the U-M Men's Glee Club and he was the manager of the band for several years.

"When I first went to U-M, I joined the music fraternity," he recalled. "Everyone in the fraternity had to do something connected with music, so my fraternity brothers got me a job carrying the front end of the bass drum," he laughed.

When Saltonstall came to Charlevoix, he continued singing by joining the Congregational Church Choir, of which he has been a member for 40 years.

According to his close friend E.D. "Pat" Hawley, Saltonstall also enjoyed kicking up his heels at a square dance, playing bridge and ping pong.

In the early 1940s, the Saltonstalls, Hawleys and two other couples bought the sailboat, "The Rogue," which the Saltonstalls and Hawley

Special School Election Set On Bond, Millage for Jan. 29

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education took formal action Monday night to call a special election for Saturday, Jan. 29, 1977, and approved the issues that will appear on the ballots in that election.

There will be three issues, two to bond for given amounts and the third to approve the renewal of operational millage.

The first calls for a levy of 2.3 mills the first year and which will decrease over the 16 year period to raise $2.190 million to renovate, make additions to and equip the existing high school.

The second, which would require a 1.0 mill levy over a five year period, would raise from $425,000 to $450,000 to maintain, repair and equip existing buildings. Chief among these is the Middle School which would receive a new heating system, electrical system and repair to continue its use.

The third issue is a request for renewal of a 8.5 mill levy, which expired this year, for operational millage. The request is for three years.

In establishing the amounts of the bond issues, Supt. James A. McKimmy said the collection of school taxes with the summer taxes will result in a direct saving of $62,500 to the school district. If all taxing units in the school district approve the request by the schools to collect 50 percent of the school taxes in the summer this saving will be possible. McKimmy went on to say that the cooperation of the townships is anticipated.

Applications for absentee ballots for the forthcoming election may be obtained at the office of the superintendent on Garfield Ave.

Saturday was selected as the date of the special election to allow everyone an opportunity to go to the polls.

In other action at Monday's meeting, Charles Wright who has been employed at the K-5 school under the CETA program, will be employed as a probationary teacher at the Middle School. He will be a math teacher to fill a vacancy

Six Positions Open

Petitions Available for City Offices

If you are thinking about running for one of the six Charlevoix City offices that will be selected during the Spring Election, petitions are now available from the City Clerk's Office.

Nominating petitions for the first, second and third ward aldermen positions and for mayor, clerk and treasurer are due back in the clerk's office by 4 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 3, Arletta Bergmann, city employee, said. No one has taken out a ballot, yet.

The names on valid petitions will then be put on the ballot for the Feb. 21 Primary Election. Winners of the primary will then run in the Spring Election. Names cannot be placed on the Spring Election ballot if they were not on the Primary Ballot.

Mrs. Bergmann said that the number of signatures needed on each petition varies according to how many people voted for the Michigan Secretary of State in the last election.

If a candidate for mayor, clerk or treasurer is running on the Democratic ticket, he or she will need between 8 and 31 signatures to be placed on the ballot.

Democratic candidates for the first ward aldermen position need between two and seven signatures, second ward candidates need between three and thirteen signatures and third ward candidates need between three and eleven signatures to have their names placed on the ballot.

Republican candidates for mayor, clerk or treasurer need between four and fourteen signatures to have their names placed on the primary ballot, while first ward Republican candidates

Four Directors Elected To Chamber Board

Newly-elected directors of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce will assume their duties at the first meeting of 1977 scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 11 at the Grey Gables Inn, Jacquie Merta, executive director of the board has announced.

Elected to three-year terms by the membership of the chamber were William Kenifeck, retail merchant; Earl Muma who operates a service station and garage; Ken Winter, editor of the Charleviox Courier, and Gary Bailey of the First State Bank. Bailey was re-elected after filling an unexpired term.

A fifth new member will also be joining the board. He is Norman Works who has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. LoAnne Brown who resigned after the ballots for the election had been mailed.

The Board of Directors meet the second Tuesday of every month at the Grey Gables Inn.

STEALING FROM FARMERS

How long are people going to steal from the farmers? We are sick when we think of the thieves that steal our Christmas trees. Some crooks also stole trees that we had cut on our property and piled by the road to haul home for our furnace. We don't hunt snowmobiles or steal trees from your yard. Why don't people leave the farmers and their property alone! Thank you.

Harsh, Early Winter Weather A Blessing for Farmers

By TOM DAMMANN

The harsh and early entrance of winter weather this year may cause some to grumble, but Charlevoix County farmers, like skiers, are not complaining.

All that snow has been "white gold" for farmers. It was heavy and came ahead of the extremely frigid temperatures, which normally would have frozen the ground, and that was good news for farmers.

"The snow was especially welcome this year because of the extreme drought conditions that developed during the spring, summer and fall months just past," explained Bill Grimm, U.S. Soil Conservationist who covers Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

The drought had caused so much crop failure that Gov. William Milliken declared much of the area a disaster, making farmers eligible for government financial aid, Grimm said.

"The snow acts as an insulator which protects the soil against freezing," he said.

"This allows melting snow to percolate down through the earth, which it couldn't do if the ground were frozen."

Ed Rebmanm Charlevoix Extension agent points out that the current thaw is proving that point.

"Water is not running down the roads. It is going into the ground," Rebman observed.

The water going into the ground is recharging the water table which had been drastically lowered by the drought, the experts agree.

"The snow cover protects alfalfa and other crops, as well as landscape trees, pines and such, Rebman says. "Such trees are usually planted in exposed areas and in sandy soils which don't have the benefit of a leafy floor cover to hold the moisture.

"So unless the water table is sufficiently recharged, such trees would begin to die off next summer. This is the result of what is called 'winter drying.' "

Rebman says that even during the current thaw enough snow has remained on the flat grass lands to act as an insulator and unless there is a prolonged thaw followed by an extremely cold snap, the ground will not freeze, or at least not to much depth. Thus, come spring, more water will go down into the soil rather than run off.

Both Rebman and his counterpart in the Emmet County Agricultural Extension Office, Keith Lamkin, report that recent tests demonstrate that there was little if any moisture in the top 12 to 20 inches of soil before the heavy snows began at Thanksgiving.

"There must be moisture in the ground to start crops in the Spring," Lamkin stresses, saying that is why the snow, coming as it did before a ground freeze, is so welcome.

The situation is, however, of greater benefit to corn and other grain feed farmers than it is to fruit farmers, according to Burt Stanley, Antrim County Agricultural Extension Service Director.

"This is why many of the cherry farmers have taken to trickle irrigating their orchards," he explains. "The benefit of this was proven in last summer's drought because the orchards that were irrigated fared so much better than those that weren't."

In Traverse City, George McManus, Grand Traverse County Agricultural Extension Director, emphatically expressed the concensus. "It is the greatest thing that could have happened for cherry growers. If the ground had frozen the water would have run off in rivulets. Now when the spring thaw comes it will soak into the ground."

Districts throughout the area report snowfall up to three feet by mid-December, which is the equivalent of three inches of rainfall.

"This is a blessing in disguise," Grimm said.

Social Services Needs Volunteer Help

Part of the Christmas Spirit is sharing of yourself and your time to help those who are in need.

The Department of Social Services has need for many volunteers throughout the year who are interested in helping other help themselves, Suzanne Wickert, special services coordinator, said.

One area where volunteers are needed is Project Health, which makes sure that county children are receiving proper health care.

Assistance is need with behind the scenes duties, direct personal contact with the children and transportation. People are needed who can spend from 1 to 10 hours promoting the program.

The Food Stamp Program is another area where volunteer help is needed, according to Ms. Wickert. People are needed to provide outreach services to senior citizens. One morning or one afternoon a week would insure that at least some senior citizens would be able to buy more food for less money.

Volunteers are also needed to visit with senior citizens and others by taking them grocery shopping, to a medical appointment or just being a friend to some lonely person.

People are also needed who can transport long distances on short notice. Many emergency situations occur with state wards that necessitate a change in living situations within 24 hours, Ms. Wickert said.

Reimbursement for mileage and out-of-pocket expenses is made to all Department of Social Services volunteers.

State Lottery Prizes Average $15.18 Per Winner in County

The annual report of the Bureau of State Lottery shows that lottery prizes per capita in Charlevoix County during the past fiscal year amounted to $15.18.

The figure for Antrim County was $12.42, and for Emmet County, $29.12. Statewide, the prize average was $26.93 per capita.

The report states that future lottery plans call for the regular 50 cent weekly game and periodic instant games as the core of the program.

The major new project scheduled for implementation before the end of the 1976-1977 year is a computer-based daily numbers game. Also under study is a system of mini-lotteries, using instant game type tickets, for special events such as fairs, shows and expositions.

Commenting on how plans for future games are made, the Bureau states that it "maintains contact with other state-run lotteries as well as lotteries around the world. New concepts are constantly coming forward and there seems to be no end to the variety of lottery games that might be offered."

Check on Toys By Calling Feds

The toy says, "For children over 8-years-old." Your five-year-old desperately wants one. But you'd better watch out. The Consumer Product Safety Commission says that age labeling on toys is for the child's safety. So maybe you better get that five-year-old something similar that is safe for younger children. And if you have any questions or complaints about toy safety or the safety of any other product, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission Hotline toll-free on 800-638-2666 (In Maryland, call 800-492-2937).

First State Bank To Begin Providing Full Trust Services

Louis Hollow, president of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, and Dean E. Richardson, chairman of the Board of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, have jointly announced that the two banks are entering into an agreement to provide full trust services to residents and businesses in the Greater Charlevoix Area. The agreement is subject to final approval by the state of Michigan's Financial Institutions Bureau.

In making the announcement, Mr. Hollow stated that "This new service will bring to northern Michigan the expertise of one of the largest trust departments in the state. A trust officer from Manufacturers Bank will be in the First State Bank's office, 111 State St. in Charlevoix, on a regular basis. Recent legislative changes as well as the continued growth of our area has prompted us in this action. We will now be able to bring specialists in Personal Trusts, Pension and Profit Sharing Administration as well as the many other traditional trust services to our customers."

Formalization of the agreement is expected soon.

Republicans Elect New County Officers

Charlevoix County Republicans elected new officers to their Executive Committee last week.

They are Casimir B. Toton, Boyne City, chairman; Marianne Thomure, Charlevoix, vice-chairman; Sherry Browe, Charlevoix, secretary; Oral Sutliff, Boyne City, treasurer; and Joe thomure, Charlevoix, executive vice-chairman.

Joe Thomure, a high school student, represents the Young Republicans.

Chamber of Commerce to Judge Christmas Windows Dec. 22

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Christmas Window Decorations Contest is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22, Mrs. Jacquie Merta, executive director of the chamber, has announced.

Judges will be Mrs. Gail Kaczynski, Mrs. Georgia Hufford and William Supernaw.

Discounts Sought for Seniors

A "Senior Sunshine" program has been proposed by Senator Robert W. Davis. Under the program, consummers over the age of 60 would receive discounts on goods and services purchased from participating Michigan businesses.

Participation by business in the program would be strictly voluntary and the amount of discount left entirely to the discretion of merchants.

According to Davis, the program is designed to improve the ability of the elderly to afford needed goods and services. He hopes it can be implemented within six months.

Dorothy Pelton, director of the Charlevoix County Senior Center, told the Courier that if for some reason the program is not adopted state-wide, efforts will be made to organize something similar locally.

Death Lurks in Improperly Installed Wood Burners

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

"How do we reach people," lamented Dick Mayhew, Charlevoix Building inspector. "It makes me sick. People are dying from improperly installed fireplace chimneys."

"Alert people, but don't frighten them. Or maybe you should frighten them," Louis Schomberger, Boyne City Fire Chief worried.

The message every official wishes to communicate can be summarized:

The proper chimney for a wood burning unit is essential. Using the wrong chimney is sure to cause a fire.

Maintain the chimney – remove the creosote deposits.

Building permits to install any fireplace have been required since 1974. If you have an old unit and have doubts all area fire chiefs have volunteered to inspect, FREE.

Smoke detectors are strongly recommended. They are required in all new houses.

Fires have taken lives in Boyne City and Petoskey. A Marion township family was saved from fire by their smoke detector.

Michigan State Fire Marshals Office in Lansing is so concerned about the rash of house fires, presumably caused by wood burning stoves, they are issuing a press release this week, with several admonitions to the public.

Capt. William Rucinski, Chief of the Fire Marshal's Division said his office recommends three basic precautions to people installing wood burning fire places.

Install the fireplace in accordance with nationally recognized standards; follow the local building codes; and observe the manufacturers recommendations.

Elaborating, building official Mayhew says, anyone installing a fireplace, wood stove or similar device must have a building permit. The building permit requires the proper chimney, which is where a majority of problems have arisen. And it is an owners responsibility to maintain his fireplace, Mayhew adds.

Smoke detectors are recommneded by everyone from Mayhew and Fire Chiefs to the Fire Marshals office.

Building permits to install fire places and heaters have been required since 1974. But Mayhew acknowledges people are not complying.

"Is saving $8, the cost of the permit, worth the loss of your life?" he questioned.

The suspected cause of most wood heaters and fireplace fires to date is an overheated chimney. The chimney overheats then walls, ceilings or second floors catch fire.

"How do we wake people up to the fact that their chimney may be dangerous?" Mayhew frowned.

According to all fire and building officials, there is only one adequate type chimney for wood burning fireplaces:

"All purpose" chimneys such as "metalbestus" or "triple wall" chimneys have the insulation to withstand the high temperatures of burning wood.

Not safe are chimneys which have been used for other type heating units – gas, oil, etc – fire officials emphasize.

Not only is converting a gas-venting chimney to a wood burning burner unsafe, it is illegal according to the state building code.

Also unsafe and illegal, are unvented burners such as kerosene camp heaters in homes. They produce poisonous carbon monoxide gas, tip over easily, and the open flame with the fuel is extremely dangerous.

Mayhew knows that many people installed wood burners before the building code went into effect.

"A fire place and its chimney installed prior to 1974 may or may not be safe," Mayhew stated.

"If people come in and comply, even if their units are now in violation, we will not impose a fine," he said.

"I will inspect anybody's fire place and chimney, if they ask me," he offered.

In addition to requiring an "all purpose" chimney, most fireplace units or wood burners must be placed no closer to walls or other combustibles than 18 inches.

The cost of a building permit, or inspection is $8.00.

Maintenance is a vital as proper installation, Mayhew and Schomberger agreed.

Creosote is the culprit in the majority of chimney fires, Schomberger explains.

Cresote is a by-product of burning wood. It builds up around the perimeter of chimneys and eventually bursts into flame.

Charlevoix Fire Chief John Curtis reported that "during the initial months of the 'energy crisis' three years ago, we had a rash of fireplace fires."

The cure and key to maintenance is periodic cleaning.

"Get up on your roof. Take a long chain and clean the sides of your chimneys," Mayhew said.

The frequency of the cleaning depends on how often the fire place is used. Mayhew who uses a wood heater daily cleans about every ten days.

Green wood creates more creosote than old dead wood. Green wood is not recommended as a fuel and many new wood burning units carry specific warnings against using green wood.

Chimneys which are "L" shaped – running some distance horizontally before going upwards–have a greater creosote problem. Mayhew designed a method of taping creosote from his own chimney by adding a downward vertical piece of chimney pipe at the base of the "L", forming a "T" on its side.

Schomberger, the Boyne City Chief, is still in shock from the horror of the Boyne City fire fatality.

"When a fire chief loses a life in a situation he tried to prevent, it really hurts," he said.

In a further attempt to reach the public, Schomberger has conceived of a workshop of fire for January, specifically wood burning fireplaces.

"The workshop will gather all data for an educational program for the public," he explained.

It will involve fire chiefs of five counties (Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego, Cheboygan and Emmet), contractors and building inspectors, the state Fire Marshal's Office, the Michigan State Fire Fighters Training Council and sales people and installers of fire places.

Schomberger hopes a massive educational campaign will be mounted after the workshop.

Everyone agreed with John Curtis' reiteration that 'Carelessness remains the greatest cause of fires."

DICK MAYHEW draws the special T section he has added to his chimney to allow him to clean it easier.

BUILDING official Dick Mayhew inspects a chimney pipe for any fire hazards it might contain.

Curtis Offers Hints For Christmas Safety

Christmas Trees – objects of beauty and joy – are potential fire hazards.

Charlevoix Fire Chief John Curtis reminds people to take proper precautions this year:

"Be sure the base of the tree is in water at all times.

"Never leave a lighted tree unattended.

"Never go in bed with the tree lighted.

"Be sure all Christmas tree lights are in good shape and that the wiring is first class.

"When the trees get dry, toss it out immediately."

Battle Looms Over New FM Station

By PAULA HOLMES

A battle is now shaping up over who will be awarded a license to operate the proposed FM radio station in Charlevoix.

Two separate groups have made application for the license to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). New Broadcasting Corporation, the owners of WVOY, the first AM radio station in Charlevoix, and Island View Broadcasting Company, a brand new communications organization founded by Roland Cilke of Lansing, and Robert Cilke of Petoskey, have both applied to operate the station.

The New Broadcasting Corp. license application, which was the first one filed with the FCC for the operation of the Charlevoix FM frequency, proposes an FM station with 85 percent of the broadcast week devoted to a format of popular contemporary music and the remainder of the time devoted to news, public affairs and other items.

However, Terry Edger, general manager of WVOY and the designated general manager of the proposed FM station, said the AM and FM stations would not be simulcasting.

"We want to provide more diversity in programming to area residents," Edger explained. "The format of the FM station will be completely different from the AM station. We will be aiming at two audiences."

Edger said that to be successful, a radio station has to specialize.

"If you try to be too many things to too many people, you end up pleasing no one," he pointed out.

"If you have two stations trying to appeal to the most number of listeners, you can specialize and you end up with two inferior products," he continued.

"We feel that the FM station would provide us with the opportunity for additional programming that would appeal to a broader segment of the population," he said.

Island View Broadcasting Co., on the other hand, is proposing a format consisting of adult easy listening music with some contemporary religious music and jazz and classical music mixed in. Roland Cilke, the designated general manager of the proposed station, said the format would be similar to that of WWRM-FM radio in Gaylord only geared to Charlevoix.

Cilke said he is interested in starting the FM station in Charlevoix for many reasons.

"I am a native of Petoskey, which is a sister city to Charlevoix, and this is where my roots are," Cilke explained.

"I see the opening of this station as an opportunity to not only return to the area, but to provide some diversity in editorial opinion and in the type of musical format presented to the residents of the area," he said.

Cilke, who is currently a communications instructor at Waverly High School in the Lansing area, said he felt there was room in the area for another radio station in spite of the fact that Charlevoix already has an AM radio station and that a license has been granted to a group in Boyne City for the operation of another FM radio station.

"I don't think it's overcrowded with radio stations," he said. "I think that like in anything competition is needed.

"The main thing we want to to do is to provide an alternative and diversity in programming and editorial opinion to the area," he stressed.

Edger was not sure that the area could support another radio station.

"There is an incredible number of people selling advertising in this area," he pointed out. "To bring in a completely different outfit you would have to generate a lot of new dollars to stay alive."

The WVOY general manager and one-third stockowner of New Broadcasting Corp. said he had no argument with the fact that it is a good idea to keep radio stations in the same area under different ownership.

"But in a small community I don't think that is always practical," he explained.

"How successful would two chambers of commerce in the same area be? he said.

Edger pointed out that two radio stations with different programming under the same ownership could appeal to a broader segment of the community and generate more money.

"With that extra revenue and by utilizing some people in dual roles at both stations, you could afford to have expanded news coverage and more indepth reporting," he said.

Both Edger and Cilke agree that it will be several years before any decision is made on the FM license. But for Edger, waiting for a license is nothing new.

The license for the operation of WVOY radio was granted in 1974, seven years after application for the license was first made by Albert Schaller, controlling stockholder of Northern Michigan Review, Inc., and publisher of the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review.

But after objections that he would have control of the local mass media, Schaller sold his stock in the radio company to several other people.

However, Harrington Broadcasting Corporation, licensee of stations WJML AM-FM continued to raise objections and appealing a decision made in 1970.

It has not been smooth sailing for News Broadcasting Corp. in connection with the FM station either. When first planning the station, the corporation petitioned the FCC to have an FM frequency assigned to Charlevoix and found their actions opposed by WCCW in Traverse City, which also wanted the FM frequency.

Record Number of Phone Calls Expected to Cross Circuits

If you are spending Christmas away from friends and relatives this year, you can expect to have phone ring on Christmas Day.

Michigan Bell Telephone Company is predicting that holiday well-wishers will make 700,000 long distance calls within the state and 500,000 calls to places outside Michigan, including about 2,500 calls to countries overseas.

That rings up to about 1.2 million long distance phone calls on Christmas Day,–an all time record–according to Lei Johnson, Michigan Bell's office manager for the Charlevoix-Petoskey area.

Miss Johnsons suggested that people in the Charlevoix area who are planning to call relatives on Christmas Day schedule their phone calls during the less busy hours in the early morning or afternoon.

She suggested calls be made before 8 a.m. and between 1 and 5 p.m. in the time zone the caller is phoning to. She also suggested that people get the phone number of the friends and relatives they are calling before the holiday rush.

Since so many people will be using long distance circuits for extended Christmas conversations, some calls may not go through on the first attempt, especially during peak calling times which are late morning and all evening on Christmas Day, Miss Johnson said.

If a call does not go through on the first attempt, Miss Johnson suggested that callers wait a few minutes before trying again. Callers are most likely to encounter busy circuits when phoning heavily populated communities in the southern and western states.

Merry Christmas From Us to You --And Thanks

You can't help but hear a lot during this time of the year about the holiday season and Christmas.

Youngsters are saturated with television specials about Christmas almost as much as parents are bombarded with long lists of items Santa is expected to bring.

Retailers are busy with the annual onslaught of shoppers digging through store inventories in hopes of finding something that will please a friend or relative.

And while the shop owners are beginning to catch their second wind with only a few more shopping days left, others are busy sharing holiday cheer in offices and homes.

Then, there are many others who reflect inwardly and celebrate our Savior's birth in their houses of worship with the lighting of the advent candles and hanging of the greens.

Some scorn those who commercialize the scared event, while others can never understand why they spend only time celebrating the religious holiday.

No matter what your religious belief or personal commitment towards this advent season, we look at this season as a time of sharing.

Another year is about to draw to a close and we at the Courier, appreciate the opportunity to have shared with you our publication.

We feel very fortunate to have been able to be your community newspaper in a time when small weekly papers are on the wain and can no longer afford to publish.

The biggest gift we could ever received was already given this year when the Charlevoix Courier was named the best weekly in the state for its size by the Michigan Press Association.

We could not have received that prestigious award had it not been for the loyal support of the residents of Charlevoix. Even if we had not received the award, our greatest gift would have still remained and that's you the reader.

We have enjoyed being able to publish a permanent record of many of the joys you have experienced this year. In many cases, we have been able to spread those warm feelings to our summers residents who live elsewhere in the country during these cold winter months.

And then there are our older readers who are not able to get out as much during this time of the year and are able to catch a closer glimpse of the community through the Courier.

For all our readers, young and old, we are very grateful and we want to extend our warmest holiday wishes to you and your families for being apart of our family this year.

Where ever you may be, may you have a happy holiday season and a chance to share with someone the same experiences we have had a chance to share with you this year.

Take Time to Share, Care During the Holiday Season

Charlevoix again this year will not have any restaurants open on Christmas day so that those people will be able to enjoy the holiday with their families.

In the rush of Christmas, we some times forget that there are many for one reason or another who are unable to share the holiday dinner with anyone and are forced to be by themselves.

May we suggest that you take a brief moment to check and see if there might not be someone like that in your neighborhood. Perhaps you could invite them to your home for a few hours on Christmas day.

Several weeks ago, the Courier published a list of names of those living at Grandvue Medical Care Facility. Others will be in the Charlevoix Area Hospital. Still others are in the serving in the Armed Forces.

Alone or not, you may want to take a few minutes from your schedule on Christmas and make a quick visit to simply show those shut-in or alone that some really does care.

Especially when you are very sick, it easy to fall into a quick feeling that nobody really cares. A simple visit to the extended care facility or local hospital might cheer someone's day, as well as lift your own spirits by showing someone that you care.

No More Pay Raises

Dear Editor:

In reference to the article in the Courier, 11-22-76 re: "Post Office Blues", I sent it to our Rep. Ruppe.

On TV within the last few days it was announced that another pay raise for Congress is being contemplated. What to heck! It is hard to believe. In my opinion, in order to save our nation from going down the drain economically we must tighten our belts - Stop deficit spending. Stop inflation!

Thanks for the article.

Sincerely

THE LOST CHRISTMAS
(Reprinted by Request)

There is nothing sadder in this world than to awake Christmas morning and not be a child.

Not to feel the cold on your bare feet as you rush to the Christmas tree in the living room. Not to have your eyes sparkle at the wonderment of discovery. Not to rip the ribbons off the shiny boxes with such abandon.

What happened?

When did the cold, bare feet give way to reason and a pair of sensible bedroom slippers? When did the sparkle and the wonderment give way to depression of a long day? When did a box with a shiny ribbon mean an item on the "charge"?

A child of Christmas doesn't have to be a toddler or a teen. A child of Christmas is anyone who believes that Kings have birthdays.

The Christmases you loved so well are gone. What happened?

Maybe they diminished the year you decided to have your Christmas cards printed to send to 1,500 of your "closest friends and dearest obligations." You got too busy to sign your own name.

Maybe it was the year you discovered the traditional Christmas tree was a fire hazard and the needles had to be vacuumed every three hours and you traded its holiday aroma for a silver one that revolved, changed colors, played "Silent Night" and snowed on itself.

Or the year it got to be too much trouble to sit around the table and put popcorn and cranberries on a string. Possibly you lost your childhood the year you solved your gift problems neatly and coldly with a checkbook.

Think about it. It might have been the year you were too rushed to bake and resorted to slice-and-bake with no nonsense. Who needs a bowl to clean--or lick?

Most likely it was the year you were so efficient in paying back all your party obligations. A wonderful little caterer did it for you for $3 per person.

Children of Christmas are givers. That's what the day is for. They give thanks, love, gratitude, joy and themselves to one another.

It doesn't necessarily mean you have to have children around a tree. It's rather like lighting a candle you've been saving, caroling when your feet are cold, building a fire in a clean grate, grinding tinsel deep into the rug, licking frosting off a beater, giving something you made yourself.

It's laughter, being with people you like, and at some time falling to your knees and saying, "thank you for coming to my birthday party."

How sad indeed to awake on Christmas and not be a child.

Time, self-pity, apathy, bitterness and exhaustion can take the Christmas out of the child, but you cannot take the child out of Christmas.

Clockwise
by Bob Clock

"What was Christmas like when you were a little boy, Daddy?"

That is a question the kids put to me every December and I am at a loss for a good answer because the Christmas holidays haven't changed a great deal during that broad swatch of the 20th Century that I have been on earth.

We still decorate our Christmas trees and our homes like we did then.

Stockings are still filled with the same assortment of sticky hard candy, nuts, fruit and gimcracks.

The aroma of roast turkey hasn't altered one molecule.

And Santa Claus hasn't aged a minute or changed a whisker since I was a little boy.

What is different, however, is the week after Christmas. That was when I would gather together all of my leaf-raking and snow-shoveling money and buy myself a $12 round-trip ticket on the Grand Trunk Railway to visit my mother's relatives in the far reaches of Georgian Bay, Ontario.

I usually left Detroit on the evening of Dec. 26, suffering agonies of anticipation all through the day until the train pulled out of the Grand Trunk station and shunted itself onto a ferry to cross the Detroit River into Canada. Through the late evening hours we roared and hissed through Glencoe and Chatham, arriving at London in the middle of the night for a three-hour layover.

Just before dawn, I boarded a northbound Canadian National train for the longest leg of the journey. Daybreak found us crossing the high wooden treasle at St. Marys, followed by Stratford, Palmerston, Tiverton, Allenford and a host of other towns with quaint-sounding British names.

We stopped at every one and I believe I have eaten raisin pie -- a Canadian mainstay -- in every station restuarant from Windsor to Wiarton.

Of course, we made terrible time. Engines were cranky and the track was uncertain. Coaches were old and drafty and although most of them had central heating, they were still lighted by kerosene lamps suspended from the ceiling.

I left the train at Park Head and boarded another coach and baggage car combination for the run into Wiarton. This car was heated by a wood stove and was quite a bit warmer than the fancier accomodations I had just left.

Up the Bruce Peninsula we went, knifing through dense cedar groves between snowy Hepworth and snowier Clavering. The grime of winter in Detroit was far behind us. Finally I could see the broad, blue expanses of Colpoy Bay and Georgian Bay through the frosty train window. Wiarton was just ahead.

The station was always the scene of a great deal of confusion when the train arrived. The big black engine, panting from its labors, whistled and wheezed as the passengers disembarked into the arms of waiting relatives and friends and quickly dispersed in a vareity of cutters and sleighs.

Now although my winter trips to Ontario occurred as late as the middle 1940's, cutters, sleighs and sledges were still the chief form of winter transportation, since snow plowing hadn't yet become the exact science it is today. You might find a few cars in town, but most sensible automobile owners had long since put their vehicles up on blocks for the winter.

Aunt Mary Mallard (every teenage boy should have an Aunt Mary Mallard!) and cousin Clarence Wilkinson always were at the station to meet me with their cutter and Old Bud, a superannuated Indian pony. I'd put my suitcase in the back of the cutter and climb under the lap robe. Then we would head out the Shore Road for the village of Oxenden, population 35, where the family had lived since arriving in North America generations ago.

Old Bud would make a hard left at the general store without being told and sprint down the main street toward the bay, harness bells ringing. Seconds later we were on the lane above Aunt Mary's pasture, arcing down, down, down past the mill and the stable to the house. We had arrived.

Christmas vacations at Oxenden remain a blur of frenetic activity, starting with five-course breakfasts cooked by Aunt Mary on the wood range and ending with early bedtimes under feather ticks, with hot bricks wrapped in towels to keep our feet warm.

Inbetween were long hours on the trap line with Clarence, sledding with the village kids on the high hill above the mill, exploring the woods in Uncle John's genuine Indian moccasins and snow shoes, cutting wood, turning the cream separator or visiting relatives up and down the shore with Old Bud and the cutter.

My Christmas weeks at Oxenden can never happen again. Aunt Mary and Uncle John are gone. So is Old Bud. Clarence has moved away. Snow plows have made cutters unnecessary, even in the backwaters of Ontario.

For all practical purposes, steam engines and kerosene-lit passengers coaches have been relegated to the archives of memory.

But it was a wonderful era while it lasted. And those are the Christmases I tell the kids about when they ask.

Dumb Driver Award

Forget the Indianapolis 500 and the Grand Prix. In all innocence, I seem to have started a new kind of car race. The winner will be crowned the world's champion dumb driver.

Any dumb driver can enter. The finalists will probably appear on TV, to recreate their dumbness. The only requirement is that all entrants must promise not to behave like typical TV game show contestants if they win.

There must be no jumping, shrieking, or public coupling with the game host.

To keep such offensive displays of greed to a minimum, prizes will be modest, and they will reflect the theme of the contest.

The top prize will probably be a week in Hollywood where the winner will be allowed to watch the filming of perpetual motion -- the car chase.

He or she will learn the inside secrets of TV driving. For instance, when the two cops always sit close together in the front seat, it does not mean they are gay. It means they both want to get their faces on camera.

To explain how this new car race got into gear (clever, eh?), a brief reprise is necessary.

Several weeks ago I claimed that I had held the world's champion dumb driver title for 35 years, only to be succeeded last summer by my son.

When I was 14, I smashed the front fenders on my father's car while driving it out of a bump shop where those same fenders had just been made to look like new. I thought that was high-style dumb, a record that would stand the test of time.

But it couldn't stand the test of my own son.

When he was 18, he smsdhed my two cars without starting the motor in either car.

He accomplished this by coasting a Pacer down our driveway, backward, while holding the door open to see where he was going. The door banged into an Oldsmobile parked innocently beside the driveway. The result was a one-door Pacer and a well-dented Oldsmobile.

Marvelous, I thought. My son is the new dumb champ. I crowned him publicly, bragging about how blood will tell and how proud my father would have been of his grandson.

But several readers disagreed. A few even implied , politely but unmistakably, that I might be guilty of nepotism.

For instance, there was a Wisconsin man named Herman Weinberger who bought a brand new Ford, got behind the wheel for the first time, and immediately crashed the car into the wall of the dealership where he bought it.

There isn't room here to detail the dumbness of all the entries in my contest. But you'll get the general ideal from Lee Lathrup of Lansing. It happened to him in his father's 1940 Ford, on a foggy night.

"I had just taken my date home and was bout to back out of her driveway," Lathrup reported. "I asked my buddy to watch where I was going.

"He opened his door, which caught on a fence, ripping the upholstery and springing the door. I pulled back in the driveway and got out to assess the damage after setting the emergency brake which never worked.

"The car rolled down the driveway, catching the open driver's door on a hedge, giving me a matched set of sprung doors.

"The only way we could get home was to borrow some clothes line and tie the doors together across the front seat."

Yeah, that's pretty dumb, I'll admit. But it must be remembered that Lathrup had the help of a buddy in the passenger seat. If this contest is going to allow dual participtíon, I want to submit another entry.

My buddy was Dick Deveraux, who still lives in Port Huron where it happened, in a 1947 Plymouth, and he'd better not deny his complicity at this late date.

Never mind why, but one dark night we were backing up on a skinny dirt road that ran alongside the railroad tracks. Dick guided me by watching the tracks, making certain I steered the same way the tracks went.

Except the road bent where the tracks didn't, and the Plymouth's rearend got hung up high on a railraod switch.

The car was half over the tracks and a helpful railroad employee said we'd better do something quick because a train was due through in 15 minutes.

Oh lord. We squeezed a jack between the switch pedestal and the rear bumper, and then pumped the Plymouth up high enough to push it loose. Just in time.

The next morning my father gave me hell for springing his trunk lid, bending his bumper, and losing his jack. I told him he should thank me for saving his car from being hit by a train.

Onward and Upward, dumb drivers, and keep those entries coming in.

Meet Charlevoix

...Santa Claus

As Christmas draws near, Charlevoix residents--especially those in the under 10 set--seem to be paying more and more attention to a bearded man dressed in a red suit with white trim and a matching hat.

So this week the Courier interviewed Santa Claus to find out what his great attraction is with the younger people in our area.

COURIER: Where do you live? We know you're not a resident of Charlevoix because we only see you here during certain times of the year. Are you from downstate?

SANTA CLAUS: Ho, ho, ho. You're right., I don't live in Charlevoix, but I'm not from downstate either. Actually I live in the North Pole with my wife Mrs. Claus and about 40 elves and their families.

COURIER: Is the North Pole a town?

SANTA CLAUS: Well, the North Pole is our address, but actually we do live in a little village there. We've very self-sufficient, we make all of our own food, clothing and of course Christmas presents. Ho, ho, ho.

COURIER: What is your job?

SANTA CLAUS: I'm in charge of spreading the Christmas Spirit throughout the world on Christmas Day.

COURIER: That sounds like quite a task. How do you do that?

SANTA CLAUS: I deliver gifts to all of the good little girls and boys throughout the world. And sometimes I bring things for their mommies and daddies, too.

COURIER: How do you get all of those gifts delivered?

SANTA CLAUS: Ho, ho, ho. That's easy. I jump into my sleigh, and hook up my eight tiny reindeer, plus Rudolph, of course. His shiny red nose acts as a headlight for my rig.

COURIER: Don't the reindeer get tired running all the way around the world delivering gifts?

SANTA CLAUS: Well, the reindeer don't run around the world, they fly.

COURIER: We've never heard of flying reindeer before. Are you sure you aren't putting us on?

SANTA CLAUS: My heavens no. The reindeer are magic, that's how they can fly. But it doesn't really matter if you believe in flying reindeer or not. What you have to believe in is the Christmas Spirit.

COURIER: Well, okay. But how do you get the gifts in the children's houses in the middle of the night?

SANTA CLAUS: I slide down the chimneys and leave the gifts in the houses. If they don't have chimneys I usually just go in through the front door.

COURIER: Don't the police pick you up for entering people's homes and parking the reindeer on their rooftops?

SANTA CLAUS: I alert the police that I'm coming. They know me real well. I usually stay in contact with them through my CB radio.

COURIER: What's your handle?

SANTA CLAUS: Well, it depends on what part of the world I'm in. Around here I'm known as Santa Claus, but in some places they call me St. Nick or Kris Kringle.

COURIER: Don't you have to know a lot of languages in order to talk with policemen all around the world?

SANTA CLAUS: No, you really don't. For some reason or another, when you start talking about the Joy of Christmas you begin to understand each other no matter where you live or what language you speak. I've never had any trouble communicating with people. I guess that's what Christmas is all about--being able to share your love -- and joy with everyone.

COURIER: What about the people that don't believe in you. What do you do with them?

SANTA CLAUS: Well I'm supposed to leave them cinders and coal in their stockings, but I just don't have the heart to do that. And it doesn't really matter if they believe in me or not. What is important is that they know what the true meaning of Christmas is and that they believe in Christmas with all of their hearts. You see Christmas, more than any other time of the year, is a time when we should be especially nice to everyone. The thing that would make me happiest, however, is if people would celebrate Christmas in their hearts all year long. We need more people who care about their neighbors in this world 365 days a year. And that's what I would like for my Christmas present this year.

COURIER: Merry Christmas!

Santa Claus

Cost of Government Services Lower than Average in County

With state and local taxes on the rise in nearly every part of the country, to what extent are residents of Charlevoix County affected?

Are they paying more or less than people in other areas for local government services?

According to the latest findings, except for those living in the State of Maine, everyone is having to dig deeper than before to meet the rising cost of such services.

For Americans as a whole, the cost of state and local government operations averaged $664 per capita in fiscal 1975, an increase of $46 over the previous year.

For residents of Charlevoix County, the tax load was approximately $510 per capita.

Elsewhere in the State of Michigan it was $682. In the East North Central States it was $650.

The figures are based upon state-by-state studies made by the Commerce Clearing House and others, utilizing data obtained from the Department of Commerce.

The finding is that it takes more money than ever before to operate the various state, county and municipal governments and provide people with adequate police protection, education, sanitation, roads, health services and the like.

As a result, according to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, state and local taxes have been rising sharply. In some communities they have more than doubled in the past ten years.

The big increases in certain sections of the country are attributed chiefly to heavy welfare outlays in their areas and to the inflated cost of materials, equipment and labor.

In all, taxes in the amount of $141 billion were collected by state and local governments in the past year. This compares with $68 billion in 1968.

The Commerce Clearing House reports that there are now 32 states in the "billionaires" club, consisting of those that collected at least $1 billion in 1975. Michigan is among them.

In Charlevoix County, state and local taxes reached an estimated total of $9,231,000 in the year.

Miss Schuch Marries William Gustafson

Mr. and Mrs. William Gustafson

Peggy Lee Schuch and William Irving Gustafson, Boatswain's Mate, Third Class, U.S. Coast Guard, exchanged their wedding vows in a double ring service solemnized at St. Mary's church Saturday, Dec. 11.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Schuch of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gustafson of Newaygo.

The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated at the ceremony in the presence of 150 guests. Arrangements of tinted mums and white poinsettias graced the altar for the service and white satin bows marked the pews.

Mrs. Paul Donnelly, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and recessional. She also accompanied Mrs. Wayne Woods who sang "Let There Be Peace On Earth", "Ode to Joy", "Wedding Song" and "The Lord'a Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose to wear her mother's wedding gown of white chiffon over satin for her own wedding. Buttoned in the back to the waistline, the gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, a wide band at the waist, high neckline, long sleeves and a flowing skirt that terminated in a cathedral length train. Seedpearls accented the bodice. A Juliet cap secured her lace trimmed veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and cushioned mums.

Debbra Balzer of Unionville, as maid of honor, wore a full length holly berry red empire gown styled with scooped neckline and short bell sleeves and carried a basket of snowdrift mums and coral miniature roses. Bridesmaids were Judy Elzinga and Lori Skeel who wore Christmas green gowns and Mrs. Michael Hodge and Sue Reich of Unionville who wore holly berry red gowns identical to the honor attendant's. Each carried a basket of snowdrift mums tinted in colors to match their gowns.

Stanley Swider of Rockford assisted the bridegroom as best man. Jeff Bledalle, Ted Knight of Rockford, Steven Schuch, brother of the bride, and Steven Swider of Rockford were groomsmen. The latter two also seated the guests.

Mrs. Schuch selected an aqua empire gown fashioned with a floor length skirt and long sleeves for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Gustafson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a medium green long-sleeved floor length gown. Their corsages were of roses and cushion mums.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey.

Wedding guests were present from Grand Rapids, Detroit, Saginaw, Newaygo, Alma, Caro, Unionville, Bayport and Harbor Beach, Michigan.

After a wedding trip through northern Michigan, the Upper Peninsula and Canada, the couple will return here to make their home.

The bride is employed at the Service Desk at K-Mart in Petoskey. The bridegroom is assigned to the Coast Guard Lifeboat Station here.

Engaged

Zellers-Meteer

The engagement of Tonia Lynn Buttleire Zellers to Neil Meteer has been announced by her parents, Mrs. George Stephan of Charlevoix and Jerome A. Buttliere of Gobles.

Mr. Meteer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Meteer of Traverse City.

Ms. Zellers is a 1973 graduate of Greensburg (Pa) high school and is enrolled at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City. Mr. Meteer is a 1969 graduate of the Traverse City high school and is employed at Freedom Artcraft Engineering Corp. here.

An August 6 wedding is being planned by the couple.

Congregational Church To Hold Two Services On Christmas Eve

The First Congregational Church will hold two festive worship services in observance of Christmas Eve, the Rev. Raymond H. Griffin has announced.

A service being held for the first time and designed for families with small children though everyone is invited is scheduled for 6 p.m.

There will be carols, scripture readings of the Christmas story, an anthem by a choir composed of entire families, and a story told by Mrs. Griffin concluding with a candle lighting service.

At 11 p.m. there will be the traditional candle-lighting service with carols, anthems sung by the Chancel choir, scripture readings and meditation by the pastor, Rev. Griffin.

There will be no Sunday School at the church on Dec. 26 and Jan. 2 and Griffin will preach. During the remaining four Sundays of January while Griffin will be on vacation, the Rev. Charles Manker of Petoskey will be the pulpit supply.

Martin Elected Head Of Rod, and Gun Club

John F. Martin was elected president of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club at the annual election of officers held recently.

Vance H. Smith was named vice president; Don Voison, secretary and William Kenifeck, treasurer.

Named to the board of directors for terms of four years were John Mol, who was elected to succeed himself, and Douglas Bergmann.

The club meets at the clubhouse off US 31 N the first Thursday of every month for a pancake supper at 6:30 p.m. The business session follows.

Community Reformed Church Site Of Potter-Vogelheim Wedding

Christie L. Potter became the bride of Joseph T. Vogelheim in a double ring service solemnized at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Potter of Charlevoix and Mrs. Joseph Vogelheim of Rogers City.

The Rev. Warren Burgess of Faith Reformed Church in Traverse City officiated at the evening service in the presence of 150 guests. Mrs. John L. Boss, at the organ, played a program of traditional music, the processional and the recessional. She also accompanied the soloist, Eric Cherry of Petoskey, brother-in-law of the bride.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a gown of white crystal peau de sole for her wedding. It was fashioned with a U-neckline, full bishop sleeves and an A-line skirt with attached chapel length train. The bodice, sleeves and skirt were accented with Venise lace medallions. She wore a mantilla style veil secured by the Juliet cap trimmed with the same lace medallions. Her bridal bouquet was red roses.

Mrs. Richard Miller of Quincey assisted her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Eric Cherry of Petoskey, Judy Potter, Paula Potter and Amy Potter, also sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical navy polyester knit gowns designed with scooped necklines, long fitted sleeves and A-line skirts. The necklines, waists and sleeves were accented with light blue piping. They carried bouquets of light blue carnations.

Andrew Vogelheim of Rogers City was his brother's best man. Jeffrey Cook and Richard Bannasch of Rogers City, Robert Allen of Hastings and Kim Vogelheim of Lansing brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen and also seated the guests.

Mrs. Potter chose a blue and silver interwoven knit gown for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white roses. Mrs. Vogelheim, mother of the bridegroom, wore a multi-colored knit gown. Her corsage was of pink roses.

A reception, hosted by the bride'a parents, followed at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey.

After a wedding trip to Toronto, Ont. the couple will reside in Lansing where the bridegroom attends Michigan State University.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Vogelheim, Sr., was held at the church dining room Friday evening.

Hospital Decorated For Christmas Season

The Charlevoix Area Hospital has taken on a holiday theme now that the decorating committee headed by Mrs. Ivor Menzies has completed its assigned chore, Mrs. William Squire, Guild president, has announced.

All decorations have been done without the use of lights because of fire regulations. As a result, the job demanded imagination and ingenuity, Mrs. Squire added.

Even the babies who might arrive on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day will receive specially decorated boots made by Guild members.

And the employees will reap the benefits of the decorating with decorated candy jars filled with Christmas candy on all the tables in the dining rooms.

The Christmas Showcase sale was the most successful in the history of the event.

Dear Children:

Once again I would like to thank you for visiting with me at the Charlevoix County State Bank, December 17th, for the 7th year.

Every year I look forward with great anticipation to greet you and hear of your Christmas wishes, and every year it seems like the time isn't long enough for me to talk with you in greater detail, but it is very important to me to visit even briefly with each of you.

My heartiest wishes to you and your family for a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

May God Bless each and every one of you.

Sincerely,

anta

Health Systems Agency Working On 5-Year Area Care Plan

By PAULA HOLMES

A comprehensive five-year health systems plan is in the works for the Northern Michigan area.

The Northern Michigan Health Systems Agency, Inc., which was established by the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974, has been charged with the responsibility of writing the health plan for the northern most 18 counties in the Lower Peninsula.

The five-year plan will be based on guidelines established by the federal and state governments, on a survey of health care needs in the area, and public input and statistical information about health care and health problems in the area gathered by the health system agency.

The agency is run by a 30-member board of directors whose membership is evenly divided between community residents, elected officials such as county commissioners and township supervisors, and members of the medical professions. The board members are assisted in their activities by a professional staff of nine which maintains offices in Petoskey;

The only member of the board from the Charlevoix area is Board President J. Richard Smith of Boyne City. Other members from surrounding areas include: Vice President Ann Smith, Helen Stainbrook and Ian Wilson, M.D., all from Emmet County, and Ward Babcock and Walter Kirkpatrick, both from Antrim County.

Work Started on Plan

In the last two weeks, the agency has started actively working on the development of the health systems plan, following the appointment of a committee by the board of directors to work on the plan with three staff members.

"The committee will be meeting once a month to assess information and surveys that the staff has conducted and to determine how the information should fit into the five-year plan," Gary Peltier, community relations specialist, explained.

"We hope to have the plan completed by next summer," he said.

Peltier explained that the committee will be looking closely at ways to keep health care costs down when developing the five-year plan.

He said that one of the reasons the more than 200 health systems agencies were established across the country was due to the huge increase in health care costs. The amount of money spent for health care has tripled since 1960 and increased 700 percent since 1950.

"One thing we will be looking at is ways that we can consolidate and develop multi-institutional systems in the areas of obstetrics, pediatrics, emergency services, coronary and intensive care and radiation therapy," Peltier said. "We will also be checking to see if several institutions can share support systems which would cut down on the costs of each institution having their own system."

Peltier said the committee would also be looking at the possibility of establishing uniform cost accounting procedures throughout the 18-county area. The community relations specialist said a uniform system could be another way to cut health care costs or at least to slow down the spiraling health cost rate.

"We will also be incorporating the promotion of activities for preventing disease into the five-year health systems plan," he said. "Things like health education, health testing and studies of our environment and health will be included."

Administrators, Public Surveyed

Peltier said the staff members planned on talking with administrators of the various hospitals and clinics in the 18-county area to get their opinions on what types of equipment and expansions will be needed in the next five years.

A survey will also be mailed out to the 250,000 residents in the 18-county area to see what the public thinks is needed in the area, too.

"When developing the plan, we will be setting a broad policy for health care in the area and then getting down to the specifics of how the policy can be implemented and when each aspect should be implemented," he said.

Following the approval of the proposed five-year plan by the board of directors, the plan will then be explained to the public during a series of public hearings, Peltier said. The public will be asked for its suggestions, which will be incorporated into the plan before it is sent to the state and federal governments for final approval.

One-Year Plan, too

Peltier said that in addition to the five-year plan, the committee must also develop a one-year implementation plan, showing what aspects of the five-year plan will be developed in the first year.

Each year following the development of the first five-year plan and one-year implementation plan, the health systems agency must review the five-year plan and update it and write another one-year implementation plan, he said.

"We will be constantly looking five years ahead for the development of health care in this area," Peltier said. "And that way we can be assured that we will make optimal use of our health care facilities and dollars."

Peltier said that once the five-year plan is approved, the health systems agency will receive upwards of $250,000 which it can dole out to local organizations to help them start providing certain services that the agency feels are needed according to its five-year plan and one-year implementation plan for health care services in the area.

Also all requests from hospitals and clinics for approval of expansion plans will be reviewed by the health systems agency in light of the five-year plan.

"After our five-year plan is approved, we will be able to review these expansion plans and decide if the expansion is necessary," Peltier said. "Currently, we are required to review the plans, but we can only advise as to if we feel the expansion is needed or not."

Peltier said all meetings of the planning commission assigned to develop the five-year plan will be open to the public for observation. However, public input on the plan will not be invited until the public hearings are held next year.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Hansen presiding. Aldermen present: Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the November 29, 1976 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was offered by Alderman Wallace and supported by Alderman Erber that the Finance Committee set the salary for the City Assessor. The Finance Committee shall meet to determine this issue on Wednesday, December 15, 1976, in Council Chambers. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Alderman Plumm, supported by Alderman Wallace.

PROPOSED RESOLUTION
76-12-1
Retiree Blue Cross / Blue Shield Plan

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the City of Charlevoix that employees of the City who have retired be permitted to remain on the City's Blue Cross / Blue Shield group plan, and retired employees have 30 (thirty) days to request inclusion in said plan and retiring employees must request in 30 days of retirement date,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, insurance coverage privileges shall extend to surviving spouses only, and,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, remarriage of the surviving spouse would cancel all membership privileges and,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the retiree or eligible spouse shall be solely responsible for paying all premiums in order to remain eligible for the group plan and,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the previous resolution permitting retirees to join Charlevoix Blue Cross / Blue Shield plan dated October 18, 1976 hereby is rescinded.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Mayor Hansen presented a letter from the United States Environmental Protection Agency and advised the Council that a check in the amount of $74,800.00 from the United States Treasury Department will be forthcoming in the immediate future. This is a reimbursement of expenditures at the sewage plant.

Motion was offered by Alderman Whitley and supported by Alderman Plumm that the low bid of R. B. Lyons, Inc. for a 36 x 36 crib restoration at Ferry Avenue swimming beach dock be accepted. The submitted bid is $16,307.00. Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $163,525.26 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed. Moved by Alderman Plumm and supported by Alderman Wood that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts. The Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote. Yeas: Aldermen Erber, Wallace, Morris, Plumm, Wood, and Whitley. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned.

Grapplers Regain Holiday Tourney Title

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team, coached by Norm Probert, re-captured the Holiday Class C-D Invitational Wrestling title for the first time since 1973 when they edged Rogers City by a margin of 203½-199 here Saturday.

In addition, Charlevoix's Gary Probert, wrestling in the 165-pound class, was named the Most Outstanding Wrestler in the tournament that attracted 199 participants from 16 Northern Michigan and Upper Peninsula schools.

Another feature of the tournament was the meeting of two state title holders, Tom Kennard of Hillman and John Mayer of Rudyard in the 105-pound class. Kennard took the event by a 6-0 decision over Mayer, the U.P. titleholder.

Coach Probert said Charlevoix was trailing Rogers City by several points when Gary Probert went against Mike Hamilton of Farwell. Probert had to win by a major decision to keep the Rayders in the running for the title. The match ended with Probert pinning Hamilton in a time of 5:43 to put Charlevoix ahead by a half point. An 18-8 decision by Greg Chappieus over Bill Farabaugh of Kalkaska in the 178-pound class then cinched the title by 3½ points.

Other Rayders finishing among the top eight in their respective classes were Dave Golovich (98) and Craig Golovich (138) second place; Mike Byard (1025), Ron Hilton (112) and Mike Kitely (132), third place; Ande Keller (155) and Dennis Whitley (191), fourth; Jeff Skelton (119), seventh, and Dan Bruce (145), eighth.

Probert said the tournament ran smoothly, featured numerous outstanding matches and proved to be highly successful.

Finishing behind Charlevoix and Rogers City were the defending champions, Grayling, which finished in third place with 147 points. The Vikings were followed by Kalkaska with 130 points; Pine River, 99; Rudyard, 92½; Onaway, 74; St. Ignace, 61½; Elk Rapids, 58½; Boyne City, 40, and Farwell, 38.

Marion, with 121½ points, upset the defending champion Kalkaska with 115½ to take the Class D title. Mancelona was third with 74 points; Glenn Lake, fourth with 70 points and Hillman, fifth with 66 points.

Dan Doherty of Kalkaska, in the heavyweight class, was credited with the most pins in the least amount of time for four in 3:46; Hector Zuniga of Frankfort had the fastest pin, 12 seconds; Norm Poppy of Kalkaska the largest decision, 21-0 and Rogers City the most pins, 30.

The tournament feature 338 bouts on five mats by 199 prep school grapplers from 18 schools.

The winners and runners-up in the 13 weight class follow:

98: Burt Partello, Gray, won by 6-0 decision over Dave Golovich, CX

105: Tom Kennard, Hill 6-0 decision over John Mayer, Rud.

112: John O'Toole, RC, 2-0 decision over Bob Wanstead, PR.

119: Pat Lamb, R.C., 8-4 decision over Bill Kellogg, Gray.

128: Chris Jackson, Marion, 10-0 decision over Jeff Kruzel, B.C.

132: Sam Matthews, Kalk., by pin in 4:44 over Gerald Bunning, Manc.

138: Grant Byce, Gray., by pin in 2:41 over Craig Golovich, Cx.

145: Norm Poppy, Kalk., 6-4 decision over Martin Terry, P.R.

155: Tim Long, Frankfort, 11-2 decision over Ray Flowers, G.L.

165: Gary Probert, Cx, pin in 5:43 over Mike Hamilton, Farwell.

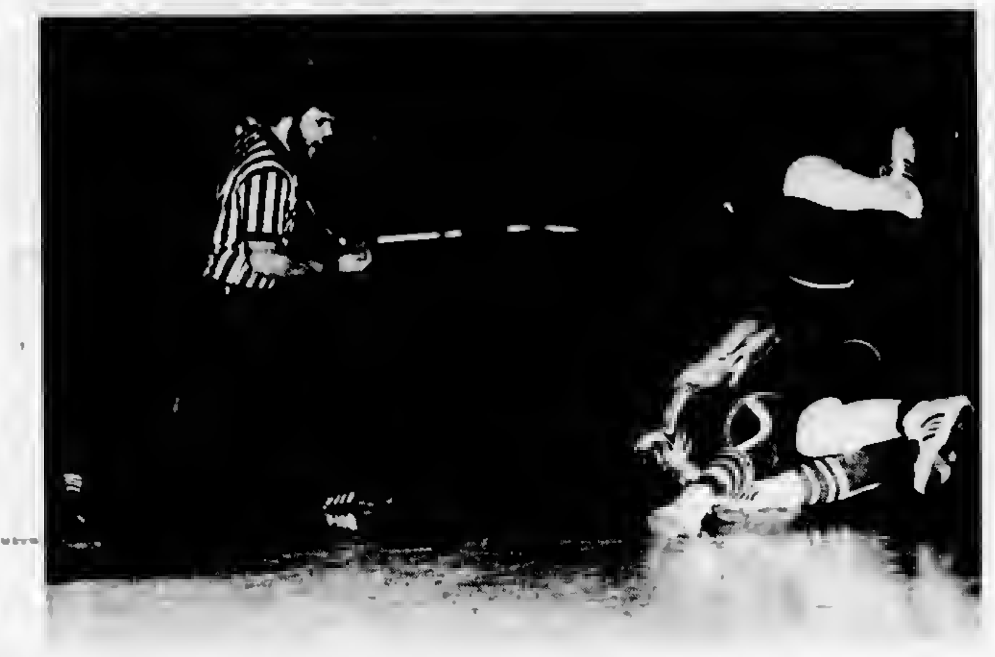
178: Greg Chappules, Cx. 11-8 decision over Bill Faragaugh, Kalk.

191: Jim Velliquette, E.R., 5-4 decision over John Slater, Gray.

Hvywt: Dan Doherty, Kalk., pin in :52 over Dan Lund, Manc.

The tournament is sponsored annually by the Charlevoix Police Department, the Charlevoix Wrestling Club and the Charlevoix High School.

GARY PROBERT, who was elected the most valuable wrestler at this weekend's invitational meet, puts the move on his opponent.



GREG CHAPPIEUS, a first place winner, in the invitational meet shows what he's made of during the championship match.

CHARLEVOIX CAME OUT the winner in the invitational wrestling meet held at the school this weekend. Here Coach Norman Probert accepts the team trophy from Charlevoix Police Chief Jack Mol as part of the team looks on.

DAN DOHERTY of Kalkaska and Gary Probert of Charlevoix were honored for their outstanding wrestling. Charlevoix Police Chief Jack Mol presents Doherty with the award for the most pins in the least time and Probert was honored as most valuable wrestler.

Boyne Ramblers Down Rayder Cagers Friday

The Charlevlox Rayders met one of their arch rivals, The Boyne City Ramblers, Friday night and returned with a 74-54 loss to a team that was hitting 80 per cent of its shots from the floor.

Charlevoix will not see court action again until Petoskey plays here on Jan. 4.

In Friday's game, the Rayders stayed with the Ramblers for the first period which ended 14-13. However, in the second quarter the Ramblers hit a torrid 24 points to Charlevoix's 14 as they went ahead 38-27 at the intermission.

As the second half got underway, the Rayders scored only eight points while their hosts had 18 for a 54-35 lead. Charleviox came back to score 19 points in the final eight minutes but too late to do any good.

The Rayders had a total of 22 field goals and 10 of 13 free throw attempts. The team had 14 personal fouls. Boyne City, on the other hand, had 35 field goals and four of 11 free throws and 12 personal fouls.

Bud Klooster was top scorer for Charlevoix with 21 points followed by Scott Boss with 17; Pat Schaefer with 10; Kip Cinnamon, four and Matt Doan, two.

Greg Upton had 22 points, Ted Beyer 20 and Tom Beyer and Scrappy Moore 12 each for the Ramblers.

Bob Alger Honored At Ferris Sports Fest

Bob Alger, freshman at Ferris State College, was among the athletes honored at the recent Fall Sports Banquet at the college. Football players, the Cross Country squad and their respective coaches and the cheerleaders were honored at the event.

Alger, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alger, was a regular on the grid team which finished in second place in the Great Lakes Conference with a 5-5 record. Forty-five football players received letters at the banquet.

Charlevoix Gives Harbor Rams Tough Fight, But Loses Battle

The Charlevoix Rayders fell victim to the Harbor Springs Rams point-making machine Tuesday night by a score of 66-51 on their home floor.

The only thing in the Rayder's favor as they went against the mighty Rams was the fact that they held them to less than their usual 100 points.

The Rayders jumped to a 19-13 quarter advantage but the Rams, taking advantage of Rayder fouls, wore down the Rayder offense to knot the score 32–all at halftime. The Rayders managed to hold the visitors to a four-point lead, 46-42, at the three-quarter mark before the Rams broke away to outscore the Rayders 20-9 in the final minutes for the victory.

Harbor had a total of 26 field goals and 14 of 22 charity shots while picking up 19 personal fouls.

Charlevoix had 17 field goals and completed 17 of 25 free throws while collecting 20 personal fouls.

Bud Klooster, with six buckets and 12 of 14 free throws, paced the game with 24 points. Matt Doan had 12; Scott Boss, eight; Neil Dziedzic, three and Brian Williams and Jim Elzinga, two each..

Dave Rhine had 23 points, Ed Keibel 18 and Geoff Morse 10 for the Rams.

Win 63-48

JV Rayders Run Over Boyne City

The Charlevoix JV's came through with a 63-48 win over the Boyne City JV's in a game that saw the young Rayders trailing early in the meeting.

Boyne City forged into a 16-8 first period lead but the Rayders came storming back to tie the score 29-all at halftime.

As the second half got underway, the young Rayders outscored Boyne City 18-7 for a 47-36 lead with eight minutes remaining. The Rayders gained momentum as the game continued to win 63-48.

Pat Schmidt led the scoring with 31 points followed by Kevin Kratt with 18; Doug Buday and Bob Plumm with four each and Barney Way, Gilbert Nolrot and Todd Williams with two each as Charlevoix poured in 26 field goals and hit all of 21 from the line. The team had 12 personal fouls.

Boyne City had 22 field goals and four of nine free throw attempts. The team had 16 personal fouls.

Grapplers Defeated By Rogers City Team

Haunted by the Rogers City jinx, the Charlevoix Rayder matmen won seven matches to six for the Hurons but lost the meet by a score of 25-22.

Coach Norm Probert said the Hurons won by pins thus winning additional points. Charlevoix has never won over Rogers City in a dual meet.

Charlevoix's next dual meet will be here with Rogers City Jan. 8.

In Thursday's meet, Gary Probert continued his undefeated record with a 13-2 major decision win over Greg Mulka in the 165 pound class. Another outstanding win was posted by sophomore Dennis Whitley who, wrestling a weight class up from his normal weight (191), defeated Duane Haske by a 12-7 decision in one of his best matches of the season. Upset of the meet was Gregg Chappules' loss to Lee Gapczynski in the 178 pound class when Chappuies pinned himself on the gulliotine pinning combination. Gapczynski pinned his opponent in 3:00 minutes.

Other results of the meet follow:

In the 98 pound class, Dave Golovich won by a 7-3 decision over Tom Barrett.

105 pounds: Mark Byard over Rodney Krueger by a 9-4 decision.

112 Ron Hilton over John O'Toole by a 4-3 decision.

119 Jeff Skelton lost to Pat Lamb by a pin in 2:34.

126 Don Trost won over Paul Radke by a 9-2 decision.

132 Mike Kiteley lost to Bob Asam by an 8-0 decision.

138 Craig Golovich won over Ken Pryzybyla by a 10-9 decision.

145 Dan Bruce lost to Tim Schaedig by an 11-8 decision.

155 Ande Keller lost to John Bellmore by a 5-0 decision.

Heavyweight Jerry Sladek lost to Chuck Paull by a 7-0 decision.

Tough Rayder Team Defeats Harbor JV

The Charlevoix JV's handed the visiting Harbor Springs young Rams one of their rare defeats in two seasons as they beat them 62-60 in an overtime game here Thursday night.

A field goal by Barney Way in the overtime period broke the 60-60 tie and gave the young Rayders the victory.

The Rams had forged to an 18-12 first period lead before the Rayders caught fire and outscored them 20-12 to take a 32-30 halftime lead. As the second half got underway, the Rams trimmed the Rayder margin to 43-42 before knotting the score 60-all at the final horn.

The Rayders went to the free throw line to collect the winning points after both teams had scored 22 field goals. The Rayders connected on 18 of 22 free throws including 13 of 13 attempts by Pat Schmidt who had 29 points for the game. Harbor scored on 14 of 26 attempts. Charlevoix had 25 and the Rams 23 personal fouls.

Bob Plumm had 13 points, Kevin Kratt nine, Way six, Doug Buday three and Bob Drost two points for the Rayders.

Cosens had 18, Tippett 14 and Ernst 11 points for Harbor Springs.

Tri-City, LaBlance Lead B League Cage Action

By FRAN MARTIN

Tri-City Asphalt continues to lead Division I and LaBlance Insurance Division II of the B League of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League as the teams head for the holiday recess.

After Wednesday's games, action will be suspended until January 3.

Last week saw LaBlance Insurance down Bay Shore Steel 54-34; County State Bank defeat Klooster John Deere 64-59; Tri-City Asphalt rout Hoskins 86-50; Medusa bump AlRay Cottages 62-32 and Freedman's dump Wojan Aluminum 90-61.

LaBlance Insurance posted an easy win over Bay Shore Steel with leads of 11-10; 25-15 and 39-29 by quarters as Joe Beaudoin scored 18 points and Jim Gels 10. Vince Left had 20 for the Steelers.

Denny LaCroix and Denny Rickertson had 12 points each and Jerry Skippergosh 17 as County State Bank headed Klooster John Deere 18-14 at the quarter before pulling away 43-28 at halftime and 51-41 going into the last eight minutes. Butch Wagner and Barry Pierce had 13 points each and Bob Casteline and Hal Evans 10 each for Big John.

Hoskins held the high scoring Tri-City Asphalt quintet to a 14-14 first period tie before the Black-toppers found the range and pulled away 43-28 and 66-34 at the quarters. Dave Norton canned 23, Mike Crain 21, Butch Klooster 20 and Leroy Buchanan 10 for the victors. Clay Jones had 14 points, Pete Huskisson 11 and Frank Holcomb 10 for Hoskins.

Medusa chalked up its second win of the season with a 62-32 victory over AlRay Cottages. Paul Parrish with 16 points, Denny Erickson with 14 and Mike Mapes with 11 headed the attack that saw Medusa lead 10-4; 26-8 and 39-32 by quarters before pouring in 23 points to the Cottagers 12 for the lopsided win.

The Freedman-Wojan Aluminum bout turned into a real scoring spree for both teams as Steve McClellan scored 25; Steve Martinus, 23; Paul Osterberg, 20 and Terry Blissett 16 for the victors. Scoring for Wojan's were Larry Martin with 15, Stan Martin with 13 and Denny Youngdyke and Don Ward with 12 points each. Freedman's had led Wojan's 21-6; 45-22 and 60-41 by quarters.

Restaurants, Grocery Stores Closed on Christmas

Area Residents, Tourists Will Have to Fend For Selves

By PAULA HOLMES

Christmas is going to be a bad day for hungry or thirsty people in Charlevoix who were planning to go out to eat or who forgot to stock up on their groceries ahead of time.

Not a single restaurant or grocery or party store in town will be open on Christmas Day, according to a survey made by the Courier of area businesses.

Most area businessmen contacted by the Courier said it was just too hard to get employees to work on the holiday, which is traditionally a time people spend at home with their families.

And many of the businessmen said they would rather be home than working on that day, too.

"We won't be open on Christmas Day mostly because of the employees," Heinz Leutheuser explained. "We're open every day of the year and we felt it would be unfair to them to be open on Christmas, too."

Bob Withers of Village Inn Pizza, echoed Leutheuser's words.

"We'll be closed mostly because of morale," Withers said. "We don't like to have our employees working on days when they feel they could or should be somewhere else."

Dick Auld of the Weathervane and president of the Restaurant Association of Charlevoix, said this will be the second year in a row that no restaurants have been open in Charlevoix on Christmas Day.

Auld said the association did attempt to get one of its members to stay open this year, but it was not successful.

"We're attempting to set up something on a rotating basis," Auld said, "where all of the restaurants will take turns being open on Christmas so that no one has to do it every year."

No one would take it for this year, but the Grey Gables is expected to be open for Christmas 1977 and the Weathervane in 1978.

"It's really hardly worth the effort it takes to be open on Christmas," Auld explained. "In the past, places have been open all day long and only served 20 people.

"It's really tough to get people to work on that day and if the business isn't there—," he continued. "It costs just to open up the door."

Auld said that tourists in the area on Christmas Day wouldn't be left high and dry.

"The Holiday Inn in Petoskey is open all day long, so people can go there to eat," he said.

Auld said he had checked with some of the motel owners in town after last Christmas to see what the reaction was to the lack of restaurant facilities.

"There weren't that many people in town on that day," he pointed out. "And no one objected to the 20-minute drive to Petoskey. Most of them were going over there to ski anyway."

It's also tough for restaurants and grocery stores to be open on Christmas Day because of the Liquor Control Commission regulations. No one is allowed to sell liquor on Christmas Day or on the day after this year. However, a bill which is on Gov. William Milliken's desk, would allow the sale of liquor in restaurants and food stores beginning at noon on Sunday this year if the Governor signs it.

If the bill is signed, as is expected, many restaurants and grocery or party stores will probably be open on Sunday, local businessmen said.

CHARLEVOIX YOUNGSTERS were treated to a special Christmas gift by the County State Bank this weekend. Santa Claus came to visit and to hear what the children wanted for Christmas. He also volunteered to have his picture taken with every child by Photographer Mick Smith for free.

English Colonists Brought Mistletoe Custom to America

The custom of kissing under the mistletoe came to this country with the English colonists who settled in the South. Michigan State University horticulturists point out that the origin of the custom goes back much farther than Merrie Olde England, however.

According to Norse legend, the mother of Balder, the sun god, persuaded every living thing but one—the mistletoe—to promise not to harm him. Balder's fellow gods shot him with an arrow of mistletoe wood. His mother's love brought him back from the dead. Her tears of joy turned to mistletoe berries, and she kissed everyone who passed beneath and mistletoe.

Another legend has mistletoe growing on the sacred oak of othe Druids, the Celtic priests of ancient Gaul and Britain. The Druids cut pieces of mistletoe at certain times of the year for their followers to wear as charms or hang over their doorways to keep evil spirits away. A friend entering beneath the mistletoe received a kiss from the host to seal their friendship.

The ancient Roman saw the mistletoe as a symbol of hope and peace. Enemies meeting under it would lay aside their weapons, kiss each other and declare a truce.

Some early Christians, on the other hand, thought the mistletoe was the forbidden fruit of the Garden of Eden or the source of the wood for Christ's cross.

In Olde England, the girl who was not kissed under the mistletoe was supposedly doomed to be an old maid for another year.

In addition to its value as a good luck charm, the mistletoe was also prized by various peoples for its medicinal value. Infertility, epilepsy and toothache are some of the ailments it supposedly cured.

American mistletoe grows wild in southern states. It is a parasite of oak, cottonwood, alder and some conifers. It attaches itself to the water-conducting system of the host plant. Birds spread mistletoe seeds by wiping the sticky fruit from their beaks into branches and trees. The hard-covered seeds stick there until they germinate.

36% Get Flu Shots

District Health Department No. 3 reports that approximately 36 percent of the adults in Charlevoix County and 40 percent of those in Antrim County have received swine flu immunizations.

A limited amount of the vaccine will be available for healthy children between the ages of three and 17 at the regularly scheduled Health Department Clinics.

There is a clinic the second Monday of each month from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the County Building Annex in Charlevoix, and the first Thursday of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Court House in Bellaire.

Nancy Flood, registered nurse in charge of the swine flu immunizations, says the vaccine will be given on a first-come basis. The vaccine is not available at doctor's offices.

Each child who receives the first shot will be given another one four weeks later.

Additional information about the immunization clinics may be obtained by calling the District Health Department office in Charlevoix, phone 547-6523, or in Bellaire, phone 533-8422.

THE CITY LIGHT Department didn't let Scrooge come to Charlevoix. They were out battling the elements getting the city Christmas tree in place. Students will decorate the tree on Tuesday.

1 c. dried coconut

1/2 c. wheat germ.

Roast above ingredients in - large shallow pan - stir often - until brown. 225 D. oven. Remove from oven, and add · ⅓ c. raisins, 1/3 c. cut-up dates, 1 c. almonds ground, ½ c. sunflower seeds.

MOCK PECAN PIE
From: Joyce Hamlin
Boyne City

¾ cup oatmeal (quick uncooked)

3 eggs

2/3 cup pancake syrup

½ t. salt

1 t. vanilla

Mix all ingredients together throughly. Pour into an unbaked 9" pie pan and bake at 325 degree oven for 55 minutes. Tastes like Pecan Pie. I use my homemade syrup made from 1 cup water, 2 cups sugar and ½ t. maple flavoring. Heat until it boils and turn off heat. Ready for pie or on top of pancakes.

Food Diseases Run Rampant During Holidays

Foodborne diseases run rampant during the holidays when rich, piquant foods are being prepared and served lavishly in the home, says B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Few cases make the news but many food poisoning incidents occur in homes each year.

"The Michigan Department of Agriculture is responsible for assuring the safety of the public food supply from farm to market," Ball said, "but it's the consumers' job once the products leave the store."

According to Dr. Edward Heffron, MDA Food inspection division chief, that holiday buffet of roast turkey, dressing, cream pie or custard may be appetizing but it's also potentially hazardous and should be handled with care.

"Foods containing milk or milk products, eggs, meats, poultry or fish require refrigeration and should not be left standing for long periods of time," Heffron said. "The best way to guard against possible contamination is to put leftovers in the refrigerator immediately after the meal."

Heffron said in preparing your holiday bird, cooking it to an internal temperature of 185 degrees F. is necessary to destroy organisms which can cause food poisoning. If preparing dressing, it's important to place it in the turkey just before roasting and remove it from the caviety before storing in the refrigerator.

If someone in the family does become ill and you suspect food poisoning, call your doctor or local health department, Heffron advises, then call MDA to investigate and be sure to save a sample of the food for analysis in the MDA laboratory.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture's main office is in Lansing with branch offices in Escanaba, Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Detroit and Frankenmuth.

Mt. McSauba Opens Early Thanks to Great Snowfall

An unseasonable snowfall and continuing cold weather have made it possible to open the Mt. McSauba ski slopes earlier than usual Dwight Boss, City Recreation director, has announced.

The slopes and the warming shack opened Saturday, Dec. 11, the earliest date in anyone's memory and, if the winter weather continues, will remain open throughout the ski season. In past years the park opened during the Christmas holiday. The early opening will give skiers an extra two weeks to enjoy the facility.

The hours at the slopes will be from 10:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and 7 until 10:30 p.m. on Saturday; 1 until 8 p.m. on Sunday; and 6 to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Further information regarding use of the slopes may be obtained from the manager, Dale Boss, Jr.

Season tickets are being suggested as Christmas gifts for those who use the slopes regularly. A family ticket may be obtained for $50; for a couple, $35, an adult, $25; student 10 years or older, $15 and children under 10 years, $10.

Daily rates will be as follows: Adult: $2.50 day and $1.50 night; student: $1.50 day and $1 night and children: $1 day and 75 cents night. Season tickets will not be sold on the installment plan this season but must be purchased outright, Boss said.

Hand-knitted Ski Caps Go to Ford

Americans Remember Presidents at Christmas

Many an American will be keeping her eye on President Ford as photographers and television pursue him on the ski slopes this Christmas.

She'll be watching to see whether the President is wearing the ski cap she lovingly knitted and sent him for Christmas.

The White Hosue expects hand-knitted ski caps, mufflers, socks, mittens, and the like—as well as homemade ornaments for the White House Christmas tree—to top the avalanche of presents traditionally sent to the First Family.

All gifts are acknowledged with appreciation, but some are passed on to charitable organizations, and some commerical products returned when accepting might imply presidential endorsement or conflict of interest.

Turkeys, cookies, plum puddings, mince pies, and other edibles are all regretfully destroyed by the Secret Service, citing security.

There is no law against a president taking innocent gifts from an American, although sometimes the White House has been touchy about how accepting some of them looks to the public.

Thomas Jefferson proclaimed: "I have ever laid it down as an untolerable law to myself to accept no present while in public office".

However, Jefferson kept a newfangled riding saddle with built-in springs sending $35 to its Philadelphia inventor, and also paid for an unsolicited 1,600-pound Cheddar cheese.

And along before 1966, when keeping foreign gifts was outlawed, Jefferson accepted a magnificient stallion from Tunisia and put it to stud in the White House stables, assigning the servicing fees to the upkeep of the nation's diplomats.

Dwight Eisenhower was stoical about criticism over accepting $300,000 in gifts for his Pennsylvania farm, including a small herd of cattle, a golfmobile with a mooing cattle-caller, prize pigs, a stero-equipped tractor, a golf green, a serpentine brick wall, and a golf bag shaped like the Washington Monument.

Trying to legislate against accepting "persuasive gifts" has bogged down after reaching such tentative rulings as a 10-pound ham may be considered a "friendly gift" but a 15-pounder is "influential."

James Buchanan, a bachelor who insisted he could get along nicely on his $25,000 salary, ordered all gifts returned to sender. But all other presidents accepted presents at Christmas and throughout the year.

Here are a few, though history is poorer without details of their fate:

John Qunicy Adams gladly wore a toupee from an admiring wigmaker. But Andrew Jackson refused the marble sarcophagus an American navy commander brought back from Palestine. Jackson said it was all right for the Roman emperor it had been intended for, but not for an American president.

Millard Fillmore sold a carriage given him and bought a set of silver. Grover Cleveland was sent scores of rowboats after the public learned he liked to go boating alone on the Potomac. Harry Truman was submerged in some 2,000 white shirts after he let slip how hard it was to find them because of postwar shortages.

Calvin Coolidge presumably ate the barrel of pickles he once got, and Andrew Johnson probably enjoyed one of the few gifts he accepted, a shipment of tripe.

Abraham Lincoln forwarded a "distillery of whiskey" to the thiraty patients of an army hospital. Franklin D. Roosevelt's enormous collection of donated cigarette holders and lighters has gone to museums.

It is unknown what has happened to the banjo sent Herbert Hoover, to the 150 cornets sent ex-hornblower Warren G. Harding, or to the one-of-a-kind pet sent John F. Kennedy—a white rabbit said to drink beer and play the national anthem on a trumpet.

It's Christmas... and time to wish each of you the happiest one ever..... and everything good in '77!

CHOOSING TOYS FOR GIFTS

If you choose toys carefully, you'll delight the children and provide them with lasting benefits.

Toys are tools of play and through play children learn to express themselves and begin understanding what is going on around them.

Children's toys contribute largely to their development and should be selected to fit that development at any given stage. As children grow they develop different abilities. Their skills increase and their interests broaden. Although there are no hard and fast lists of toys for children of different ages, American toy manufacturers do scientifically test toys for age suitability.

Looks for tags, labels and instruction sheets with information on why a toy is suitable for a particular age group, how the child can use the toy, why he or she will enjoy it and how the child will profit from the play activity.

Just as children need a nutritionally balanced food diet, they also need play equipment which is well-balanced and contributes to their all around development.

Every child should have toys which satisfy interest in: active physical play (push and pull toys, wheel toys, balls, gym equipment); manipulative, constructive, creative play (blocks, construction toys, hobby kits); imaginative, imitative, dramatic play (dolls, housekeeping equipment, train sets, dress up costumes); social play (games for several children).

Buy toys that are safe. Avoid toys with sharp edges or points. Paints and colorings should be nontoxic. For younger children, buy toys with large parts so they won't get swallowed. Toys made of fabric should be flame-retardant.

Also look for toys that are sturdy, durable, attractive, fun and will encourage children to use their imagination.

JOY TO ALL

Chemically-Treated Burnables Can Add to Fireplace Beauty

Here's a novel gift iden for the firebugs in your life: pine cones, kindling, or newspaper logs treated with chemicals to add colors to the fireplace.

Michigan State University Extension forester Randy Heiligmann says that solutions to the following chemicals may be used to produce these colors: copper sulfate to color flames green; calcium chloride, orange; copper chloride, blue; lithium chloride, red; sodium chloride, yellow; and potassium chloride, purple.

Chemical supply companies, agricultural chemical outlets, hardware stores and drug stores are likely sources of these chemicals, he says. Because of the high purity of the chemicals they handle, drug stores are likely to be the most expensive places to buy them, he notes.

To make a solution from soaking pine cones, newspaper logs, kindling or other materials, dissolve one pound of the desired chemical in one gallon of water. Use only one chemical in each batch of solution.

"An old paint can or ceramic crock is a good container to mix and treat in," Heiligmann says. "Don't use a good metal container unless you want to see it ruined. These chemicals are corrosive. For this reason, wear rubber gloves to protect your hands."

After the chemical is dissolved, soak the materials to be treated for a day or two. Up to a point, the longer the material soaks, the more intense and long lasting the color will be. Experiment to see how long it takes to produce the intensity of color you want.

NEWBORN BABIES and their parents get a special Christmas treat when they go home from Charlevoix Area Hospital. The Hospital's Women's Guild has made Christmas stockings to wrap each baby up in when they go home. Pictured here in one of the stockings is Jamie Persons, who was born Dec. 13. Local Youth in Armed Forces Spread Across the Country

George Baldwin

GEORGE BALDWIN

Selected for training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the transportation field after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., is Airman George E. Baldwin III, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Baldwin of 404 Michigan Ave., Charlevoix, Mich.

During the six weeks training at Lackland, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Baldwin is a 1976 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Seumas Gardner

U.S. Air Force Sergeant Seumas G. Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Gardner of East Jordon, Mich., has arrived for duty at K.I. Sawyer AFB, Mich.

Sergeant Gardner, a weapons mechanic with a unit of the Strategic Air Command, previously served at Ramstein AB, Germany.

The sergeunt entered the Air Force in October 1972.

David Bricker

David G. Bricker, who resides with his wife at 107 Bowen St., East Jordan, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to TSgt Larry Whitt, the Air Force recruiter here, Bricker's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables Bricker, a 1974 graduate uf East Jordan High School to wrap up his personal affairs belore leaving home.

Bricker will enter the Regular Air Force on May 20. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the electronics aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Geraldine Bricker

Geraldine G. Bricker, 27, daughter of Mrs. Norma Bricker, Route No. 1, East Jordan, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to TSgt Larry Whitt, the Air Force recruiter here, Ms. Bricker will commence four years active duty on Dec. 1, undergoing six-week basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Ms. Bricker will then receive Aircraft Maintenance Specialist training and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Allen Crocket

Technical Sergeant Allen D. Crockett, son of Mrs. Laura Crockett of 2225 Liberty St., Ashland, Ky., has received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Laughlin AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Crockett, a corrosion control supervisor, wos cited for meritorious service at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho.

Now assigned at Laughlin, he serves with a unit of the Air Training Command.

The sergeant attended Wayne (W. Va.) High School. His wife, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Thurlow McClellan of Charlevoix, Mich.

Thomas Mort

Thomas C. Mort, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mort, Rt. 1, Charlevoix, MI, has enrolled for the Winter Quarter in the Aviation Maintenance Technology program at the Alabama Aviation and Technical College, a State Technical College located in Ozark, AL.

The 21-month Aviation Maintenance Technology program, designed for students with less than 30 months aircraft maintenance experience, is certified by the Federal Aviation Administration. Students receive instruction in science subjects as well as airframe and powerplant subjects, with successful completion entitling the graduate to take the FAA examinations for A&P licenses.

A 1974 graduate of Charlevoix Public High School, Mort attended the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, CO, for two years before entering AATC.

County Receives Snow Plow Funds

Charlevoix County was among the 38 counties in the state which qualified for annual snow removal assistance payments from state gas and weight taxes.

The county will receive $43,655 of the $1.8 million which will be spread among the 38 counties according to a formula established by the State Legislature based on accumulated depth of snowfall and the number of miles of county roads.

A county must record a minimum of 80 inches of accumulated snowfall to qualify for the funds. Snowfall statistics are provided by the U.S. Weather Bureau and the Michigan Weather Service which have one or more observation stations in each county.

Charlevoix County received 111.6 inches of snow last year or about 9 feet 3 inches of the white stuff. In surrounding areas, Antrim County received 151.81 inches of snow qualifying them for a payment of $87,215 and Emmet County received 118.87 inches ol snow qualifying them for a payment of $60,832.

The most snowfall last winter was recorded by Keeweenaw County with 227.39 inches or 19 feet. However the largest payment of snow removal funds, $115,243, went to Houghton County which received 211.78 inches of snow last year. Houghton County received more money because it has a larger amount of road miles than Keweenaw County.

Counties barely qualifying for snow removal assistance based on last winter's snowfall were Newaygo County with 81.13 inches and Osceola County with 81.27 inches.

Planning Commission Sets Specific Projects

By PEG OHLE

The December meeting of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission was devoted to "taking a look at ourselves–in what direction should we be going."

According to Planner Bill Mercer, the meeting resulted in numerous suggestions for on-going projects, such as which are presented in thumbnail fashion below:

Establish a package presenting model mobile home zone districts and push for enacement in all townships.

Junk ordinance adoption.

Better education of zoning administrators.

House numbering system in rural areas.

Bicycle paths throughout county.

Implement and coordinate each township plan with a county plan.

Educate by showing what can happen without planning.

Hold a series of meetings with township planning commission and township boards.

Sponsor and conduct seminars involving wide public attendance.

Prepare and present a program to introduce planning to high school students.

Cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources on such projects as Fisherman's Island State Park, wild life sanctuary areas, and no hunting areas.

Renew work on solid waste disposal.

Set up an annual meeting with the Board of Commissioners.

In line with the last suggestion, a joint planning Commission-County Commissioners meeting will be held February 3.

Mercer Seeks Admission To School on Development

County Planner Bill Mercer has applied for admission to the National Rural Development Leadera School, which will be held February 6 to 12 in Boulder, Colorado.

The School is sponsored by the Rural Development Service of the United States Department of Agriculture and is designed to help elected and appointed officials wnd local leaders learn how to identify and rank their area's problems and development potential.

The program is divided into four divisions. The lecture program covers the basic concepts, procedural steps, and process considerations that go into successful development efforts. The speakers program consists of after-dinner presentations by national figures active in rural development. The rural resources fair is held to enable participants to meet with representatives of many government and private institutions that provide assistance to local development efforts. The group project enables participants to deal with the problems and challenges of developing a typical area.

Christmas Is a Special Season for Emil

By PAULA HOLMES

Christmas Eve will be a special day this yeur for Emil Chvatil.

It will be o special day for Chvatil as it has been all uf his life, because it is his birthday. And this year Christmas Eve will mork his 87th year of life.

But to Chvatil, who seems tu have escaped the wear and tear of age that puts creases in foreheads und bald heads, being 87 is nuthing special or out of the ordinary.

"I wus lucky," he said shrugging his shoulders and holding out his large strong hands that have farmed Charlevoix soil for more than 60 years.

"God, was by me," he continued. "He has been on my side oll the time."

Chvatil who lives in a 70-year-old house on Heise Road, first came to America when he was two-years-old. Born in Austria uf Bohemian descent, Chvatil haa become very much an American, with great pride in his country.

And as Chvutil has grown, he has seen a lot of history.

"When I first came to Charlevoix I was 20-years-old," Chvatil recalled, his clear blue eyes staring steadily at nothing as if they could pull the past out of the air.

"The streets of Charlevoix were all sand and where the park is now (East Park) was all houses," he said.

"We came to Charlevoix from Chicago by boat," he continued. "There were two hoats a week bringing people to Charlevoix back then.

"It tuok us a week to get here."

Chvatil said his fumily took one of the first boats of the season to Charlevoix. The ride was quite bumpy becouse of the April storms un the lake and the ice chunks floating in the woter.

"We were all sick during the trip," he recalled with a smile. "I said I'd never go on a boat ogain. And I never have."

The old man said his family moved here to form. They grew sugar beets for a sugar factory that was once locuted in the area of the Charlevoix Co-op Building, he said.

"Before we came up here I was working for Western Electric in a plant and before that I worked cleaning up in a woodworking factory for 5 cents un hour, 50 cents u duy," he said. "That was a lot of money then.

Emil Chvatil

"Bot I didn't feel good working there, I wanted to be outside," he continued. "Since I've been here, I've never felt bad."

When the sugar factory left, Chvatil converted his 60 acres to growing radish seeds for a seed company and raising cucumbers fur a pickle factory that moved in after the sugar fuctory left.

"Heinz even took over the pickle factory for a while," he recalled smiling.

But soon the pickle factory went the way of the sugar factory and Chvatil was left to grow vegetables and strawberries on his land, which he sold to Neff's Grocery Store.

Even last summer, Chvatil could have been seen out hoeing between the rows of his strawberry plants. And he grew a few vegetables, too.

"That's how I keep well ond how I grew tu be old," he explained. "I keep busy.

"I chopped 30 cords of wood this foil," he said proudly pointing to a storage room chock full of wood. "And the cellurs filled up, too."

But Chvutil said times have changed and people have changed since he first came here.

"I don't know if the change is for better or not," he said. "People are not os friendly as they used to be.

"At one time I knew everybody in town, now I don't know anybody," he said shaking his head. "And now if you want to see somebody you have to make a date or an appointment before you can see them."

"Everything is modern now, but it's changing the people, too."

We are congratulating Sam Kelly on being the winner of the Schaller contest on getting the deer with the largest rack of horns in our community. Others who also filled their license were Howard Woodbury and son Neil and Sonny R. Williams.

The Almanac really missed its predictions for a mild weather in November as since before Thanksgiving we are having plenty of snow ond cold weather. The lake is frozen uver from East Jordan down to the ferry and if it is below zero this will be the last week it will be making its regular trips for this year. Talking with Chesters they wotched a deer walk across the lake from in front of Joanne Zinns over to Breezy Point Farm, so our winter is here to stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nielsen and dnughter Mary Carol spent the Thanksgiving Holiday in Portage at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Enlund and family. Other family guests were their daughter Joyce and son-in-law Gilbert Rhoades and family of Rocky River, Ohio and their daughter Sharon and husband James Huff and family of Durand, and Mr. and Mrs. Gunner Enlund of Augusta Michigan making a family ol eighteen for the holiday.

Thanksgiving guests of William and Evelyn Vanderwall were their son und daughter-in-law Mr. and Mra. James Vanderwall and their daughter Carolyn and family uf Ann Arbor.

Beryl Lee of Petoskey, Diane Alexander of Allendale and Ross and Hilda Alexander were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander.

The Ladies Fellowship will have their annual Christmas Cookie Sale in the dining room after the morning eleven o'clock service December 12 and also a gift bazaar table with many new interesting items. Everyone is invited and will be welcome.

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Sundew skippered by Lt. Cmdr. James V. O'Neill which departed its homeport Nov. 28 to assist with Aids to Navigation in Lake Erie for 10 days may now be gone until Dec. 22 according to word received from the ship.

The Sundew was dispatched to lake Erie following damage to the hull of the ship assigned to the area, the Mariposa. However, the damage was more extensive than first anticipated and it will not be back in operation until late December.

The Sundew, meantime, has been assigned the task doing the disabled vessel's Aids to Navigation work in Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Early ice in the lake which has dragged buoys from their designated positions have added to the work.

In addition ta its regular work, the ship was dispatched to the aid of a disabled Norwegian freighter, M V King Star. It was later relieved by its Canadian counterpart.

In order to complete its work, the ship is operating seven days a week when weather permits, returning to port only to off-load buoys and pick up supplies.

Meanwhile, the CGC Acacia has taken over the A to N duties of the Sundew in the St. Mary's River, northern Lake Huron, the Straits of Mackinaw and northeastern Lake Michigan.

We hope your Christmas holidays are filled with warmth and fun, that your home rings with laughter and good cheer. The best wishes of the season to everyone.

THE STUDENTS at St. Mary's School were busier than Santa's elves last week preparing Christmas decorations and presents during their art classes. Here Jamie Campbell displays a poinsettia she made aut of milkweed pads and berries ta her third grade classmates.

FIRST AND SECOND grade students at St. Mary's School work with their teacher Jean Dubey cutting out reindeer to get their classroom into the Christmas spirit. Students throughout the school are working on various Christmas projects.

DAREN OLACH watches as his fourth grade classmate nails together a centerpiece the students made aut of a birch log, plastic holly and twa candles.

Students At St. Mary's Work Hard For Yule

St. Mary's School students as busy as Santa's elves last week working on Christmas decorations during their art classes.

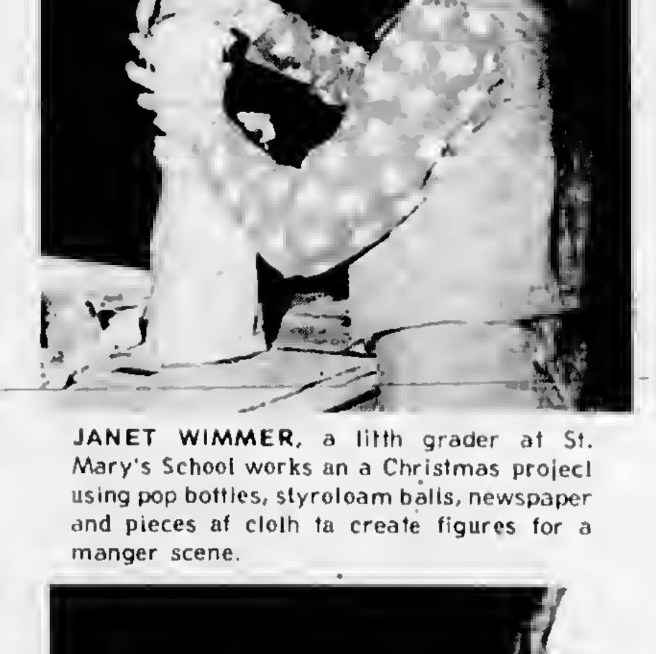
Each of the five classes was involved in a completely different project and each class turned out some beautiful handwork.

Many of the things the children made will turn up at home as Christmas presents for their parents or grandparents, so we don't want to describe them too thoroughly.

However, Jean Dubey's first and second grade class was hard at work making wall decorations with doilies and construction paper, while John Donnelly's fourth grade class made a family present aut of candles and birch logs.

The third grade class of Sister Helen also made wall decorations and the sixth grade class of Kathy Ballew made Christmas tree ornaments. The fifth grade class of Sister M., Josine made figures from pop bottles and pieces of cloth.

It looks like many people are going to be the recipients of items that were made with a lot of love.



JANET WIMMER, a fifth grader at St. Mary's School works an a Christmas project using pop bottles, styrofoam balls, newspaper and pieces af cloth ta create figures for a manger scene.

A SIXTH GRADE student at St. Mary's School concentrates on making bread daugh arnament during art class.

Obituary

NORMAN KING

Funeral services for a former resident, Norman King, 68, who died Thursday at Muskegon Heights, were held Saturday at the Achterhoff Mortuary in Muskegon. Interment was in Sunrise Memorial Gardens.

A native of East Jordan where he was born Dec. 11, 1908, Mr. King came to Charlevoix in 1930 and was employed aboard the pleasure yacht, "Sylvia" for several years. Later he was employed by the Municipal Light Plant here and in Bellaire before going to Hamilton, Ohio, in 1941. He then went to Muskegon where he was employed as an experimental engineer at Teledyne Continental Corp. for 29 years prior to his retirement. In 1931 he was married to the former Cecelia Burbank. She preceded him in death in 1955. In 1957 he was married to the former Faith Allen.

He is survived by his wife; four sons, Stuart M., Jan, Paul and Charles, all of Muskegon; eight grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Kenneth (Marjorie) Usher of Sparta and a brother, Thurlow of Sarasota, Fla.

still own today.

"He loved to sail," Hawley said of Saltonstall, and was a good sailor.

Saltonstall also served as county coroner and city health officer, which involved putting quarantine signs on homes where there were communicable diseases. He has also served on the board of directors of County State Bank for 20 years.

"I couldn't do much else," Saltonstall explained. "I was pretty busy practicing medicine.

"At one time during World War II, I was the only doctor in town," he said. "Dr. MacMillan was still alive but he had a coronary and I had to take care of him as well as of all his patients."

Saltonstall said he plans to live in Charlevoix during his retirement, although he and his wife will probably do some traveling across the country.

He also said he would be spending time with his two daughters, Connie Pointner and Wendy Wood and his two grandsons.

FAITH REVEALS A WINTER-WHITE WORLD AT REST

When the bright leaves of autumn are gone from the trees And the branches are suddenly bare, Soon the mirror-like ponds will be starting to freeze As the cold winter wind fills the air; While the glistening white of a snowfall so deep Paints a beautiful scene at its best, In the cycle of nature when life goes to sleep And our weary old world is at rest. You will learn through your Church what winter is worth, As you gaze at the snow-covered land; It's the promise of God for new life on the earth, In the spring that will soon be at hand!

--Gloria Nowak

> "The snow from heaven... returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater."
> —Isaiah 55:10

A pine tree stands so lonely
In the North where the high winds blow,
He sleeps; and the whitest blanket
Wraps him in ice and snow.
— Heinrich Heine

County Residents Can Afford To Pay More for Housing

How high a price can the average Charlevoix County family prudently pay for a new home these days?

Based upon its earning capacity, how big a load may it take on in the form of monthly carrying charges without getting over-burdened?

The questions are pertinent at this time because they confront a large number of families, locally and elsewhere, who are in the market for new homes. Many of them have been house-hunting for a long time but have been unable to find suitable ones within their means.

However, because incomes in the area have been going up and are at a higher level than ever, most local families are now in a position to pay more for their housing than they were able to in former years.

They are finding, on the other hand, that the selection is small and the prices extremely high. Today, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the average price for a new home, bought with a conventional mortgage, has soared to $50,500 nationally, compared with $30,000 a decade ago. It is out-of-sight for a large part of the population.

As for the average family in Charlevoix County, it is better able to cope with this price, however, than are families in many other communities. the $50,500 price represents approximately 4.1 times the annual net income per household locally.

In some areas, no less than 10 times annual earnings would be necessary.

Keeping pace with the rising cost of new homes is the cost of used ones. The average selling price nationally, as of September, was $43,300.

As for the expenses involved in owning and operating a home, including mortgage obligations, taxes, utilities and maintenance, the National Association of Home Builders reports it averaged 29 percent of take-home pay last year, up from 23 percent in 1965.

Despite the fact that rising costs are taking bigger bites out of pay envelopes, the urge to be home owners remains strong in Charlevoix County.

According to the most recent figures, some 82.3 percent of the homes in the local area are owner occupied.

Circuit Court Judge Lifts Suppression Order

The bizarre circumstances surrounding attempts to keep details of the arrest of a prominent Charlevoix citizen from the public eye came to light this week after Charlevoix Circuit Court Judge Martin B. Breighner lifted an order suppressing the information.

Radio personality William J. Supernaw was charged with the commission of the crime of gross indecency in a warrant issued by Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Roy C. Hayes on Dec. 8. A plea of guilty to the charge was entered following arraignment before Judge Breighner.

The Courier's earlier attempts to gather information regarding the arrest from police and court files were blocked by the Suppression Order entered by the Circuit Court.

Further inquiries of the Charlevoix Courier made to Prosecutor Hayes and Charlevoix Defense Attorney Richard M. Pajtas resulted in the removal of the "gag order."

"The Courier felt the Suppression Order was contrary to the peoples right to know as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution," Ken Winter, editor of the Courier, said in explaining the papers action.

When Judge Breighner was contacted regarding the Suppression Order, he explained: "the order was granted upon the petition of both attorneys and it was vacated for the same reason—both petitioned that it be vacated."

Breighner further stated that it did not occur to him that there might be the appearance of a conflict of interest between his decision in this case and the fact that he is owner of an interest in the radio station which employs Supernaw.

With the Order of Suppression vacated, it was also learned that an order was entered by the Circuit Court permitting Supernaw to withdraw the plea of guilty to the charge and granting the prosecutor's petition asking that there be no further prosecution in the case.

Prosecutor Hayes explained that witnesses to the crime refused to cooperate in the prosecution if there is publicity or if their testimony is required in court.

"I think the case was initially handled the way it should have been," Hayes said. "This was an unusual case."

Hayes said he had two other means of handling the case, which included completely circumventing the judicial process or firing away and issuing warrants regardless of the circumstances.

"Criminal justice is not and should not be geared to public destruction of people," the county prosecuting attorney said. "There are areas of prosecutional and judicial discretion.

"We put people in positions to use their heads and to determine what would be right in each instance," he continued "Our system allows for this discretion.

"To say that we have one standard of justice is absurd, we have as many systems of justice as we have cases," he said.

Hayes later corrected the statement to say that this country actually has one system of justice which allows for individual interpretation of each case.

Pajtas said his client had been presented with a proposition that provided extreme inducement for him to plead guilty to charges that were more than a year old. The attorney pointed out that under the proposition, Supernaw had also waived his right to challenge the truthfulness of the charge and to confront the accused.

The attorney also said that vacating a previous plea has the same affect as if no plea had ever been entered.

"My client is to be presumed innocent," he said.

Supernaw was unable to be reached for comment

City May Get Recreation Funds

Charlevoix may get federal funds for the construction of a new ice skating and hockey rink at the Mt. McSauba Recreation Area after all.

City Administrator Allen Sandberg told common council Monday night that the city had been given an extension until Jan. 17 to prepare the final application for $17,500 in Bureau of Recreation (BOR) funds.

Council had decided it might not seek the funding it had been granted under a preliminary application for improvements to the recreation area at an earlier meeting.

Alderman Joe Morris had questioned if it was worth it to complete the final application because of the expense the city would incur because of the extensive land surveyes, engineering and other studies that would have to be completed for the application.

Former Acting City Administrator Chuck Pease had also thought the expense to the city to complete the application would be greater than the funds the city would receive in return.

However, Sandberg reported that after looking into the matter more thoroughly, Pease had found the cost of the required surveys would not be as expensive as originally thought. The new city administrator said he, Pease and Recreation Director Dwight Buss would be getting together soon to prepare the final application for the funds.

In addition to the construction of the new ice and hockey rinks the BOR funds will be used to construct a multi-purpose building which will house the summer daycamp activities at the recreation area and the wsinter hockey and skating activities.

The funds will also be used to fund the construction of a road between Mt. McSauba Road and Pleasant Street.

Originally, the council had applied for a $50,000 grant, which would have included the construction of a road down to the beach area and the expansion of the ski areas.

All of the BOR funds must be matched locally. The city plans to use donated labor and materials to make up its potion of the matching funds.

HOTLINE

Dial 547-6559

Hotline lets others know what you think. Tell us your opinion on anything by calling 547-6559 anytime after 6 p.m. No need to give your name. Selected opinions will appear each week.

WHY?

Why is it when the City hires a man like the City Administrator they have to go outside of town to do it?

We have just as good men for the job in Charlevoix. They had several applicants for the job but they were all turned down except one and he turned it down at first. There were applications from reliable men in Charlevoix, but they were ignored by the Council because they were not from out of town.

Another thing was the article in Hot Line saying the Administrator Bob Wexstaff and the City Clerk were fired. Mr. Wexstaff put his resignation in last summer and the City Clerk is elected by the people and only they can discharge him.

I think we need an entirely new Council and you might as well throw the Mayor out with them.

I would like to sign my name, but I am afraid I might get fired too.

A resident of Charlevoix.

SATURDAY ELECTION

The Charlevoix School Board humbug. Vote Saturday, January 29th. The next thing you'll want us to do is to vote on Sunday at church. You've lost my vote and neighbors around me. How ridiculous can you get. Dare to print. A good taxpayer.

OUT OF LINE

The Charlevoix School Board of Education is getting way out of line. Get off of cloud nine and start thinking positive again. By voting on Saturday, everyone gets an opportunity to vote. What happened to the other normal days of the week? Are there any more jokers left?

P.S.

Charlevoix's 1st Baby Of the New Year Will Be Lucky

The first baby to be born in the Charlevoix Area Hospital in 1977 will be welcomed with a stack of gifts furnished by local merchants in the Charlevoix Courier's First Baby of the Year Contest.

In addition, there will be gifts for the mother.

To be eligible, the parents of the baby must submit a written statement from their attending physician noting the exact time of birth. The statement must be received by the Courier by January 10. If there have been no births by that time, the contest will be extended until a baby arrives.

The first baby and his or her mother will receive a total of 20 gifts from participating Charlevoix business people.

There will be a silverware set from Reusch Jewelry, a record of Baby's Basic Lullaby from WVOY, a "Good Eating Check" from Mr. Steak, and a pair of Buster Brown Shoes from Russell's Shoe Store.

There will be money in the form of two $25 Savings Bonds, one from Thomas Real Estate and one from the Charlevoix Area Hospital, and a $25 Savings Account from the Charlevoix County State Bank.

There will be a $10 Gift Certificate from the Circus Shop in Petoskey, a Johnson & Johnson Baby Kit from the Central Drug Store, two boxes of disposable diapers from both Williams Dockside Pharmacy and Edwards IGA, and a $10 gift certificate from Kit Carson Lumber Company.

There will be a radio from the Radio Shack, a pewter baby mug from Roseanne's of Charlevoix, a $5 gift certificate from Fay's Dress Shop, $10 worth of Buster Brown clothes from Oleson's Variety, and an Infant seat comforter from the Calico Hen.

To complete the list, there will be a trip to The Head Shop Beauty Salon, a decorative planter for the nursery from Frank's Florist, and a one year subscription from the Charlevoix Courier.

Council, Hangar Association Meet

By PAULA HOLMES

Discussion over the lease between the Airport Hangar Association and the City of Charlevoix was held—again—during the Charlevoix Common Council meeting Monday night.

The common council has been trying to determine what the book value of the newly constructed hangars at the airport is so that it can figure a depreciation value for the hangar.

Dawson Way, president of the association, and James McKimmy a member, were present at the meeting to request that the interest paid on funds borrowed for the construction of the hangar be included in the original cost of building the hangar which the city will use to determine depreciation.

The men pointed out that the construction cost for the hangar was $78,000 and that the interest cost was $56,000.

"You can see that when establishing a price that it is important to include the interest price," Way said.

Way also pointed out that in the original draft of the lease, it specifically stated that interest would not be included in the cost, but that in the signed draft of the lease, this sentence had been left out. Way said he felt this indicated that interest was to be included when figuring the cost of the hangar.

Alderman George Plumm, Finance Committee chairman, asked council not to take any action on the issue in light of the new figures presented to the council by the hangar association representatives.

He also asked Way to bring the exact figures to the next work session of the committee of a whole for study and discussion.

In other action, the council approved the renewal of a license for Oscar and Dorothy Ward to continue operating the Arcade Cab Service.

Police Chief Jack Mol had inspected the cab and found everything in order, so the council unanimously approved the license renewal.

In a discussion of finances, the council learned that the cost of liability insurance and workmens compensation is skyrocketing. City Administrator Al Sandburg said that liability insurance premiums had increased 450 percent.

Council agreed to have its insurance representative Dick Martin of Charlevoix Agency attend the next committee meeting to explain the drastic increase in rates.

Mayor Ed Hansen suggested the city may also want to consider carrying its own workmens compensation insurance as a means of cutting costs.

Council also paid bills amounting to $162,312.13.

Thomas Sutherland Recognized by DNR As Master Angler

Thomas Sutherland, retireee and avid fisherman, has been recognized by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources as a Master Angler according to Ronald Rybicki, Fisheries Biologist at the Great Lakes Fisheries Station here.

He was accorded the honor after taking a Menominee whitefish weighing two pounds and four ounces from the Pine River channel here Nov. 16. This trophy, as of this date, is recognized as the largest Menominee whitefish on record from Michigan waters.

Sutherland, who has resided here since his retirement after 42 years with General Motors, confines his fishing to this scrappy fish which he feels offers a real challenge.

More Income to Go for Social Security Taxes

Social Security taxes will be taken out of an even larger portion of workers' income next year, according to Gordon Sattelmeier, manager of the Petoskey Social Security Office.

Social Security taxes will be taken out of earnings up to $16,500, Settlemeier said. This is an increase of $1,200 over the maximum for this year of $15,300.

The increase in taxable earnings was created by provisions in the Social Secutiry law which creates a raise in taxable earnings whenever the social security checks are increased by the cost-of-living clause. The social security checks increased in amount in June and this has resulted in the increase on the tax of earnings.

The amount of the tax will increase only for those earning over $15,300, however, because the tax percentages will remain the same in 1977 as they are in 1976. This means a continuation of the present tax rate of 5.85 percent for the employee and employer. Self-employed people will continue to pay 7.9 percent on their income.

Cub Scouts Collect Food, Toys for Less Fortunate

The Christmas Spirit caught up with the Cub Scouts and Webelos of Pack 11 in Charlevoix this year.

The more than 80 scouts collected over 754 cans of food during a recent drive they held at the elementary, middle and high schools in town. The boys offered $100 to the school that could collect the most cans of food.

The elementary school won the prize money, which was donated by the Clothing Company, Ski and Shore, WVOY and Aartvark Studio. The food will be distributed by the Charlevoix Lions Club.

In addition to collecting the food, the scouts also held a toy drive among themselves and they collected hundreds of toys from their own toy cabinets which will be distributed to less fortunate children through the Lions Club.

"We wanted to do something for our community," Scout master Terry Salmonson explained. "We were pleased with the help we got and we hope we made Christmas a little happier for someone else."

Coordinator Hired For Mentally Impaired

Paul Krepel has been hired as Mental Retardation coordinator by the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board it was announced at a recent meeting of the board. He will begin his duties on Monday, Jan. 3.

In other action at the meeting, the board reviewed articles to be included in a brochure describing its services to be made available early in 1977; discussed the training session to be conducted by the Department of Social Services for new procedures to be followed for re-imbursement of purchase of services under the Title 20 Act; and a report on allotment of funds for the 1976-77 from the Department of Mental Health.

The next meeting of the board will be held at the board offices at 325 E. Lake St., Petoskey, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8.

Gail and Rod Stebbins Arrive In Florida After 3,800 Mile Sail

Rod and Gail Stebbins made it.

After cruising more than 3,800 miles for 126 days, they are doing a little "land-lubbering" in sunny St. Petersburg, Fla., according to a Christmas note received by George and Joyce Duke.

The note says: "We've had great sailing and some that was a bit too great, warm weather and cold weather, fantastic sight-seeing and bird watching and lots of swamp and grass lands.

"We've been part of an annual 10,000 boat migration and have met some delightful people," they continue. "It has been a fascinating trip and one we would recommend to anyone considering it."

The route followed by the Stebbins included: the North Channel, Georgian Bay, the Trent-Severn Waterway through Canada, then down the St. Lawrence River through the Thousand Islands to Montreal.

Just beyond Montreal, the Stebbins turned south at Sorel and went up the Richelieu River to the Chambly Canal and Lake Champlain, the Champlain Canal and the Hudson River.

Their course then took them along the Inland Waterway at Norfolk, Va., which they followed to Stuart, Fla., where they crossed the state via the Okeechobee Waterway to Fort Myers and then sailed north to St. Petersburg.

The Stebbins are planning to leave their boat in Florida and return to Charlevoix on March 1.

Castle Farms Fined By Liquor Commission

A $300 fine has been levied against Castle Farms Inn, Inc., by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The fine, which must be paid by Jan. 3, was levied following a hearing by the commission on charges that dancing had been allowed at the tavern located on M-66 without a dance permit.

The charge was filled with the liquor control commission by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department on Aug. 13.

Castle Farms is owned by Arthur Reibel, former district court judge, and a Charlevoix attorney.

Ray Giffen Elected Head Of Ministerial Association

The Charlevoix Ministerial Association held its annual election of officers recently.

The Rev. Raymond Giffen, pastor of the First Congregational Church, was elected president; the Rev. Austin Regier of the United Methodist church, secretary, and the Rev. Hugh Cowan of the First Baptist church, treasurer.

The association meets monthly to encourage Christian Fellowship and unity.

Among the projects supported by the association has been the support of the Chaplaincy program at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility near East Jordan. At the Thanksgiving services sponsored by the association, an offering of $101 was given toward the support of the Chaplaincy program.

Depression--A Problem of Everyone

By PAULA HOLMES

Holidays are a time of cheer and high spirits.

But statistics show that holidays are also a time when many people become depressed.

Some people refer to the depressed feeling as a "case of the blues," while others call it the "blahs." Mostly it is just the emotional let down following the holidays that brings on a mild form of depression and that general feeling of being down.

But for some people, that depression is so great that they are unable to cope with their situation and that feeling may even lead to suicide.

"Depression is the leading problem in terms of mental illness," Jerry Wilson, director of Northern Mental Health Centers, which has offices in East Jordan and Petoskey, said.

"Most people are hospitalized for depression than any other type of mental illness," Wilson said.

And depression afflicts anyone, according to Oren Schroeder, director of the new Chip Ronsom Counseling Center in Charlevoix.

"We all have periods of depression," Schroeder explained. "And the best way to understand severe depression is to look at our own depression.

The difference is that most people come out of depression within a few days," Schroeder said. "But for the depressed personality it continues and it affects everything they do."

Depression is anger turned inward, Wilson said, instead of outward where it belongs. And this inward anger eats away causing everything to look black.

"You can't always tell who is a depressive and who is not," Schroeder explained. "But there are telltale signs."

One sign is that depressed people begin to express feelings of darkness, despair, hopelessness and of not liking themselves.

"Depressed people have a very low self-concept," the director of Chip Counseling Center said.

Outsiders will notice the negative thinking of the individual and the lack of motivation. There will be physical signs of depression, too, Schroeder said. Depressed people may begin to walk in a slouched position and all of their actions and reactions may slow down. They don't eat as well either.

Depressed people also tend to withdraw from society, Wilson added.

"And as a result, they stop participating in the very activities that could help them come out of their depression," he explained.

And sometimes the depressed feelings get so out of hand that the person feels the only alternative he or she has is to take his or her life.

In Charlevoix, there have been three recent cases of suicide, according to County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert Martin. However, Martin said he did not think the suicide rate in the community was exceptionally high.

"I don't mean to minimize what has occurred here, but I don't think we have a suicide problem," the doctor said. "Our rate is about the same as any other community."

Martin said the suicide rate in the county seems to run about the same year after year. He reported that since July 1968 to July 1978 there have been 256 cases involving the medical examiner, 19 of these cases have been suicides. Since July there have been three additional suicides.

Many things can be done to help depressed people before they get to the suicide stage, according to Schroeder and Wilson.

"There are a lot of helping people around," Schroeder said.

He pointed out that professional services are available for the depressed person at the Chip Counseling Center, the mental health clinic, through the local clergymen and from people's physicians.

"But even a friend can help sort out those feelings of depression," the counselor said.

Rosa Young, activity therapist, at the mental health center, said a friend who is a good listener could do a lot to

Humane Society Looking Forward

By PAULA HOLMES

"We get some dynamite looking dogs at the animal shelter," the president of the Charlevoix County Humane Society explained enthusiastically. "And we have Heinz 57 variety.

"If you want it, it's probably at the humane society," Carol Judkins of Boyne City, the president, said.

For the humane society, 1976 has been a long year. In addition to the inner squabbling between society members and the squabbling between the humane society and the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department, the last few months have been particularly bad for the adoption of animals.

"It's always hard to get animals adopted," Mrs. Judkins explained. "People don't realize we're here and they don't think about us when they think about getting a pet."

The humane society president said the number of animals that have to be killed because they can't be adopted varies from month to month, but she estimated about 40 animals have been put down in the last month alone.

"We keep the animals as long as we possibly can," she explained. "But after a while, if they haven't been adopted..."

Mrs. Judkins said during one week in December, the animal shelter was completely full and after waiting to adopt out the animals, they finally had to be killed on the weekend.

"By the next Wednesday, all of the cages were full again," she said.

"We have done a lot of advertising hoping to get the animals adopted out for Christmas, but instead it seems like we have just had more people bring animals in," she continued.

"In the humane society, at least the animals are being cared for and aren't allowed to run around," she added. "And if they can't be cared for humanely, at least they are put down humanely.

"It's just too sad for words."

But things should be looking up for the humane society in 1977, according to Mrs. Judkins.

The inner squabbling between the board members of the society has been settled, she said, and a dedicated board of 15 people have picked up the pieces.

"The problems were really magnified," she said. "But the group survived it and we've got a board of very dedicated people now."

The differences with the sheriff's department have also been worked out, Mrs. Judkins said. A written agreement outlining the responsibilities of the county and the sheriff's department for the animal control officer and the control of large stray animals, and the responsibilities of the humane society has been drawn up by the County Prosecuting Attorney Roy Hayes.

The agreement is expected to be signed this week.

"I think our difficulties are behind us," Mrs. Judkins said.

The humane society president is looking forward to a year of action by the group and its 150 members.

"Our goal is to get more information out about the humane society and about pet responsibility," she said.

The humane society plans to visit the schools and talk with the children about pet responsibility and the proper care of pets.

"We're going to try and stress the fact that there is a pet population problem," Mrs. Judkins explained. "And we're going to stress the idea of having pets spayed or nuetered.

"If people's animals have had one litter, we're urging them not to let the pet have another one," she continued.

"We feel that the schools are a good place to start with our program," she said. "If we can get children to start taking responsibility for their pets at a young age, we'll have fewer problems when they get older."

Mrs. Judkins said animals may be seen at the shelter behind the sheriff's offices from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Appointments may be made to see the animals at other times by calling one of the two numbers posted on the animal shelter door.

Pets Require a Commitment

Many things should be considered when looking for a pet, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA).

And while the AVMA is just as concerned with adopting pets as the humane society, it urges people to consider the following things when thinking about getting a pet.

Consider why you want the pet. Will it be a companion, protector or hunter? Some breeds are better suited than others for certain roles, and some animals do not make good pets at all.

Monkeys, skunks, reptiles and other wild animals belong in their native homes or in zoos. Wild animals are usually expensive and diffucult to care for, according to the Veterinary association. And many are potentially dangerous and can cause extensive property damage or serious injury to owners, families and friends.

In addition to selecting your pet carefully, be sure you are prepared to pay both the initial cost of the animal and day-to-day costs for food, health care and other essentials. Even adopting a 'free' pet from the humane society involves some expenses, the association warns. The animal should be thoroughly examined by a veterinarian and properly vaccinated against infectious diseases. It will also need a license.

Remember, too, that animals are not toys. A pet requires proper treatment and daily care. After the novelty wears off, someone still has to feed the pet, clean up after it and exercise it even when you go on vacation.

Good health for your pet depends on regular medical attention, proper nutrition and correct treatment and handling. Be sure family members do not mistreat the pet. Very young children may unknowingly injure an animals, often by "over loving" it.

Unwanted dogs and cats are becoming a major health and safety problem, the association said. Don't add to it. Unless you intend to breed your pet, plan to have it spayed or neutered as soon as the animal is ready.

Pet ownership can be one of life's greatest pleasures, if you consider the duties as well as the benefits of owning and caring for a living creature.

Sundew Makes It Home for Christmas

By FRAN MARTIN

It was 40 minutes short of midnight but the crew of the U.S.C.G. Cutter Sundew made it back to their homeport here in time for Christmas....with little time to spare.

The cutter, whose area of operation is normally northern Lake Michigan, the Straits of Mackinac and Lake Huron east to the St. Mary's river, was dispatched to Lake Erie Nov. 28 to take over for the cutter Mariposa whose hull was damaged. The assignment was for approximately two weeks.

However, when the Mariposa was put in drydock, it was found the damage was more extensive than anticipated and so the Sundew remained in Lake Erie and Lake Ontario doing aids to navigation work and Search and Rescue until relieved Dec. 23.

In the interim, the ship removed 90 buoys and reset 50 winter markers and answered to S.A.R. calls. Many of the buoys had been pushed off station by the heavy ice or were caught under the ice during one of the coldest November and early Decembers on record.

Lt. Cmdr. James V. T'Neill had only the highest praise for his crew of 52 officers and men.

"No matter what time we arrived at a given site the men went to work. It didn't matter if it was 1 a.m. or 6 p.m., they were ready to go to work. Because of the weather conditions and the ice, we were forced to take chances we wouldn't have thought of taking at any other time. You can't know how hard everyone worked. They are a superlative bunch of people." O'Neill said of the officers and crew.

He went on to say that he didn't know what Cleveland (Ninth C.G. District headquarters) has in store for the Sundew. "Right now I'm interested in getting these fine people some rest."

From the time the ship left Charlevoix at 5 a.m. Nov. 28 until it returned at 11:20 p.m. Dec. 24, the ship was in port only long enough to off-load buoys and take on winter markers and supplies.

Meanwhile, the tug Raritan, based at Grand Haven, was forced to seek shelter in the harbor here from Tuesday night until early Christmas Day enroute to its homeport from Sault Ste. Marie where it has been called earlier.

Policeman Bound Over to Circuit Court

By FRAN MARTIN

Following two hours of testimony in District Court, Irving Wayne Bulmann was bound over to the Circuit Court on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm in a Nov. 18 shooting at a local bar.

District Judge David W. Fershee ruled there was reasonable cause to believe a crime had been committed and ordered Bulmann, a Detroit Police Sergeant bound over to the higher court.

Only two witnesses were called during the Tuesday hearing–William Telfer, Jr., of Berkley, the victim of the shooting, and Dennis Burris, Charlevoix County Sheriff's Deputy, who investigated the incident. Telfer described the actions that led to the shooting in the parking lot at the Country House at approximately 2:15 a.m. on Nov. 18 following the closing of the bar.

He said an argument over a bar stool had resulted in a fight between himself and Bulmann outside the bar less than one-half hour before the bar closed. He said as they were departing when the bar closed, he and an unidentified friend stopped at the Bulmann pickup truck enroute to their own car. As Telfer approached the truck on the driver's side, Bulmann shot him through the window with the bullet striking him in the little finger and thumb before entering the upper right abdomen.

When questioned by Bulmann's attorney, Armand Bove, who represents the Detroit Lieutenants and Sergeants Association, Telfer who had earlier told Region 10 Detective Wallace Brown he did not have a knife at the time of the shooting, admitted to having a hunting knife in a sheath at his side when the shooting occurred. He said he had asked the unidentified friend to obtain one for him following the first fight in the parking lot.

However, he said he had made no effort to use the knife at any time and that he had never made an attempt to stab Bulmann with the knife.

Burris, the sheriff's deputy who was checking the Vincent's used car lot a short distance from the Country House at the time of the shooting and the officer to whom Bulmann reported the shooting as he drove from the Country House, related the incidents that led up to taking Bulmann into custody.

Bove asked to call another witness but his request was refused by Judge Fershee who said he had heard enough evidence to determine that a crime had been committed. He then bound Bulmann over to the next term of Circuit Court.

The date of the trial has not been set.

People's Right to Know Hard Issue to Defend

The Charlevoix Courier made an editorial decision this week that is always a difficult one for newspapers of any size to make.

Yet despite the serious repercussions that could take place, the decision we made is one we feel any newspaper has an obligation to fulfill. It is the decision to defend and protect the people's right to know as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

On paper, a decision to protect the First Amendment looks very glorious and noble. It would appear to be an honorable cause for any newspaper to stand behind.

But in reality, a newspaper has to be prepared to stand public scrutiny and often abuse by those directly or indirectly involved with the paper's decision. It is a burden that no newspaper ever relishes.

On today's front page, you have already undoubtedly read our story that deals with this very difficult question of what is the public's right to know.

The question revolves around the right of privacy of the accused and the people's right to know.

As court documents reveal, both the prosecutor and defense attorney felt it would be in the defendant's and public's best interest to suppress all information relevant to this particular case.

They both agreed that it would be in the best interest of all concerned not to publicize the information in view of the "potential traumatic, emotional and psychological effect" this incident could have on the individual that filed the complaint.

It was further argued that it would also be in the best interest of the defendant, the person the charge was made against, that all records relating to this case not be made public in the best interest of justice.

Because both parties were in agreement and because both parties felt they had legal grounds to take such action, they petitioned the courts to invoke an Order of Suppression of Record.

What this order meant was that neither the public nor the newspaper could have access to any record related to this case. It further meant that any public official under this court could face a contempt of court citation if he talked about the case.

As you can see, this places a tremendous burden upon those involved because what they are saying is that the public has no access to anything taking place in connection with this case.

It is often argued by those requesting such a stipulation that the public should have enough assurances that due process of the law will be carried out because the people have elected a prosecutor and judge to stand guard over their public rights.

It is also argued that because the people have elected a prosecutor to represent them and protect their rights, he has certain inherent rights to carry out his duties.

While we are not in a position to argue the duties of a prosecutor, we are very concerned when his actions prevent the public from being aware of what takes place in its courts.

In our opinion, Orders of Suppression, or as they are commonly referred to by the media, "gag orders", are very dangerous areas to become involved with by either the prosecution or the Courts.

Although it is argued they are used quite often in civil cases, where two private individuals are, for example, suing each other for divorce, we are hard pressed to find where they are invoked in cases involved with alleged criminal activities against the people.

The term "gag order" has been receiving notariety most recently in the U.S. Supreme Court, where a decision was handed down that spelled out specific criteria of how a suppression order must be used by a judge if he invokes it to guarantee an individual's right to a fair trial that otherwise might be in jeopardy by press coverage.

Unfortunately, that court decision was not unanimous and was not conclusive in dealing with the question of freedom of the press and the right for a fair trial.

It is also necessary to point out that this Supreme Court decision, was dealing with the question of an individual's right to a fair trial.

The story on the Courier's front page today relates an incident dealing with a completely different issue of suppressing the court records of an individual's arraignment.

At this point, we are not interested in pointing the finger at anyone involved directly with this particular case. We feel our position has already been made clear.

We appreciate the willingness of all parties concerned to hear our position made through our legal counsel and then to take the appropriate action to lift the Order of Suppression.

Our only hope is that all those involved directly with this case and others reading this publication understand our function and reasoning for taking the stand we have taken.

Letters to the editor

Economics Dictates Snow, Ice Removal Road Chief Replies

Dear Mr. Winter:

We read with great interest your editorial of December 15, regarding winter road maintenance. It was direct and articulate, as your writing always is, and it obviously reflected your concern for the welfare of your readers and your community. Since the activities of the Road Commission were discussed, perhaps you will allow us to respond to some of the things you said.

We believe that it is accurate to say that the Michigan Highway Department does not suggest road maintenance policy to the county road commissions. In the case where a road commission maintains state highways by contract, the highway department sets its policy and the contracting county is bound to comply, will he, nill he, when maintaining the state roads. That is simply the unalterable nature of the contract agreement. Charlevoix County Road Commission is one of the 62 contract counties in Michigan, and we accept the implement the Highway Department policy when maintaining US 31, US 131, M32, M66 and M75.

On the other hand, a county road commission, as the sole jurisdictional authority over county roads, sets its own policy for their maintenance, and the state highway department has no responsibility to dictate, nor suggest, nor in any way influence that policy. The Charlevoix County Road Commission sets its own present policy for winter maintenance of county roads in January 1974, and reviewed and renewed it, most recently, last November.

The point is that the Charlevoix County Road Commission does not (quoting the editorial) "follow the state highway department's suggestion" regarding snowplowing and ice removal. Our policy was and is dictated not by another agency, but by simple economies. With labor and equipment costs rising at a much faster rate than our revenues, we simply cannot afford to keep the roads as they were in years past. We find, for example, that our winter maintenance unit costs for 1975 (winter of '74-'75) were more than half again what they were five years previously, while our motor vehicle highway fund revenues had increased only by thirty percent.

Figures like these are no longer novel nor especially impressive. We all know that we do not live as cheaply nor get as much for our dollar as we did five years ago, that we have had to change our attitudes about how we spend our money, and that things we once regarded as absolutely necessary have now, perhaps, become luxuries. We do not seriously propose that your readers should think of winter road maintenance as having become a luxury, but perhaps our remarks here will help to show that it's financing has become a difficult problem.

Finally, we are unequivocally in favor of your suggestion that easier driving conditions could generate increased business which could generate funds to pay for the cost of road maintenance. In fact, Ken, we'll sign up for your program now, so that when you have worked out the details of how to get the money from the businesses into the coffers of the Road Commission we'll be all set to spend it.

And Winter will be more pleasant for us all.

A movement is underway in Detroit to ban "obscene and sexually explicit" rock 'n' roll lyrics from the airwaves, according to a weekend story in the Detroit Free Press.

Now, on the surface this sounds like an exemplary thing to do, knowing how much young people like rock 'n' roll. Anything to make it less interesting can't be all bad.

But it occurred to me when I was half way through the story that the hardest part of the task would be determining when the artist has hit an obscene or sexually explicit stanza. As you know, the diction and enunciation of rock 'n' roll singers is so bad that it takes a trained ear to determine if they are singing in English. So actually what they sing is beside the point, since I am sure very few people understand anyway.

The organization striving for a ban on obscene song lyrics is headed by the Rev. Jesse Jackson, national president of "People United to Save Humanity" (PUSH). The group is pulling together a coalition of do-gooders to exert pressure on radio stations in the Detroit area. Later the group plans a nationwide campaign to save the nation from any rock combo which would attempt to subvert the nation's young people with song lyrics.

Fortunately, the song banners won't have to break new ground in the Detroit area. It has been tried before.

Twenty-five years ago, station owners in the Detroit area decided that the song "I Get Ideas" was bad for the liver, the morals, the pancreas and I don't know what else. So they banned it from the airwaves, to the consternation of all true music lovers, because it was a very pretty song.

Folks who really wanted to hear "I Get Ideas" had to travel to Bay City or Lansing or some other city outside the blackout zone, where people obviously didn't get ideas or they would have banned it, too.

I was in the army at the time stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisc., and radio stations in that wicked state played "I Get Ideas" dozens of times everyday and nobody blushed—except me.

Looking back, "I Get Ideas" was a very harmless song and the lyrics wouldn't titillate a soul today. "When we are dancing and you're dangerously near me, I Get Ideas, I Get Ideas." Furthermore, every word was explicit—not sexually explicit, just explicit. There was no wondering about what the song was about, which is scarcely the case with today's fuzzy rock 'n' roll lyrics.

So I wish the Rev. Jesse Jackson well but I think he's wasting his energies. What we don't understand, can't hurt us.

Speaking of music, I stopped at the Airport Inn the other night and was assailed by a blast of rock 'n' roll that crossed by eyes and made my toes curl.

Painist Les Payne, a charter member of the Moonlight Bay School of Music, was tending bar and I called him over.

"How can you stand this?" I asked motioning to the juke box.

"I tune it out," Les said. "I don't even hear it. It's background noise."

"Don't you ever play the piano any more? I asked motioning to the piano. I do a lot of motioning in bars because it's hard to talk over the rock music.

"No," he said. "I don't play any more. This is what the kids want to hear." He motioned to the juke box.

"But, Less, "I protested. "Probably some of these kids have never heard you play the piano. They don't know what good music is. The rest of us who remember "Is It True What They Say About Dixie," and "Carolina in the Morning" shouldn't suffer in silence."

But Les just shook his head and pointed to the juke box. I don't think he heard me.

Welcome to the Twilight Zone between Christmas and The New Year.

It was all rather predictable, wasn't it? The trash can is full of pictures from the can't-fail-so-simple-a-child-can-operate-it camera that makes our family look like a moon crater.

The rummaging through billfolds for sales slips that we threw into the fire when we burnt the paper.

My husband spreading joy by announcing every three hours, "This place is going to burn to the ground."

The search for off-sized batteries that are available only in Communist countries.

My husband warning the kids they are going to be sliced in half if they don't stop dropping their flip tops into their cans.

A food shredder. I wonder if Farrah Fawcett-Majors got a food shredder for Christmas. I'll bet her yearbook didn't say, "Girl most likely to have her cold treated by a vet."

The poinsettias are going. I knew they would. What the heck. I saw plastic plants in church the other day. If you can't grow real ones in church, what chance do I have?

Mom wants me to go to the after-Christmas sales tomorrow. I don't think I've got the strength. What was it my Dad said? "Your mother's been gone for three days, but I'm not worried. She's only shopping."

Can you believe someone actually bought me a social calendar? Let's see, I'll worm the dog on the 18th, rotate the wheels on my vacuum sweeper the 25th and maybe I'll visit my meat in the food locker on the third of next month.

Thank goodness the bicentennial year is over. It's just as well. I didn't recognize anyone on the bicentennial minute anymore.

1977. Mayva says the reason I don't make New Year's resolutions is because I think I'm perfect. That's not true. I don't know where to start. I'd like to be wonderful, punctual, wise, understanding, patient, and if God has a minute, I'd like to see my hipbones before I die.

But you know what I'd really like to be again? Selfish. I'd like to love me. Be patient with me, understand me, listen to me and mostly–be me. Beginning today, there's a framed blackboard on my wall that reads, "I'M ME! I'M WONDERFUL! 'CAUSE GOD DON'T MAKE JUNK."

Happy New Year. And Thanks for laughing.

Dinner Disaster

The food at the Vineyards was splendid. Jack Brokensha and Ursula Walker made marvelous music. It had to be a grand evening.

But they don't honor BankAmericard at the Vineyards. How embarrassing. I thought BankAmericard was right up there with the pope, honored everywhere. But my plastic card didn't rate the slightest genuflection from Vineyards' management. I have got to quit believing everything I see on TV.

My wife and I had invited our daughter and her boyfriend to town. My wife wanted to entertain them, and I wanted to impress him. It is important that a boyfriend realize how expensive it would be to support his girlfriend in the grand manner to which she has become accustomed due to the incredible wealth and munificense of her father.

This prods the boyfriend to go out and make a lot of money and improves the chances of the father enjoying an economical old age at his daughter's villa in Spain.

So this had to be a first class evening. Several erudite friends recommended the Vineyards in Southfield as a classy place which would surely make the boyfriend realize his date was accustomed to the finest. These same friends, who want to visit at the villa, urged me to act as if I ate there all the time, and not to wear my earmuffs at the table.

I didn't blink when I read the little sign listing which credit cards are honored at the Vineyards. BankAmericard is not included, but Master Charge is. I also have a Master Charge card, although I never use it. I like to owe everything to just 1 credit firm. That way, I only have to pray that 1 credit firm be hit by a disastrous fire which destroys all records of who owes it how much money. It would make me feel guilty to pray that 4 or 5 firms go up in flames.

So I did not worry as $60 worth of food and booze was ordered. I had only $5.23 cash in my pocket but easy credit is what made this nation great. Which is what I told my wife when she asked me why I was humming "The Star Spangled Banner."

The boyfriend had gone to the john, so it was safe to talk honestly about finances. I knew he'd be gone a long time because I'd already investigated the bathroom situation and they don't have any MEN doors. It takes a long time to find an interpretor who will guarantee you that HOMMES means MEN in French. I was afraid it meant something a little less, and almost went across the street to a gas station.

"Thank God I have a Master Charge card. These French people don't take BankAmericard," I told my wife.

"You never use Master Charge," my wife said, "so last week I took the card out of your wallet. I thought I'd use it so we wouldn't owe everything to 1 credit firm."

"Oh," I said. "That means I'll have to pray for 2 fires. But as long as you have the Master Charge card, we are OK."

"It is home in my other purse," my wife said.

"I want a divorce," I said.

My wife counted her mad money. She had 83 cents. "I'm a lot madder than that," I said.

Our daughter, noticing my tears, wondered if anything was wrong. Our daughter's name is Ferd because it rhymes with Nerd which is her brother's name. I swear everything I am telling you is the truth.

Ferd suggested I write a check. I showed her the little sign which outlawed BankAmericard. It also warned, sternly, that no checks are accepted, and no personal charge accounts are allowed. All of this information is printed in English. It's quaint to go into the wrong john, but please don't act like a dumb foreigner around the cash register.

At this point, the boyfriend returned from the gas station across the street. He also noticed my tears, and offered to come up with the needed cash. I rejected the offer.

"You're just looking for an excuse to throw me out of your villa when I am 75 years old and feeble," I said. "It won't work."

Finally, my tears were noticed by Janet Lornete, an extremely kind and understanding waitress. She said just this once she would take a check. Which is when my wife revealed that our checkbook was home with the Master Charge card.

When I began to roll on the floor and kick the bottom of our table, Ferd admitted she had a checkbook. She offered to pay the bill and I accepted, to escape the gendarmes stationed in the hommes.

"I will pay you back when I move into your villa," I said. "In the meantime, you must never forget how important it is that you honor your father, and his Bank Americard."

Onward and Upward.

Meet Charlevoix

...Al Breeze

New Years Eve is one of the most exciting nights of the year as well as being the last night of the year. And one of the things that makes it so exciting is the live entertainment that is available for the special night.

This week the Courier talked with Charlevoix's own Mr. Entertainment, Al Breeze, about New Years Eve, the entertainment world and the new addition to his act–his personal act anyway – his wife, Shirley.

COURIER: What is New Years Eve night like for you?

BREEZE: It's the busiest night of the year for us. We usually have our biggest crowd that night. And it's a fun night. Everybody comes ready to be entertained and to have a good time and that's what we do.

MRS. BREEZE: It's a long night, too. For an entertainer it's probably the hardest night he has to work because of the extra hours the bars are open. It takes a lot of energy to get through the evening.

COURIER: How did you get into the entertainment field?

BREEZE: It was something I always wanted to do and something I've always done. I've been at it since I was 10 years old. I almost made it big in radio when I was 10. I auditioned for the lead part in a show called "Tom Thumb." It was going to be produced by the same people who did the "Green Hornet" and other shows. I was all set to go on with daily broadcasting, but it just didn't sell.

COURIER: What else have you done as an entertainer?

BREEZE: When I got out of the service in 1946 I started touring with three and four-piece dance groups. I did a lot of lounge work, where we would go someplace and play for the season. I've played in Florida on St. Simon's Island and in the Adirondacks. I've also played on cruise ships to South America and I've done things with people like Lenny Bruce, too.

COURIER: Were you involved in entertainment when you were in the service?

BREEZE: I applied to be in special services but things didn't work out and I ended up in the Infantry. I did play a little church organ while I was in the service, but they said I jazzed it up too much and I had to quit. I also played in the theaters.

COURIER: How did you get to Charlevoix?

BREEZE: I came up here 16 years ago for a two week engagement arranged through an agency. It was in the early summer and when I first looked at the town I said I would never come back here again. But then my two-week engagement turned into 16 years.

COURIER: Isn't it difficult to entertain people?

BREEZE: I love it. I love people. About 90 percent of the people that come in come to see me or because they like live entertainment. I feel that I owe them something and I do my best to entertain them.

COURIER: Do you have any set formula you use in your act?

BREEZE: I have no set format. Every night is different. The people that come in are different and the moods they are in are different. Except for acid rock, I play all kinds of music. I don't play for a set length of time and then take intermission breaks. I just play.

COURIER: Are you ever stumped by some of the requests?

BREEZE: I'm stumped just like anyone else is. I have "cheat" books that I use occasionally to check on a tune, but I try to keep up with the new songs. I buy all of the sheet music and if it fits in with the act I use it and if it doesn't, I don't. I do a lot of my own arrangements and I write music, too.

COURIER: Have you had any training?

BREEZE: I'm a legitimate musician. I've studied everything and I've had classical training. I had private instruction as a child and I continued studying after that. I belong to BMI (Broadcast Music, Inc.) and I'm a union musician.

COURIER: Do you have your own trademark?

BREEZE: I believe an entertainer should be talked about–good or bad–they should be talked about. So I always try to do something different with my hair. A few years ago I had it quite long and then I cut it off and sold it at a celebrity auction. Now I've got this permanent.

COURIER: Do you plan on having your wife join the act?

BREEZE: No, she won't actually be a part of the act, but she does help me with it. You know, when I married her I got an ex-tuba and string base player, three children that are musicians and a bicycle.

MRS. BREEZE: And he got a critic, too. And that's something he's not used to. I can hear when he gets lazy or when he makes a mistake.

BREEZE: I'm not used to having a critic around, but I never make a mistake–that's improvising. She often says that I can improvise my way out of anything.

COURIER: Do you have any other interests besides music?

BREEZE: I'm a real CB radio nut. I've had one for a long time and I've tried to promote them. I think they're great. I've also been involved in a lot of things in Charlevoix. I helped get Mardi Gras started and I worked on the Cherry Pie bake.

COURIER: What's your handle?

BREEZE: Music Man and now I've got a Music Lady.

Gas Bills Up Due to Early Cold Weather

The month of November was the coldest in most of Michigan since 1880 and the fifth coldest on record, according to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

For this reason, the company reports that its customers used approximately 40 percent more gas for heating this November and early December than they would have used in the same period in 1975, when the weather was warmer than usual.

These customers are now receiving higher bills reflecting the increased gas usage, as well as the higher price Consolidated is paying pipeline suppliers.

The company is using customers who have not done so to install ceiling insulation and to dial back their thermostats a few degrees to help reduce bills.

Model T Debuted In Oct., 1908

On October 1, 1908, Henry Ford introduced to the world his indomitable Model T. Affectionately dubbed "Tin Lizzie," she was far from beautiful, but nonetheless dependable, tireless and practically indestructible. For 20 years, Lizzie reigned as queen of the road. Among the 200 antique automobiles on display in Henry Ford Museum is a shiny example of one of the first Model T's ever made. In the Ford Personal History Rooms on the Museum's second floor stands the 15 millionth Model T, one of the last to roll off the assembly line.

Donna Sutton, Jerry Himebauch Married at Barnard Church

Jerry Lee Himebauch and Donna Sutton became husband and wife during an afternoon service at Barnard Methodist Church Dec. 18.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Himebauch, all of Charlevoix.

The Rev. Dan Minor officiated at the single ring ceremony before 150 guests. Poinsettias graced both sides of the altar as did seven-candle candelabra. Terry Vanderslik played the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, chose a white floor length gown of organza and Brussels lace. The gown featured a high neckline of lace which extended onto the bodice. Lace accented the empire waist and combined with organza to form bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a deep flounce bordered by Cluny lace. Her full length illusion veil was attached to a crown of Cluny lace and was trimmed entirely in lace.

She carried a bouquet of red roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Serving as her sister's maid of honor was Acelia Sutton. Connie Crain was a bridesmaid.

The women wore long sleeved dresses of royal blue velvet, accented by ruffle-trimmed collar and cuffs. Matching velvet buttons trimmed the high bodice. Inset midriff bands ended in back tie sashes. The attendants wore royal blue velvet bows in their hair and carried single blue roses with baby'a breath.

Roy Hawkins served as best man and Daniel Himebauch, brother of the groom was a groomsman. Dale Himebauch and Richard Sutton brothers of the couple, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sutton wore a long green gown with floral jacket and red rose and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Himebauch wore a long blue and white floral gown with matching jacket.

A reception immediately following the wedding was held at the Barnard Methodist Church. A night reception was held at the American Legion Hall.

The couple will make their home in Charlevoix where the bride is employed at Essex in Boyne City and the groom is employed by his father.

Revelry, Ritual, Violence Mark New Years Customs

Ancient Egyptians beat each other over the head to observe the new year. Indebted Japanese once committed suicide on January 1. Modern Americans watch football.

From the pyramids to the Rose Bowl, men have greeted the new year with revelry, ritual, and a touch of violence.

To make sure the old year was well out of the way, Egyptians staged an "annual fight with clubs." The Greek historian Herodotus reported, "They bash each other's heads in, and, so I think, may even die of their wounds."

Survivors awoke with monumental headaches.

The Greeks would rather frolic than fight. In their festival of Anthesteria, sleep was forgotten as evenings were given over to plays, songs, and dances. At banquets a myrtle branch was passed from hand to hand as celebrants improvised couplets called "scolions."

Other ancient Greek festivities contributed those cortoonists' standbys--the New Year Babe and Father Time. During the festival honoring Dionysus, god of vegetation and wine, an infant was paraded as a symbol of rebirth.

A baby's image also figured in the Eleusinian mysteries, religious rites that signified the annual decline and renewal of vegetation.

Father Time survives as a descendant of the Greek god Cronus, lord of the universe. Cronus bore the lines of inestimable years on his face, and he carried a scythe.

Later, Cronus's name was confused with the word chronos, meaning "time." So the hourglass has been placed permanently in the hand of the white-haired gentleman with the scythe.

The ancient Roman religion identified Saturn, the god of agriculture, with Cronus. Like his Greek counterpart, Saturn carried a scythe. Pagan Rome celebrated Saturnalia from December 17 to 23.

In many ways, the festival resembled present-day New Year celebrations. All work stopped; schools closed; courts handed down no sentences; revelers gamboled in masquerade; and gifts such as waxen fruits, candles, and dolls were exchanged.

The widespread observance of January 1 as the start of a new year stems from Roman times. Julius Caesar arbitrarily chose that date as the first day of the year when he initiated the Julian calendar. Consuls and other officials took office on January 1.

On New Year's Eve, Japanese families gather to eat buckwheat noodles, regarded as symbols of long life. Some say the noodle-eating custom was started by merchants who were too busy collecting bills on December 31 to prepare anything more than this simple dish.

Japanese traditionally try to pay all debts before the year is up. In the old days, men unable to meet their obligations by New Year's day sometimes committed suicide.

Consume Plenty of Food

Pace New Years Drinking

Having a party? Planning on serving drinks? Don't surprise your guests by serving them doubles. Many folks count and pace their drinks. With doubles, they'll be drinking twice as much as they planned. And that isn't hospitality on your part; it's down right inconsiderate.

This is some of the information that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has included in a new booklet, Drinking Etiquette--for Those Who Do and Those Who Don't. You can get a copy by sending 40 cents to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 34E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Plan your party so that none of your guests feel uncomfortable if they're non-drinkers, or just aren't in the mood to drink. Be sure to offer a couple of drinks besides alcohol--fruit and vegetable juices, tea, coffee, and soft drinks. And, it's up to you to set the tone of the party. The purpose of a gathering is fellowship and warmth, not how drunk guests can get. The fun is in getting people warmed up by talking to one another instead of by drinking.

Pace the drinks. A drink-an-hour schedule means good company prevails, not booze. Let the glass be empty before you offer a refill. And don't rush, especially if someone comes up empty too fast. When a guest says no thanks to a drink, don't insist.

Be sure to push the snacks while your guesta are drinking, not after. This is important because food slows down the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the blood stream. It also somewhat slows down their drinking.

If yours is a dinner party, serve before it's too late. A cocktail is aupposed to enhance a fine dinner, not compete with it.

If someone at the party has too much to drink, offer him or her coffee instead of another round. And don't let the person who's had too much to drink drive home. See that he or she gets a ride home with someone else or spends the night at your house.

Drinking Etiquete--for Those Who Do and Those Who Don't (40 cents) is one of over 200 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the Winter edition of the catalog, Consumer Information. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the catalog is free. For your copy, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

HOW TO CARE FOR GIFT PLANTS

If you should receive a flowering plant as a gift, you can keep it healthy and attractive if you use the following care advice. Remember, however, all of these plants require extensive care to bloom again, and authorities say you should generally consider them as long lasting cut flowers to be discarded after blooming.

GENERAL CARE-Flowering plants usually need indirect bright light and cool temperatures, particularly at night. You should also provide a humid atmosphere by placing plants in a tray filled with moist gravel or sand. Water the plants thoroughly, but only when the soil is dry. Remove withered blooms and damaged leaves.

AZALEA- Keep this plant in a cool spot with the bright light. It may need frequent watering, once or even twice a day, if the soil dries out.

CHRISTMAS BEGONIA- Full sunlight, moderate humidity and cool night temperatures will result in longer blooming. Keep the soil moist. Pinch off faded flowers.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS- Keep the soil moist to promote flowering. Locate the plant in a sunny location with cool temperatures and moderate humidity.

CHRYSANTHEMUM -- Placing this plant in full sunlight and watering frequently should keep it flowering for at least three weeks. Keep the soil moist.

CYCLAMEN-Cool night temperatures and full light are necessary to keep this plant in bloom. Place cyclamens next to a window. Check the soil frequently--it should be kept moist and well drained. Do not let it sit in a dish of water for more than half a day.

POINSETTIA -- The most popular plant at Christmas need intense light and should be placed near a sunny window. It is sensitive to hot or cold drafts, too warm temperatures or sudden temperature changes, although some of the new varieties are hardier.

Odd Fellows, Masons Slate 47th Annual Cribbage Tourney

The fourty-seventh annual Odd Fellow-Masons cribbage tournament will get underway at the American Legion Post Home at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 6, Sims Baker, secretary of the annual event, has announced.

All cribbage players will in the area are invited to participate in the tourney which will run for 10 weeks and conclude with a dinner hosted by the losing team. It is not necessary to be a member of either fraternal organization in order to play.

"The more players the better the fellowship" Baker said in announcing the onnual tournament.

The tournament has an illustrious history. During the past 46 yeors the Odd Fellows have won 25 times and the Masons 21 times.

The Odd Fellows are the defending champions. Frank Sneathen posted the highest score in 1976 with 9241 points for the Odd Fellows. The late Clayton Hull had 9124 for the Masons.

The tournament is sponsored by Round Lake No. 293, I.O.O.F., and Charlevoix Lodge No. 72, F. & A.M.

Other officers and directors elected at the same time were Lloyd Aemisegger of Rapid City, first vice president; Bill Little of Bellaire, second vice president; John Borton of Charlevoix, secretary; John Galbraith of Rapid City, treasurer; William Taylor of East Jordan, Sergeant-at-Arms; Angus Hines of Rapids City, chaplain.

Directors are Edward Skinner of Central Lake, John Pray of Petoskey, Myrlen Stocking of Boyne City, Howard Ransler of Kalkaska, Al Lyttle of Mancelona, Vic Schuler of Rapids City, Keith Annear of East Jordan, Milton Semrau of Bellaire, Hiller, Aemisegger, Dick Degener of Alden and Tom Baggs of Williamsburg.

The club, composed of members from Kalkaska north to the Straits of Mackinac and from Lake Michigan east to I-75, has a membership of 150 members. The club meets the third Thursday of every month at a different location each month.

The election was held during the business session following a dinner meeting for members and their wives at Stafford's Bay View Inn.

Historical Society Plans 'Show and Tell' Session

The Charlevoix Historical Society plans a "Show and Tell" program for its regular meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Community Room of the First State Bank according to Ed Beutner, president.

An invitation is being extended to members and friends to bring articles or pictures of historical interest, which may be displayed and briefly described. They may be part of a hobby collection, family mementos or any other item of personal or general interest.

Previous sessions of this sort have proven enjoyable and instructive in providing a sharing of history and often opening up new lines of historical investigation, Beutner said.

No Change in Standings During B League Action

By FRAN MARTIN

There were no major changes in the B league standings as the results of this week's Independent league action according to Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director.

Wojan Aluminum downed Bay Shore Steel 73-41; County State Bank defeated Freedman's 78-75; Tri-City Asphalt dumped AlRay Cottages 74-44 and LaBlance Insurance won over Medusa 59-43. A fifth game between Klooster John Deere and Hoskins was postponed.

Stan Martin with 26 points paced the Wojan Aluminum win over Bay Shore Steel as Wojan's led the Steelers 14-13, 32-25 and 57-31 by quarters. Oon Ward and Larry Martin added 12 points each and Denny Youngdyke 11 ta the victor's total. Vince Left had 24 for the Steelers.

County State Bank had to overcome a 61-61 third period tie to defeat Freedman's Monday after leading Artcraft 26-21 at the first quarter and 42-37 at halftime in a hard fought game.

Jerry Skippergosh with 31 points, Larry Skippergosh with 22 and Dennis Rickertson with 13 points accounted for most of the Bankers points. Steve Martinus had 21 points, Steve McClellan 19 and Terry Blissett 16 for Freedman's.

Tri-City Asphalt continued to pace the B league, this time with a 74-44 win over AlRay Cottages. The victors jumped to an 18-10 first period lead, increased it to 35-22 at halftime and 60-26 before posting the win.

Oave Norton with 21 points was again top scorer followed by Butch Klooster with 18 and Mike Crain with 12 points. Dave Martineheck had 24 for the Cottagers.

It was an easy victory for LaBlance Insurance as the team headed Medusa 15-8; 29-21 and 41-37 by quarters. Dave Norton led the scoring with 26 points with Sam Supernaw adding 16 and Jim Gels 11 for LaBlance's. Oick Putman had 13 and Bob Holtzman 10 for Medusa.

Three-Way Tie Developing In A League Hoop Play

By FRAN MARTIN

A three-way tie for first place in the A League developed last week when Townhouse was edged by Way Oil by a score af 68-62 and a third challenger, Kaden's defeated Swanson's 59-34. As a result, Townhouse, Way Oil and Kaden's, with records of six wins and two losses occupy first place in A League standings as the schedule is suspended for the holidays.

In the third game Tuesday, Willett Roofing defeated Credit Union 57-46.

The Way Oil-Townhouse game was the game af the week as the Oilers knocked the Barmen out of sole possession of first place by over-coming a three-quarter deficit to outscore them 25-13 in the final period for the victory. Until the final period, Tawnhouse had dominated the game, leading 15-10 at the guarter, 27-25 at halftime and 50-43 going into that fateful final period.

Scoring in double figures and playing important roles in the victory were Roger Crain with 25 points, Tim Carey with 14, Oale Boss with 13 and Denny Crain with 12 points. Stewart Coleman had 23 and Oan McKenzie 18 points for Tawnhouse.

Kaden's with an easy 59-34 win over Swanson bettered their record to 6-2 to remain a part of the first place tie. Jeff Belford had 12 points, Keith Fitzpatrick 11 and Al Looze 10 for the Emporium as they led Swanson's 14-6, 32-16 and 46-24 by quarters. Jerry Pease had 12 for Swanson's.

In the third game Willett Roofing downed Credit Union 20-6, 30-21 and 42-33 by quarters behind the scoring of Ken Derenzy with 19 points, Jack Oanbert with 11 and John Nachazel with 10 points. Matt Blair had 19 and Ron Boss 12 points for Credit Union.

FreshmenDump Kalkaska, Lose to Boyne City

The Charlevoix Freshman squad posted a 48-22 win over the visiting Kalkaska quintet here Monday night.

The local freshmen, coached by Roger Gowell, led the visitors 9-2 at the quarter, 21-8 at the half and 36-11 going into the final eight minutes.

John Cross had 10 points for the victors. Mac McLean, Al Elzinga scored eight points each for Kalkaska.

The freshman basketball team dropped its game to Boyne City Thursday night by a score of 49-43.

The young freshman Ramblers jumped to an early lead which the Charlevoix five were never able to overcome as they trailed 14-13; 32-22 and 43-34 by quarters.

Scott Morgan was top scorer for Charlevoix with 11 points.

Mitch Moore had 19 and Oave Hausler 12 points for Boyne City.

Middle School Team Downs Elk Rapids 35-24

Charlevoix Middle School basketball teams played at Elk Rapids Thursday in their first outings of the season and returned home with victories to their credit.

Oisplaying lots of hustle and good defense, the eighth grade team won by a score of 35-24. Jeff Orury accounted for 18 of the team's points.

The seventh grade team rolled up a 40-6 win over the Elk Rapids team. All six points for Elk Rapids were scored from the free throw line.

Fifty-three basketball players, coached by Hal Evans, and Henry Wagner made the trip. Seventy-four potentional cheerleaders also made the trip under the supervision of Mrs. Roxie Loding.

Faust Brothers Win Varsity Letters In Golf

Two Charlevoix High School graduates were among the six Adrian College athletes receiving varsity letters in golf at the annual fall sports banquet.

Randy and Chuck Faust earned their second letters on golf in as many years. Randy also placed fifth in the 1976 conference meet.

At Adrian Randy is a junior elementary education major. He has also lettered in Adrian football and track performing in the hurdle and triple jump events.

Chuck is a sophomore majoring in mathematics and business administration. He is a two-year recipient of an academic scholarship.

Randy graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1974 and Chuck in 1975. They are the sons of Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Faust.

Courier-WVOY Carol-In Sparks Holiday Cheer

SANTA ALSO made a big hit at the Carol-in. Here the children crowd around him as he extends Christmas greetings.

MANY YOUNG children were also among the carolers at East Park last week.

PATIENCE CAN GET you somewhere. This little boy was able to get a candy cane from Santa by waiting patiently until the crowds dispersed.

PAULA THOMAS was among the more than 100 people attending the Courier-WVOY Carol-in in East Park last week.

Snowmobiling Requires Conditioning

Let's say that you're about to become a snowmobiler. You are set to purchase one of those mechanical ski-bobs. Nothing like it, you think, zipping along the snow trails, over the hill and through the woods.

Well, you'll have a lot of company. Some two million snowmobiles are now in use in the United States. Counting all members of the family--give or take a few boy and girl friends--an estimated six million of us are participating in some aspects of this winter sport.

It is a sport that should be enjoyed, but you had better be in good physical condition. There is a tendency for many snowmobilers to "overdo." For instance, many individuals have been known to ride their vehicles on cross-country trips for four or five straight hours, taking time for only a short rest, usually a lunch break.

Dr. Louis E. Rentz, president of the Michigan Heart Association, points out that, "In lengthy cross-country trips, the vibration of the snowmobile, the noise of its engine and the jarring over rough terrain can cause physical stress. This is accentuated by the 'wind chill factor', which can put a severe strain on the heart and could result in a heart attack."

Wind chill is an equivalent temperature caused by the force of the wind in relation to actual temperature. For instance, if the actual temperature is 30 degrees Farenheit with a 20 mph wind, the equivalent temperature becomes four degrees. If the wind increases to 30 mph, the equivalent temperature drops to two degrees below zero. If the wind increases to 40 mph, the equivalent temperature drops to six degrees below zero.

These temperatures are particularly significant as they relate to snowmobiling. The snowmobile driver is in an environment of freezing or near-freezing temperature. He often drives his vehicle into the wind, causing a further variance in the chill factor. Under normal conditions, cold weather exerts a strain on the heart. The strain becomes greater when one is riding cross-country on a swift-moving vehicle in low temperature.

According to Dr. Rentz, the relationship of cold weather to the heart is this:

"The body reacts to cold by constricting its small arteries. These are the vessels through which blood passes away from the heart to various parts of the body. This natural response, called 'peripheral-vaso constriction', reduces loss of body heat, but when it takes place, the heart must work harder to pump blood through the narrowed arteries.

"Its load is further increased because the arteries which feed the heart itself are constricted as well. Additional stress occurs when the blood pressure rises, which sometimes happens in cold weather, or when the person exercises. It is for these reasons that cold weather brings with it a need for special precautions."

Dr. Rentz has this advice for snowmobilers: If your family has a history of heart disease, you should pass a physical examination and receive permission from your physician before venturing out on the trails. Even if you're in good shape, with no family history of heart disease, play it safe. Don't overdo with your snowmobile.

Tax Guide Available for Farmers

-The "Farmer's Tax Guide," a free publication geared to answer basic tax questions applying to farming situations is available free from the local offices of the Internal Revenue Service.

This 64-page guide, IRS Publication 225, covers a wide range of subjects including sod sales, crop destruction, chicken purchases, drought sales, and share farming, according to the IRS.

Included in this publication are examples of how to prepare Form 1040 and related schedules, and listings of important tax dates which affect farmers during the course of the year.

"Farmer's Tax Guide" is written in easy-to-understand language and also provides useful hints on how good records can help a farmer prepare an accurate tax return and pay only the correct amount of taxes.

Outdoorsmen Must Get Permission to Use Land

Snowmobilers, cross country skiers, fishermen and hunters beware. A new state law has strengthened the trespass regulations.

The law, which was recently signed by Gov. William Milliken, requires users of recreational vehicles, hunters and fishermen to obtain written permission of the owner or his agent before entering private land.

The new law requires no trespassing signs be posted on private land to notify people who may use it. The law will be enforced only by complaint of the owner.

Although the new law adds some additional restrictions it also provides more protection to the outdoorsmen against unfair and arbitrary trespass charges, according to Department of Natural Resources officials.

For Farmers With Crop Damage

Credit Assistance Offered

An expanded program of credit assistance from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) may help farmers who suffer property damage or severe production loss from natural disasters.

FmHA loans are made to eligible farmers, ranchers, and aquaculture operators to enable them to return to normal operations after a disaster. Long and intermediate term loans may be made for reorganizing the operation to make it more effective. Also, annual emergency loans may be made each year for up to five years following a natural disaster to permit the borrower to restore his operation and return to usual credit sources for operating funds.

Individual borrowers must be unable to obtain credit from other usual resources to qualify for FmHA assistance.

Further information about loans may be obtained from Farmers Home Administration, 822 Charlevoix Ave., Petoskey, phone 347-4551.

Margaret Berg Graduates from U-M

HUMAN SERVICES needs help

Are you interested in children receiving proper health care? Then Project Health is for you. Assistance is needed with behind the scenes duties, direct personal contact, transportation, etc. We need people who can spend from one (1) up to 10 hours weekly promoting this worthwhile program.

Make a New Year's Resolution early--decide to set aside a portion of time each week to assist someone who needs help. This might entail taking someone grocery shopping, visiting a shut-in, helping a person keep a medical appointment, etc. Give of yourself, it's the best emotional exercise around.

Persons are needed who will be able to transport long distances on short notice. Many emergency situations occur with State Wards that necessitate a change in living situations within 24 hours. If you happen to like to drive long distances, this activity is for you.

The Food Stamp Program can be a big plus to many Senior Citizens living on a fixed income. We are looking for people who will be available to learn the Food Stamp Program and provide outreach services to our Senior Citizen population. One morning or one afternoon a week of your time would insure that at least some Seniors Citizens will be able to buy more food for less money. This activity requires the use of a car.

+Reimbursement for mileage and out-of-pocket expense is made to all Department of Social Services Volunteers.

Obituary

RUTH F. BELDING

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth F. Belding, 91, who died Sunday at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for 25 months, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. Austin Regier will officiate. Interment will be in Brookside cemetery.

The former Ruth F. Carpenter was born in Shelby March 2, 1885, and moved to Emmet county as a child with her parents. In May 1905 she was married to Archie C. Belding at Williamsburg. They lived in various communities in the north where he served as county superintendents of schools until coming here from Bellaire in 1922. Later he organized Belding Real Estate, a business in which she became a broker and continued following his death in 1951. She remained in the family business until she retired because of failing health. She was a member of the United Methodist Church and served as church organist for many years. She also was a member of the Royal Neighbors, an auxiliary of the Woodsmen of America.

She is survived by one son, Rodney, of Charlevoix; three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Vera) Wagner of Midland, Mrs. O.V. (Lucile) Cunningham and Mrs. Adrian (Grace) Werner of Charlevoix; 13 grandchildren; 34 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Ice Skaters Take Heart

Ice skaters take heart. The skating rink and hockey rink which will be located at the Charlevoix High School this year may soon be open.

City Administrator Allen Sandberg told common council Monday night that the rinks may soon be open. Sandberg said the city crews had been working to prepare the area for the rinks and some water had been sprayed on the area to form a base.

However, Sandberg said the final water could not be poured on the rink until it stopped snowing because the water couldn't be poured on the snow.

"As soon as it stops snowing, we will flood the rink," he said. "That could be tomorrow morning if the weather cooperates.

The warming house has also been set up at the area.

Calendar Makers Hold Up Time for Presidents

Time may wait for no man, but calender makers waited for Jimmy Carter.

They were waiting for Gerald Ford, too. Until all the votes were counted, the printers were just as ready to put his picture on the presses and start running off several hundred thousand copies of their calender of American preisdents.

Publishers of calenders are always looking ahead, trying to figure out how best to remind people sometime during the next year what day it is or was or will be.

The world's biggest calendar publisher, Brown and Bigelow of St. Paul, Minnesota, not only looks ahead to presidential elections, but to what kind of calendar to make three years in advance.

For the days ahead, the calendar industry thinks Americans of tomorrow will look at more Americana including portrayals of the good old days and the good things in life, more scenic views, more conservation themes, more calendars appealing to women, fewer poster calendars, and more daily appointment calendars.

Pin-up calendars remain popular as ever, but some publishers say they prefer to specialize in artistic nudity, leaving the "anything goes" poses to popular calendars produced by centerfold magazines.

"I've been on calendars, but never on time," quipped Marilyn Monroe, perhaps the most famous calendar girl since September Morn. Despite such clock-stopping poses, more and more calendars every year are helping Americans keep on time, or at least up to date.

There will be enough calendars next year to put three in every household, according to one industry estimate. That doesn't include those hung in garages, offices, saloons, and Boy Scout clubrooms.

Altogether there will be $300,000,000 worth of calendars produced for 1977, and – following a recent trend–for every three given away in the pursuit of advertising, one calendar will be sold at retail to someone who wants something less commercial for keeping track of the days.

Regardless of how fancy they are, not everybody loves them. Oscar Wilde sneered at calendars which, he said "mar the sweet simplicity of some perfectly uninteresting event."

Nevertheless, some calendars may still report such fascinating flashbacks as: "January 5–Lizzie Sturgeon plays piano with her toes. 1882," or "July 20–Campaign against kissing in picture shows begins, 1910."

Centuries of mathematics have dulled their pencils adding days or changing the number of months trying to figure out a calendar that would always jibe with the uneven number of days–365 and about a quarter–that the earth takes to revolve around the sun.

But calendar makers are sticking to today's Gregorian calendar, unknowingly ignoring the potential appeal of James Thurber's observation of some years ago:

"I'm 65 and I guess that puts me in with geriatrics. But if there were 15 months in every year, I'd be only 48...."

Director Appointed For Drug Agency

A director has been appointed for the newly-formed Substance Abuse Division of the District 3 Health Department.

Doug Ellis will head up the agency formed from the merger of the DAC Counseling Center and the Tri-County Substance Abuse Agency. The new substance agency will have offices on the former municipal building at 453 E. Lake St. in Petoskey.

Ellis' past experience includes directing and managing alcohol programs in two Detroit area hospitals and he has also served as a therapist and consultant for the community mental health agency.

He has been a member of the Wayne State University faculty as a counselor and counselor trainer with expertise in the area of group counseling and he is currently completing his doctorate in the field of counseling and psychology.

The new substance abuse agency will offer family and individual counseling for Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet county residents. Other services will include: a six-week highway safety program and a six-week self awareness program designed to give participants a better understanding of their choices they can make.

The new agency is also planning a drug abuse prevention program which will include school and community group presentations, the availability substance abuse literature and professional and paraprofessional training sessions.

The training sessions are designed to give individuals more self awareness as well as insight into the lives of other people. Relaxation techniques, communication skills, empathic listening skills and values clarification are areas that are stressed in the training sessions.

Within the last month, training sessions designed to improve the understanding of the alcohol abuser have been given to law enforcement officers, a nursing staff and public school teachers.

People interested in more information about the drug abuse program can make inquiries at the following numbers: Charlevoix 547-6523, Bellaire, 533-8422, and Petoskey, 347-3928.

help a depressed person. She cautioned people not to give their depressed friends advice, however, because it only creates more conflict in their minds.

"It's not weird for people to feel depressed," Ms. Young said. "And there are obvious circumstances where depression is appropriate–like a death in the family or a loss of any kind.

"But when you find you are unable to function because of depressed feelings, that's a danger signal that it is time to get help," she said.

Wilson said there is a very high recovery rate for depression when people seek help for their problems. And Schroeder urged people to seek early help for overcoming their depressed feelings.

"If you get a toothache, then you go to the dentist," Schroeder pointed out. "If you go right away, it may only be a small cavity, but if you wait it may develop into something bigger.

"The same is true with your mental health," he said.

"It's unreasonable to think we can keep ourselves mentally healthy all the time," Schroeder continued. "The line between being mentally healthy and mentally ill is very thin and we may cross it every day.

"It's not a sign of weakness to get help," he said. "We all have problems."

LET FAITH CONSOLIDATE YOUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

As the season of fun and festivity draws to a close, let us give some serious thought to a worthwhile task which most of us have undertaken rather half-heartedly at this time every year, despite our good intentions. Driven by a natural impulse to turn over a new leaf in our lives as well as on the calendar, we compile our annual list of personal reforms and even try to follow it for a few days before consigning it to limbo along with its predecessors. This year for a change, try simplifying it into one all-encompassing resolution: to attend the Church of your choice regularly throughout the coming year. If you will do so and try to live by the lessons you learn there, this will be the only New Year's resolution you'll ever need.

> "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."
> --Romans 12:2

In the North where the high winds blow,
He sleeps; and the whitest blanket
Wraps him in ice and snow.

Elementary Children Celebrate Christmas With Song

Charlevoix Elementary School students sang their hearts out Friday during a special Christmas program for their parents and friends.

Under the direction of Marina LaBlance, elementary school vocal music instructor, each of the classes performed various Christmas carols for each other and they joined in unison on many numbers in the program, too.

There were many solo acts during the program, too. Several students presented songs they had written themselves or new words for old tunes. Some children sang solo parts during different versus of well-known Christmas carols, while their classmates helped out on the refrain.

Some special visitors also attended the assembly. Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer made an appearance as did some of Santa's elves and the jolly old elf himself even came in for a bref visit at the end of the program.

All in all, it was a jolly way to end the day and school for the rest of this year.

THESE SHY little girls did a fine job presenting their song for the elementary school program.

MANY CHILDREN performed duets of songs they had written or of songs they had learned in school. Here are two such performers.

RUDOLPH THE RED NOSED Reindeer was a big hit at the Charlevoix Elementary School Program last Wednesday. The reindeer danced around the gym as the rest of the children sang about him.

MELINDA PORTER and Valerie Barns also performed a song for their classmates during the Christmas program.
